DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service

7 CFR Part 354

[Docket No. APHIS–2022–0023]

RIN 0579–AE71

User Fees: Agricultural Quarantine and Inspection Services; Technical Amendment

AGENCY: Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule; technical amendment.

SUMMARY: On May 7, 2024, the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service published in the Federal Register a final rule amending the user fee regulations associated with the agricultural quarantine and inspection (AQI) program. The final rule went into effect on October 1, 2024, with the exception of the removal of an exemption from paying the AQI user fee for commercial aircraft with 64 or fewer seats meeting certain conditions. The removal of the exemption would have taken effect on April 1, 2025. On March 21, 2025, we published a notice in the Federal Register delaying the effective date of the removal of the exemption from paying the AQI user fee for small commercial passenger aircraft, until June 2, 2025, and requesting information. As a result of the comments we received on that notice, we decided to delay implementation of the removal of the exemption indefinitely. However, as a result of an editorial error, the exemption had already been removed from the regulations. In this document, we are amending the regulations to restore the exemption from paying the AQI user fee for commercial aircraft with 64 or fewer seats meeting certain conditions.

DATES: Effective August 15, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. George Balady, Senior Regulatory Policy Specialist, PPQ, APHIS, 67 Thomas Johnson Drive Ste. 2, Frederick, MD 21702–4865; (301) 851–2338; aqi.user.fees@usda.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Section 2509(a) of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade (FACT) Act of 1990 (21 U.S.C. 136a) authorizes the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) to prescribe and collect user fees for agricultural quarantine and inspection (AQI) services. Congress amended the FACT Act on April 4, 1996, and May 13, 2002.

The FACT Act, as amended, authorizes APHIS to prescribe and collect user fees for AQI services provided in connection with the arrival, at a port in the customs territory of the United States, of certain commercial vessels, commercial trucks, commercial railroad cars, commercial aircraft, and international passengers. According to the FACT Act, as amended, these user fees should be ''sufficient'' ''to cover the cost of'':

- Providing AQI services ''in connection with the arrival at a port in the customs territory of the United States'' of the conveyances and the passengers listed above;
- Providing ''preclearance or preinspection at a site outside the customs territory of the United States'' to the conveyances and the passengers listed above; and
- Administering 21 U.S.C. 136a, concerning the collection of fees for inspection services. In addition, the FACT Act, as amended, contains the following requirements:
- The amount of the fees shall be ''commensurate with the costs of [AQI] services with respect to the class of persons or entities paying the fees.''
- The cost of AQI services ''with respect to passengers as a class'' shall include ''the costs of related inspections of the aircraft or other vehicle.''

The user fees for the AQI activities described above are contained in 7 CFR 354.3, ''User fees for certain international services.'' APHIS' regulations regarding user fees relating to imports and exports, as well as overtime services, are found in 7 CFR part 354.

On May 7, 2024, we published a final rule in the Federal Register, (89 FR 38596–38644, Docket No. APHIS–2022–0023),[1] amending the user fee regulations associated with the AQI program. The final rule went into effect and was applied on October 1, 2024, with the exception of the removal of 7 CFR 354.3(e)(2)(iv), which contains an exemption from paying the AQI user fee for commercial aircraft with 64 or fewer seats meeting certain conditions. Because small commercial passenger aircraft have not previously been subject to the fee, we delayed implementation of the commercial aircraft fee for passenger aircraft with 64 or fewer seats until April 1, 2025 (89 FR 38621).

Since the final rule was published, some operators of small commercial passenger aircraft stated that their aircraft do not pose a sanitary or phytosanitary risk because they do not have cargo holds and, therefore, do not carry cargo that requires AQI services. These same small commercial passenger aircraft operators further stated that they should continue to be exempt from the AQI user fees for commercial aircraft. Other small commercial passenger aircraft operators stated that they were not of an equivalent risk profile to larger commercial carriers and should pay a lower fee that correlates to this lower risk.

In accordance with the Presidential Memorandum titled ''Regulatory Freeze Pending Review'' issued January 20, 2025, which orders all agencies to consider postponing for 60 days the effective date of any rule that has not taken effect, for the purpose of reviewing any question of fact, law, or policy that the rule may raise,[2] on March 21, 2025 we published a notice in the Federal Register (90 FR 13272–13273, Docket No. APHIS–2022–0023) [3] delaying the effective date until June 2, 2025 of the removal of the exemption from paying the AQI user fee for small commercial passenger aircraft, and requesting information.

In that document, we solicited public information about small commercial passenger aircraft operations; in particular, whether small commercial passenger aircraft operators have additional data regarding the nature of their activities and whether those activities result in a lower sanitary and phytosanitary risk profile that would merit less intensive AQI services and a lower corresponding user fee. Specifically, we requested information about whether:

- Small commercial passenger aircraft predominately operate (and seldom depart from) a distinct geographical or environmental area;
- Aircraft departures and arrivals are often more frequent than those of larger commercial aircraft;
- There is information that indicates that these small commercial passenger aircraft take the same or substantially similar routes per flight;
- There is information that indicates that these small commercial passenger aircraft carry the same or substantially similar cargo per shipment and that the cargo carried does not present a significant sanitary or phytosanitary risk;
- There are any other considerations that could help us differentiate aircraft into categories based on sanitary and phytosanitary risk; and
- There are other ways that the fee could be structured differently, in a manner commensurate with the services being provided, and evidence to support any alternate fee structures.

We solicited comments for 30 days ending April 21, 2025. We received 92 comments by that date. They were from aviation industry associations, operators of small commercial passenger aircraft, operators of regional airports, representatives of foreign governments, and private citizens. Some of these commenters presented information supporting their contention that in certain circumstances, some small commercial passenger aircraft may not present significant sanitary and phytosanitary risk, or engage in activities that result in a lower sanitary and phytosanitary risk profile that would merit less intensive AQI services and a lower corresponding user fee than other types of commercial aircraft operators. For example, several aircraft operators presented data that they operated solely over the Great Lakes region during temperate months carrying passengers to and from cottages on Pelee Island, Ontario, lack cargo holds, and allow only non-agricultural carry-on passenger baggage.

For this reason, and because an editorial error inadvertently resulted in the Office of the Federal Register removing the exemption on October 1, 2024, we have decided to restore to the regulations the exemption from paying the AQI user fee for commercial aircraft with 64 or fewer seats meeting certain conditions. We will address the specific circumstances and potential fee structures for small commercial passenger aircraft within the context of future rulemaking.

Specifically, small commercial passenger aircraft do not need to pay the user fee provided that:

- They have 64 seats or fewer;
- They do not carry the following cargo: Fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, plants, unprocessed plant products, cotton or covers, sugarcane, or fresh or processed meats; and
- They do not offer meal service other than beverages and prepackaged snacks that do not contain meats derived from ruminants, swine, or poultry or fresh fruits and fresh vegetables.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Certificate of Compliance (CoC or certificate) is the NRC approved design for each dry cask storage system. Title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations (10 CFR) 72.48, ''Changes, tests, and experiments,'' establishes the conditions under which a general or specific licensee, and a spent fuel storage cask certificate holder may make changes to their independent spent fuel storage installation (ISFSI) or monitored retrievable storage installation facility (MRS), spent fuel storage cask design, or procedures, and under which they may conduct tests or experiments, without prior NRC approval. In addition to the 10 CFR 72.48 change review process, paragraph (b)(7) of 10 CFR 72.212, ''Conditions of general license issued under 10 CFR 72.210,'' also requires the general licensee to evaluate any changes to written evaluations required by paragraphs (b)(5) and (6) of 10 CFR 72.212, using the requirements of 10 CFR 72.48(c). Moreover, there are various provisions in 10 CFR 72.212, such as paragraphs (a)(2), (b)(3), (b)(5)(i), and (b)(11), that require general licensees to ensure they use casks that conform to the terms, conditions and specifications of a CoC listed in 10 CFR 72.214, ''List of approved spent fuel storage casks.''

Therefore, if a general licensee wishes to adopt a change initiated by the CoC holder under the CoC holder's 10 CFR 72.48 change authority, the general licensee must perform a separate 10 CFR 72.48 review as required by the regulations. Additionally, if a general licensee adopts a CoC holder's change made under 10 CFR 72.48 and that change is later determined to be noncompliant, the general licensee would also be in noncompliance with provisions of 10 CFR 72.48 and 10 CFR 72.212.

The NRC is implementing a more efficient process in which the staff addresses CoC holders' apparent violations of the 10 CFR 72.48 change control process without pursuing an enforcement action against the general licensee for an apparent violation that is strictly due to the general licensee's adoption of a noncompliant change made under § 72.48 by the CoC holder. The NRC is also implementing a more efficient process for general licensees to review and adopt changes made by a CoC holder, pursuant to the CoC holder's § 72.48 change authority, as long as the general licensee does not need to make any site-specific technical changes. Accordingly, the staff is considering rulemaking, including potential interpretation of the applicable regulations, and revision of the implementation guidance.

II. Discussion

A. Rulemaking

The NRC published a final rule on October 4, 1999 (64 FR 53582) that revised 10 CFR 72.48 to clarify the specific types of changes, tests, and experiments conducted at a licensed facility or by a certificate holder that require evaluation, and revised the criteria that licensees and certificate holders must use to determine when NRC approval is needed before such changes, tests, or experiments can be implemented. The Commission approved the publication of the final rule in SECY–99–130, ''Final Rule—Revisions to Requirements of 10 CFR parts 50 and 72 Concerning Changes, Tests, and Experiments.''

The preamble to the final rule for 10 CFR 50.59 and 10 CFR 72.48 stated the following in Section O.1, ''Part 72 Changes,'' provided on page 53601: ''The Commission envisioned that a general licensee who wants to adopt a change to the design of a spent fuel storage cask it possesses—which change was previously made to the generic design by the certificate holder under the provisions of § 72.48—would be required to perform a separate evaluation under the provisions of § 72.48 to determine the suitability of the change for itself.'' As indicated by the rule and supported by the preamble, both the CoC holder and general licensee are required to perform an evaluation when implementing a change made by a CoC holder pursuant to § 72.48.

The NRC staff may request that the Commission revise its regulations or interpretation of existing regulations to establish that CoC holders and general licensees have different obligations. The NRC staff may seek this change because both entities have separate quality assurance programs, and the NRC staff performs inspections of each change control process on a regular basis, which would provide reasonable assurance of safety and increase regulatory efficiency. Specifically, the efficiency will be realized by streamlining the inspections associated with the evaluation of the changes to focus (1) on CoC holders and (2) on general licensees only to the extent the general licensees make site-specific, technical changes.

B. Summary

This IEP allows staff to exercise enforcement discretion for certain general licensee violations of 10 CFR 72.48 and 10 CFR 72.212 related to the general licensee's adoption of a CoC holder-generated modification. This IEP also allows for better efficiency and reliability of spent fuel storage cask inspection oversight, while still providing adequate protection of public health and safety. The NRC is issuing this IEP due to the NRC's operational experience with its inspection and oversight of general licensees' adoption of CoC holders' § 72.48 changes. Certificate holders are NRC-regulated entities that are required to (1) ensure their storage casks meet NRC requirements and the Certificate of Compliance and (2) perform design changes in accordance with § 72.48; the NRC inspects their processes. In addition, the NRC recognizes that a general licensee who wants to adopt a change to the design of a spent fuel storage cask it possesses—where the change was previously made by the certificate holder under the provisions of § 72.48—must perform a review of that change for their site under a variety of other processes other than § 72.48, including those set forth in paragraphs (b)(5) and (6) of § 72.212, and in the general licensee quality assurance program. The combination of these review and oversight processes, together with other existing inspection and oversight processes, provide confidence that the general licensee has appropriately considered changes made by CoC holders and appropriately evaluated the potential safety implications of implementing those changes at its site. For these reasons, the NRC determined that this IEP continues to provide adequate protection of public health and safety while enabling the safe and secure use of civilian nuclear energy technologies. This approach also aligns with the NRC's mission statement and the Principles of Good Regulation.

Following issuance of the IEP, the NRC will explore a rulemaking solution to eliminate the requirement that a GL must always perform a 10 CFR part 72.48 evaluation when adopting CoC holder-generated changes. The NRC plans to review the regulations in 10 CFR part 72 and guidance documents to determine whether rulemaking, including potential interpretation of the applicable regulations, and/or revising guidance is needed to clarify the requirements in 10 CFR part 72.

III. Summary of Public Comments on Draft Interim Enforcement Policy

The NRC published a draft version of the IEP in the Federal Register on April 7, 2025 (90 FR 14917). The public comment period closed on April 28, 2025. The NRC received public comment submissions from the Nuclear Energy Institute (NEI) and the Decommissioning Plant Coalition (DPC). Both are generally supportive of prompt issuance of the IEP. The NEI provided four comments (identified as comments 1–1 through 1–4). The DPC provided three comments (identified as comments 2–1 through 2–3). These comments are summarized in the following paragraphs, including the NRC's resolution of the comments, and a summary of how the NRC revised the IEP, as applicable.

In comment 1–1, the NEI commented that the IEP reaches the correct conclusion about how 10 CFR 72.48 should be applied to general licensees. The NEI agreed with the position articulated with the IEP's method of addressing apparent violations of the 10 CFR 72.48 change control process by a CoC holder, without pursuing separate enforcement actions against general licensees for alleged violations of § 72.48 that are due to the general licensee's adoption of a noncompliant change made by the CoC holder.

The NRC agrees with comment 1–1. The NRC did not make any changes to the final IEP based on this comment.

