SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On May 18, 2026, the Acting Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention signed an Order prohibiting the introduction of certain persons who have departed from, or were otherwise present within, specified countries during the last 21 days. On May 22, 2026, the Assistant Secretary for Health (ASH), HHS, signed an Amended Order that reflected updates to 42 CFR 71.40(f), which no longer provides an exemption for lawful permanent residents (LPRs) from such orders. CDC accepted comments on both the original Order and Amended Order through June 22, 2026. On June 21, 2026, the ASH signed a new 30-day Order continuing the previous Order, without change, and provided a 15-day comment period. Subsequent new orders, each continuing the previous Order without change and responding to public comments as well as providing updates on the epidemiologic situation and status of the outbreak, were signed by the ASH on July 13, 2026, August 12, 2026, September 11, 2026, and October 11, 2026, respectively. During the comment period for the October 11, 2026, Order, CDC received eight comments, which are addressed below. With this notice, CDC is announcing the issuance of an Order that continues the suspension of the right to introduce certain persons who have departed from, or were otherwise present within, specified countries during the last 21 days. This Order is effective for a period of 30 days.

Response to Comments on Previous Order

Comment: Several commenters expressed general support for enacting evidence-based measures to prevent Ebola from entering the United States and stated their support for broad public-health powers that are tied to clear scientific criteria for when restrictions begin, narrow, and end. The commenters also recommended that CDC use a meaningful, evidence-based risk-assessment approach to travel restrictions, while recognizing uncertainty when evidence is incomplete. One commenter suggested that CDC publish all relevant data and update both data and analyses routinely. Commenters recommended that if individualized risk assessment is operationally impractical during this outbreak, CDC should explain why and continue evaluating whether targeted screening, monitoring, or narrowly defined exceptions could achieve comparable protection.

Response: Thank you for these comments. CDC recognizes that individual risk may differ among persons who have been present in a designated country or place where the quarantinable communicable disease outbreak is occurring. However, CDC also considers the public health and other resources required to implement individualized exposure assessments versus an Order issued under Sections 362 and 365 of the Public Health Service Act and the implementing regulation at 42 CFR 71.40. Whether an individual transited through a designated country or place or spent significant time in such locations does not necessarily resolve all public health considerations relevant to that person's physical presence in the designated country or place or potential exposure. Moreover, implementation of the proposed limitations based on individual exposure circumstances would be more difficult to operationalize considering the volume of travelers at issue, as well as restraints on resources and personnel in the highly fluid context of international air travel.

Based on such considerations, CDC hasdetermined thata generally applicable threshold based on whether an individual was present in a designated country or place during the relevant period is both more protective of public health and more feasible to implement. CDC does not agree that individualized exposure assessments, testing, symptom screening, or
