Abstract of Information Available

A total of one cultural item has been requested for repatriation. The object of cultural patrimony is a cylindrical coiled basket that was purchased by the then-Curator of the LMA on an electronic marketplace (eBay) in 2008. The seller purchased the basket at an auction in Seattle. Reportedly, the cultural item was identified as Chehalis, c. 1940s. The LMA does not have any information regarding the presence of any potentially hazardous substances used to treat the cultural item.

Determinations

The LMA, Colgate University has determined that:

- The one object of cultural patrimony described in this notice has ongoing historical, traditional, or cultural importance central to the Native American group, including any constituent sub-group (such as a band, clan, lineage, ceremonial society, or other subdivision), according to the Native American traditional knowledge of an Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization.
- There is a connection between the cultural item described in this notice and the Confederated Tribes of the Chehalis Reservation.

Requests for Repatriation

Additional, written requests for repatriation of the cultural item in this notice must be sent to the authorized representative identified in this notice under ADDRESSES. Requests for repatriation may be submitted by any lineal descendant, Indian Tribe, or Native Hawaiian organization not identified in this notice who shows, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the requestor is a lineal descendant or a culturally affiliated Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization.

Repatriation of the cultural item in this notice to a requestor may occur on or after June 4, 2026. If competing requests for repatriation are received, the LMA must determine the most appropriate requestor prior to repatriation. Requests for joint repatriation of the cultural item are considered a single request and not competing requests. The LMA is responsible for sending a copy of this notice to the Indian Tribes and Native Hawaiian organizations identified in this notice and to any other consulting parties.

Abstract of Information Available

Human remains representing, at least, four individuals were removed from Placer County, CA. These unproveniented human skeletal remains were given to Professor David L. Jennings, teacher of anthropology and geography courses at Los Angeles City College (LACC), by student Robert Marx in the 1950s. While attending LACC, Robert Marx, who later became a noted shipwreck hunter and underwater archaeologist, spent his weekends hunting for gold along the American River, localities from which we believe these Ancestors were likely removed. The human remains consist of one femur, one right mandible fragment with five teeth, one cranium and mandible with eight teeth, and one cranial fragment.

Cultural Affiliation

Based on the information available and the results of consultation, cultural affiliation is reasonably identified by the geographical location or acquisition history of the human remains described in this notice.

Determinations

The Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History has determined that:

- The human remains described in this notice represent the physical remains of at least four individuals of Native American ancestry.