In comment 1–2, the NEI commented that the approach for applying § 72.48 to general licensees described in the IEP is not new. As the NEI explained in its comments on EGM 25–001, the NEI stated that the position reflected in the IEP is the approach that has been endorsed by the NRC, also reflected in the relevant NRC inspection procedure, and consistently followed by the industry for the past 24 years. The NEI added that the IEP takes the position that the approach prescribed in NEI 12–04 and Appendix B to NEI 96–07 for adoption of CoC holder changes by general licensees—and which the NRC ''seeks to implement'' under the IEP—is inconsistent with the requirements of § 72.48. Thus, the NEI concludes that the draft IEP seems to reach the conclusion that the NRC has endorsed a method of compliance for nearly two-and-a-half decades that, in fact, violates § 72.48.

The NRC disagrees with comment 1–2 that the NRC endorsed a method of compliance that violates § 72.48. The NRC continues to endorse the industry guidance for implementing § 72.48 as provided in the NRC's Guidance for Implementation of 10 CFR 72.48, ''Changes, Tests, and Experiments,'' Regulatory Guide 3.72, Revision 1, and the NRC continues to inspect in accordance with that endorsement. The NRC disagrees that the endorsed guidance (or NRC's implementation of it) removed general licensees' responsibility under § 72.48 for noncompliances that are due to the adoption of a noncompliant change made by the CoC holder. The NRC did not make any changes to the final IEP based on this comment.

In comment 1–3, the NEI commented that it endorsed continued adherence to the approach provided in NEI 12–04, and that the position in the IEP does not compel changes to § 72.48. The NEI added that the interpretation of the general licensee's responsibilities in this situation provided in NEI 12–04 and endorsed by the NRC in Regulatory Guide 3.72 is a reasonable interpretation of the text of § 72.48 and is consistent with the overall general licensing framework established in 10 CFR part 72. Further, the NEI added that the IEP points to language in the preamble of the 1999 final rule promulgating 10 CFR 72.48 to support its interpretation, but, according to the NEI, the Commission did not articulate what the ''separate evaluation'' a general licensee was to use to ''determine the suitability of the [CoC holder's] change for itself'' should entail. The NEI further commented that the NRC endorsed Appendix B to NEI 96–07 in Regulatory Guide 3.72, which appropriately provided the necessary clarity on this issue, incorporating a rational approach that a general licensee's review of changes incorporated by a CoC holder focused on the site-specific impacts of such changes.

The NRC disagrees in part with comment 1–3. As noted above, the NRC continues to endorse the industry guidance for implementing § 72.48 as provided in Regulatory Guide 3.72, Revision 1. NRC agrees with the NEI about the regulatory benefit of focusing a general licensee's review of changes incorporated by a CoC holder on the site-specific impacts of such changes; the NRC is pursuing the IEP in order to better facilitate that approach. However, NRC disagrees that the endorsed guidance and regulatory history supports the NEI's interpretation of the current regulatory requirement. Nevertheless, the NEI's description of the existing guidance highlights an opportunity for additional clarity in this IEP. Therefore, the NRC updated paragraphs (4) and (5) of the IEP to further clarify the general licensees' responsibilities for complying with 10 CFR 72.212 (b)(5), (b)(6), and (b)(7), when either initiating a change or adopting a CoC-holder change that leads to a site-specific, technical change.

In comment 1–4, the NEI commented that the NRC's subsequent endorsement of NEI 12–04 specifically addressed consistency with the preamble of the 1999 final rule. The comment further asserts that the NRC consistently interpreted the 10 CFR 72.48 regulation as allowing the approach suggested as the desired resolution path in the IEP.

The NRC partially agrees with comment 1–4 that the NRC's endorsement of NEI 12–04 addressed consistency with the preamble of the 1999 final rule. However, as noted above, the NRC disagrees that the endorsement of industry guidance removed general licensees' responsibility for noncompliances that are due to the adoption of a noncompliant change made by the CoC holder. This is the subject of the IEP. The NRC did not make any changes to the IEP based on this comment.

In comment 2–1, the DPC commented that it is imperative the staff perform a specific review of the regulation that led to the use of this policy and any subsequent enforcement policies at ISFSIs under Commission direction and produce a plan to change regulations governing issues that have such negligible safety significance that led to its use. The DPC further commented that this direction/commitment should be included in the final IEP.

The NRC disagrees with comment 2–1 with respect to including a commitment to explore rulemaking in the IEP, as the IEP is not the appropriate document to reach a conclusion on pursuing rulemaking. The NRC did not make any changes to the IEP based on this comment.

In comment 2–2, the DPC believes the NRC staff is communicating that there needs to be a change to the current method of making licensee changes to certificates of compliance and ISFSI operations. The DPC recommended changing ISFSI regulations to mirror 10 CFR 50.59.

The NRC determined that comment 2–2 was outside the scope of the IEP. The IEP establishes an enforcement policy concerning general licensees' adoption of noncompliant changes made by CoC holders under § 72.48. A broader regulatory review of 10 CFR part 72 is beyond the scope of this IEP. The NRC did not make any changes to the IEP based on this comment.

In comment 2–3, the DPC commented that the underlying violations that will be given discretion have minimal safety significance, and suggested this may be a new interpretation of regulations and endorsed industry guidance.

The NRC disagrees with comment 2–3. The NRC has not changed its interpretation of the regulations or the endorsed industry guidance. The IEP provides for an efficient approach for dispositioning a specific set of noncompliant changes made under § 72.48. The NRC expects CoC holders and GLs to maintain current § 72.48 processes and quality assurance programs to correct nonconformances. The NRC did not make any changes to the IEP based on this comment.

IV. Clarifications Made to the Final Interim Enforcement Policy

After the NRC published the aforementioned draft version of the IEP in the Federal Register, because of public comments, it recognized that the IEP needed more clarity for the responsibilities of general licensees when initiating changes or when adopting CoC holder changes made under 10 CFR 72.48 that lead to a site-specific, technical change. The NRC updated paragraphs (4) and (5) of the IEP to further clarify the general licensees' responsibilities for compliance with 10 CFR 72.212 (b)(5), (b)(6), and (b)(7), when either initiating a change or adopting a CoC holder change that leads to a site-specific, technical change.

V. Paperwork Reduction Act

This policy statement does not contain any new or amended collections of information subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.). Existing collections of information were approved by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), approval numbers 3150–0132 and 3150–0136.

Public Protection Notification

The NRC may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless the document requesting or requiring the collection displays a currently valid OMB control number.

VI. Regulatory Planning and Review

Executive Order (E.O.) 12866, as amended by E.O 14215, provides that the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA) will determine whether a regulatory action is significant as defined by E.O. 12866 and will review significant regulatory actions. OIRA has determined that this action is not a significant regulatory under E.O. 12866.

VII. Congressional Review Act

This final rule is a rule as defined in the Congressional Review Act (5 U.S.C. 801–808). However, the Office of Management and Budget has not found it to be a major rule as defined in the Congressional Review Act.

Attachment—Interim Enforcement Policy—Section 9.4, Enforcement Discretion for General Licensee Adoption of CoC Holder-Generated Changes Under 10 CFR 72.48

Interim Enforcement Policy—Section 9.4, Enforcement Discretion for General Licensee Adoption of CoC Holder-Generated Changes Under 10 CFR 72.48

9.4 Enforcement Discretion for General Licensee Adoption of Certificate of Compliance Holder-Generated Changes Under 10 CFR 72.48

This section sets forth the Interim Enforcement Policy (IEP) that the NRC will use to exercise discretion for the disposition of violations involving a General Licensee's (GL's) adoption of a Certificate of Compliance (CoC) holder-generated change made under the CoC holder's change authority of Section 72.48 of title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations (10 CFR), ''Changes, tests, and experiments.'' The current NRC regulations state:

- 10 CFR 72.212, ''Conditions of general license issued under 10 CFR 72.210,'' in a number of regulatory provisions, such as 72.212(a)(2), 72.212(b)(3), 72.212(b)(5)(i), and 72.212(b)(11), requires a GL to ensure it uses casks that conform to the terms, conditions and specifications of a CoC listed in 10 CFR 72.214, ''List of approved spent fuel storage casks.''
- 10 CFR 72.212(b)(5) requires that the GL, before use and before applying changes authorized by an amended CoC to a cask loaded under the initial CoC or an earlier amended CoC, perform written evaluations to establish that the storage cask, once loaded, will conform to terms and conditions of the CoC.
- 10 CFR 72.212(b)(6) requires that the GL review, and document the review of, the Safety Analysis Report referenced in the CoC or amended CoC and the related NRC Safety Evaluation Report, to determine whether or not the reactor site parameters are enveloped by the cask design bases considered in these reports.
- 10 CFR 72.212(b)(7) requires the GL to evaluate any changes to written evaluations required by paragraphs (b)(5) and (6) of 10 CFR 72.212, using the requirements of 10 CFR 72.48(c).
- 10 CFR 72.48, as published on October 4, 1999 (64 FR 53582) and amended on February 26, 2001 (66 FR 11527), has provisions under which general and specific licensees and CoC holders may make changes to the facility or spent fuel storage cask design as described in the Final Safety Analysis Report without obtaining NRC review and approval. Change means a modification or addition to, or removal from, the facility or spent fuel storage cask design or procedures that affects a design function, method of performing or controlling the function, or an evaluation that demonstrates that intended functions will be accomplished.

Under the current NRC regulations, if a GL chooses to adopt a change the CoC holder made pursuant to a CoC holder's change authority under 10 CFR 72.48 (referred to herein as a ''CoC holder-generated change''), a GL must perform a separate review using the requirements of 10 CFR 72.48(c). This is in addition to the requirement that the GL evaluate any additional resulting site-specific, technical changes the GL makes to written evaluations required by paragraphs (b)(5) and (6) of 10 CFR 72.212 using the requirements of 10 CFR 72.48(c), when adopting the CoC holder's change. Further, the GL is required, by various provisions of 10 CFR 72.212, to only use casks that conform to the terms, conditions and specifications of a CoC listed in 10 CFR 72.214.

Accordingly, when a GL chooses to adopt a CoC holder-generated change, and that change results in a non-conforming cask, there is a violation of 10 CFR 72.48 and certain provisions of 10 CFR 72.212 by the GL, in addition to a CoC holder violation of 10 CFR 72.48. And, when a GL chooses to adopt a CoC holder-generated change without performing a separate 10 CFR 72.48 analysis, the GL is in violation of 10 CFR 72.48.

Absent this IEP, these requirements could lead to enforcement actions being issued against both the GL's 10 CFR 72.48 program (as well as certain 10 CFR 72.212 violations) and CoC holder's 10 CFR 72.48 program for changes that originated with the CoC holder. The NRC has concluded that this enforcement approach would be inconsistent with efficiency, which is one of the NRC's Principles of Good Regulation, and NRC's mission of efficient and reliable oversight.

The NRC staff will review the regulations in 10 CFR part 72, ''Licensing Requirements for the Independent Storage of Spent Nuclear Fuel, High-Level Radioactive Waste, and Reactor-Related Greater Than Class C Waste,'' and guidance documents to determine what changes are needed to focus requirements on the entity that initiated the change. Until such time as regulatory changes are developed, the Interim Enforcement Policy will be:

(1) The NRC will exercise enforcement discretion and not issue an enforcement action to a GL, for a noncompliance with the requirements of paragraphs (c)(1) and (2) and (d)(1) of 10 CFR 72.48 and with provisions of 10 CFR 72.212 that require GLs to ensure use of casks that conform to the terms, conditions and specifications of a CoC listed in 10 CFR 72.214, when the noncompliance results from a CoC holder's failure to comply with 10 CFR 72.48 for a CoC holder-generated change. In granting this discretion, the GL will be expected to come into compliance with the 10 CFR 72.212 provisions that require each cask to conform to the terms, conditions, and specifications of a CoC or an amended CoC listed in § 72.214 using established processes after NRC disposition of the noncompliance for a CoC holder-generated change. The NRC staff will monitor the GL's actions to determine if additional regulatory actions will be necessary.

(2) The NRC will exercise enforcement discretion and not issue an enforcement action to the GL for failure to perform a 10 CFR 72.48 screening and/or evaluation when the GL adopts a CoC holder-generated change. Enforcement discretion does not apply to CoC holder-generated changes that result in the GL making a change to the site-specific, technical aspects of the GL's 10 CFR 72.212 report.

(3) When the GL adopts a CoC holder-generated change and the accompanying 10 CFR 72.48 screening and/or evaluation that was performed by the CoC holder, the GL does not have to perform a separate 10 CFR 72.48 evaluation of CoC holder-generated changes. The GL only needs to review the CoC holder's change for applicability to their spent fuel storage cask and for impact on the site-specific, technical evaluations and analyses described in the 10 CFR 72.212 report, and site programs and procedures. The NRC's inspections of the GL and enforcement actions against the GL will focus on the GL's assessment for the site-specific applicability of the CoC holder-generated change to its spent fuel storage cask.

(4) The GL is responsible for performing written evaluations to establish that the storage cask conforms to terms and conditions of the CoC, in accordance with paragraphs (b)(5) and (6) of 10 CFR 72.212. If the GL chooses to adopt a CoC holder-generated change, the GL does not need to follow the requirements of 10 CFR 72.212(b)(7) unless the GL determines that site-specific, technical changes are needed to the GL's written evaluations required by paragraphs (b)(5) and (b)(6) of 10 CFR 72.212. Additionally, the GL is responsible for ensuring compliance with applicable requirements of Appendix B to 10 CFR part 50, ''Quality Assurance Criteria for Nuclear Power Plants and Fuel Reprocessing Plants,'' and Subpart G to 10 CFR part 72, ''Quality Assurance''; and the GL is responsible for ensuring compliance with 10 CFR 72.48 when making GL-initiated changes.

