National Emission Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants: Lime Manufacturing Plants Technology Review; Correction

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Correcting amendment.

SUMMARY: The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is making a correction to the National Emission Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants for Lime Manufacturing Plants (Lime Manufacturing NESHAP) technology review final rule that appeared in the Federal Register on July 16, 2024. Following publication of this final rule, the EPA discovered an inadvertent error in the regulatory text and is correcting the error in this action.

DATES: The final rule is effective on November 3, 2026.

ADDRESSES: The EPA has established a docket for this rulemaking under Docket ID No. EPA–HQ–OAR–2026–0725. All documents in the docket are listed on the https://www.regulations.gov/ website. Although listed, some information is not publicly available, e.g., Confidential Business Information (CBI) or other information whose disclosure is restricted by statute. Certain other material, such as copyrighted material, is not placed on the internet and will be publicly available only in hard copy form. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The EPA finalized the Lime Manufacturing NESHAP technology review on July 16, 2024.[1] Following publication of this final rule, the EPA discovered an error in the regulatory text and is correcting the error in this action.

Specifically, the EPA is revising the Lime Manufacturing NESHAP July 16, 2024, final rule (2024 final rule) to correct 40 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) part 63 section 7114. In the 2024 final rule amendatory text, 40 CFR 63.7114 was revised to include two new paragraphs describing the requirements for the emissions averaging compliance option. These additions were added to the section as paragraphs (b) and (c). Paragraph (c)(2) instructs lime manufacturing plants that chose to comply with emissions averaging for HCl or mercury to develop and submit to the applicable regulatory authority for review and approval, an implementation plan for emission averaging no later than 180 days before the date the facility intends to demonstrate compliance. The EPA is revising the 180-day plan submittal requirement to 60 days, as the Agency intended. In the 2024 final rule preamble, under section E. What other changes have been made to the NESHAP?, the EPA explains that the deadline for submitting the emissions averaging plan before the compliance demonstration was adjusted from 180 days, as proposed, to 60 days. Following publication of the 2024 final rule, the EPA discovered the regulatory text was not updated to reflect this change.

The correction in this action makes the regulatory text consistent with what the preamble to the 2024 final rule describes. The EPA's authority for the rulemaking procedures followed in this action is provided by the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), 5 U.S.C. 553. In general, an agency issuing a rule must provide prior notice and an opportunity for public comment, but APA section 553(b)(B) includes an exemption from notice-and-comment requirements ''when the agency for good cause finds (and incorporates the finding and a brief statement of reasons therefor in the rule issued) that notice and public procedure thereon are impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest.'' The EPA has determined that there is good cause for making this rule final without prior proposal and opportunity for comment because the changes to the rule are minor, noncontroversial in nature, and correct an inadvertent typographical error. The change aligns regulatory text with the EPA's expressed intent in the 2024 final rule preamble and does not substantively change the requirements of the 2024 final rule except to the extent necessary to align the regulatory text with the EPA's intent, which the preamble expressly states. Thus, the corrected regulatory text in this action has already had notice and opportunity for public comment, rendering further notice and opportunity for public comment unnecessary. The EPA finds that this constitutes good cause under 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B).

For a complete discussion of all the statutes, executive orders and administrative requirements applicable to this action, see the final rule published in the Rules and Regulations section of the Federal Register (89 FR 57738).

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Office of the Secretary

45 CFR Part 84

RIN 0945–AA27

Nondiscrimination on the Basis of Disability in Programs or Activities Receiving Federal Financial Assistance

AGENCY: Office for Civil Rights (OCR), Office of the Secretary, Department of Health and Human Services.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS or Department) issues this rule to revise the regulation implementing section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (section 504) as it applies to recipients of HHS funding (entitled ''Nondiscrimination on the Basis of Disability in Programs or Activities Receiving Federal Financial Assistance,'' (''2024 Final Rule'')), published on May 9, 2024. This rule clarifies that the Department interprets the statutory exclusion of ''gender identity disorders not resulting from physical impairments'' from the terms ''individual with a disability'' and ''disability'' set forth in our regulations to encompass ''gender dysphoria not resulting from a physical impairment'' for purposes of the regulation. This clarification is necessary to resolve ambiguity introduced in the preamble to the 2024 Final Rule and to ensure compliance with the best reading of the governing statute.

DATES: This rule is effective January 4, 2027.

I. Background

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (section 504) prohibits discrimination on the basis of disability in programs and activities that receive Federal financial assistance as well as in programs and activities conducted by any Federal agency.

The Office for Civil Rights (OCR) in the United States Department of Health and Human Services (HHS or the Department) enforces section 504 as well as other statutes that prohibit discrimination on the basis of disability.

Congress passed the Rehabilitation Act in 1973, and what was then the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare issued regulations to implement section 504 in 1977. In the following decades, major legislative and judicial developments shifted the legal landscape of disability discrimination protections under section 504. Those developments include multiple statutory amendments to the Rehabilitation Act, the enactment of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) and ADA Amendments Act of 2008 (ADAAA), passage of the Affordable Care Act (ACA), and Supreme Court and other significant court cases.

On May 9, 2024, the Department issued the 2024 Final Rule [1] to modernize and clarify its regulations implementing section 504 for recipients of HHS financial assistance mainly due to those developments. As relevant here, the preamble to the 2024 Final Rule discussed whether ''gender dysphoria may constitute a disability under section 504.'' [2] The 2024 Final Rule concluded, in its preamble, that ''gender dysphoria does not fall with the statutory exclusions for gender identity disorders.'' [3] The codified regulatory text defining the term ''disability'' cross-referenced the statutory exclusion in 29 U.S.C. 705(20)(F) [4] and was silent on whether gender dysphoria may be a disability under section 504.[5]

In April of 2025, the Department published a clarification in the Federal Register, 90 FR 15412 (Apr. 11, 2025) (2025 Notice), regarding the 2024 Final Rule preamble language that addressed whether gender dysphoria may constitute a disability under section 504. The notice expressed the Department's concern that ''there has been significant confusion about the preamble language referencing gender dysphoria in the'' 2024 Final Rule.[6] The notice clarified that the 2024 Final Rule ''does not say that gender dysphoria is a disability'' and that the preamble language ''does not have the force or effect of law'' and ''cannot be enforced.'' [7]

The Proposed Rule

On December 19, 2025, the Department published a proposed rule to amend 45 CFR part 84, Nondiscrimination on the Basis of Disability in Programs or Activities Receiving Federal Financial Assistance.[8] The proposed rule sought to resolve the ambiguity that the Department's April 2025 Notice
