FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

Community Reinvestment Act Regulations Asset-Size Thresholds

AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (Board); Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC).

ACTION: Announcement of 2026 asset-size thresholds.

SUMMARY: Under their Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) regulations, the Board and the FDIC (collectively, the Agencies) annually adjust the asset-size thresholds used to define ''small bank'' and ''intermediate small bank.'' As required by the CRA regulations, the adjustment to the threshold amounts is based on the annual percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI–W). Applying this annual inflation adjustment methodology, the Agencies are announcing that, from January 7, 2026 through December 31, 2026, ''small bank'' will mean a bank that, as of December 31 of either of the prior two calendar years, had assets of less than $1.649 billion; and ''intermediate small bank'' will mean a small bank with assets of at least $412 million as of December 31 of both of the prior two calendar years and less than $1.649 billion as of December 31 of either of the prior two calendar years.

DATES: These asset-size thresholds are in effect from January 7, 2026 through December 31, 2026.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Community Reinvestment Act Asset-Size Thresholds

Under the current CRA regulations,[1] ''small bank'' currently means a bank that, as of December 31 of either of the prior two calendar years, had assets of less than $1.609 billion; and ''intermediate small bank'' means a small bank with assets of at least $402 million as of December 31 of both of the prior two calendar years and less than $1.609 billion as of December 31 of either of the prior two calendar years.[2] Pursuant to the annual inflation adjustment methodology described below, the Agencies are announcing that from January 7, 2026 through December 31, 2026,[3] ''small bank'' will mean a bank that, as of December 31 of either of the prior two calendar years, had assets of less than $1.649 billion; and ''intermediate small bank'' will mean a small bank with assets of at least $412 million as of December 31 of both of the prior two calendar years and less than $1.649 billion as of December 31 of either of the prior two calendar years.[4]

Calculation Methodology

The Agencies' CRA regulations establish CRA performance standards for small banks and intermediate small banks. The CRA regulations define small and intermediate small banks by reference to asset-size criteria expressed in dollar amounts, and they further require the Agencies to publish annual adjustments to these dollar figures based on the year-to-year change in the average of the CPI–W, not seasonally adjusted, for each 12-month period ending in November, with rounding to the nearest million.[5] This adjustment formula was first adopted for CRA purposes by the Agencies and the OCC in 2005.[6]

During the 12-month period ending November 2025, the CPI–W increased by 2.51 percent. Because the year-to-year change in the CPI–W was non-zero, the Agencies are making this annual adjustment. Beginning January 7, 2026, banks that, as of December 31 of either of the prior two calendar years, had assets of less than $1.649 billion are

[1] In October 2023, the Agencies and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) jointly issued a final rule to amend their Community Reinvestment Act regulations. See 89 FR 6574 (Feb. 1, 2024). Although the final rule was intended to take effect on April 1, 2024, the final rule has been challenged in litigation, and the final rule is currently enjoined. As such, the legacy CRA regulations (referred to in this notice as the ''current CRA regulations'') remain in effect. The text of the current CRA regulations may be found: (i) in the 2022, 2023, or 2024 bound versions of title 12 of the Code of Federal Regulations; (ii) in the historical version of the Electronic Code of Federal Regulations (eCFR) as of March 29, 2024; or (iii) in appendix G of the final rule, as published in the eCFR on February 1, 2024.

[2] See 89 FR 106480 (Dec. 30, 2024).

[3] Although these annual inflation adjustments are intended to take effect on January 1 of each year, this inflation adjustment may take effect on a later date to the extent that delays in the availability of certain CPI–W data that were necessary to determine this inflation adjustment affect the timing of the publication of this inflation adjustment in the Federal Register. Please refer to the effective date indicated at the top of this notice.

[4] Historically, the Agencies have announced these annual inflation adjustments via rulemakings that amend the ''small bank'' and ''intermediate small bank'' definitions in their CRA regulations. See, e.g., 88 FR 87895 (Dec. 20, 2023) (implementing annual inflation adjustments for 2024). However, because the eCFR has been updated to reflect the text of the October 2023 CRA final rule, and because the October 2023 CRA final rule is currently enjoined, the Agencies have determined that this document (rather than a rulemaking) is the best vehicle for announcing the annual inflation adjustments for 2026. On July 16, 2025, the agencies issued a proposed rule that would rescind the October 2023 CRA final rule, as amended, and replace it with the current CRA regulations (i.e., the regulations in effect on March 29, 2024), with conforming amendments to the agencies' definitions of ''small bank'' and ''intermediate small bank.'' See 90 FR 34086 (July 18, 2025).

[5] See 12 CFR 228.12(u)(2) and 345.12(u)(2) of the current CRA regulations. Due to the fall 2025 Federal government shutdown, no CPI–W data for October 2025 is available; as a result, the Agencies necessarily made the adjustment to the threshold amounts using 11 months of available CPI–W data over the course of the relevant 12-month period.

[6] The OCC adjusts the asset-size criteria for institutions that are subject to OCC-issued CRA regulations, including national banks and Federal and State savings associations, separately from the Agencies.
