Government Owned Invention Available for License: Nucleophosmin 1 (NPM1) Mutation-Specific T Cell Receptors for Targeted Treatment of Acute Myeloid Leukemia (AML)

AGENCY: National Institutes of Health, HHS.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The NCI seeks research co-development partners or licensees for NPM1 Mutation-Specific T Cell Receptors for Targeted Treatment of AML.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Inquiries related to this license opportunity should be directed to: Abritee Dhal, Ph.D., Technology Transfer Manager, NCI, Technology Transfer Center, Email: abritee.dhal@nih.gov or Phone: 240-276-6154.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: AML is a rare form of blood cancer affecting myeloid stem and progenitor cells, associated with a poor prognosis and a 5-year survival rate of ~33%. Current treatments, including intensive chemotherapy and stem cell transplantation, are not suitable for all patients and can cause significant toxicities, including low blood cell counts, infection and graft-versus-host disease. Therefore, there is a need for safer and more effective treatments.

This specific invention concerns the isolation of two highly specific T cell receptors (TCRs), known as TCR6 and TCR7, recognizing a neoepitope, AVEEVSLRK. The neoepitope is derived from mutant NPM1 and presented in the context of HLA-A*11:01. Pre-clinical results for these TCRs revealed robust and specific cytotoxicity against a leukemia cell line and several patient-derived AML samples expressing the NPM1 mutation and HLA-A*11:01. Furthermore, they showed no cross-reactivity to normal peripheral blood mononuclear cells, structurally similar peptides or unrelated HLA alleles. These results suggest these novel TCRs represent a potential adoptive T cell therapy for the treatment of AML.

Overview of This Information Collection

(1) Type of Information Collection Request: Extension, Without Change, of a Currently Approved Collection.

(2) Title of the Form/Collection: Request for Fee Waiver.

(3) Agency form number, if any, and the applicable component of the DHS sponsoring the collection: I–912; USCIS.

(4) Affected public who will be asked or required to respond, as well as a brief abstract: Primary: Individuals or households. USCIS uses the data collected on this form to verify that the applicant is unable to pay for the immigration benefit being requested. Form I–912 standardizes the collection and analysis of statements and supporting documentation provided by the applicant with the fee waiver request. Form I–912 also streamlines and expedites USCIS's review, approval, or denial of the fee waiver request by clearly laying out the most salient data and evidence necessary for the determination of inability to pay. Officers evaluate all factors, circumstances, and evidence supplied in support of a fee waiver request when making a final determination. Each case is unique and is considered on its own merits. If the fee waiver is granted, the application will be processed. If the fee waiver is not granted, USCIS will notify the applicant and instruct them to file a new application with the appropriate fee.
