SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

OMB Control Number: 3060–1046.

Title: Part 64, Modernization of Payphone Compensation Rules, et al., WC Docket No. 17–141, et al.

Form Number: N/A.

Type of Review: Extension of a currently approved collection.

Respondents: Business or other for-profit.

Number of Respondents and Responses: 215 respondents; 1,467 responses.

Estimated Time per Response: 0.50–30 hours.

Frequency of Response: On occasion, one-time, and quarterly reporting requirements; third party disclosure requirements; and recordkeeping requirement.

Obligation To Respond: Required to obtain or retain benefits. Statutory authority for this information collection is contained in 47 U.S.C. 151, 154 and 276.

Total Annual Burden: 22,606 hours.

Total Annual Cost: No cost.

Needs and Uses: Section 276 of the Communications Act, as amended (the Act), requires that the Federal Communications Commission (Commission or FCC) establish rules ensuring that payphone service providers (PSPs) are ''fairly compensated'' for each and every completed payphone-originated call. The Commission revised those rules in a 2018 Report and Order (FCC 18–21). The Payphone Compensation Rules satisfy section 276 by identifying the party liable for compensation and establishing a mechanism for PSPs to be paid. Those rules: (1) place liability to compensate PSPs for payphone-originated calls on the facilities-based long distance carriers or switch-based resellers (SBRs) from whose switches such calls are completed; (2) define these responsible carriers as ''Completing Carriers'' and require them to develop their own system of tracking calls to completion; (3) require Completing Carriers to file with PSPs a quarterly report and also submit an attestation by a company official, including but not limited to the chief financial officer (CFO), that the payment amount for that quarter is accurate and is based on 100% of all completed calls; (4) require quarterly reporting obligations for other facilities-based long distance carriers in the call path, if any, and define these carriers as ''Intermediate Carriers;'' and (5) give parties flexibility to agree to alternative compensation arrangements (ACA) so that small Completing Carriers may avoid the expense of instituting a tracking system. The revisions adopted in the 2018 Report and Order (1) eliminated the payphone call tracking system audit and associated reporting requirements; (2) permitted a company official, including but no longer limited to, the chief financial officer (CFO), to certify that a Completing Carrier's quarterly compensation payments to PSPs are accurate and complete; and (3) eliminated expired interim and intermediate per-payphone compensation rules that no longer apply to any entity. They thus significantly decreased the paperwork burden on carriers.

Secretary, Office of the Secretary.

Proposed Project

Survey to Promote Resources and Opportunities for aUtistic Teens and Young Adults (SPROUT)—New—National Center on Birth Defects and Developmental Disabilities (NCBDDD), Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Background and Brief Description

In 2022, an estimated one in 31 children eight years of age living in 16 communities across the United States had autism, a developmental disability that can cause significant social, communication, and behavior challenges. The Study to Explore Early Development (SEED) was implemented in 2006 to learn more about autism and other developmental disabilities in children 2–5-years of age. Extensive data, from interviews, in-person evaluations, and other sources were collected across three phases (SEED 1, 2, and 3) in eight geographic areas (California, Colorado, Georgia, Maryland, Missouri, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin). SEED 1–3 collected data on 9,808 preschool-aged children with autism, another developmental delay or disability, or from the general population. To date, almost 100 analyses of SEED 1–3 data have been published in peer-reviewed journals.

To better understand transition and lifespan issues affecting people with autism as they age, caregivers of children enrolled in SEED 1 (2006–2011) were eligible to participate in a pilot follow-up survey when their child was between 12–16 years of age (2018–2021; SEED Teen). An important outcome of SEED Teen was to demonstrate that longitudinal data collection from SEED participants is feasible (i.e., contact was established with approximately 97% of eligible participants and, of those, 64% enrolled in SEED Teen). SEED Follow-Up was thus initiated in 2021 to survey the broader cohort of SEED 1–3 participants on adolescent and young adult health and well-being. SEED Follow-Up is currently ongoing until June 2026.

The federal government identified a need to improve efforts to better understand lifespan issues among people with autism in the Autism CARES Act of 2024 and a report to Congress in 2017. Despite this, a recent portfolio analysis from the Interagency Autism Coordinating Committee (IACC), indicated that lifespan issues continue to receive the least amount of autism funding from federal agencies. Both the SEED Teen and SEED Follow-Up surveys helped identify healthcare needs and experiences among adolescents with autism. However, gaps in understanding remain in how we can best support adolescents and young adults with autism and their families.

Draft chapters of the 2024 IACC Strategic Plan Update emphasize the
