FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

12 CFR Part 337

RIN 3064-AF76

Unsafe and Unsound Banking Practices: Brokered Deposits and Interest Rate Restrictions; Correction

AGENCY: Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

ACTION: Correcting amendments.

SUMMARY: The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) is correcting a final rule that was published in the Federal Register on January 22, 2021.

DATES: Effective on June 3, 2026.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Justin Hagerty, Senior Examination Specialist, Division of Risk Management Supervision, (319) 382-2760, JHagerty@fdic.gov; Shane Bogusz, Senior Attorney, Legal Division, (366) 571-0212, SBogusz@fdic.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

This Federal Register Notice corrects technical errors in the FDIC’s regulations concerning brokered deposits, 12 CFR parts 303 and 337, which were amended by a final rule published in the Federal Register on January 22, 2021 (2021 rule). The 2021 rule inadvertently deleted the text accompanying two footnotes (which, additionally, were previously misnumbered) in 12 CFR 337.6(a)(3)(i). The 2021 rule also failed to update a cross-reference to 12 CFR 337.6(b)(2)(ii), a section which was relocated to 12 CFR 337.7(c)(2). Finally, the 2021 rule inadvertently used the term “assets under management” in the regulatory text for Part 303 when the rule’s preamble, as well as two related provisions of the FDIC’s regulations, used the correct terminology, “assets under administration,” to describe the same concept. Through this document, the FDIC is correcting these inadvertent errors, as well as making several minor grammatical changes.

II. Administrative Law Matters

The Administrative Procedure Act (“APA”) generally requires an agency to publish notice of a rulemaking in the Federal Register and provide an opportunity for public comment. This requirement does not apply, however, if the agency “for good cause finds . . . that notice and public procedure are impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest.”¹ The technical amendments do not impose any new substantive regulatory requirements on any party. The technical amendments make minor revisions to promote clarity and consistency, as well as correct certain drafting errors contained in the 2021 brokered deposit rule. For these reasons, there is good cause for the FDIC to find that it is unnecessary to publish
