National Register Criteria for Evaluation

The National Park Service has developed the National Register Criteria for Evaluation. These criteria, which are set out at 36 CFR 60.4, are standards by which every property that is nominated to the National Register is judged. The Coast Guard has evaluated the Smilax under these criteria to determine whether it is eligible for listing on the National Register.

USCGC Smilax was found to be eligible under Criterion ''A'' with a period of historical significance extending from 1944 to 1976, fifty years before the present. USCGC Smilax has performed its mission of maintaining aids to navigation to promote maritime safety for more than 80 years. During this span there have been 5 major military conflicts and dozens of overseas contingency operations and armed conflicts. In 2013, USCGC Smilax assisted maritime archaeologists with the North Carolina Department of Natural and Cultural Resources to raise a number of artifacts from the site of Queen Anne's Revenge, the pirate Blackbeards's flagship that wrecked just offshore Beaufort Inlet, North Carolina in 1718. Due to the operational longevity, USCGC Smilax became the fifth ship to hold the title as ''Queen of the Fleet'' and it has held this honor for the past 15 years, demonstrating its place in Coast Guard history.

USCGC Smilax was found not to meet Criterion ''B'' since it is not associated with individuals important in United States history.

USCGC Smilax was found not to meet Criterion ''C'' since its original integrity has been compromised by engine refits, equipment upgrades, including the addition of a barge, and the modification of interior spaces.

USCGC Smilax was found not to meet Criterion ''D,'' as it is unlikely to yield information important in prehistory or history.

Summary of Consultations to Date

The Coast Guard has consulted with the Florida, Georgia, Iowa and North Carolina SHPO's concerning the proposed decommissioning and final disposition of USCGC Smilax. Florida, Georgia, Iowa, have commented that since USCGC Smilax is currently homeported in Atlantic Beach, NC they will agree with any findings or actions that the North Carolina SHPO recommends. The North Carolina SHPO has agreed with the findings of the US Coast Guard regarding the following.

Criteria of Adverse Effects

In accordance with the criteria for assessing whether an undertaking will have an adverse effect enunciated in 36 CFR 800.5, the Coast Guard has determined its proposed action will have an adverse effect. The steps the Coast Guard has conducted to mitigate the adverse effect of its proposed action are provided in the Evaluation of Alternatives or Mitigation Measures below.

Evaluation of Alternatives or Mitigation Measures

The Coast Guard has mitigated the adverse effects through the preparation of an HAER study, as mentioned earlier. The HAER study will be provided to the Library of Congress, where a copy will be made available for view. See https://www.loc.gov/pictures/collection/hh/ for information about the Library of Congress' HAER collection.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 1365 of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (NFIA) (42 U.S.C. 4104b), as added by Section 528 of the National Flood Insurance Reform Act of 1994 (Pub. L. 103–325, Title V), requires that the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) develop a standard hazard determination form for recording the determination of whether a structure is located within an identified Special Flood Hazard Area and whether flood insurance is available. Regulated lending institutions, federal agency lenders, the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, and the Government National Mortgage Association must complete use this form for any loan made, increased, extended, renewed or purchased by these entities. The requirement for Federally-regulated lending institutions to determine whether a building or mobile home securing a loan is located in an area having special flood hazards and whether flood insurance is available has been in effect since the enactment of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, although the use of a standard form was not required until the enactment of the Section 1365 of the NFIA. mortgage servicers to provide consistent information.
