DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Administration for Children and Families

[CFDA Number: 93.576]

Announcement of Award of an Urgent Single-Source Grant to Gulf Coast Jewish Family and Community Services in Clearwater, FL

AGENCY: Office of Refugee Resettlement, ACF, HHS.

ACTION: Notice of the award of an urgent single-source grant to Gulf Coast Jewish Family and Community Services to provide mental health technical assistance services for refugees.

SUMMARY: The Administration for Children and Families (ACF), Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR) announces the award of an urgent single-source grant in the amount of $225,000 to Gulf Coast Jewish Family and Community Services (Gulf Coast) in Clearwater, FL to train providers to effectively identify and appropriately serve the mental health needs of arriving refugee populations.

DATES: The two-year project period for the award is December 1, 2015 through November 30, 2017.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Kenneth Tota, Deputy Director, Office of Refugee Resettlement, 330 C. Street, SW., Washington, DC 20201. Telephone: 202-401-4858. Email: kenneth.tota@acf.hhs.gov

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In the past few years, ORR has seen an increasing need for mental health services among newly-arrived refugees, particularly those who have suffered torture and extreme trauma due to war and genocide. ORR has received numerous reports of refugees from Bhutan and Burma completing suicide. Bhutanese refugees, in particular, have demonstrated a high incidence of suicide upon arrival to the U.S. This fiscal year the program is seeing a significant increase in resettlement of refugees from the Democratic Republic of Congo and Syria.

Refugees face significant barriers to accessing mental health resources since they are unfamiliar with community mental health systems, speak limited English, and have few financial resources. Health and mental health providers are often overwhelmed by the linguistic and cultural differences that refugees present and respond by saying they are unable to provide services. Currently the provision of standardized mental health screening and culturally appropriate mental health services is one the primary challenges facing the US resettlement program. There is no direct provision of much needed mental health services to refugees in many primary resettlement locations.

Gulf Coast has been a longstanding refugee resettlement program and also has been a grantee under the ORR Survivors of Torture program for the past 15 years. In addition, Gulf Coast has provided technical assistance and mental health services to a national network of refugee service providers and mainstream health and mental health professionals for the past 9 years. Gulf Coast is recognized as the primary refugee mental health technical assistance provider to states without a survivor of torture program. As a result of Gulf Coast's training and technical assistance 6 states applied for and received ORR grants to provide direct services to survivors. They are the only technical assistance provider with expertise in both refugee resettlement and direct services to survivors of torture. They are the only national technical assistance provider with expertise in both refugee resettlement and direct services to survivors of torture.

Gulf Coast's National Partnership for Community Training (NPCT) has provided technical assistance and training services to ORR grantees and other refugee service providers since 2006.

It is expected that ORR will provide awards to this grantee for a 2-year project period with 12-month budget periods. The grantee will be required to submit applications for noncompetitive awards in the subsequent year during the project period. Future awards will be based on the grantee's performance, the availability of funds, and the best interest of the Federal Government.

Statutory Authority: This program is authorized by—

(A) Section 412 (c)(1)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA)(8 U.S.C. 1522(c)(1)(A)), as amended, which authorizes the Director "to make grants to, and enter into contracts with, public or private nonprofit agencies for projects specifically designed—. . . to assist refugees in obtaining the skills that are necessary for economic self-sufficiency, including projects for job training, employment services, day care, professional refresher training, and other recertification services; (ii) to provide training in English where necessary (regardless of whether the refugees are employed or receiving cash or other assistance); and (iii) to provide where specific needs have been shown and recognized by the Director, health (including mental health) services, social services, education and other services."

(B) Refugee Assistance Extension Act of 1986, Pub.L. 99-605, Nov 6, 1986, 100 Stat. 3449.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

We are announcing the availability of a guidance for industry entitled “Ingredients Declared as Evaporated Cane Juice.” We are issuing this guidance consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on this topic. It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

In the Federal Register of October 7, 2009 (74 FR 51610), we announced the availability of a draft guidance for industry entitled “Guidance for Industry: Ingredients Declared as Evaporated Cane Juice” and invited comment by December 7, 2009. The draft guidance, which was issued in response to the use of the term “evaporated cane juice” on food labels, stated FDA’s view that “evaporated cane juice” is not the common or usual name of any sweetener and that the ingredient in question should instead be declared as “dried cane syrup.” In the Federal Register of March 5, 2014 (79 FR 12507), we reopened the comment period until May 5, 2014, and requested further comments, data, and information about the basic nature and characterizing properties of the ingredient sometimes declared as “evaporated cane juice,” how this ingredient is produced, and how it compares with other sweeteners.

We received numerous comments on the draft guidance, including many that included information about the processing and refining of ingredients made from sugar cane. We have modified the final guidance where appropriate. In addition, we made editorial changes to improve clarity. Based on comments stating that the ingredient sometimes declared as evaporated cane juice is not made from cane syrup as defined in 21 CFR 168.130, FDA is no longer recommending that this ingredient be labeled as “dried cane syrup.” Instead, the guidance advises that ingredients currently being declared as “evaporated cane juice,” as well as other ingredients that meet the description of “sucrose” in 21 CFR 184.1854, should be declared using the term “sugar,” accompanied by a truthful, non-misleading descriptor if the manufacturer so desires. The guidance announced in this notice finalizes the draft guidance dated October 2009.

FDA encourages firms that market sugar cane-derived sweeteners or products that contain a sugar cane-derived sweetener to review the final guidance and consider whether the name under which the sweetener is declared in food labeling accurately describes its basic nature and characterizing properties, as required by the common or usual name regulation (21 CFR 102.5). As explained in the final guidance, our view is that products currently labeled as containing "evaporated cane juice" should be relabeled to use the name "sugar," optionally accompanied by a truthful, non-misleading descriptor to distinguish the ingredient from other cane-based sweeteners. FDA would not object to the use of stickers to make this change until the next regularly scheduled label printing.

II. Electronic Access

Persons with access to the Internet may obtain the guidance at either <http://www.fda.gov/FoodGuidances> or <http://www.regulations.gov>. Use the FDA Web sites listed previously to find the most current version of the guidance.

Dated: May 20, 2016.

Leslie Kux,

Associate Commissioner for Policy.