(5) NRC enforcement actions will focus on the entity that initiated the change. The CoC holder will be accountable for a noncompliance identified within CoC holder-generated 10 CFR 72.48 screenings and/or evaluations of a change made pursuant to the CoC holder's 10 CFR 72.48 change authority. The GL will be accountable for any noncompliance identified either with GL-initiated changes made under 10 CFR 72.48 or with any site-specific, technical changes required by paragraphs (b)(5) and (b)(6) of 10 CFR 72.212.

An enforcement panel is not required to disposition a noncompliance using this discretion; however, each time discretion is granted, an enforcement action number will be assigned to document the use of discretion under this IEP.

14 CFR Part 25

[Docket No. FAA–2025–1624; Special Conditions No. 25–883–SC]

Special Conditions: Jet Aviation AG, Gulfstream Aerospace Corporation Model GVI Airplane; Installation of Therapeutic Oxygen System

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final special conditions; request for comments.

SUMMARY: These special conditions are issued for the Gulfstream Aerospace Corporation (Gulfstream) Model GVI airplane. This airplane, as modified by Jet Aviation AG, will have a novel or unusual design feature when compared to the state of technology envisioned in the airworthiness standards for transport-category airplanes. This design feature is an oxygen distribution system that provides a shared source of oxygen between the flightcrew and passengers to provide supplemental and therapeutic oxygen. The applicable airworthiness regulations do not contain adequate or appropriate safety standards for this design feature. These special conditions contain the additional safety standards that the Administrator considers necessary to establish a level of safety equivalent to that established by the existing airworthiness standards.

DATES: This action is effective on Jet Aviation AG on August 15, 2025. Send comments on or before September 29, 2025.

ADDRESSES: Send comments identified by Docket No. FAA–2025–1624 using any of the following methods:

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The substance of these special conditions has been published in the Federal Register for public comment in several prior instances with no substantive comments received. Therefore, the FAA finds, pursuant to 14 CFR 11.38(b), that new comments are unlikely, and notice and comment prior to this publication are unnecessary.

Privacy

Except for Confidential Business Information (CBI) as described in the following paragraph, and other information as described in title 14, Code of Federal Regulations (14 CFR) 11.35, the FAA will post all comments received without change to www.regulations.gov, including any personal information you provide. The FAA will also post a report summarizing each substantive verbal contact received about these special conditions.

Confidential Business Information

Confidential Business Information (CBI) is commercial or financial information that is both customarily and actually treated as private by its owner. Under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) (5 U.S.C. 552), CBI is exempt from public disclosure. If your comments responsive to these special conditions contain commercial or financial information that is customarily treated as private, that you actually treat as private, and that is relevant or responsive to these special conditions, it is important that you clearly designate the submitted comments as CBI. Please mark each page of your submission containing CBI as ''PROPIN.'' The FAA will treat such marked submissions as confidential under the FOIA, and the indicated comments will not be placed in the public docket of these proposed special conditions. Send submissions containing CBI to the individual listed in the FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT section above. Comments the FAA receives, which are not specifically designated as CBI, will be placed in the public docket for these proposed special conditions.

Comments Invited

The FAA invites interested people to take part in this rulemaking by sending written comments, data, or views. The most helpful comments reference a specific portion of the special conditions, explain the reason for any recommended change, and include supporting data.

The FAA will consider all comments received by the closing date for comments. The FAA may change these special conditions based on the comments received.

Background

On July 9, 2024, Jet Aviation AG applied for a supplemental type certificate for the installation of therapeutic oxygen systems on the Model GVI airplane. The Gulfstream Model GVI airplane, currently approved under Type Certificate No. T00015AT, is a twin-engine transport-category, business jet, with a maximum seating for 19 passengers, and a maximum take-off weight of 99,600 pounds.

Type Certification Basis

Under the provisions of title 14, Code of Federal Regulations (14 CFR) 21.101, Jet Aviation AG must show that the changes to the Gulfstream Model GVI airplane, as changed, continues to meet the applicable provisions of the regulations listed in Type Certificate No. T00015AT or the applicable regulations in effect on the date of application for the change, except for earlier amendments as agreed upon by the FAA.

If the Administrator finds that the applicable airworthiness regulations (e.g., 14 CFR part 25) do not contain adequate or appropriate safety standards for the Gulfstream Model GVI airplane because of a novel or unusual design feature, special conditions are prescribed under the provisions of § 21.16.

Special conditions are initially applicable to the model for which they are issued. Should the applicant apply for a supplemental type certificate to modify any other model included on the same type certificate to incorporate the same novel or unusual design feature, these special conditions would also apply to the other model under § 21.101.

In addition to the applicable airworthiness regulations and special conditions, the Gulfstream Model GVI airplane must comply with the exhaust-emission requirements of 14 CFR part 34, and the noise-certification requirements of 14 CFR part 36.

The FAA issues special conditions, as defined in 14 CFR 11.19, in accordance with § 11.38, and they become part of the type certification basis under § 21.101.

Novel or Unusual Design Features

The Gulfstream Model GVI airplane will incorporate the following novel or unusual design feature:

An oxygen distribution system that provides a shared source of oxygen between the flightcrew and passengers to provide supplemental and therapeutic oxygen.

Discussion

There are no specific regulations that address the design and installation of required passenger or crew oxygen systems that share a supply source with an optional oxygen system used specifically for therapeutic applications. Therapeutic oxygen systems have been previously certified and were generally considered an extension of the passenger oxygen system for the purpose of defining the applicable regulations. As a result, existing requirements, such as 14 CFR 25.1309, 25.1441(b) and (c), 25.1451, and 25.1453, in the Gulfstream GVI airplane's certification basis applicable to this project, provide some design standards appropriate for oxygen system installations. In addition, § 25.1445 includes standards for oxygen distribution systems when oxygen is supplied to crew and passengers. If a common source of supply is used, § 25.1445(a)(2) requires a means to separately reserve the minimum supply required by the flight crew.

Section 25.1445 is intended to protect the flightcrew by ensuring that an adequate supply of oxygen is available to complete a descent and landing following a loss of cabin pressure. When the regulation was written, the only passenger oxygen system designs were supplemental oxygen systems intended to protect passengers from hypoxia in the event of a decompression. Existing passenger oxygen systems did not include design features that would allow the flightcrew to control oxygen to passengers during flight. There are no similar requirements in § 25.1445 when oxygen is supplied from the same source to passengers for use during a decompression, and for discretionary or first-aid use any time during the flight. In the design, the crew, passenger, and therapeutic oxygen systems use the same source of oxygen. These special conditions contain additional design requirements for the equipment involved in this dual therapeutic oxygen plus supplemental gaseous oxygen installation.

These special conditions contain the additional safety standards that the Administrator considers necessary to establish a level of safety equivalent to that established by the existing airworthiness standards.

Applicability

As discussed above, these special conditions are applicable to the Gulfstream Model GVI airplane. Should Jet Aviation AG apply at a later date for a supplemental type certificate to modify any other model included on Type Certificate No. T00015AT to incorporate the same novel or unusual design feature, these special conditions would apply to that model as well.

Conclusion

This action affects only a certain novel or unusual design feature on one model of airplane. It is not a rule of general applicability and affects only the applicant who applied to the FAA for approval of these features on the airplane.

Drug Enforcement Administration

21 CFR Part 1308

[Docket No. DEA–1337]

Schedules of Controlled Substances: Temporary Placement of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in Schedule I AGENCY: Drug Enforcement Administration, Department of Justice.

ACTION: Temporary amendment; temporary scheduling order.

SUMMARY: The Drug Enforcement Administration issues this temporary order to schedule two benzimidazole-opioids in schedule I of the Controlled Substances Act. DEA bases this action on a finding that placing these substances in schedule I is necessary to avoid imminent hazard to public safety. This order imposes the regulatory controls and administrative, civil, and criminal sanctions applicable to schedule I controlled substances on persons who handle (manufacture, distribute, reverse distribute, import, export, engage in research, conduct instructional activities or chemical analysis, or possess) or propose to handle these substances.

DATES: This temporary order is effective August 15, 2025, until August 15, 2027. If this order is extended or made permanent, DEA will publish a document in the Federal Register.

ADDRESSES: 8701 Morrissette Drive, Springfield, Virginia 22152.

As required by 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(4), a summary of this rule may be found in the docket for this rulemaking at www.regulations.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) issues a temporary scheduling order [1]

[1] Though DEA has used the term ''final order'' with respect to temporary scheduling orders in the the form of a temporary amendment) to add the following two synthetic benzimidazole-opioid substances, including their isomers, esters, ethers, salts, and salts of isomers, esters, and ethers whenever the existence of such isomers, esters, ethers, and salts is possible, to schedule I under the Controlled Substances Act (CSA):

- 2-(4-methoxybenzyl)-5-nitro-1-(2-(pyrrolidin-1-yl)ethyl)-1*H*-benzimidazole (commonly known as, N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or metonitazepyne), and
- 5-nitro-2-(4-propoxybenzyl)-1-(2-(pyrrolidin-1-yl)ethyl)-1*H*-benzimidazole (commonly known as, N-pyrrolidino protonitazene or protonitazepyne).

Legal Authority

Under 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(1), the CSA provides the Attorney General (as delegated to the Administrator of DEA (Administrator) pursuant to 28 CFR 0.100) with the authority to temporarily place a substance in schedule I of the CSA for two years without regard to the evaluation requirements of 21 U.S.C. 811(b), if she finds that such action is necessary to avoid an imminent hazard to the public safety.[2] In addition, if proceedings to control a substance are initiated under 21 U.S.C. 811(a)(1) while the substance is temporarily controlled under section 811(h), the Attorney General may extend the temporary scheduling for up to one year.[3]

Where the necessary findings are made, a substance may be temporarily scheduled if it is not listed in any other schedule under 21 U.S.C. 812, or if there is no exemption or approval in effect for the substance under section 505 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, 21 U.S.C. 355.[4]

Background

The CSA requires the Administrator to notify the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) of an intent to temporarily place a substance in schedule I of the CSA (i.e., to issue a temporary scheduling order).[5] By letter dated March 24, 2025, the then-Acting Administrator transmitted the required notice to place N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in schedule I on a temporary basis to the Acting Assistant Secretary for Health of HHS (Assistant Secretary).[6] On June 11, 2025, the Acting Assistant Secretary responded to this notice and advised DEA that based on a review by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), there are currently no investigational new drug applications (IND) or approved new drug applications (NDA) for N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene. The Acting Assistant Secretary also stated that HHS had no objection to the temporary placement of these substances in schedule I of the CSA. N-Pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene currently are not listed in any schedule under the CSA, and no exemptions or approvals under 21 U.S.C. 355 are in effect for these substances.[7]

DEA has taken into consideration the Acting Assistant Secretary's comments as required by 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(4). DEA has found the control of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in schedule I on a temporary basis is necessary to avoid an imminent hazard to the public safety.

As required by 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(1)(A), DEA published a notice of intent (NOI) to temporarily schedule N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene on September 17, 2024.[8] That NOI discussed findings from DEA's three-factor analysis dated August 2024, which DEA made available on www.regulations.gov.

To find that temporarily placing a substance in schedule I of the CSA is necessary to avoid an imminent hazard to the public safety, the Administrator must consider three of the eight factors set forth in 21 U.S.C. 811(c): the substance's history and current pattern of abuse; the scope, duration, and significance of abuse; and what, if any, risk there is to the public health.[9] Considerations of these factors includes any information indicating actual abuse, diversion from legitimate channels, and clandestine importation, manufacture, or distribution of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene.[10] Substances meeting the statutory requirements for temporary scheduling may only be placed in schedule I.[11] Substances in schedule I have high potential for abuse, no currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States,[12] and a lack of accepted safety for use under medical supervision.[13] past, this action adheres to the statutory language of 21 U.S.C. 811(h), which refers to a ''temporary scheduling order.'' No substantive change is intended.

[6] The Secretary of HHS has delegated to the Assistant Secretary for Health of HHS the authority to make domestic drug scheduling recommendations. 58 FR 35460 (July 1, 1993).

[7] By letter dated December 7, 2023, the then-Administrator transmitted the required notice to place N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in schedule I on a temporary basis to the Acting Assistant Secretary for Health of HHS. On December 22, 2023, the then-Assistant Secretary responded to this notice and advised DEA that based on a review by the FDA, there are currently no investigational new IND or approved NDA for N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene. The then-Assistant Secretary also stated that HHS had no objection to the temporary placement of these substances in schedule I of the CSA.

[12] When finding schedule I placement on a temporary basis is necessary to avoid imminent hazard to the public, 21 U.S.C. 811(h) does not require DEA to consider whether the substance has a currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States. Nonetheless, there is no evidence suggesting that N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene have a currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States. To determine whether a drug or other substance has a currently accepted medical use, DEA has traditionally applied a five-part test to a drug or substance that has not been approved by the FDA: i. The drug's chemistry must be known and reproducible; ii. there must be adequate safety studies; iii. there must be adequate and well-controlled studies proving efficacy; iv. the drug must be accepted by qualified experts; and v. the scientific evidence must be widely available. See Marijuana Scheduling Petition; Denial of Petition; Remand, 57 FR 10499 (Mar. 26, 1992), pet. for rev. denied, Alliance for Cannabis Therapeutics v. Drug Enforcement Admin., 15 F.3d 1131, 1135 (D.C. Cir. 1994). DEA applied the traditional five-part test and concluded the test was not satisfied. In a recent published letter in a different context, HHS applied an additional two-part test to determine currently accepted medical use for substances that do not satisfy the five-part test: (1) whether there exists widespread, current experience with medical use of the substance by licensed health care providers operating in accordance with implemented jurisdiction-authorized programs, where medical use is recognized by entities that regulate the practice of medicine, and, if so, (2) whether there exists some credible scientific support for at least one of the medical conditions for which part (1) is satisfied. On April 11, 2024, the Department of Justice's Office of Legal Counsel (OLC) issued an opinion, which, among other things, concluded that HHS's two-part test would be sufficient to establish that a drug has a currently accepted medical use. Office of Legal Counsel, Memorandum for Merrick B. Garland Attorney General Re: Questions Related to the Potential Rescheduling of Marijuana at 3 (April 11, 2024). For purposes of this temporary scheduling order, there is no evidence that health care providers have widespread experience with medical use of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene or that the use of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene are recognized by entities that regulate the practice of medicine, so the two-part test also is not satisfied. By letter dated December 22, 2023, and June 11, 2025, DEA has been advised by HHS that there are currently no approved new drug applications or investigational new drug applications for N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene. Additionally, HHS communicated no objections to the temporary placement of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene into Schedule I of the CSA.

