Abstract of Information Available

A total of 51 lots of cultural items in the Phoebe A. Hearst Museum of Anthropology (Museum) at the University of California, Berkeley have been requested for repatriation.

In 1907, with the financial sponsorship of Phoebe A. Hearst, Alfred L. Kroeber acquired 49 lots of objects of cultural patrimony from Morongo Reservation, Riverside County, California toward the establishment of the Museum. The objects of cultural patrimony include bows, arrows, baskets, vessels, seed beaters, carrying nets, bone tools, and stone tools.

In 1927, Horatio Shumway Lee donated one object of cultural patrimony, a basket, to the Museum. Museum records note the basket as having been collected by Sarah E. Gilman, a teacher from the U.S. Indian Day School, Potrero, on Morongo Band of Mission Indians' reservation.

In 1965, the Heintz family donated one object of cultural patrimony to the Museum. The object of cultural patrimony is a basket with a tag indicating it was made in Morongo.

Collections and collection spaces at the Phoebe A. Hearst Museum of Anthropology were treated with substances for preservation and pest control, some potentially hazardous. No records have been found to date at the Museum to indicate whether or not chemicals or natural substances were used prior to 1960.

Determinations

The University of California, Berkeley has determined that:

- The 51 lots of objects of cultural patrimony described in this notice have ongoing historical, traditional, or cultural importance central to the Native American group, including any constituent sub-group (such as a band, clan, lineage, ceremonial society, or other subdivision), according to the Native American traditional knowledge of an Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization.

- There is a reasonable connection between the cultural items described in this notice and the Morongo Band of Mission Indians, California.

Requests for repatriation may be submitted by any lineal descendant, Indian Tribe, or Native Hawaiian organization not identified in this notice who shows, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the requestor is a lineal descendant or a culturally affiliated Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization.
