Animal Plant and Health Inspection Service

Title: African Swine Fever; Importation of Live Dogs for Resale from Regions Where ASF. Exists or Is Reasonably Believed to Exist.

OMB Control Number: 0579–0478.

Summary of Collection: The Animal Health Protection Act (AHPA) of 2002 is the primary Federal law governing the protection of animal health. The law gives the Secretary of Agriculture broad authority to detect, control, or eradicate pests or diseases of livestock or poultry. The Secretary may also prohibit or restrict import or export of any animal or related material if required to prevent the spread of any livestock or poultry pest or disease. The AHPA is contained in title X, subtitle E, sections 10401–18 of Public Law 107–171, May 13, 2002, the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002; 7 U.S.C. 8301, et seq. The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) Veterinary Services (VS) business unit is responsible for preventing foreign animal disease outbreaks in the United States, and monitoring, controlling, and eliminating a disease outbreak should one occur.

APHIS has determined that dogs imported from African swine fever (ASF)-affected countries for resale purposes, along with their bedding, represent a possible pathway for the introduction of disease. To block this pathway, APHIS has issued a Federal Order imposing several restrictions on the importation of dogs for resale from regions where ASF exists or is reasonably believed to exist. Importers will need to verify that they have met these restrictions by completing and submitting a Dog Import Record form, ASF VSDIR 1.

Need and Use of the Information: This form helps APHIS determine where dogs are coming from (to assess the risk of whether they could have been exposed to ASF), where they are going, and, most importantly, measures taken to ensure neither the dogs nor anything that came with them can spread ASF. Both parts of the VS Dog Import Record must be completed and submitted for each shipment of imported dog or dogs intended for resale.

The form also contains space for a detailed list of bathing confirmation for the individual dog or dogs imported, including the dogs' microchip numbers; name; age; gender; breed, color and markings; and the date of bathing. Each person bathing the dog or dogs must sign the form, as well as the importer.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

The International Trade Administration’s (ITA) is mandated by Congress to, among other responsibilities, broaden and deepen the U.S. exporter base. It accomplishes this by providing counseling, programs and services to help U.S. organizations export and conduct business in overseas markets. This information collection package enables ITA to provide appropriate global trade services to U.S. businesses and international buyers.

ITA offers a variety of services to enable clients to begin exporting and global trade or to expand existing export and global trade efforts. Clients may learn about available services from business related entities such as the National Association of Manufacturers, Federal Express, State Economic Development offices, the internet or word of mouth. ITA provides a standard set of services to assist clients with identifying potential overseas partners, establishing meeting programs with appropriate overseas business contacts and providing due diligence reports on potential overseas business partners. ITA also provides other global trade related services considered to be of a “customized nature” because they do not fit into the standard set of services but are driven by unique business needs of individual clients.

The dissemination of international market information and potential business opportunities for U.S. companies interested and actively exporting and conducting business globally are critical components of the ITA’s global trade assistance programs and services. U.S. companies are able to conveniently access and indicate their interest in services by completing the appropriate forms via multiple ways, including via a website (e.g. trade.gov), web-based survey or form links, or paper-based forms.

ITA works closely with clients to educate them about the exporting/ importing process and to help prepare them for global trading opportunities. When a client is ready to begin the process the field staff provide counseling to assist in the development of a global trade strategy. ITA provides fee-based, global trade-related services designed to help a client’s business presence internationally. The type of service that is offered to a client depends upon a client’s business goals and where they are in the export/import process. Some clients are at the beginning of the process and require assistance with identifying potential distributors, whereas other clients may be ready to sign a contract with a potential distributor and require due diligence assistance.

Before ITA can provide global trade and export-related services to clients, such as assistance with identifying potential partners or providing due diligence, specific information is required to determine the client’s business objectives and needs. For example, before ITA can provide a service to identify potential business partners, information is needed regarding if the client would like a potential partner to have specific technical qualifications, coverage in a specific market, English or foreign language ability or warehousing requirements. This information collection is designed to elicit such data so that appropriate services can be proposed and conducted to most effectively meet the client’s global trading goals. Without these forms ITA is unable to provide services when requested by clients.

The forms ask U.S. businesses standard questions about their company details, demographic information, export/import experience, information about the products or services they wish to export/import and their goals. A few