Two Benzimidazole-Opioids: N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene

The continued encounter of novel synthetic opioids on the recreational drug market poses a threat to public safety. Beginning in 2019, a new class of synthetic opioids known as benzimidazole-opioids, commonly referred to as ''nitazenes,'' emerged on the recreational drug market. This class of substances has a similar pharmacological profile to fentanyl, morphine, and other mu-opioid receptor agonists. Between August 2020 and March 2024, DEA temporarily controlled ten benzimidazole-opioids because they posed a threat to public safety.[14] N-Pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene are some of the recently encountered ''nitazene'' synthetic opioids identified on the illicit drug market.

The continued trafficking and identification of benzimidazole-opioids in toxicology cases poses a significant threat to public health and safety. Adverse health effects associated with the misuse and abuse of synthetic opioids have led to devastating consequences including death. Preclinical pharmacology data demonstrate that N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene have pharmacological profiles similar to those of the potent benzimidazole-opioids metonitazene and protonitazene, schedule I opioid substances. N-Pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene have been positively identified in at least 26 toxicology cases. As the United States continues to experience a high number of opioid-involved overdoses and mortalities, the introduction of new designer opioids further exacerbates the current opioid epidemic.

Available data and information for N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene, summarized below, indicate that these substances have high potentials for abuse, no currently accepted medical uses in treatment in the United States, and a lack of accepted safety for use under medical supervision. DEA's three-factor analysis is available in its entirety under ''Supporting and Related Material'' of the public docket for this action at www.regulations.gov under Docket Number DEA–1337.

Factor 4. History and Current Pattern of Abuse

Since 2019, there has been an emergence of benzimidazole-opioid compounds on the illicit drug market, which have been positively identified in numerous cases of fatal overdose events. The benzimidazole-opioids were originally synthesized and studied in the 1950s by the pharmaceutical research laboratories of the Swiss chemical company Chemical Industries Basel. The research produced a group of structurally unique benzimidazole derivatives with analgesic properties; however, the research effort did not produce any medically approved analgesic products. These benzimidazole derivatives include schedule I substances, such as synthetic opioids clonitazene, etonitazene, and isotonitazene.

In August 2020, isotonitazene was placed in schedule I of the CSA (85 FR 51342). Subsequently, nine additional benzimidazole-opioids[15] have been placed in schedule I of the CSA (87 FR 21556 and 89 FR 60817). Recently, N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene have emerged on the illicit drug market. Law enforcement officers have encountered N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in several solid forms (e.g., powder and tablets). These substances are not approved pharmaceutical products and are not approved for medical use anywhere in the world. The appearance of benzimidazole-opioids on the illicit drug market is similar to other designer opioid drugs that are trafficked for their psychoactive effects. These substances are likely to be abused in the same manner as schedule I opioids, such as etonitazene, isotonitazene, and heroin. In 2023, N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene emerged on the illicit synthetic drug market as evidenced by their identification in forensic drug seizures and in biological samples.[16] Based on NFLIS-Drug data, law enforcement encounters of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene were found in combination with other substances of abuse such as heroin, designer benzodiazepines, cocaine, fentanyl, methamphetamine, and xylazine.

Factor 5. Scope, Duration and Significance of Abuse

N-Pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene, similar to etonitazene, metonitazene and protonitazene (schedule I substances), have been described as potent synthetic opioids, and evidence suggests they are abused for their opioidergic effects (see Factor 6). The abuse of these benzimidazole-opioids, similar to other synthetic opioids, has resulted in serious adverse health effects. According to a public alert report[17] published in August 2023, N-pyrrolidino protonitazene has been positively confirmed in 20 medicolegal death investigation cases in the United States (n =16) and United Kingdom (n = 4). The cases that occurred in the United States originated from seven states including California, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. N-Pyrrolidino metonitazene has been identified in six toxicology cases as of June 2023 in the United States. The cases occurred in at least three states including Ohio, Illinois, and West Virginia.[18]

Data from law enforcement suggest that N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene are being abused in the United States as recreational drugs.[19] Since 2023, there have been 123 exhibits reported to the NFLIS-Drug (Federal, State and local laboratories) database pertaining to the trafficking, distribution, and abuse of these substances. There were 10 encounters of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene from four states in NFLIS-Drug: Florida (n = 1), Maine (n = 1), Missouri (n = 2) and Ohio (n = 6). N-Pyrrolidino protonitazene has been identified in 113 exhibits in NFLIS-Drug [16] NMS Labs, in collaboration with the Center for Forensic Science Research and Education at the Fredric Rieders Family Foundation and the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force at the United States Department of Justice, has received funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to develop systems for the early identification and notification of novel psychoactive substances in the drug supply within the United States.

Because abusers of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene are likely to obtain these substances through unregulated sources, the identity, purity, and quantity of these substances are uncertain and inconsistent, thus posing significant adverse health risks to the end user. The misuse and abuse of opioids have been demonstrated and are well-characterized.[21] Individuals who initiate (i.e., use a drug for the first time) use of these benzimidazole-opioids are likely to be at risk of developing substance use disorder, an overdose event, or death, similar to that of other opioid analgesics (e.g., fentanyl, morphine, etc.). Law enforcement and toxicology reports demonstrate that N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene are being illicitly distributed and abused.

Factor 6. What, if Any, Risk There Is to the Public Health

The increase in opioid overdose deaths in the United States has been exacerbated recently by the availability of potent synthetic opioids on the illicit drug market. Data obtained from pre-clinical studies demonstrate that N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene exhibit pharmacological profiles similar to that of etonitazene, metonitazene, protonitazene, and other mu-opioid receptor agonists. These two benzimidazole-opioids bind to and act as agonists at the mu-opioid receptors.[22] It is well established that substances that act as mu-opioid receptor agonists have a high potential for addiction and can induce dose-dependent respiratory depression.[23]

Consistent with any mu-opioid receptor agonist, the potential health and safety risks for users of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene are high. N-Pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene have been positively identified in forensic toxicology and postmortem cases. According to a public alert, N-pyrrolidino protonitazene has been positively identified in 20 medicolegal death investigations in the United States and United Kingdom as of August 2023. Of the cases, 16 occurred across seven states in the United States. Decedent ages ranged from mid-20s to mid-70s. N-Pyrrolidino protonitazene was co-identified with additional novel psychoactive substances (70 percent), quinine (60 percent), other benzimidazole-opioids (55 percent), methamphetamine/cocaine (55 percent), fentanyl (55 percent), xylazine (35 percent) and designer benzodiazepines (30 percent).[24] Also, N-pyrrolidino metonitazene has been identified in six toxicology cases in the United States as of June 2023. The introduction of potent synthetic opioids such as N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene into the illicit market may serve as a portal to problematic opioid use for those seeking these powerful opioids. As documented by toxicology reports, polysubstance abuse remains common in fatalities associated with the abuse of some of these benzimidazole-opioids.

The United States is currently experiencing an opioid epidemic, and the presence of synthetic opioids on the illicit drug market further exacerbates the problem. The trafficking and abuse of new synthetic opioids are deadly trends which pose imminent hazard to the public safety. Adverse health effects associated with the abuse of synthetic opioids and the continued evolution and increased popularity of these substances have been a serious concern in recent years. Because of the pharmacological similarities of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene to metonitazene and protonitazene, the use of these substances presents high risk of abuse and may negatively affect users and communities. The positive identification of these substances in toxicology cases is of serious concern to the public safety. Thus, N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene pose imminent hazard to public safety.

Finding of Necessity of Schedule I Placement To Avoid Imminent Hazard to Public Safety

In accordance with 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(3), based on the available data and information summarized above, the uncontrolled manufacture, distribution, reverse distribution, importation, exportation, conduct of research and chemical analysis, possession, and abuse of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene pose imminent hazards to public safety. DEA is not aware of any currently accepted medical uses for these substances in the United States. A substance meeting the statutory requirements for temporary scheduling, found in 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(1), may only be placed in schedule I. Substances in schedule I must have a high potential for abuse, no currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States, and a lack of accepted safety for use under medical supervision. Available data and information for N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene indicate that these substances meet the three statutory criteria. As required by 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(4), the then-Administrator transmitted to the then-Assistant Secretary, via letter dated December 7, 2023, notice of DEA's intent to place N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in schedule I on a temporary basis. By letter dated December 22, 2023, the then-Assistant Secretary had no objection to the temporary placement of these substances in schedule I. DEA subsequently published this NOI in the Federal Register on September 17, 2024. However, due to the time lapse between HHS's December 22, 2023, response, the then-Acting DEA Administrator by letter dated March 24, 2025, provided notification to the Acting Assistant Secretary per 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(4) of his intent to finalize the placement of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in schedule I on a temporary basis. HHS had no objection to the temporary placement of these substances in schedule I.

Conclusion

In accordance with 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(1) and (3), the Administrator considered available data and information, herein set forth the grounds for his determination that it is necessary to temporarily schedule N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in schedule I of the CSA, and finds that placement of these substances in schedule I is necessary to avoid an imminent hazard to the public safety.

The temporary placement of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in schedule I of the CSA will take effect on the date the order is published in the Federal Register and will remain in effect for two years, with a possible extension of one year, pending completion of the regular (permanent) scheduling process.[25]

The CSA sets forth specific criteria for scheduling drugs or other substances. Regular scheduling actions in accordance with 21 U.S.C. 811(a) are subject to formal rulemaking procedures ''on the record after opportunity for a hearing'' conducted pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 556 and 557.[26] The regular scheduling process of formal rulemaking affords interested parties appropriate process and the government any additional relevant information needed to make a determination. Final decisions that conclude the regular scheduling process of formal rulemaking are subject to judicial review.[27] Temporary scheduling orders are not subject to judicial review.[28]

Requirements for Handling

Upon the effective date of this temporary order, N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene will be subject to the regulatory controls and administrative, civil, and criminal sanctions applicable to the manufacture, distribution, reverse distribution, importation, exportation, possession of, and engagement in research and conduct of instructional activities or chemical analysis with, schedule I controlled substances, including but not limited to the following:

1. Registration. Any person who handles (possesses, manufactures, distributes, reverse distributes, imports, exports, engages in research, or conducts instructional activities or chemical analysis with) or desires to handle, N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene must be registered with DEA to conduct such activities, pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 822, 823, 957, and 958, and in accordance with 21 CFR parts 1301 and 1312, as of August 15, 2025. Any person who thereafter handles N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene and is not registered with DEA must submit an application for registration and may not continue to handle N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene as of August 15, 2025, unless DEA has approved that application for registration pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 822, 823, 957, and 958, and in accordance with 21 CFR parts 1301 and 1312. Retail sales of schedule I controlled substances to the general public are not allowed under the CSA. Possession of any quantity of these substances in a manner not authorized by the CSA on or after August 15, 2025 is unlawful, and those in possession of any quantity of these substances may be subject to prosecution pursuant to the CSA.

2. Disposal of stocks. Any person who does not desire or is unable to obtain a schedule I registration to handle N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene must surrender all currently held quantities of these substances.

3. Security. N-Pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene are subject to schedule I security requirements and must be handled in accordance with 21 CFR 1301.71–1301.93, as of August 15, 2025.

4. Labeling and Packaging. All labels, labeling, and packaging for commercial containers of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene must comply with 21 U.S.C. 825 and 958(e) and 21 CFR part 1302. Current DEA registrants will have 30 calendar days from August 15, 2025 to comply with all labeling and packaging requirements.

5. Inventory. Every DEA registrant who possesses any quantity of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene on the effective date of this order must take an inventory of all stocks of these substances on hand pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 827 and 958, and in accordance with 21 CFR 1304.03, 1304.04, and 1304.11. Current DEA registrants will have 30 calendar days from the effective date of this order to comply with all inventory requirements. After the initial inventory, every DEA registrant must take an inventory of all controlled substances (including N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene) on hand on a biennial basis pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 827 and 958 and in accordance with 21 CFR 1304.03, 1304.04, and 1304.11.

6. Records. All DEA registrants must maintain records with respect to N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 827 and 958(e) and in accordance with 21 CFR parts 1304, 1312, and 1317, and section 1307.11. Current DEA registrants authorized to handle these two substances shall have 30 calendar days from the effective date of this order to comply with all recordkeeping requirements.

7. Reports. All DEA registrants must submit reports with respect to N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 827 and in accordance with 21 CFR parts 1304, 1312, and 1317, and sections 1301.74(c) and 1301.76(b), as of August 15, 2025. Manufacturers and distributors must also submit reports regarding these substances to the Automation of Reports and Consolidated Order System pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 827 and in accordance with 21 CFR parts 1304 and 1312.

8. Order Forms. All DEA registrants who distribute N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene must comply with order form requirements pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 828 and in accordance with 21 CFR part 1305 as of August 15, 2025.

