FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[FR ID: 379461]

Privacy Act of 1974; System of Records

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Notice of a new system of records.

SUMMARY: The Federal Communications Commission (FCC, Commission, or Agency) proposes to establish a new system of records, FCC/OEA–7, Foreign Adversary Risk Management System (FARMS), subject to the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended. This action is necessary to meet the requirements of the Privacy Act to publish in the Federal Register notice of the creation, existence, and character of records maintained by the Agency. The Commission uses this system to collect information on whether FCC regulatees are subject to the control or other influence of a foreign adversary or adversarial country, as well as ownership and other information on the nature of any regulatees subject to adversarial control.

DATES: This system of records will become effective on November 27, 2026. Written comments on the routine uses are due by December 28, 2026. The routine uses will become effective on December 28, 2026, unless written comments are received that require a contrary determination.

ADDRESSES: Send comments to Shana Yates, FCC, 45 L Street NE, Washington, DC 20554, care of the Office of General Counsel, Privacy Team; or to privacy@fcc.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In January 2026, the FCC adopted the Foreign Adversary Control Report & Order, which requires the Office of Economics and Analytics (OEA) and the Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau (PSHSB) to develop a new system to collect information on whether FCC Regulatees are subject to the control or other influence of a foreign adversary or adversarial country. The Commission will use this system to collect information on whether FCC Regulatees are subject to such control. The system will collect attestation information from each Regulatee regarding that control, with the control status information made public for transparency and awareness. For Regulatees subject to adversarial control, the system will also collect ownership and other information on the nature of the control.

SYSTEM NAME AND NUMBER

FCC/OEA–7, Foreign Adversary Risk Management System (FARMS)

SECURITY CLASSIFICATION:

Unclassified.

SYSTEM LOCATION:

Federal Communications Commission (FCC), 45 L Street NE, Washington, DC 20554; or FISMA-compliant contractor.

SYSTEM MANAGER(S):

FCC, OEA, 45 L Street NE, Washington, DC 20554; or FISMA-compliant contractor.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

47 U.S.C. 151, 152, 154 (i)-(j), 155, 211, 214, 215, 218, 219, 220, 225, 251(e), 254, 301, 302a, 303, 307, 308, 310, 312, 316, 319, 332, 335, 336, 403, 412, 521; and 5 U.S.C. 602(c), 609(a)(3).

PURPOSES OF THE SYSTEM:

The FCC and organizations administering programs on behalf of the FCC use this system to collect and maintain information about whether FCC Regulatees are subject to the control or other influence of a foreign adversary or adversarial country. The Commission will use this system to collect information on whether FCC Regulatees are subject to such control. The system will collect attestation information from each Regulatee regarding that control, with the control status information made public for transparency and awareness. For Regulatees subject to adversarial control, the system will also collect ownership and other information on the nature of the control. The system will also make information about the control status and details of Regulatees public. The information contained may also be made available to national security and other relevant law enforcement partners.

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THE SYSTEM:

Individuals, including certifying officials, points of contact, and other individuals, who either

(1) have an ownership interest in, or

(2) certify or file information on behalf of,

FCC regulatees, licensees, authorization holders, and other regulated entities subject to the relevant attestation and disclosure requirements of the FCC's Foreign Adversary Control rules, 47 CFR 1.80000 through 1.80004.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

For certifying and other filing officials, contact information, including first and last names, phone numbers, facsimile numbers, email addresses, and official titles. For Regulatees asserting foreign adversarial control, information related to ownership structure and details about individuals who have a 5% or larger ownership share in the organization, including for each owner the first, middle, and last name, address, country or countries of citizenship, the voting, equity, and controlling interest held by the person, and a description of the interest holding.

