

experience with the program in the near future;

- Personally identifiable information (PII) is collected only to the extent necessary and is not retained;
- Information gathered will be used only internally for general service improvement and program management purposes and is not intended for release outside of the agency;
- Information gathered will not be used for the purpose of substantially informing influential policy decisions; and
- Information gathered will yield qualitative information; the collections will not be designed or expected to yield statistically reliable results or used as though the results are generalizable to the population of study.

Feedback collected under this generic clearance provides useful information, but it does not yield data that can be generalized to the overall population. This type of generic clearance for qualitative information will not be used for quantitative information collections that are designed to yield reliably actionable results, such as monitoring trends over time or documenting program performance. Such data uses require more rigorous designs that address: the target population to which generalizations will be made, the sampling frame, the sample design (including stratification and clustering), the precision requirements or power calculations that justify the proposed sample size, the expected response rate, methods for assessing potential non-response bias, the protocols for data collection, and any testing procedures that were or will be undertaken prior to fielding the study. Depending on the degree of influence the results are likely to have, such collections may still be eligible for submission for other generic mechanisms that are designed to yield quantitative results, but do not fall under the current generic collection.

As a general matter, information collections under this generic collection request will not result in any new system of records containing privacy information and will not ask questions of a sensitive nature, such as sexual behavior and attitudes, religious beliefs, and other matters that are commonly considered private.

Background

OPM is collecting information from tribal employers applying to participate in the FEHB Program under 25 U.S.C. 1647b and subpart N of 5 CFR part 890. OPM defines “tribal employer” in 5 CFR 890.1402 to include an Indian tribe or tribal organization carrying out at least one program under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act or the Tribally Controlled Schools Act; or an urban Indian organization carrying out at least one program under title V of the Indian Health Care Improvement Act. A tribal employer must be entitled to purchase coverage, rights, and benefits under the FEHB Program for their tribal employees. Once a tribal employer elects to participate in the FEHB Program in compliance with 5 CFR 890.1404, a tribal employee who is considered a common law employee and meets FEHB requirements for the type of employment (e.g., full-time, seasonal) will become eligible to enroll in FEHB pursuant to 5 CFR 890.1405.

This collection consists of information identifying the tribal employer and its representatives for FEHB purposes, key tribal personnel, billing unit and bank account information, and a tribal employer profile. Collection of this information is necessary to ensure the validity of a program application and to facilitate enrollment in the FEHB Program. The information is not published.
