

• Puget Sound Steelhead (O. mykiss): threatened, naturally and artificially propagated;

Background

The term “take” is defined under the ESA to mean harass, harm, pursue, hunt, shoot, wound, kill, trap, capture, or collect, or to attempt to engage in any such conduct. The ESA prohibits the take of endangered salmonids and, pursuant to ESA section 4(d), ESA regulations can be extended to prohibit the take of threatened salmonids.

However, NMFS may make exceptions to the take prohibitions for hatchery programs that are approved by NMFS under the limits on the prohibitions outlined in 50 CFR 223.203(b). The operators, WDFW collaborating with tribal co-manager Jamestown S’Klallam Tribe, have submitted an HGMP to NMFS pursuant to NMFS’ limit six of the 4(d) Rule of the ESA for hatchery activities in the Dungeness River basin, Washington.

This hatchery program is designed to contribute to the survival and recovery of Dungeness River spring Chinook salmon. This hatchery programs is intended to contribute to fulfilling federal tribal trust responsibilities and treaty rights guaranteed through treaties and affirmed in U.S. v. Washington (1974) by enhancing future fishing opportunities for Chinook salmon. Included in this hatchery plan is research and monitoring activities to study the effect of this programs on the recovery of Puget Sound Chinook salmon and steelhead.
