Notice of Individual Special Recreation Permit Requirement in the King Range National Conservation Area, California

AGENCY: Bureau of Land Management, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) provides notice of a new Individual Special Recreation Permit (ISRP) requirement for overnight use in the King Range Wilderness and Backcountry Management Zone (King Range Wilderness). The ISRP will limit the number of persons entering the King Range Wilderness for overnight use to 60 persons/day during the peak season (May 15-September 15), and 30 persons/day during the non-peak season (September 16-May 14). This action will limit overnight use of the King Range Wilderness for the first time. Day use entries will not be limited. The ISRP program will be administered through an electronic reservation system. The ISRP requirement results from analysis and planning direction provided by the 2012 King Range Wilderness and Rocks and Islands Wilderness Areas Management Plan (WMP), and the 2005 King Range National Conservation Area Resource Management Plan (RMP) both of which outline operational goals of the area and the purpose of a wilderness permit program.

DATES: The BLM's Arcata Field Office intends to implement the King Range Wilderness ISRP program, which will be administered through the electronic reservation system, Recreation.gov, with a projected go-live date in January 2017.

ADDRESSES: Additional information may be obtained by email request to CA338@blm.gov, or by mail to Bureau of Land Management, King Range Project Office, PO Drawer 189, Whitethorn, CA 95589, attention NCA Manager.
