SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Department of Labor, as part of the continuing effort to reduce paperwork and respondent (i.e., employer) burden, conducts a preclearance consultation program to provide the public with an opportunity to comment on proposed and continuing information collection requirements in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA) (44 U.S.C. 3506(c)(2)(A)). This program ensures that information is in the desired format, reporting burden (time and costs) is minimal, the collection instruments are clearly understood, and OSHA's estimate of the information collection burden is accurate. The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSH Act) (29 U.S.C. 651 et seq.) authorizes information collection by employers as necessary or appropriate for enforcement of the OSH Act or for developing information regarding the causes and prevention of occupational injuries, illnesses, and accidents (29 U.S.C. 657). The OSH Act also requires that OSHA obtain such information with minimum burden upon employers, especially those operating small businesses, and to reduce to the maximum extent feasible unnecessary duplication of effort in obtaining information (29 U.S.C. 657).

The following sections describe who uses the information collected under each requirement, as well as how they use it. The purpose of these requirements in the Ethylene Oxide (EtO) Standard is to protect workers from the adverse health effects that may result from occupational exposure to ethylene oxide. The principal information collection requirements in the Ethylene Oxide (EtO) Standard include conducting worker exposure monitoring, notifying workers of the exposure, implementing a written compliance program, and implementing medical surveillance of workers. Also, the examining physician must provide specific information to ensure that workers receive a copy of their medical examination results. The employer must maintain exposure-monitoring and medical records for specific periods, and provide access to these records by OSHA, the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), the affected workers, and their authorized representatives and other designated parties.

II. Special Issues for Comment

OSHA has a particular interest in comments on the following issues:

- Whether the proposed information collection requirements are necessary for the proper performance of the agency's functions to protect workers, including whether the information is useful;
- The accuracy of OSHA's estimate of the burden (time and costs) of the information collection requirements, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- The quality, utility, and clarity of the information collected; and
- Ways to minimize the burden on employers who must comply; for example, by using automated or other technological information, and transmission techniques.

III. Proposed Actions

OSHA is requesting that OMB extend the approval of the information collection requirements contained in the Ethylene Oxide (EtO) Standard. The agency is seeking an adjustment decrease in burden going from 30,252 hours to 24,521 hours, a difference of 5,731 hours. The adjustment decrease is primarily due to the decline in the number of workers receiving periodic medical examinations, going from 24,992 to 16,663 examinations.

Also, the agency is seeking a decrease in capital costs of $868,465, going from $5,129,858 to $4,261,393. This decrease is due to a decrease in the number of medical examinations administered.

OSHA will summarize the comments submitted in response to this notice and will include this summary in the request to OMB to extend the approval of the information collection requirements.

Type of Review: Extension of a currently approved collection.

Title: Ethylene Oxide (EtO) Standard (29 CFR 1910.1047).

OMB Control Number: 1218–0108.

Affected Public: Business or other for-profits.

Number of Respondents: 2,123.

Number of Responses: 87,592.

Frequency of Responses: On occasion.

Average Time per Response: Varies.

Estimated Total Burden Hours: 24,521.

Estimated Cost (Operation and Maintenance): $4,261,393.
