investigations of the drug becomes effective and runs until the approval phase begins. The approval phase starts with the initial submission of an application to market the human drug product and continues until FDA grants permission to market the drug product. Although only a portion of a regulatory review period may count toward the actual amount of extension that the Director of USPTO may award (for example, half the testing phase must be subtracted as well as any time that may have occurred before the patent was issued), FDA’s determination of the length of a regulatory review period for a human drug product will include all of the testing phase and approval phase as specified in 35 U.S.C. 156(g)(1)(B).

FDA has approved for marketing the human drug product, LUMASON (sulfur hexafluoride microbubbles). LUMASON is an ultrasound contrast agent indicated for use in patients with suboptimal echocardiograms to opacify the left ventricular chamber and to improve the delineation of the left ventricular endocardial border.

Subsequent to this approval, the USPTO received a patent term restoration application for LUMASON (U.S. Patent No. 5,686,060) from Bracco Suisse SA, and the USPTO requested FDA’s assistance in determining this patent’s eligibility for patent term restoration. In a letter dated October 22, 2015, FDA advised the USPTO that this human drug product had undergone a regulatory review period and that the approval of LUMASON represented the first permitted commercial marketing or use of the product. Thereafter, the USPTO requested that FDA determine the product’s regulatory review period.

II. Determination of Regulatory Review Period

FDA has determined that the applicable regulatory review period for LUMASON is 7,199 days. Of this time, 6,174 days occurred during the testing phase of the regulatory review period, while 1,025 days occurred during the approval phase. These periods of time were derived from the following dates:

1. The date an exemption under section 505(i) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the FD&C Act) (21 U.S.C. 355(i)) became effective: January 26, 1995. The applicant claims December 23, 1994, as the date the investigational new drug application (IND) became effective. However, FDA records indicate that the IND effective date was January 26, 1995, which was 30 days after FDA receipt of the IND.

2. The date the application was initially submitted with respect to the human drug product under section 505(b) of the FD&C Act: December 21, 2011. The applicant claims December 20, 2011, as the date the NDA for LUMASON was initially submitted. However, FDA records indicate that NDA 203684 was submitted on December 21, 2011.

3. The date the application was approved: October 10, 2014. FDA has verified the applicant’s claim that NDA 203684 was approved on October 10, 2014.

This determination of the regulatory review period establishes the maximum potential length of a patent extension. However, the USPTO applies several statutory limitations in its calculations of the actual period for patent extension. In its application for patent extension, this applicant seeks 5 years of patent term extension.

III. Petitions

Anyone with knowledge that any of the dates as published are incorrect may submit either electronic or written comments and ask for a redetermination (see DATES). Furthermore, any interested person may petition FDA for a determination regarding whether the applicant for extension acted with due diligence during the regulatory review period. To meet its burden, the petition must be timely (see DATES) and contain sufficient facts to merit an FDA investigation. (See H. Rept. 857, part 1, 98th Cong., 2d sess., pp. 41–42, 1984.) Petitions should be in the format specified in 21 CFR 10.30.

Submit petitions electronically to http://www.regulations.gov at Docket No. FDA—2013—S—0610. Submit written petitions (two copies are required) to the Division of Dockets Management (HFA—305), Food and Drug Administration, 5630 Fishers Lane, Rm. 1061, Rockville, MD 20852.

Dated: September 12, 2016.

Determination of Regulatory Review Period for Purposes of Patent Extension; RESQPCR SYSTEM

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has determined the regulatory review period for RESQPCR SYSTEM and is publishing this notice of that determination as required by law. FDA has made the determination because of the submission of an application to the Director of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO), Department of Commerce, for the extension of a patent which claims that medical device.

DATES: Anyone with knowledge that any of the dates as published (see the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION section) are incorrect may submit either electronic or written comments and ask for a redetermination by November 15, 2016.

Furthermore, any interested person may petition FDA for a determination regarding whether the applicant for extension acted with due diligence during the regulatory review period by March 15, 2017. See “Petitions” in the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION section for more information.

ADDRESSES: You may submit comments as follows:

II. Determination of Regulatory Review Period

FDA has determined that the period for the application (PMA) for RESQCPR SYSTEM is 2,841 days. Of those days, 2,196 days occurred during the product’s regulatory review period. Therefore, the USPTO determined applicant’s total regulatory review period in the application to be 2,196 days.

III. Petitions

Anyone with knowledge that any of the dates as published are incorrect may submit a petition to the Division of Dockets Management, 5630 Fishers Lane, Rm. 1061, Rockville, MD 20852, or to the Division of Policy, Food and Drug Administration, 10903 New Hampshire Ave., Bldg. 51, Room 7175, Silver Spring, MD 20993, at least 30 days in advance of the request decision date.

Determination of Regulatory Review Period for Purposes of Patent Extension; ENTYVIO

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has determined the regulatory review period for ENTYVIO and is publishing this notice of that determination as required by law. FDA has made the determination because of the submission of an application to the Director of the U.S. Patents and Trademarks Office (USPTO), Department of Commerce, for a patent on the chemical entity of a new chemical entity (NCE), ENTYVIO.

DATES: Anyone with knowledge that any of the dates as published (see the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION section) are incorrect may submit either electronic or written comments and ask for a readetermination by November 15, 2016. Furthermore, any interested person may petition FDA for a determination regarding whether the applicant for extension acted with due diligence during the regulatory review period by March 15, 2017. See “Petitions” in the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION section for more information.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (Pub. L. 98–417) and the Generic Animal Drug and Patent Term Restoration Act (Pub. L. 100–670) generally provide that a patent may be extended for a period of up to 5 years following the approval of an application for a new animal drug product, animal drug product, medical device, food additive, or color additive). Food and Drug Administration, 5630 Fishers Lane, Rm. 1061, Rockville, MD 20852.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has determined that the chemical entity of the new chemical entity (NCE) ENTYVIO has met the criteria for extension for a period of up to 5 years following its approval. Under the Act, the extension period begins with the initial approval of her biological product. The Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (Pub. L. 98–417) and the Generic Animal Drug and Patent Term Restoration Act (Pub. L. 100–670) generally provide that a patent may be extended for a period of up to 5 years following the approval of a new animal drug product, animal drug product, medical device, food additive, or color additive) was subject to regulatory review by FDA before the item was marketed. Under these acts, a product’s regulatory review period forms the basis for determining the amount of extension an applicant may receive.

A regulatory review period consists of two periods of time: A testing phase and an approval phase. For human biological products, the testing phase begins when the exemption to permit the clinical investigations of the biological becomes effective and runs until the approval phase begins. The approval phase starts with the initial