9. Importation and Exportation. All importation and exportation of N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene must be in compliance with 21 U.S.C. 952, 953, 957, and 958, and in accordance with 21 CFR part 1312 as of August 15, 2025.

10. Quota. Only DEA-registered manufacturers may manufacture N-pyrrolidino metonitazene and N-pyrrolidino protonitazene in accordance with a quota assigned pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 826 and in accordance with 21 CFR part 1303, as of August 15, 2025.

11. Liability. Any activity involving N-pyrrolidino metonitazene or N-pyrrolidino protonitazene not authorized by or in violation of the CSA, occurring as of August 15, 2025, is unlawful, and may subject the person to administrative, civil, and/or criminal sanctions.

Regulatory Analyses

The CSA provides for expedited temporary scheduling actions where necessary to avoid an imminent hazard to the public safety. Under 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(1), the Administrator, as delegated by the Attorney General, may, by order, temporarily place substances in schedule I. Such orders may not be issued before the expiration of 30 days from: (1) The publication of a notice in the Federal Register of the intent to issue such order and the grounds upon which such order is to be issued, and (2) the date that notice of the proposed temporary scheduling order is transmitted to the Assistant Secretary, as delegated by the Secretary of HHS.[29]

[27] 21 U.S.C. 877.

[29] 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(1).

Inasmuch as section 811(h) directs that temporary scheduling actions be issued by order (as distinct from a rule) and sets forth the procedures by which such orders are to be issued, DEA believes the notice-and-comment requirements of section 553 of the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), 5 U.S.C. 553, do not apply to this temporary scheduling order. The APA expressly differentiates between orders and rules, as it defines an ''order'' to mean a ''final disposition, whether affirmative, negative, injunctive, or declaratory in form, of an agency in a matter other than rule making.'' [30] (Emphasis added). This contrasts with permanent scheduling actions, which are subject to formal rulemaking procedures done ''on the record after opportunity for a hearing,'' and final decisions that conclude the scheduling process and are subject to judicial review. 21 U.S.C. 811(a) and 877. The specific language chosen by Congress indicates its intent that DEA issue orders instead of proceeding by rulemaking when temporarily scheduling substances. Given that Congress specifically requires the Administrator (as delegated by the Attorney General) to follow rulemaking procedures for other kinds of scheduling actions, see 21 U.S.C. 811(a), it is noteworthy that, in section 811(h)(1), Congress authorized the issuance of temporary scheduling actions by order rather than by rule.

Even assuming that this action is subject to section 553 of the APA, the Administrator finds that there is good cause to forgo its notice-and-comment requirements, as any further delays in the process for issuing temporary scheduling orders would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest given the manifest urgency to avoid an imminent hazard to the public safety.

Although DEA believes this temporary scheduling order is not subject to the notice-and-comment requirements of section 553 of the APA, DEA notes that in accordance with 21 U.S.C. 811(h)(4), the Administrator took into consideration comments submitted by the Acting Assistant Secretary in response to the notices that DEA transmitted to the Acting Assistant Secretary pursuant to such subsection.

Further, DEA believes that this temporary scheduling action is not a ''rule'' as defined by 5 U.S.C. 601(2), and, accordingly, is not subject to the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA). The requirements for the preparation of an initial regulatory flexibility analysis in 5 U.S.C. 603(a) are not applicable where, as here, DEA is not required by section 553 of the APA or any other law to publish a general notice of proposed rulemaking. Therefore, in this instance, since DEA believes this temporary scheduling action is not a ''rule,'' it is not subject to the requirements of the RFA when issuing this temporary action.

In accordance with the principles of Executive Orders (E.O.) 12866, 13563, and 14192, this action is not a significant regulatory action. E.O. 12866 directs agencies to assess all costs and benefits of available regulatory alternatives and, if regulation is necessary, to select regulatory approaches that maximize net benefits (including potential economic, environmental, public health, and safety effects; distributive impacts; and equity). E.O. 13563 is supplemental to and reaffirms the principles, structures, and definitions governing regulatory review as established in E.O. 12866. E.O. 12866, sec. 3(f), provides the definition of a ''significant regulatory action,'' requiring review by the Office of Management and Budget. Because this is not a rulemaking action, this is not a significant regulatory action as defined in Section 3(f) of E.O. 12866. DEA scheduling actions are not subject to either E.O. 14192, Unleashing Prosperity Through Deregulation, or E.O. 14294, Fighting Overcriminalization in Federal Regulations.

This action will not have substantial direct effects on the states, on the relationship between the national government and the states, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, in accordance with E.O. 13132, it is determined that this action does not have sufficient federalism implications to warrant the preparation of a Federalism Assessment.

AGENCY: Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (PBGC) is making miscellaneous technical corrections, clarifications, and improvements to its regulations, including its regulations on premium rates, premium due dates, and termination of single-employer plans. These changes are a result of PBGC's ongoing retrospective review of the effectiveness and clarity of its rules and of statutory changes.

DATES:

Effective date: This rule is effective on September 15, 2025.

Applicability dates: The amendments under this final rule generally apply as of September 15, 2025. The change in 29 CFR 4007.11(d)(2), which revises the due dates for the final premium filing for certain terminating plans, is applicable to plan years beginning on or after January 1, 2026. The correction to 29 CFR 4044.52(d) regarding the rounding methodology for the expense loading charge in PBGC's benefits valuation regulation is applicable to calculations where the valuation date is on or after January 31, 2026. Many of the amendments codify policies and practices that PBGC has followed for many years, and PBGC will continue to follow those policies and practices in the interim.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Executive Summary

A. Purpose and Authority

This final rule makes miscellaneous technical corrections, clarifications, updates, and improvements to several of the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation's (PBGC's) regulations. These changes are based on PBGC's ongoing retrospective review of the effectiveness and clarity of its rules and on statutory changes to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA).

PBGC's legal authority for this rulemaking comes from section 4002(b)(3) of ERISA which authorizes PBGC to issue regulations to carry out the purposes of title IV of ERISA. It also comes from section 4006 of ERISA (Premium Rates), section 4007 of ERISA (Payment of Premiums), section 4010 of ERISA (Authority to Require Certain Information), section 4041 of ERISA (Termination of Single-Employer Plans), section 4041A of ERISA (Termination of Multiemployer Plans), section 4043 of ERISA (Reportable Events), section 4044 of ERISA (Allocation of Assets), section 4065 of ERISA (Annual Report of Plan Administrator), section 4203 of ERISA (Complete Withdrawal), section 4204 of ERISA (Sale of Assets), section 4207 of ERISA (Reduction or Waiver of Complete Withdrawal Liability), section 4211 of ERISA (Methods for Computing Withdrawal Liability), section 4219 of ERISA (Notice, Collection, Etc., of Withdrawal Liability), section 4220 of ERISA (Approval of Amendments), section 4233 of ERISA (Partitions of Eligible Multiemployer Plans), section 4245 of ERISA (Insolvent Plans), section 4262 of ERISA (Special Financial Assistance by the Corporation), and section 4281 of ERISA (Benefits Under Certain Terminated Plans).

B. Major Provisions

The major provisions of this rulemaking amend PBGC's regulations on:

- Premium Rates, by codifying the changes of the Setting Every Community Up for Retirement Enhancement Act of 2019 (SECURE Act) (Pub. L. 116–94, Division O) applicable to cooperative and small employer charity (CSEC) plans [1] and certain community newspaper plans; [2]
- Payment of Premiums, by revising the due date for the final premium for terminating plans to be the earlier of the normal premium due date or 45 days after the date the post-distribution certification is filed;
- Termination of Single-Employer Plans, by setting due dates for the standard termination notice and notice of intent to terminate where the plan administrator has not provided a proposed termination date, and by adding additional criteria majority owners must meet to waive their benefits if they are owners through constructive ownership; and
- Termination of Multiemployer Plans, by eliminating a requirement for terminated and insolvent multiemployer plans to file withdrawal liability information.

II. Background

PBGC administers two insurance programs for private-sector defined benefit pension plans under title IV of ERISA: a single-employer plan termination insurance program and a multiemployer plan insolvency insurance program. In addition, PBGC administers a special financial assistance program for certain financially distressed multiemployer plans. The amendments in this rulemaking apply primarily to the single-employer plan termination insurance program.

III. Proposed Rule

On January 21, 2025, PBGC published a proposed rule [3] to make miscellaneous technical corrections, clarifications, updates, and improvements to several of PBGC's regulations. PBGC provided a 60-day comment period. In response, PBGC received one comment letter, but the comment does not appear to be related to any of the provisions in the proposed rule. Except for amendments to eliminate certain multiemployer plan withdrawal liability reporting requirements and to revise the expense loading charge provided in § 4044.52(d) of the benefits valuation regulation to correct the rounding methodology, the final rule is substantially the same as the proposed rule. The final rule also includes some technical and editorial changes.

The provisions of this final rule are discussed with respect to each of the regulations as identified below.

IV. Premium Rates—29 CFR Part 4006

Sponsors of plans covered under PBGC's single-employer program are subject to rules requiring the calculation and payment of annual premiums to PBGC under section 4006 of ERISA and PBGC's regulation on Premium Rates (29 CFR part 4006), ''premium rates regulation.'' The SECURE Act modified the calculation of premiums under section 4006 of ERISA for a CSEC plan and the funding requirements for a community newspaper plan under section 303(m) of ERISA and section 430(m) of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code). The SECURE Act also modified section 401 of the Code to allow an employer to adopt a new pension plan and elect to treat the plan as if it had been adopted during the prior taxable year.

[1] A CSEC plan is a plan maintained by multiple employers, most of which are rural cooperatives, charities, or agricultural cooperatives or maintained by a rural telephone cooperative association. See section 104 of the Pension Protection Act, Public Law 109–280.

[2] A community newspaper plan means a plan as defined in section 303(m)(5) of ERISA and section 430(m)(5) of the Internal Revenue Code.

[3] 90 FR 6894 (Jan. 21, 2025).

PBGC is amending its premium rates regulation to account for these SECURE Act modifications.

A. CSEC Plans—Variable Rate Premiums

The SECURE Act modified flat and variable rate premiums and changed the way the variable rate premium is calculated for CSEC plans first effective for 2019.[4] Under section 4006(a)(3)(A) of ERISA, as amended by the SECURE Act, CSEC plans calculate the variable rate premiums that they owe to PBGC based on alternative minimum funding standards. CSEC plans now apply an alternate definition of unfunded vested benefits (UVBs). This definition refers to the funding liability of the CSEC plan as determined under section 306(j)(5)(C) of ERISA and section 433(j)(5)(C) of the Code. PBGC issued guidance [5] on these changes and incorporated the special premium rules for CSEC plans into the premium filing instructions starting with the 2021 filing instructions.

Although the rules have been in place for several years, PBGC is now amending its premium rates regulation to conform the regulation with changes made by the SECURE Act regarding how CSEC plans determine UVBs for the purpose of calculating variable rate premiums. First, new § 4006.5(h) provides the rules to calculate a CSEC plan's ''premium funding target'' using the alternate definition of UVBs as provided in section 306(j)(5)(C) of ERISA and section 433(j)(5)(C) of the Code. In addition, PBGC is making conforming amendments to §§ 4006.2, 4006.4(b)(1) and 4006.4(f)(2) to further conform to changes under the SECURE Act for CSEC plans.

B. Community Newspaper Plans

The SECURE Act amended section 430 of the Code and section 303 of ERISA, providing that community newspaper plans may elect to use alternative minimum funding standards.[6] Section 4006 of ERISA was not similarly amended, however, so community newspaper plans are not permitted to use these alternative standards to calculate the premiums that they owe to PBGC. PBGC is adding a reference to community newspaper plans in § 4006.4(f) to denote them as plans subject to special funding rules, which are disregarded for purposes of determining UVBs.

C. Definition of New Plan

Under PBGC's premium rates regulation and its regulation on Payment of Premiums (29 CFR part 4007), ''payment of premiums regulation,'' plans that are newly adopted are subject to special rules concerning calculations and payment of premiums. Before the SECURE Act, a ''new plan'' meant a plan that did not exist before the premium payment year. Following the SECURE Act, which allows employers to elect to treat newly adopted plans as having been adopted during the prior tax year, this definition must be changed. The current definition does not account for newly adopted plans that employers have elected to treat as having a retroactive effective date. Accordingly, PBGC is changing the definition of ''New plan'' in § 4006.2 to mean a plan with an effective date during the premium payment year.

V. Payment of Premiums—29 CFR part 4007

The final step in a plan's standard termination is the filing of the post-distribution certification under § 4041.29 of PBGC's regulation on Termination of Single-Employer Plans (29 CFR part 4041). The plan administrator of the terminating plan must file the certification (on PBGC Form 501) within 30 days of the final benefits distribution date, or within 60 days of the final benefits distribution date if it certifies to PBGC within 30 days after the final benefits distribution date that the plan assets have been distributed as required. Before 2014, the final premium filing for a terminating plan was due on the same date it would have been due if the plan had not terminated (i.e., the 15th day of the 10th month after the plan year began). There were instances in which plan administrators of terminating plans neglected to file the final premium filing by the time it was due, however, because the due date was several months after the Form 501 was filed. PBGC found that in some of these cases, especially when the plan sponsor was no longer in business by the final premium due date, it was difficult for the plan administrator to go back or even reconstruct records to calculate and pay premiums, as well as pay the late payment interest and penalties that PBGC assessed.

