Abstract of Information Available

Human remains representing, at least, one individual have been identified. No associated funerary objects are present. In 1968, construction workers uncovered a burial site in Ganesha Park, Pomona, CA. The Los Angeles County coroner determined the remains to be Native American. Following this inadvertent discovery, two professors, Thomas Blackburn of Cal Poly Pomona and John S. Belmont of Pitzer College, Claremont, excavated the site. Later that year, Professor Belmont asked the coroner to release the remains to the Claremont Colleges Museum "in order that all material from this site be brought together in one institution for study." The following year, Professor Belmont left Pitzer College, and the remains were lost until discovered in a hidden cabinet in the Professor's former office in June of 2025.

Cultural Affiliation

Based on the information available and the results of consultation, cultural affiliation is reasonably identified by the geographical location or acquisition history of the human remains described in this notice.

Abstract of Information Available

A total of 30 cultural items in the Phoebe A Hearst Museum of Anthropology at the University of California, Berkeley have been requested for repatriation.

In 1949, Albert Mohr via the University of California Archaeological Survey removed 15 lots of objects of cultural patrimony from the following sites in San Bernardino County, California: CA-SBR-74, CA-SBR-75, CA-SBR-77, CA-SBR-78, CA-SBR-79, and CA-SBR-80. The objects of cultural patrimony include ground stone and worked stone.

A total of 14 objects of cultural patrimony were removed from the Troy Lake area, CA-SBR-146, and CA-SBR-317 in San Bernardino County, California in or around 1965 by Scott Ryerson. The objects of cultural patrimony include worked stone.

Harry Godwin removed one object of cultural patrimony from the Sheep Hole Mountains in San Bernardino County, California in 1948. The object of cultural patrimony is a seed.

Collections and collection spaces at the Phoebe A Hearst Museum of Anthropology were treated with substances for preservation and pest control, some potentially hazardous. No records have been found to date at the Museum to indicate whether or not chemicals or natural substances were used prior to 1960.

Determinations

The University of California, Berkeley has determined that:

- The 30 lots of objects of cultural patrimony described in this notice have ongoing historical, traditional, or cultural importance central to the Native American group, including any constituent sub-group (such as a band, clan, lineage, ceremonial society, or other subdivision), according to the Native American traditional knowledge of an Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization.

- There is a reasonable connection between the cultural items described in this notice and the Yuhaaviatam of San Manuel Nation (previously listed as San Manuel Band of Mission Indians, California).

Requests for Repatriation

Additional, written requests for repatriation of the cultural items in this notice must be sent to the authorized representative identified in this notice under ADDRESSES. Requests for repatriation may be submitted by any lineal descendant, Indian Tribe, or Native Hawaiian organization not identified in this notice who shows, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the requestor is a lineal descendant or a culturally affiliated Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization.

Repatriation of the cultural items in this notice to a requestor may occur on or after January 16, 2026. If competing requests for repatriation are received, the University of California, Berkeley must determine the most appropriate requestor prior to repatriation. Requests for joint repatriation of the cultural items are considered a single request and not competing requests. The University of California, Berkeley is responsible for sending a copy of this notice to the Indian Tribes and Native Hawaiian organizations identified in this notice and to any other consulting parties.

Notice of Inventory Completion: California State University, Long Beach, Long Beach, CA

AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), California State University, Long Beach has completed an inventory of human remains and associated funerary objects and has determined that there is a cultural affiliation between the human remains and associated funerary objects and Indian Tribes or Native Hawaiian organizations in this notice.

DATES: Repatriation of the human remains and associated funerary objects in this notice may occur on or after January 16, 2026.

ADDRESSES: Send written requests for repatriation of the human remains and associated funerary objects in this notice to Miztlayolxochitl Aguilera, California State University Long Beach, 1250 Bellflower Blvd., Long Beach, CA 90840, email Miztla.Aguilera@csulb.edu.

The determinations in this notice are the sole responsibility of California State University, Long Beach and additional information on the determinations in this notice, including the results of consultation, can be found in its inventory or related records. The National Park Service is not responsible for the determinations in this notice.

Abstract of Information Available

Human remains representing at least three individuals have been identified. The one associated funerary object is one bobcat skull. At an unknown date, the remains and associated funerary object were disinterred in Bakersfield, in Kern County, California by an individual who was "digging in the hills" and kept them in his possession. Upon his death, at an unknown date, his family recovered them and released them the Southern California Indian Center (SCIC). On October 29, 2019, SCIC transferred the possession of the remains to California State University, Long Beach (CSULB) for curation and assistance with the NAGPRA process. Since 2019, attempts to uncover more information had been unsuccessful due, in part to the closing of the SCIC. The ancestors were held at CSULB with a note: "Southern California Indian Center—now defunct." In 2023 the remains were confirmed to be Native American. In June 2025, due to defunct status of the controlling organization, CSULB, with the support of the CSU Chancellor's Office, made the decision to assume control of the remains in good faith to ensure repatriation of the ancestors. There is no record of the human remains or AFO being treated with potentially hazardous substances.
