Title: Reg E—Prepaid Accounts.

OMB Control No.: 1557–0346.

Type of Review: Regular.

Affected Public: Businesses or other for-profit.

Description: The CFPB’s Prepaid Accounts final rules require financial institutions to make available to consumers disclosures before a consumer acquires a prepaid account.

Under 12 CFR 1005.18(b), a financial institution is required to make available a short form and a long form disclosure before the consumer acquires a prepaid account, subject to certain exceptions. Section 1005.18(f)(3) requires certain disclosures with respect to prepaid account access devices. Disclosures must be made available or delivered in writing or electronically, depending on the circumstances.

Section 1005.18(b)(9) includes a requirement that a financial institution provide pre-acquisition disclosures in a foreign language if certain conditions are met. Financial institutions may elect to provide disclosures under section 1005.18(c)(1) as an alternative to providing periodic statements required by 12 CFR 1005.9(b), if applicable. Section 1005.18(c) contains other requirements for periodic statements and histories of account transactions.

Section 1005.15(e) requires disclosures related to error resolution procedures for prepaid accounts.

Section 1005.19(b) generally requires issuers to submit to the CFPB, on a rolling basis, prepaid account agreements.

Estimated Burden

Estimated Frequency of Response: On occasion.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 998.

Estimated Total Annual Burden: 5,960 hours.

Comments: On December 16, 2025, the OCC published a 60-day notice for this information collection, (90 FR 58370). Two comments were received. Both commenters urged the OCC to offer support for several substantive amendments to the CFPB’s Prepaid Account rules.¹ The OCC appreciates the commenters’ suggestions and will take them into consideration. As the commenters indicated, for purposes of the Prepaid Account rules, Congress provided the CFPB with exclusive rulemaking authority.²

Comments continue to be invited on:

(a) Whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the OCC, including whether the information has practical utility;

(b) The accuracy of the OCC’s estimate of the burden of the collection of information;

(c) Ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected;

(d) Ways to minimize the burden of the collection on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology; and

(e) Estimates of capital or start-up costs and costs of operation, maintenance, and purchase of services to provide information.

Assistant Director, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

¹ These suggestions include: (1) removing the long form disclosure requirements; (2) removing the requirements for electronic disclosures provided pursuant to the rules to be responsive to different screen sizes and be machine readable; (3) removing the short form disclosure for additional fee types; (4) reducing the requirement for prepaid card issuers to maintain account transaction history from 24 months to 12 months; and (5) removing the requirement that card issuers provide written transaction histories to consumers at no charge.

² To the extent commenters requested that the OCC amend the Prepaid Account final rules, the OCC lacks the requisite rulemaking authority. See 15 U.S.C. 1693b(a).