In 2014, PBGC amended its payment of premiums regulation by revising the premium due date rules for terminating plans.[7] This was intended to facilitate the timely payment of these final year premiums for terminating plans and to relieve them of the burden of calculating premiums long after the final distributions were made. This rule set the due date for the final premium filing for a terminating plan as the earlier of (1) the normal premium due date found in § 4007.11(a), or (2) the date when the post-distribution certification is filed. Therefore, a plan that closes out in the first eight-and-a-half months of its final plan year faces an accelerated premium filing due date.[8]

As explained in the proposal, practitioners have informed PBGC that in some cases, it is challenging to prepare and submit both the post-distribution certification (i.e., PBGC Form 501) and the final premium filing on the same day. As a result of these challenges, some plan administrators have missed filing due dates and have been assessed late premium payment charges.

For the reasons described in the 2014 rule and above, PBGC still believes it is important to have an accelerated premium due date for plans that complete a standard termination long before the ''normal'' premium due date. However, to reduce the administrative difficulties and related possibility of late or missed filings, PBGC is amending § 4007.11(d)(2) to revise the due date for the final premium filing to be the earlier of (1) the normal premium due date, or (2) 45 days after the date the post-distribution certification is filed.

VI. Termination of Single-Employer Plans—29 CFR Part 4041

Under section 4041 of ERISA, a single-employer plan can terminate in either a standard termination or a distress termination. A plan administrator of a single-employer plan covered by PBGC's termination

[6] Section 9707 of the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021, Public Law 117–2, further modified the definition of the term ''eligible newspaper plan sponsor,'' but that modification does not require additional changes to part 4006.

[7] See 79 FR 13547, 13562 (Mar. 11, 2014).

[8] Because of a provision in the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015 that supersedes § 4007.11 of PBGC's payment of premiums regulation, premium filings for plan years beginning in 2025 are due on the 15th day of the 9th calendar month in the plan year, including plans that, in any other year, would be subject to the special rule for plans closing out in the first eight-and-a-half months of its final plan year. See Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015, Public Law 114–74, Title V, Sect. 502 (2015). See also PBGC Technical Update 25–1 (2025).

insurance program that has sufficient assets to provide all plan benefits may voluntarily terminate the plan in a standard termination. The rules governing standard terminations are in section 4041 of ERISA and subpart B of PBGC's regulation on Termination of Single-Employer Plans (29 CFR part 4041), ''termination regulation.'' Within specified timeframes, a plan administrator must notify participants of the proposed termination; provide participants detailed information on their plan benefits; file certain information with PBGC; and, absent the issuance of a notice of noncompliance by PBGC, distribute plan assets to satisfy all plan benefits under the plan.

A single-employer plan insured by PBGC that does not have sufficient assets to pay all plan benefits owed to participants and beneficiaries but does have sufficient assets to pay benefits guaranteed by PBGC, may terminate voluntarily in a distress termination only if the employer and the members of the employer's ''controlled group'' of affiliated companies meet certain statutory requirements.

A. Majority Owner

Under PBGC's termination regulation, in the event that a plan lacks sufficient funds to pay required plan benefits, a majority owner may forgo receipt of their plan benefits (1) to enable the plan to satisfy all other plan benefits in a standard termination,[9] or (2) in connection with a distress termination.[10] In a standard termination, the election to waive payment of benefits is permitted only to facilitate the standard termination. This alternative treatment of a majority owner's plan benefit is valid only if the election is in writing; requisite spousal consent criteria is met, if applicable; and the majority owner's election and the spouse's consent does not violate a qualified domestic relations order.[11] A majority owner electing to forgo receipt of their plan benefits in a distress termination must meet these same criteria as a majority owner in a standard termination, but in addition, must receive PBGC approval if such election is made after the termination date and would result in PBGC determining that the plan is sufficient for guaranteed benefits under paragraph (c) of § 4041.47.[12]

The term ''majority owner'' is defined under § 4041.2 of the termination regulation as a person who owns, directly or indirectly, 50 percent or more, taking into account the constructive ownership rules of sections 414(b) and (c) of the Code, of an unincorporated trade or business; the capital interest or profits interest in a partnership; or either the voting stock of a corporation or the value of all of the stock of a corporation. One way in which a person can become a majority owner is through an option agreement to acquire stock. If a person has an option to acquire stock, that stock is considered as owned by the person who holds the option.[13]

PBGC is concerned that the rules in the current regulation do not effectively eliminate the risk of participants being coerced to waive their benefits as ''majority owners'' when they are given ownership options by the plan sponsor in anticipation of plan termination. To avoid such potential coercion, PBGC is amending the criteria individuals must meet to waive their benefits by modifying its application of the constructive ownership rules. Under the rule, if the majority owner has an option to acquire any outstanding interest in an organization, such interest will be considered as owned by such person by an option agreement under 26 CFR 1.414(c)–4(b)(1) if the person directly owns 5 percent or more of the unincorporated business or trade, capital interest or the profits interest in a partnership, or either 5 percent or more of the voting stock of a corporation or the value of all the stock of a corporation.[14] Alternatively, if the person does not have a 5 percent or more direct ownership interest, the person would be able to qualify as a majority owner under an option agreement if the person has been a member of the board of directors or officer of the plan sponsor, or a fiduciary of the plan for each of the 3 years immediately preceding the date of plan termination. These exceptions to the ownership rules are intended to minimize the potential misuse of option agreements and protect the benefits of participants who are not direct owners or who have not participated in the management of the plan sponsor.

B. Clarifying Due Dates

To complete a standard termination, the plan administrator must: (1) issue notices of intent to terminate and notices of plan benefits to participants, beneficiaries, and other affected parties; (2) file a standard termination notice and post-distribution certification with PBGC; and (3) distribute the plan's assets in satisfaction of the plan's benefit liabilities. Under § 4041.25(a), the standard termination notice is due on or before the 180th day after the proposed termination date. Under § 4041.25(b), a plan's date of termination is the later of the date specified in the standard termination notice or the date specified in the notice of intent to terminate (but not later than 90 days after the earliest date a notice of intent to terminate was provided to any party). However, if the plan administrator fails to specify such date in the notice of intent to terminate and/or fails to file a standard termination notice (thus failing to declare a proposed termination date), then the due date for the standard termination notice is unclear. The final rule clarifies this ambiguity in such cases by clearly establishing a due date for the standard termination notice that does not depend on the declaration of a proposed termination date. Under this rule, § 4041.25(a) is modified such that the due date for a standard termination notice is the earlier of: (1) 180 days after the plan's proposed termination date as specified in the standard termination notice; or (2) 60 days before making any distribution governed by section 4041(b) of ERISA. Thus, the due date for a standard termination notice, where the notice is not filed with PBGC, will be 60 days before distributions begin, and PBGC may assess penalties for the missed filing from that point going forward.

PBGC is also making a corresponding change to § 4041.29(b), which provides to plan administrators who timely filed a standard termination notice a 90-day grace period for the assessment of penalties for an untimely post-distribution certification. This section is modified such that the grace period continues to be available but only if the plan administrator filed a standard termination notice within 180 days of the proposed termination date.

VII. Termination of Multiemployer Plans—29 CFR Part 4041A and Duties of Plan Sponsor of an Insolvent Plan—29 CFR Part 4245

PBGC's regulations on Termination of Multiemployer Plans (29 CFR part 4041A) and Duties of Plan Sponsor of an Insolvent Plan (29 CFR part 4245) require that plans terminated by mass withdrawal, plans terminated by amendment that are expected to become insolvent, and insolvent plans receiving financial assistance from PBGC (whether terminated or not terminated) file withdrawal liability information. PBGC's instructions specify the information to be filed, including information about withdrawal liability payments and settlements, and whether employers have withdrawn from the plan but have not yet been assessed withdrawal liability. This information was used by PBGC to estimate PBGC's multiemployer liabilities for its financial statements. PBGC determined that this reporting requirement is no longer needed for this purpose. On March 10, 2025,[15] PBGC published a notice that informed the public that PBGC was eliminating this reporting requirement. PBGC did not receive any comments in response to its notice. Accordingly, in this final rule, PBGC is removing § 4041A.23(b) and § 4245.8(b)(1), each of which require the filing of withdrawal liability information.

VIII. Other Clarifications, Corrections, and Updates

A. Filing, Issuance, Computation of Time, and Record Retention—29 CFR Part 4000

PBGC is amending its regulation on Filing, Issuance, Computation of Time, and Record Retention (29 CFR part 4000) to require electronic filing by plans of standard termination filings, missing participant filings, and coverage determination forms. These filings are made by plans and practitioners representing plans, and not by individual participants. Filing this information electronically (by email or, if available, through PBGC's e-Filing Portal) is currently optional. However, because electronic filing is more efficient for both PBGC and filers and has become the standard method of filing for PBGC's regulated community, PBGC is amending § 4000.3(b) to require electronic filing by plans for standard termination filings under subpart B of 29 CFR part 4041, missing participant filings under 29 CFR part 4050, and coverage determination forms under section 4021 of ERISA, in accordance with instructions on PBGC's website at www.pbgc.gov.

The rule also makes other clarifying and editorial changes to part 4000.

B. Annual Financial and Actuarial Information Reporting—29 CFR Part 4010

Under PBGC's regulation on Annual Financial and Actuarial Information Reporting (29 CFR part 4010), certain underfunded plans[16] must annually report identifying, financial, and actuarial information to PBGC. Section 4010.8(a)(12) provides that the actuarial information must be certified, in writing, by an enrolled actuary. The final rule amends this paragraph so that the filing instructions, not the regulation, provide the method for certification (i.e., what information must be contained in the certification and how to complete the certification). This amendment is intended to give PBGC greater flexibility to consider methods other than written certifications, such as e-certifications, in the future.

C. Reportable Events and Certain Other Notification Requirements—29 CFR Part 4043

Plan administrators and contributing sponsors are responsible for notifying PBGC of a reportable event under section 4043 of ERISA or a failure to make certain required contributions under section 303(k)(4) of ERISA or section 430(k)(4) of the Code. PBGC's regulation on Reportable Events and Certain Other Notification Requirements (29 CFR part 4043), ''reportable events regulation,'' prescribes the requirements for notifying PBGC of one of these circumstances. Filers must submit these notices using PBGC's e-Filing Portal. The e-Filing Portal, available for submitting notices of reportable events since 2016, offers a secure application for submitting reportable events information. Currently, under § 4043.3(a)(3), if notices are required for two or more events, the notices can be combined into one filing. This provision was originally intended to make filing paper notices easier by allowing filers to combine paper notices into one filing. However, this provision is obsolete as under PBGC's e-Filing Portal, the filer is prompted to enter information for only one reportable event per filing. This method is not burdensome for filers as information about the filer is saved in the e-Filing Portal and does not need to be re-entered for each filing. Therefore, PBGC is removing the obsolete language in § 4043.3(a)(3).

PBGC is also modifying § 4043.62 of the reportable events regulation. In 2020, § 4043.29 was amended to clarify that PBGC does not need notice of a change in the contributing sponsor to a plan if the change does not result in a contributing sponsor ceasing to be a member of the plan's controlled group.[17] Therefore, the heading of § 4043.29 was revised to remove ''contributing sponsor,'' and the description of reportable event was revised to provide that a reportable event occurs for a plan when there is a transaction that results, or will result, in one or more persons (including any person who is or was a contributing sponsor) ceasing to be a member of the plan's controlled group (other than by merger involving members of the same controlled group). The advance notice requirement in § 4043.62 refers to the description of the event that must be reported under § 4043.29. To conform with changes made to § 4043.29 in 2020, PBGC, in this final rule, amends the heading of § 4043.62 by removing ''contributing sponsor or,'' and amends paragraph (a) of § 4043.62 to remove ''contributing sponsor or.'' These amendments clarify and minimize confusion as to the advance notice requirement for a change in controlled group.

D. Allocation of Assets in Single-Employer Plans—29 CFR Part 4044

On June 6, 2024, PBGC published its final rule, Valuation Assumptions and Methods,[18] to amend its regulation on Allocation of Assets in a Single-Employer Plans (29 CFR part 4044), ''benefits valuation regulation.'' The rule updated the interest, mortality, and expense assumptions used to determine the present value of benefits for single-employer pension plans terminating in a distress or involuntary termination. The assumptions are also used for certain multiemployer withdrawal liability calculations, 4010 reporting, and other purposes.

Under the June 6, 2024, final rule, the expense load assumption begins with the sum of $400 per participant for the first 100 participants and $250 for each participant over 100. That sum is then adjusted for inflation and rounded to the nearest dollar.

Practitioners have asked why PBGC did not post the indexed per-participant amounts on its website, www.pbgc.gov, as it does for other indexed amounts (e.g., premium rates). The reason is because doing so is not possible given the way § 4044.52(d) of the benefits valuation regulation was amended in 2024. Specifically, as drafted, the indexing applies to the total expense loading charge, not the individual per-participant amounts. This was not PBGC's intent when the expense loading charge was modernized in the June 6, 2024, final rule. After reviewing this issue, PBGC is revising § 4044.52(d) of the benefits valuation regulation to correct the rounding methodology so that PBGC can post the indexed amounts each year on its website. The corrected methodology is consistent with how other pension-related numbers are indexed and will have only a negligible impact on the resulting liabilities (i.e., generally less than 1/1000 of a percentage).

As revised, the inflation adjustment is applied to the unindexed per-participant amounts (i.e., $400 or $250, whichever is applicable) and then rounded to the nearest whole dollar amount before the overall expense load is determined for the plan. The indexed $400 amount is used for the first 100 participants, and the indexed $250 amount is used for each participant over 100.

Modifying the methodology for determining the expense loading charge will enable PBGC to post the indexed amounts on its website for practitioners to use, which will simplify the calculation with only an inconsequential impact to the total liability under the benefits valuation regulation.

This change to § 4044.52(d) of the benefits valuation regulation applies to calculations where the valuation date is on or after January 31, 2026.

