SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

In 2025, the Expanding Public Lands Outdoor Recreation Experiences (EXPLORE) Act was signed into law (Public Law 118-234). EXPLORE Act Section 122, Protecting America’s Rock Climbing (PARC), addresses recreational climbing and is codified at 16 U.S.C. 8422. PARC requires the Secretary of the Interior to issue guidance for recreational climbing activities on covered Federal land. PARC further directs that the guidance shall recognize that recreational climbing (including the use, placement, and maintenance of fixed anchors) is an appropriate use within a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System if undertaken in accordance with the Wilderness Act and other applicable laws (including regulations) and subject to appropriate terms and conditions to be determined by the Secretary.

Accordingly, the Service has prepared a draft guidance memorandum and amendments to Service Manual chapter 610 FW 1, General Overview of Wilderness Stewardship Policy, and 610 FW 2, Wilderness Administration and Resource Stewardship. To view the current manual chapters, visit <https://www.fws.gov/policy-library/610fw1> and <https://www.fws.gov/policy-library/610fw2>. The draft guidance memorandum and proposed amendments maintain compliance with the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act of 1966, as amended by the National Wildlife Refuge System Improvement Act of 1997 (16 U.S.C. 668dd-668ee) and the Wilderness Act of 1964 (16 U.S.C. 1131-1136).

Draft National Guidance on Recreational Rock Climbing on National Wildlife Refuge System and National Fish Hatchery Lands as Directed by the EXPLORE Act

The draft memorandum provides national guidance for the Service regarding the consideration and management of recreational rock climbing on lands administered by the NWRS and, where applicable, the NFHS. This guidance, in tandem with associated policy amendments, discussed below, fulfills the direction in Section 122 of EXPLORE Act. It clarifies how the Service will evaluate, authorize, and manage climbing activities, consistent with existing statutory authorities, Service policy, and purposes of the lands administered by the Service. Rock climbing is not known to occur on any NFHS lands, however, this guidance establishes a framework for considering such proposals if they arise.

The draft memorandum is available for public review online in Docket No. FWS-HQ-NWRS-2026-1618 at <https://www.regulations.gov>.

Proposed Amendments to Service Manual Chapter 610 FW 1

In Service Manual chapter 610 FW 1, General Overview of Wilderness Stewardship Policy, we propose to add the following definitions to section 1.5:

- Fixed Anchor. Climbing equipment such as a bolt or piton that is left permanently in place to facilitate ascent, descent, or traverse of technical terrain.
- Installation. Anything made by humans that is not intended for human occupation and is left unattended or left behind when the installer leaves the wilderness.

Proposed Amendments to Service Manual Chapter 610 FW 2

In Service Manual chapter 610 FW 2, Wilderness Administration and Resource Stewardship, we propose to revise section 2.5A and add a new section 2.5D(6). These changes are described below.

Revised section 2.5A to read:

A.If a structure or installation existed before wilderness designation, we may retain it if we determine it is the minimum requirement to administer the area as wilderness and is necessary to accomplish the purposes of the refuge, including Wilderness Act purposes. Existing climbing routes established prior to January 4, 2025 (including fixed anchors along the routes) must be allowed to be used and maintained. We will remove or allow natural deterioration of all structures and installations that do not meet these criteria.

New section 2.5D(6) to read:

(6) Fixed Anchors. Fixed anchors for recreational rock climbing that are necessary for the ascent or descent of a technical rock, ice, or mountain climb will not be considered installations, and therefore not subject to an MRA. The occasional placement and maintenance of a fixed anchor for belay, rappel, or protection purposes will be allowed in wilderness, and does not violate the Wilderness Act or necessarily impair the future enjoyment of wilderness. Fixed anchors should be used as a last resort when temporary anchors and equipment, which can be placed and removed without altering the environment (clean climbing), is not viable.

Public Comments

We invite comments from the public, and local, State, Tribal, U.S. Territories, and Federal agencies on the draft guidance memorandum and proposed Service Manual chapter amendments. If you submit a comment at <https://www.regulations.gov>, your entire comment, including any personal identifying information, will be posted on the website.
