

NMFS issued previous MMPA incidental take authorizations to the USMC for similar military readiness activities at the Cherry Point Range Complex effective beginning March 13, 2015 (80 FR 21212), May 18, 2020 (85 FR 31462), and May 18, 2021 (86 FR 27389).

Description of the Specified Activities

The USMC proposes to conduct training activities, which include weapons delivery training exercises (air-to-surface and surface-to-surface) at two water-based bombing targets located within the Cherry Point Range Complex in North Carolina.

The proposed activities would occur from 2026 through 2033, year-round, day or night. The USMC proposes to use small arms, large arms, bombs, missiles, rockets, grenades, and pyrotechnics for air-to-surface and surface-to-surface training exercises, which qualify as military readiness activities. The proposed activities are likely to result in the take of one species of marine mammal: bottlenose dolphin (Tursiops erebennus).

The application includes proposed mitigation measures for marine mammals that would be implemented during training activities in the Cherry Point Range Complex (see section 11 of the application). Proposed mitigation generally involves: (1) establishing clearance and monitoring zones for marine mammals; (2) conducting range sweeps during the morning of each exercise day prior to range operations; (3) conducting a cold pass by an aircraft immediately prior to ordnance delivery at the bombing targets; and (4) small boat visual checks before and after live-fire activities.

The USMC also proposes to undertake monitoring and reporting efforts to better understand the impacts of their activities on marine mammals and their habitat.

Information Solicited

Interested persons may submit information, suggestions, and comments concerning the USMC's request (see ADDRESSES section). NMFS will consider all information, suggestions, and comments related to the request during the development of proposed regulations governing the incidental taking of marine mammals by the USMC, if appropriate.

Dated: May 12, 2026.
