SUMMARY: This document announces that U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) will extend the comment period for an additional 45 days for interested parties to submit comments on the advance notice of proposed rulemaking (ANPRM) regarding supply chain visibility. The ANPRM was published in the Federal Register on September 2, 2026, with comments due on or before December 1, 2026. To allow for as much public participation as possible in the formulation of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, CBP is extending the comment period to January 15, 2027.

DATES: The comment period for the ANPRM published on September 2, 2026, at 91 FR 56408, is extended. Comments must be received on or before January 15, 2027.

Instructions: All submissions received must include the agency name and docket number for this rulemaking. All comments received will be posted without change to http://www.regulations.gov, including any personal information provided. For detailed instructions on submitting comments and additional information on the rulemaking process, see the ''Public Participation'' heading of the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION section of this document.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Public Participation

Interested persons are invited to participate in this rulemaking by submitting written data, views, or arguments on all aspects of the proposed rulemaking. U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) also invites comments that relate to the economic, environmental, or federalism effects that might result from this proposed rulemaking. Comments that will provide the most assistance to CBP will reference a specific aspect of the proposed rulemaking, explain the reason for any recommendations, and include data, information, or authority that support such recommendations. See ADDRESSES above for information on how to submit comments.

II. Background

On September 2, 2026, CBP published in the Federal Register (91 FR 56408) an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPRM) that solicited public comments on a variety of proposals related to new requirements enhancing CBP's visibility into the supply chains of goods imported into the United States. The ANPRM permitted the submission of comments on or before December 1, 2026.

Extension of Comment Period

With the goal of developing requirements that will allow CBP to more effectively detect and interdict illicit importations, especially those that are illegally transshipped to evade compliance with U.S. customs and trade laws, CBP believes that it is very important to have as much public participation as possible in the formulation of a future notice of proposed rulemaking. Additional time will allow importers, customs brokers, carriers, and other interested parties, including small businesses, to prepare thorough responses to the specific questions posed in the ANPRM and provide the supporting data and cost information CBP has requested.

Therefore, CBP has decided to allow additional time for the public to submit comments on the ANPRM. Accordingly, the comment period is extended to January 15, 2027.

Susan S. Thomas,

Executive Assistant Commissioner, Office of Trade, U.S. Customs and Border Protection.