E. Allocating Unfunded Vested Benefits to Withdrawing Employers—29 CFR part 4211

Under PBGC's regulation on Allocating Unfunded Vested Benefits to Withdrawing Employers (29 CFR part 4211), a plan is responsible for determining the amount of unfunded vested benefits to be allocated to a withdrawing employer and uses one of four methods to do so. Under § 4211.23, PBGC can approve an alternative allocation method or modification to an allocation method if such change or modification would not significantly increase the risk of loss to plan participants and beneficiaries or to PBGC.

PBGC, in the final rule, amends paragraph (c) of § 4211.23 by removing language that implies that reconsideration of PBGC's decision on an alternative allocation method or modification to an allocation method is a right of a plan sponsor. Per PBGC's regulations on Rules for Administrative Review of Agency Decision (29 CFR part 4003), decisions made by PBGC under 29 CFR part 4211 are not subject to either appeal or reconsideration. Instead, PBGC has the authority to review, upon request or its own initiative, determinations when it is deemed to be appropriate. This change clarifies that a plan sponsor may request review of PBGC's decision regarding an alternative allocation method or modification.

F. Partitions of Eligible Multiemployer Plans—29 CFR Part 4233

A multiemployer plan that is seeking partition must comply with the requirements set forth under PBGC's regulation on Partitions of Eligible Multiemployer Plans (29 CFR part 4233). The specific filing requirements are outlined in § 4233.3 and include a statement under penalties of perjury that the plan sponsor must submit with the signed and dated application for partition.

PBGC is amending paragraph (b) of § 4233.3 to better comply with the affidavit requirements prescribed by the Department of Justice for perjury cases under 28 U.S.C. 1746. The new language for the affidavit must include language specifically referring to the penalty of perjury ''under the laws of the United States of America'' to adhere to the sample form outlined in paragraph (1) of 28 U.S.C. 1746.

G. Special Financial Assistance by PBGC—29 CFR Part 4262

Under the Special Financial Assistance by PBGC regulation (29 CFR part 4262), PBGC is amending paragraph (h)(3)(iv)(B) of § 4262.16 by changing the reference from ''section 4291(b)(1)(A) of ERISA,'' which was erroneous, to ''section 4219(b)(1)(A) of ERISA.''

H. Duties of Plan Sponsor Following Mass Withdrawal—29 CFR Part 4281

As discussed earlier in this preamble, the assumptions in PBGC's benefits valuation regulation are used in certain multiemployer plan calculations. For instance, the assumptions are used to value liabilities for determining withdrawn employers' reallocation liability in the event of a mass withdrawal from a multiemployer plan. Thus, § 4281.13 of PBGC's regulation on Duties of Plan Sponsor Following Mass Withdrawal (29 CFR part 4281) was amended by the June 6, 2024, final rule [19] to include references to the amended benefits valuation regulation (29 CFR 4044.52). However, in the amended benefits valuation regulation, the expense loading charge provisions stopped using the term ''benefit liabilities,'' but the references in 29 CFR part 4281 were not updated to reflect that change. Accordingly, PBGC is making a conforming change to remove the parenthetical in § 4281.13(e) that requires the substitution of ''benefits'' for ''benefit liabilities.''

IX. OMB Control Numbers for PBGC Information Collection Requirements—29 CFR part 4909

PBGC is adding § 4909 and a table to display, per the requirements of 5 CFR 1320.5(b)(2)(ii)(C), the Office of Management and Budget control numbers of PBGC information collections for which there is no corresponding paper or electronic form. This change is intended for better organization and clarity. In addition, PBGC is removing outdated or duplicative OMB control numbers from the following sections: 4007.12, 4010.15, 4041A.11, 4065.3, 4203.6, 4204.11, 4204.21, 4207.10, 4211.22, 4219.20, 4220.3, and 4281.4.

X. Compliance With Rulemaking Guidelines

A. Executive Orders 12866 and 13563

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has determined that this rule is not a ''significant regulatory action'' under Executive Order 12866. Accordingly, OMB has not reviewed the final rule under Executive Order 12866.

Executive Order 12866 directs agencies to assess all costs and benefits of available regulatory alternatives and, if regulation is necessary, to select regulatory approaches that maximize net benefits (including potential economic, environmental, public health and safety effects, distributive impacts, and equity).

Although this final rule is not a significant regulatory action under Executive Order 12866, PBGC has examined its economic and policy implications. Most of the amendments, including those to parts 4006, 4007, 4010, and 4041, clarify regulations or conform regulations to statutory changes, or are otherwise cost-neutral in their impact.

The changes to parts 4041A and 4245 that eliminate withdrawal liability reporting requirements reduce burden for plan sponsors.[20] While those changes were not included in the January 21, 2025, proposed rule, on March 10, 2025, and May 15, 2025, PBGC published notices [21] that informed the public of its intent to eliminate the reporting requirements and provided comment periods as required under the Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA). PBGC did not receive any comments in responses to [20] In 2022, PBGC reported to OMB that it expected to receive withdrawal liability payment information from approximately 10 plans, with an estimated hour burden of 10 hours of fund office time and an estimated cost burden of $4,000 for legal services.

these notices. The Administrative Procedure Act (APA) provides at 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(4)(B) that notice and comment requirements do not apply when an agency, for good cause, finds that they are impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest. PBGC has determined that because the changes reduce reporting burden and because PBGC did not receive comments in response to the published PRA notices, that additional opportunity for notice and comment is impracticable and unnecessary, and that the public interest is best served by issuing these changes as part of the final rule.

Similarly, PBGC has determined that the amendments to §§ 4044.52 and 4281.13 also fall under the ''good cause'' exemption and that the public interest is best served by issuing these changes as part of the final rule. As explained earlier in the preamble, these are minor technical amendments to update and correct PBGC's regulations governing the calculation method of the expense load assumption, which will simplify the calculation, and therefore, notice and comment are unnecessary.

Section 6 of Executive Order 13563 requires agencies to rethink existing regulations by periodically reviewing their regulatory program for rules that ''may be outmoded, ineffective, insufficient, or excessively burdensome.'' Such rules should be modified, streamlined, expanded, or repealed as appropriate. PBGC identified technical corrections, clarifications, and improvements to some of its regulations and has included those amendments in this final rulemaking.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Regulatory Flexibility Act [22] (RFA) imposes certain requirements respecting rules that are subject to the notice-and-comment requirements of section 553(b) of the Administrative Procedure Act, or any other law,[23] and that are likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Unless an agency certifies that a final rule will not, if promulgated, have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, section 603 of the RFA requires that the agency present an initial regulatory flexibility analysis at the time of the publication of the final rule describing the impact of the rule on small entities and seek public comment on such impact. Small entities include small businesses, organizations, and governmental jurisdictions.[24]

For purposes of the RFA requirements with respect to this final rule, PBGC considers a small entity to be a plan with fewer than 100 participants.[25] This is substantially the same criterion PBGC uses in other regulations [26] and is consistent with certain requirements in title I of ERISA [27] and the Code, [28] as well as the definition of a small entity that PBGC and the Department of Labor (DOL) have used for purposes of the RFA.[29]

Further, while some large employers operate small plans along with larger ones, in general, most small plans are maintained by small employers. PBGC believes that assessing the impact of the final rule on small plans is an appropriate substitute for evaluating the effect on small entities. The definition of small entity considered appropriate for this purpose differs, however, from a definition of small business based on size standards promulgated by the Small Business Administration (13 CFR 121.201) pursuant to the Small Business Act. PBGC therefore requested comments on the appropriateness of the size standard used in evaluating the impact on small entities of this rule. PBGC received no comments on this point.

Based on its definition of small entity, PBGC certifies under section 605(b) of the RFA that the amendments in this final rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. As explained above under ''Executive Orders 12866 and 13563,'' most of the amendments offer clarifications or conform the regulation to statutory changes and thus are neutral in their impact. For instance, the clarification of deadlines of standard termination filings under part 4041 does not impose any new requirements but rather clarifies existing ones. While it is possible that individual small plans may be impacted by this change, the overall effect on small plans will not be significant. Accordingly, as provided in section 605 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, sections 603 and 604 do not apply.

XI. Paperwork Reduction Act

This final rule contains collections of information that PBGC is submitting to OMB for review and approval under the Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA). OMB's decision regarding these information collection requests will be available at http://www.reginfo.gov. An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. Most of the changes PBGC is making are revisions to filing instructions, where necessary or helpful, to incorporate the clarifications in the final rule. Therefore, except as described below, PBGC estimates that the final rule will have no impact on the hour and cost burden of reporting.

A. Termination of Single-Employer Plans Regulation

The collection of information under part 4041 is approved under OMB control number 1212–0036 (expires March 31, 2026). Under the current information collection requirements, PBGC estimated it would receive 1,647 standard termination requests, with an estimated annual hour burden of 41,175 hours and a cost burden of $8,399,700, and 7 distress termination cases, with an annual hourly burden of 560 hours and a cost burden of $110,040. Therefore, PBGC estimated that the annual burden for complying with this collection of information was 41,735 hours and $8,509,740.

Under the final rule, there will be an increase in the total estimated burden solely due to a change in the number of standard termination requests expected. PBGC estimates for calendar years 2026–2028 it will receive an average of 1,868 standard termination requests per year, resulting in an estimated annual hour burden of 46,700 hours and a cost burden of $9,526,800, and it will open an average of 2 cases per year that will conclude in a distress termination, with an estimated annual hour burden of 160 hours and a cost burden of $31,440. Therefore, the total annual burden of complying with this collection of information for standard terminations and distress terminations is estimated to be 46,860 hours and $9,558,240. Instructions under OMB control number 1212–0036 will be updated to reflect the changes in this final rule to eliminate the current option of filing paper forms and to make clear that such filings must be submitted electronically. In addition, PBGC is making other editorial changes to both the standard termination and distress termination instructions. The clarifications incorporated into the instructions will replace or augment existing language but will not create additional filing burden.

B. Annual Financial and Actuarial Information Reporting Regulation

The collection of information under part 4010 is approved under OMB control number 1212–0049 (expires February 28, 2026). Under the current information collection requirements, PBGC estimated it would receive 400 filings, with an estimated annual hour burden of 800 hours and a cost burden of $11,080,000.

Under the final rule, PBGC's ERISA 4010 Filing Instructions will be updated to provide the method for certification of actuarial information submitted by certain underfunded plans. The information does not create additional filing burden. Accordingly, there is no change in the estimated burden for calendar years 2026–2028.

C. Missing Participants Regulation

The collection of information under part 4050 is approved under OMB control number 1212–0069 (expires November 30, 2026). Under the current information collection requirements, PBGC estimated it would receive 345 missing participant filings, with an estimated annual hour burden of 70 hours and a cost burden of $497,835.

Under the final rule, there will be a decrease in the estimated burden due to a change in the number of missing participant filings expected. PBGC estimates for calendar years 2026–2028 it will receive an average of 340 filings (270 MP–100s, 62 MP–200S, 8 MP–300s, 0 MP–400s) each year, resulting in an estimated annual hour burden of 68 hours and a cost burden of $490,620. PBGC's Missing Participants Instructions under OMB control number 1212–0069 will be updated to reflect the changes in this final rule to eliminate the current option of filing paper forms and to make clear that the forms must be submitted electronically. PBGC is also making editorial changes to the sets of instructions. The clarifications incorporated into the instructions will replace or augment existing language but will not create additional filing burden.

D. Premium Filing Regulation

The collection of information under part 4007 is approved under OMB control number 1212–0009 (expires December 31, 2026). Under the current information collection requirements PBGC estimated it would receive 31,303 premium filings, with an estimated annual hour burden of 13,565 hours and a cost burden of $21,661,676.

Under the final rule, there will be a decrease in the estimated burden solely due to a change in the number of premium filings expected. PBGC estimates for calendar years 2026–2028 it will receive an average of 29,288 filings each year, resulting in an estimated annual hour burden of 12,691 hours and a cost burden of $20,267,296. PBGC's Comprehensive Premium Filing Instructions will be updated to reflect the changes in this final rule to change the options for the final premium filing due date. This change is applicable to plan years beginning on or after January 1, 2026.

In addition, PBGC is making other non-material changes to the Comprehensive Premium Filing Instructions for plan years beginning in 2026. These include updating the premium rates with rates applicable for 2026 and updating the premium filing due dates and other dates to those relevant for 2026. The premium filing due dates for 2025 were generally a month earlier than usual because of a provision in the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015 that superseded the premium filing due date rules provided in § 4007.11 of PBGC's payment of premiums regulation.[30] PBGC is re-incorporating the premium filing rules that apply under § 4007.11 in the instructions. PBGC is also making other editorial changes to the instructions. The changes incorporated into the instructions will replace or augment existing language but will not create additional filing burden.

RIN 1625–AA08

Special Local Regulation; Casco Bay, Cow Island, Long Island, ME

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DHS.

ACTION: Temporary final rule.

SUMMARY: The Coast Guard is establishing a temporary special local regulation for the navigable waters of Casco Bay, in the vicinity of Cow Island, ME, to support an offshore concert with spectator vessels. This regulation is needed to ensure the safety of spectators and mariners from risks associated with a large gathering on the water. The regulation will temporarily establish a spectator area and a safe access lane for transit and emergency response while also prohibiting swimming and creating a speed restriction/no wake zone.

DATES: This rule is effective from 12:30 p.m. August 16, 2025, to 5:30 p.m. August 17, 2025. It will only be subject to enforcement, however, from 12:30 p.m. through 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 16, 2025, unless the event is delayed because of weather conditions, in which case it may be subject to enforcement of those same hours on August 17, 2025.

ADDRESSES: To view documents mentioned in this preamble as being available in the docket, go to https://www.regulations.gov, type USCG–2025–0519 in the search box and click ''Search.'' Next, in the Document Type column, select ''Supporting & Related Material.''

