The National Science Foundation (NSF) announces the Advisory Committee Act (Pub. L. 92–107, 75 Stat. 658) and the National Science Foundation Reauthorization Act of 2012 (Pub. L. 112–258, 126 Stat. 2004) authorize the National Science Foundation (NSF) to establish the National Science Board (NSB) and the National Advisory Committee for Mathematical and Physical Sciences (COMPS). The NSF uses the COMPS, the National Advisory Committee for the Geosciences (C-GEOS), and the National Advisory Committee for Biological Sciences (C-BIOS) to obtain advice and recommendations concerning broadening participation in science and engineering.

The NSF uses the COMPS to obtain advice and recommendations on priorities in support for cross-disciplinary, interdisciplinary, and transdisciplinary science and education initiatives. The NSF uses the C-GEOS to obtain advice and recommendations on priorities in support for geosciences research and education, including atmospheric, geospace, earth, ocean and polar sciences.