RECORD SOURCE CATEGORIES:

Information in this system is provided by individuals, including certifying officials and other points of contact, for FCC Regulatees, licensees, authorization holders, and other regulated entities subject to the relevant attestation and disclosure requirements of the FCC's Foreign Adversary Control rules, 47 CFR 1.80000 through 1.80004.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

In addition to those disclosures generally permitted under 5 U.S.C. 552a(b) of the Privacy Act, all or a portion of the records or information contained in this system may be disclosed to authorized entities, as is determined to be relevant and necessary, outside the FCC as a routine use pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(b)(3) as follows.

1. Public Access—Filed information including attestations, certifications, additional disclosures, and other documentation contained in this system may be made available for public inspection to comply with FCC regulations that require public disclosure of this information, or in Commission releases, including notices of proposed rulemaking, public notices, orders, and other actions released by the Commission. Information provided through the system will be made public through a searchable, public-facing database.

2. Authorized Third Parties—Contact information and certifications made by individuals contained in this system may be shared with authorized third parties, including individuals and businesses in regulated and related industries, FCC vendors, and their contractors, to administer, support, participate in, or receive information related to, FCC programs and activities; or to ensure compliance with the confidentiality and other rules regarding information sharing in the FCC's programs and activities.

3. Federal, State, Local, U.S. Territorial, and Tribal Government Entities—Information may be shared with appropriate partner federal agencies and other authorized state, local, U.S. territorial or Tribal government entities to assess national security concerns associated with foreign adversaries or in any interagency process to assess the national security risks associated with potential applicants for and current holders of FCC licenses, certifications, and other covered authorizations, or in support of other FCC programs and activities.

4. Litigation—Records may be disclosed to the Department of Justice (DOJ) when: (a) the FCC or any component thereof; (b) any employee of the FCC in his or her official capacity; (c) any employee of the FCC in his or her individual capacity where the DOJ or the FCC has agreed to represent the employee; or (d) the United States Government is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and by careful review, the FCC determines that the records are both relevant and necessary to the litigation, and the use of such records by the DOJ is for a purpose that is compatible with the purpose for which the FCC collected the records.

5. Adjudication—Records may be disclosed in a proceeding before a court or adjudicative body, when: (a) the FCC or any component thereof; (b) any employee of the FCC in his or her official capacity; (c) any employee of the FCC in his or her individual capacity; or (d) the United States Government, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and by careful review, the FCC determines that the records are both relevant and necessary to the litigation, and that the use of such records is for a purpose that is compatible with the purpose for which the agency collected the records.

6. Law Enforcement and Investigation—When the FCC investigates any violation or potential violation of a civil or criminal law, regulation, policy, executed consent decree, order, or any other type of compulsory obligation and determines that a record in this system, either alone or in conjunction with other information, indicates a violation or potential violation of law, regulation, policy, consent decree, order, or other compulsory obligation, the FCC may disclose pertinent information as it deems necessary to the target of an investigation, as well as with the appropriate Federal, State, local, Tribal, international, or multinational agencies, or a component of such an agency, responsible for investigating, prosecuting, enforcing, or implementing a statute, rule, regulation, order, or other compulsory obligation.

7. Congressional Inquiries—Information may be provided to a Congressional office in response to an inquiry from that Congressional office made at the written request of the individual to whom the information pertains.

8. Government-wide Program Management and Oversight—Records may be disclosed to the Department of Justice (DOJ) to obtain that department's advice regarding disclosure obligations under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA); or to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to obtain that office's advice regarding obligations under the Privacy Act.

9. Breach Notification—Records may be disclosed to appropriate agencies, entities, and persons when: (a) the Commission suspects or has confirmed that there has been a breach of the system of records; (b) the Commission has determined that as a result of the suspected or confirmed breach there is a risk of harm to individuals, the Commission (including its information system, programs, and operations), the Federal Government, or national security; and (c) the disclosure made to such agencies, entities, and persons is reasonably necessary to assist in connection with the Commission's efforts to respond to the suspected or confirmed breach or to prevent, minimize, or remedy such harm.

