SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Investment Advisers Act of 1940; Release No. IA-6961/April 28, 2026]

Order Approving Adjustment for Inflation of the Dollar Amount Tests in Rule 205-3 Under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940

I. Background

Section 205(a)(1) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 ("Advisers Act") generally prohibits an investment adviser from entering into, extending, renewing, or performing any investment advisory contract that provides for compensation to the adviser based on a share of capital gains on, or capital appreciation of, the funds of a client (also known as performance compensation or performance fees).¹ Section 205(e) authorizes the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") to exempt any advisory contract from the performance fee prohibition if the contract is with any person that the Commission determines does not need the protections of the prohibition, on the basis of certain factors described in that section.² Rule 205-3 under the Advisers Act exempts an investment adviser from the prohibition against charging a client performance fees when the client is a "qualified client."³ The rule allows an adviser to charge performance fees if the client has at least a certain dollar amount in assets under management (currently, $1,100,000) with the adviser immediately after entering into the advisory contract ("assets-under-management test") or if the adviser reasonably believes, immediately prior to entering into the contract, that the client has a net worth of more than a certain dollar amount (currently, $2,200,000) ("net worth test").⁴

² Under section 205(e), the Commission may determine that persons do not need the protections of section 205(a)(1) on the basis of such factors as "financial sophistication, net worth, knowledge of and experience in financial matters, amount of assets under management, relationship with a registered investment adviser, and such other factors as the Commission determines are consistent with [section 205]." 15 U.S.C. 80b-5(e).

also updated the specific reference point in paragraph (e) of rule 205–3 from May 1, 2016 to “on or about May 1, 2026, and approximately every five years thereafter” to establish the next expected date for issuance of a Commission order.

II. Adjustment of Dollar Amount Thresholds

On March 27, 2026, the Commission published a notice of intent to issue an order that would adjust for inflation the dollar amount thresholds of the assets-under-management test and the net worth test.¹¹ The Commission stated that, based on calculations that take into account the effects of inflation by reference to historic and current levels of the PCE Index, the dollar amount of the assets-under-management test would increase from $1,100,000 to $1,400,000, and the dollar amount of the net worth test would increase from $2,200,000 to $2,700,000.¹² These dollar amounts—which are rounded to the nearest multiple of $100,000 as required by section 205(e) of the Advisers Act—would reflect inflation from 2021 to the end of 2025.

The Commission’s notice established a deadline of April 27, 2026, for submission of requests for a hearing. No requests for a hearing have been received by the Commission.

III. Effective Date of the Order

This Order is effective as of June 29, 2026. To the extent that contractual relationships are entered into prior to the Order’s effective date, the dollar amount test adjustments in the Order would not generally apply retroactively to such contractual relationships, subject to the transition rules incorporated in rule 205–3.¹³

“most recent order” as the most recently issued Commission order in accordance with paragraph (e) of rule 205–3 and as published in the Federal Register.

¹¹ See Performance-Based Investment Advisory Fees, Advisers Act Release No. 6955 (Mar. 27, 2026) [91 FR 15930 (Mar. 31, 2026)]. Because the amounts of the Commission’s inflation adjustment calculations are larger than the rounding amount specified under rule 205–3, the dollar amount of both tests would be adjusted as a result of the Commission’s inflation adjustment calculation effected pursuant to the rule.

¹² See id. at section II.A.

¹³ See rule 205–3(c)(1) (“If a registered investment adviser entered into a contract and satisfied the conditions of this [section] that were in effect when the contract was entered into, the adviser will be considered to satisfy the conditions of this [section]; Provided, however, that if a natural person or company who was not a party to the contract becomes a party (including an equity owner of a private investment company advised by the adviser), the conditions of this [section] in effect at that time will apply with regard to that person or company.”); see also Investment Adviser Performance Compensation, Advisers Act Release

IV. Conclusion

Accordingly, pursuant to section 205(e) of the Advisers Act and section 418 of the Dodd-Frank Act,

It is hereby ordered that, for purposes of rule 205–3(d)(1)(i) under the Advisers Act [17 CFR 275.205–3(d)(1)], a qualified client means a natural person who, or a company that, immediately after entering into the contract has at least $1,400,000 under the management of the investment adviser; and

It is further ordered that, for purposes of rule 205–3(d)(1)(ii)(A) under the Advisers Act [17 CFR 275.205–3(d)(1)(ii)(A)], a qualified client means a natural person who, or a company that, the investment adviser entering into the contract (and any person acting on his behalf) reasonably believes, immediately prior to entering into the contract, has a net worth (together, in the case of a natural person, with assets held jointly with a spouse) of more than $2,700,000.

By the Commission.

Secretary.
