DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

[Docket No.: ED–2025–SCC–0382]

Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) 2025–26 Through 2026–27; Admissions and Consumer Transparency Supplement (ACTS)

AGENCY: National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), Institute of Education Sciences (IES), Department of Education (ED).

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: On November 13, 2025, the Department of Education published in the Federal Register a submission to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for review and approval, with a request for public comment, related to the Admissions and Consumer Transparency Supplement (ACTS) to the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) 2025–26 through 2026–27. This document revises the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION provided in that notice.

DATES: These revisions apply to the notice published on November 13, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Matthew Soldner, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue SW, Room 5C133, Washington, DC 20202. Telephone: (202) 453–7441.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Department’s November 13, 2025, notice (90 FR 50940) requested OMB’s review of, and public comment related to, the Admissions and Consumer Transparency Supplement (ACTS) to the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) 2025–26 through 2026–27. This document revises the discussion provided there in accordance with the remand in Massachusetts v. U.S. Dep’t of Educ., Case No. 1:26–cv–11229 (D. Mass. 2026).

Implementation Timeline

The Department’s implementation timeline for ACTS—which currently results in its collection launching during the 2025–26 Winter Collection period—is driven by a confluence of public policy goals, operational factors, and statistical purposes.

The primary purpose of the ACTS collection is to provide transparency to consumers about college admissions practices hence the name “Admissions Consumer Transparency Supplement” (see: Presidential Memorandum; <https://www.whitehouse.gov/presidential-actions/2025/08/ensuring-transparency-in-higher-education-admissions/>), (see: ACTS Supporting Statement Part A Revision 3 at page 16); (see: Appendix F FRN 30-day Comment Responses at pages 11, 13, 18–20); (https://www.reginfo.gov/public/do/PRAViewDocument?ref_nbr=202508-1850-001). Although admissions cycles vary, many students and their families are making application decisions in late fall and early winter (see: <https://bigfuture.collegeboard.org/plan-for-college/apply-to-college/college-application-timeline-12th-grade>). As such, institution-level data on admissions practices have the potential to be most valuable to students and families between summer and early fall (ibid.).

Here, the Department seeks to make admissions transparency data available to students and parents as quickly as possible—ideally to inform decision-making for students as they are applying to colleges. The public is best served if that data can be made available as soon as possible so students and parents can be informed as they decide where to apply before critical fall application deadlines. To achieve that goal, the Department must take its first available opportunity to collect data on outcomes associated with institutions’ admissions practices.

Operationally, the Department’s first available—and most logical—opportunity to do so is as part of the IPEDS 2025–26 Winter Collection. The Department believes that the timing of the ACTS component should align to the timing of the Winter Collection because (a) the ACTS component seeks to understand the outcomes associated with institutions’ admissions practices and (b) the IPEDS Admissions component is currently included in the IPEDS Winter Collection.

Notwithstanding this conceptual link, the Department believes these collections are operationally linked in their execution on campus. To the extent the latter are a disaggregation of the former, the foundational data required to complete the IPEDS Admissions component and the admissions-related elements of ACTS are fundamentally the same. The Department determined that modifying the existing Admissions component to capture the admissions-related data elements that are now part of ACTS would be more disruptive to institutions, the Department’s data collection contractor, and the integrity of the existing IPEDS survey system,