10. Assistance to Federal Agencies and Entities Related to Breaches—Records may be disclosed to another Federal agency or Federal entity, when the Commission determines that information from this system of records is reasonably necessary to assist the recipient agency or entity in (a) responding to a suspected or confirmed breach or (b) preventing, minimizing, or remedying the risk of harm to individuals, the recipient agency or entity (including its information systems, program, and operations), the Federal Government, or national security, resulting from a suspected or confirmed breach.

11. Non-Federal Personnel—Records may be disclosed to non-Federal personnel, including contractors, other vendors (e.g., identity verification services), grantees, and volunteers who have been engaged to assist the FCC in the performance of a service, grant, cooperative agreement, or other activity related to this system of records and who need to have access to the records in order to perform their activity.

12. Department of Treasury—Records may be disclosed to the U.S. Department of Treasury when disclosure of the information is relevant to review payment and award eligibility through the Do Not Pay Working System for the purposes of identifying, preventing, or recouping improper payments to an applicant for, or recipient of, Federal funds, including funds disbursed by a state (meaning a state of the United States, the District of Columbia, a territory or possession of the United States, or a federally recognized Indian tribe) in a state-administered, federally funded program.

13. Prevention of Fraud, Waste, and Abuse Disclosure—Records may be disclosed to Federal agencies, non-Federal entities, their employees, and agents (including contractors, their agents or employees; employees or contractors of the agents or designated agents); or contractors, their employees or agents with whom the FCC has a contract, service agreement, cooperative agreement, or computer matching agreements for the purpose of: (1) detection, prevention, and recovery of improper payments; (2) detection and prevention of fraud, waste, and abuse in Federal programs administered by a Federal agency or non-Federal entity; (3) detection of fraud, waste, and abuse by individuals in their operations and programs, but only to the extent that the information shared is necessary and relevant to verify pre-award and prepayment requirements prior to the release of Federal funds, prevent and recover improper payments for services rendered under programs of the FCC or of those Federal agencies and non-Federal entities to which the FCC provides information under this routine use.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORAGE OF RECORDS:

This is an electronic system of records that resides on the FCC's network or on an FCC vendor's network.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR RETRIEVAL OF RECORDS:

Records in this system of records can be retrieved by category field based searches (e.g., FRN or Regulatee name) on the FARMS public search.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR RETENTION AND DISPOSAL OF RECORDS:

The FCC has drafted a retention and disposition schedule for these records; currently all records retention schedules are pending. Unscheduled records are retained indefinitely pending the agency's submission, and the National Archives and Records Administration's (NARA) approval, of a disposition schedule.

ADMINISTRATIVE, TECHNICAL, AND PHYSICAL SAFEGUARDS:

The electronic records, files, and data are stored within FCC or a vendor accreditation boundaries and maintained in a database housed in the FCC's or a vendor's computer network databases. Access to the electronic files is restricted to authorized employees and contractors; and to IT staff, contractors, and vendors who maintain the IT networks and services. Other employees and contractors may be granted access on a need-to-know basis. The electronic files and records are protected by the FCC and third-party privacy safeguards, a comprehensive and dynamic set of IT safety and security protocols and features that are designed to meet all Federal IT privacy standards, including those required by the Federal Information Security Modernization Act of 2014 (FISMA), the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), and the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST).

RECORD ACCESS PROCEDURES:

Individuals wishing to request access to and/or amendment of records about themselves should follow the Notification Procedures below.

CONTESTING RECORD PROCEDURES:

Individuals wishing to request access to and/or amendment of records about themselves should follow the Notification Procedures below.

NOTIFICATION PROCEDURES:

Individuals wishing to determine whether this system of records contains information about themselves may do so by writing to privacy@fcc.gov. Individuals requesting access must also comply with the FCC's Privacy Act regulations regarding verification of identity to gain access to records as required under 47 CFR part 0, subpart E.
