General Description of Collection: Section 1828(o) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act requires each federal banking agency to adopt uniform regulations prescribing real estate lending standards. Part 365 of the FDIC Rules and Regulations, which implements section 1828(o), requires institutions to have real estate lending policies that include (a) limits and standards consistent with safe and sound banking practices; (b) prudent underwriting standards, including loan-to-value ratio (LTV) limits that are clear and measurable; (c) loan administration policies; (d) documentation, approval and reporting requirements; and (e) a requirement for annual review and approval by the board of directors. The rule also establishes supervisory LTV limits and other underwriting considerations in the form of guidelines. There is no change in the substance or methodology of this information collection. The estimated annual burden has decreased by 8,780 hours, from 61,720 hours to 52,940 hours, due to a reduction in the number of respondents.

Analysis To Aid Public Comment

In accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. 552a, this document provides public notice that the FTC is proposing to add one new routine use to the SORNs for FTC–III–2—Travel Management System, FTC–III–3—Financial Management System, FTC–III–4—Automated Acquisitions System, and FTC–III–5—Employee Transportation Program Records, to comply with E.O. 14249. The Privacy Act authorizes the agency to adopt routine uses that are compatible with the purpose for which the information is collected. 5 U.S.C. 552a(b)(3); see also 5 U.S.C. 552a(a)(7).

On March 28, 2025, President Trump issued E.O. 14249, ''Protecting America's Bank Account Against Fraud, Waste, and Abuse,'' [1] which states in relevant part [2] that—> Within 90 days of the date of this order [i.e., by June 23, 2025], agency heads shall review and modify, as applicable, their relevant system of records notices under the Privacy Act of 1974 to include a 'routine use' that allows for the disclosure of records to the Department of the Treasury for the purposes of identifying, preventing, or recouping fraud and improper payments, to the extent permissible by law.

On August 20, 2025, Russell T. Vought, the Director of OMB, issued guidance that advised [3] each Senior Agency Official for Privacy, in consultation with the agency's Chief Financial Officer and Chief Information Officer, to consider adding a routine use that includes the following language:

> To the U.S. Department of the Treasury when disclosure of the information is relevant to review payment and award eligibility through the Do Not Pay Working System for the purposes of identifying, preventing, or recouping improper payments to an applicant for, or recipient of, Federal funds, including funds disbursed by a state (meaning a state of the United States, the District of Columbia, a territory or possession of the United States, or a federally recognized Indian tribe) in a state-administered, federally funded program.

After completing the required review of agency Privacy Act systems and to ensure compliance with E.O. 14249, the Commission proposes to add a new routine use applicable to four agency Privacy Act SORNs using the language set out immediately above from the OMB guidance. This includes FTC–III–2—Travel Management System, FTC–III–3—Financial Management System, FTC–III–4—Automated Acquisitions System, and FTC–III–5—Employee Transportation Program Records.

The FTC believes that it is compatible with the collection of information pertaining to individuals to disclose Privacy Act records about them when, in doing so, it will help with Administration priorities to help identify, prevent, or recoup fraud and improper payments, to the extent permissible by law. E.O. 14249 specifically directs the FTC and other agencies to ensure that sharing for such purposes is authorized by the agencies' Privacy Act systems' routine uses. The FTC believes the proposed routine use should not affect the privacy protections

[1] 90 FR 14011 (Mar. 28, 2025).

[2] Section 3(d) of E.O. 14249.

[3] OMB Memorandum M–25–32, Preventing Improper Payments and Protecting Privacy Through Do Not Pay (Aug. 20, 2025).

of individuals. Adding this routine use to four specific SORNs is a reasonable step to help the Administration, the FTC, and the Department of Treasury identify, prevent, or recoup fraud or improper payments, and is compatible with the purpose of the collection. In addition, the proposed routine use cannot override statutory restrictions on sharing information.[4] Accordingly, the Commission concludes that it is authorized under the Privacy Act to adopt the proposed routine use permitting disclosure of Privacy Act records for the purposes described above.

In accordance with the Privacy Act, see 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(4) and (11), the FTC is publishing notice of the proposed routine use and giving the public a 30-day period to comment before adopting them as final. The FTC has provided advance notice of this proposed system notice amendment to OMB and Congress, as required by the Act, 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), and OMB Circular A–108 (2016). The Commission proposes that the new routine uses become effective on October 5, 2026, unless the Commission amends or revokes the routine uses on the basis of any comments received.

Additionally, the FTC is making technical changes to three of these SORNs. For Travel Management System—FTC (FTC–III–2), the FTC is replacing a reference within the routine use section that previously stated the applicable routine uses were those routine uses associated with GSA/GOVT–4, or any successor system notice for that system, with language from ten specific routine uses from GSA/GOVT–4. For Financial Management System—FTC (FTC–III–3), the FTC is replacing a reference within the routine use section to the routine uses associated with Treasury.009 (Treasury Financial Management Systems), or any successor system notice for that system, with language from ten specific routine uses from Treasury.009 (Treasury Financial Management Systems). For Employee Transportation Program Records–FTC (FTC–III–5), the FTC is revising the language of routine use #1 relating to the disclosure to the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) for purposes of processing and distributing subsidies to FTC employees and verifying employee compliance with program rules to delete any reference to how DOT may then disclose these records under the applicable DOT routine uses.

Accordingly, the FTC hereby proposes to amend its Systems of Records Notices as follows:
