SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

NASA’s Office of the Chief Health and Medical Officer, in collaboration with the Johnson Space Center (JSC) Flight Medicine Clinic (FMC), has implemented the requirements of the TREAT Astronauts Act, authorized under subsection 441 of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Transition Authorization Act of 2017 (Pub. L. 115–10). Under this authority, NASA collects health-related information from former astronauts and former payload specialists to provide medical evaluation and treatment for conditions associated with human spaceflight. This ongoing information collection supports clinical care and contributes to a comprehensive knowledge base on the long-term effects of spaceflight. It also enables NASA to identify gaps in services that support medical monitoring, diagnosis, and treatment of spaceflight-associated conditions. Records are collected by authorized healthcare providers within the JSC Occupational Health Branch.

These activities ensure the continued maintenance of complete medical records covering routine healthcare, emergency treatment, surveillance examinations, and exposure histories for active and retired astronauts. The collection fulfills NASA’s responsibilities under the TREAT Astronauts Act to advance understanding of spaceflight-related health outcomes and to ensure appropriate long-term medical support for former crew members, as mandated by Public Law 115–10.

NASA is committed to effectively performing the Agency’s communication function in accordance with the National Aeronautics and Space Act of 1958, Section 203(a)(3), as amended states “provide for the widest practicable and appropriate dissemination of information concerning its activities and the results thereof”, and to enhance public understanding of, and participation in, the Nation’s aeronautics and space programs.

II. Methods of Collection

Electronic and paper.
