Response to Comments

The Department published a 60-day notice on May 28, 2026. 91 FR 31817. Several public comments were received, most of which addressed matters outside the scope of this action or were submitted in error; therefore, the Department is not providing responses to those comments. One public commenter recommended methods for the Department to improve both efficiency and transparency for applicants. The Department appreciates the commenter’s support for the continuation of this information collection and the constructive recommendations regarding burden estimation, electronic processing, applicant guidance, transparency, and the reuse of previously submitted information.

With respect to the estimated 30-minute burden per response, the Department recognizes that the time required to complete an information collection may vary depending on the complexity of the submission and the extent to which supporting information or documentation must be gathered. The burden estimate reflects the Department’s current assessment of the time reasonably necessary to complete the collection instrument itself. The Department will continue to evaluate the burden associated with the collection, including the extent to which applicants may need to obtain, review, or verify information before completing a submission.

The Department also appreciates the commenter’s recommendation to further expand electronic submission capabilities. The Department continues to evaluate opportunities to improve electronic processing, including automated validation, standardized data entry, secure document submission, application status information, and electronic notifications.

The Department agrees that clear and accessible public guidance can help applicants submit complete and accurate information and thereby reduce avoidable processing delays. The Department will continue to assess opportunities to improve instructions, clarify frequently misunderstood requirements, provide examples of common submission errors, and update publicly available guidance and frequently asked questions as appropriate. The Department also appreciates the suggestion to provide additional performance information, such as processing times and common deficiencies. The Department will continue to review when information can be made available in a manner that improves transparency and assists applicants while protecting sensitive information and accounting for operational and national security considerations.

Finally, the Department appreciates the recommendation to consider whether information contained in existing DDTC registrations or prior submissions can be reused or incorporated into subsequent submissions. The Department recognizes that, where appropriate, pre-population or reuse of information could reduce duplicative reporting and administrative burden. The Department will continue to evaluate opportunities to leverage information already available to the Department, consistent with applicable legal, regulatory, information security, data integrity, and recordkeeping requirements.