II. Background Information and Regulatory History

As an organized water event of limited duration which is conducted according to a prearranged schedule is a ''Regatta or marine parade,'' as defined at 33 CFR 100.05. An individual or organization planning to hold a regatta or marine parade which, by its nature, circumstances or location, will introduce extra or unusual hazards to the safety of life on the navigable waters of the United States, must submit an application to hold it. 33 CFR 100.15. On May 16, 2025, the event sponsor of the ''Flotilla to Fight Cancer Benefit Concert'' submitted an application under 33 CFR 100.15 to conduct the Fight Cancer Benefit Concert for approximately five hours on August 16, 2025, with a rain date of August 17, 2025. The offshore concert will take place in Casco Bay, on the Falmouth side of Cow Island, in the Town of Long Island, ME.

After approving plans for the holding of a regatta or marine parade within his or her district or zone, a Captain of the Port (COTP) is authorized to promulgate such special local regulations (SLR) as he or she deems necessary to ensure safety of life on the navigable waters immediately prior to, during, and immediately after the approved regatta or marine parade. 33 CFR 100.35. Due to the high-profile nature of this event, spectator vessels and support craft that will be present and they will have the potential to cause vessel congestion in Casco Bay on the Falmouth side of Cow Island, in Long Island, ME. The COTP, Sector Northern New England has determined that potential hazards associated with the offshore concert and offshore concert location would be a safety concern for anyone within the concert area and adjacent navigable waters and is therefore establishing these SLRs.

The Coast Guard is issuing this temporary rule under the authority in 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B). This statutory provision authorizes an agency to issue a rule without prior notice and opportunity to comment when the agency for good cause finds that those procedures are ''impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest.'' The Coast Guard finds that good cause exists for not publishing a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) with respect to this rule because it is impractical to do so due to insufficient time to publish a final rule by August 16, 2025.

Under 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(3), the Coast Guard finds that good cause exists for making this rule effective less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register. Delaying the effective date of this rule would be impracticable because the rule must be in effect by August 16, 2025, to serve its intended purpose.

III. Legal Authority and Need for Rule

The Coast Guard is issuing this rule under authority in 46 U.S.C. 70041. The COTP has determined that this rule is needed to protect personnel, vessels, and the marine environment from the hazards associated with the offshore concert event.

IV. Discussion of the Rule

The Coast Guard is establishing a temporary SLR for a one-day event from 12:30 p.m. through 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 16, 2025, unless the event is delayed because of weather conditions in which case it will be subject to enforcement of those same hours on August 17, 2025. The regulated area, as shown below, in figure 1, starts at the point in position at 43°41′26″ N, 070°11′28″ W; then East along the coast of the Falmouth side of Cow Island to a point in position of 43°41′45″ N, 070°11′04″ W; then Northwest to a point in position of 43°41′53″ N, 070°11′18″ W; then Southeast to a point in position of 43°41′34″ N, 070°11′41″ W; and then to point of origin 43°41′26″ N, 070°11′28″ W expressed in Degrees (°) Minutes (′) Seconds (″) (DMS) based on North American Datum 1983 (NAD 83).

The regulated area will mainly serve as a spectator zone but will also include two transit areas where stopping, fishing, mooring, anchoring, or loitering is prohibited at all times. The first transit area will run parallel to the concert stage barge, extending the entire length of the spectator zone, with a width of 240 feet. The second transit area will run down the center of the spectator area, perpendicular to the concert stage barge, with a width of 240 feet. These transit areas will allow vessels to enter and exit the spectator zone from all sides and provide access for emergency vessels.

The temporary SLR will prohibit swimming in the entire regulated area. Additionally, all vessels must follow a ''Slow-No Wake'' speed limit, meaning they cannot create a wake and cannot exceed speeds of five (5) knots unless a higher speed is needed to maintain control. This regulation is in place to ensure the safety of vessels and people before, during, and after the concert.

V. Regulatory Analyses

We developed this rule after considering numerous statutes and Executive orders related to rulemaking. Below we summarize our analyses based on a number of these statutes and Executive orders.

A. Regulatory Planning and Review

Executive Orders 12866 (Regulatory Planning and Review) and 13563 (Improving Regulation and Regulatory Review) direct agencies to assess the costs and benefits of available regulatory alternatives and, if regulation is necessary, to select regulatory approaches that maximize net benefits. Executive Order 13563 emphasizes the importance of quantifying both costs and benefits, of reducing costs, of harmonizing rules, and of promoting flexibility.

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has not designated this rule a ''significant regulatory action,'' under section 3(f) of Executive Order 12866. Accordingly, OMB has not reviewed it.

This regulatory action determination is based on size, location, and duration and time-of-day of the event. This rule involves a special local regulation lasting approximately 5 hours (12:30 p.m.–5:30 p.m.) and impacting a certain area of Casco Bay, Cow Island, ME. Moreover, the Coast Guard will issue a Broadcast Notice to Mariners via VHF–FM marine channel 16 about the regulated area.

B. Impact on Small Entities

The regulatory flexibility analysis provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980, 5 U.S.C. 601–612, do not apply to rules not subject to notice and comment. As the Coast Guard has, for good cause, waived the notice and comment requirement that would otherwise apply to this rulemaking, the Regulatory Flexibility Act's flexibility analysis provisions do not apply here.

Under section 213(a) of the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996 (Pub. L. 104–121), we want to assist small entities in understanding this rule. If the rule will affect your small business, organization, or governmental jurisdiction and you have questions concerning its provisions or options for compliance, please call or email the person listed in the FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT section.

Small businesses may send comments on the actions of Federal employees who enforce, or otherwise determine compliance with, Federal regulations to the Small Business and Agriculture Regulatory Enforcement Ombudsman and the Regional Small Business Regulatory Fairness Boards. The Ombudsman evaluates these actions annually and rates each agency's responsiveness to small business. If you wish to comment on actions by employees of the Coast Guard, call 1–888–REG–FAIR (1–888–734–3247). The Coast Guard will not retaliate against small entities that question or complain about this rule or any policy or action of the Coast Guard.

C. Collection of Information

This rule will not call for a new collection of information under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3520).

D. Federalism and Indian Tribal Governments

A rule has implications for federalism under Executive Order 13132, Federalism, if it has a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the National Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. We have analyzed this rule under that Order and have determined that it is consistent with the fundamental federalism principles and preemption requirements described in Executive Order 13132.

Also, this rule does not have tribal implications under Executive Order 13175, Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments, because it does not have a substantial direct effect on one or more Indian tribes, on the relationship between the Federal Government and Indian tribes, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities between the Federal Government and Indian tribes.

E. Unfunded Mandates Reform Act

The Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (2 U.S.C. 1531–1538) requires Federal agencies to assess the effects of their discretionary regulatory actions. In particular, the Act addresses actions that may result in the expenditure by a State, local, or tribal government, in the aggregate, or by the private sector of $100,000,000 (adjusted for inflation) or more in any one year. Though this rule will not result in such an expenditure, we do discuss the effects of this rule elsewhere in this preamble.

F. Environment

We have analyzed this rule under Department of Homeland Security Directive 023–01, Rev. 1, associated implementing instructions, and Environmental Planning COMDTINST 5090.1 (series), which guide the Coast Guard in complying with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321–4370f), and have determined that this action is one of a category of actions that do not individually or cumulatively have a significant effect on the human environment. This rule involves This proposed rule involves establishing a special local regulation lasting for 5 hours on a day in August that will restrict movement in a certain area of Casco Bay, Cow Island, ME for the duration of the marine event. It is categorically excluded from further review under paragraph L61 of Appendix A, Table 1 of DHS Instruction Manual 023–01–001–01, Rev. 1. A Record of Environmental Consideration supporting this determination is available in the docket. For instructions on locating the docket, see the ADDRESSES section of this preamble.

B. How can I get electronic access to other related information?

C. How can I file an objection or hearing request?

Under FFDCA section 408(g), 21 U.S.C. 346a(g), any person may file an objection to any aspect of this regulation and may also request a hearing on those objections. You must file your objection or request a hearing on this regulation in accordance with the instructions provided in 40 CFR part 178. To ensure proper receipt by EPA, you must identify the docket ID number EPA–HQ–OPP–2023–0407 in the subject line on the first page of your submission. All objections and requests for a hearing must be in writing and must be received by the Hearing Clerk on or before October 14, 2025. Addresses for mail and hand delivery of objections and hearing requests are provided in 40 CFR 178.25(b).

The EPA's Office of Administrative Law Judges (OALJ), in which the Hearing Clerk is housed, urges parties to file and serve documents by electronic means only, notwithstanding any other particular requirements set forth in other procedural rules governing those proceedings. See ''Revised Order Urging Electronic Filing and Service,'' dated June 22, 2023, which can be found at https://www.epa.gov/system/files/documents/2023-06/2023-06-22%20-%20revised%20order%20urging%20electronic%20filing%20and%20service.pdf. Although the EPA's regulations require submission via U.S. Mail or hand delivery, the EPA intends to treat submissions filed via electronic means as properly filed submissions; therefore, the EPA believes the preference for submission via electronic means will not be prejudicial. When submitting documents to the OALJ electronically, a person should utilize the OALJ e-filing system at https://yosemite.epa.gov/OA/EAB/EAB-ALJ_Upload.nsf/HomePage?ReadForm.

In addition to filing an objection or hearing request with the Hearing Clerk as described in 40 CFR part 178, please submit a copy of the filing (excluding any Confidential Business Information (CBI)) for inclusion in the public docket. II. Summary of Petitioned-For Tolerance

In the Federal Register of September 19, 2023 (88 FR 64398 (FRL–10579–08–OCSPP)), EPA issued a document pursuant to FFDCA section 408(d)(3), 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(3), announcing the filing of a pesticide petition (PP 3E9047) by Syngenta Crop Protection, LLC (P.O. Box 18300, Greensboro, NC 27419). The petition requested that 40 CFR part 180 be amended by establishing tolerances for residues of the fungicide mandipropamid in or on; papaya, whole fruit at 0.8 part per million (ppm); papaya, peel at 3 ppm; and papaya, pulp at 0.015 ppm. That document referenced a summary of the petition that was prepared by Syngenta, the registrant, which is available in the docket, https://www.regulations.gov. There were no comments received in response to the notice of filing.

Based upon review of the data supporting the petition, EPA is establishing the tolerance on Papaya at 0.9 ppm. The reason for this change is explained in Unit IV.C.

III. Final Tolerance Action

A. Aggregate Risk Assessment and Determination of Safety

Section 408(b)(2)(A)(i) of FFDCA allows EPA to establish a tolerance (the legal limit for a pesticide chemical residue in or on a food) only if EPA determines that the tolerance is ''safe.'' Section 408(b)(2)(A)(ii) of FFDCA defines ''safe'' to mean that ''there is a reasonable certainty that no harm will result from aggregate exposure to the pesticide chemical residue, including all anticipated dietary exposures and all other exposures for which there is reliable information.'' This includes exposure through drinking water and in residential settings, but does not include occupational exposure. Section 408(b)(2)(C) of FFDCA requires EPA to give special consideration to exposure of infants and children to the pesticide chemical residue in establishing a tolerance and to ''ensure that there is a reasonable certainty that no harm will result to infants and children from aggregate exposure to the pesticide chemical residue. . . .''

Consistent with FFDCA section 408(b)(2)(D), and the factors specified therein, EPA has reviewed the available scientific data and other relevant information in support of this action. EPA has sufficient data to assess the hazards of and to make a determination on aggregate exposure for mandipropamid including exposure resulting from the tolerances established by this action. EPA's assessment of exposures and risks associated with mandipropamid follows.

In an effort to streamline its publications in the Federal Register, EPA is not reprinting sections that repeat what has been previously published for tolerance rulemakings of the same pesticide chemical. Where scientific information concerning a particular chemical remains unchanged, the content of those sections would not vary between tolerance rulemaking, and EPA considers referral back to those sections as sufficient to provide an explanation of the information EPA considered in making its safety determination for the new rulemaking.

EPA has previously published several tolerance rulemakings for mandipropamid in which EPA concluded, based on the available information, that there is a reasonable certainty that no harm would result from aggregate exposure to mandipropamid and established tolerances for residues of that chemical. EPA is incorporating previously published sections from these rulemakings as described further in this rulemaking, as they remain unchanged. ''Mandipropamid. Human Health Risk Assessment for Proposed Label Amendments for the Tuberous and Corm Vegetable Crop Subgroup (1C) and Tobacco, a Tolerance Without U.S. Registration for Papaya, and Non-Food Status for Non-Bearing Strawberries and Non-Bearing Members of the Tree Nut Crop Group 14–12,'' which is available in the docket for this action at https://www.regulations.gov.

B. Toxicological Profile

For a discussion of the Toxicological Profile of mandipropamid, see Unit III.A. of the rulemaking published in the Federal Register of March 22, 2019 (84 FR 10695) (FRL–9987–25). In 2020 the Agency published a draft risk assessment for the registration review of mandipropamid, but this assessment did not result in any changes to the conclusions from the 2019 rulemaking.

C. Toxicological Points of Departure/Levels of Concern

A summary of the toxicological endpoints for mandipropamid used for human health risk assessment is discussed in Unit III.B of the March 22, 2019 final rule.

D. Exposure Assessment

In evaluating dietary exposure to mandipropamid, EPA considered exposure under the petitioned-for tolerances as well as all existing tolerances in 40 CFR 180.637. An acute dietary risk assessment was not performed since no endpoint attributable to a single exposure (dose) was identified from the available oral toxicity database. In conducting the chronic dietary exposure assessment, EPA used the Dietary Exposure Evaluation Model software using the Food Commodity Intake Database (DEEM–FCID), Version 4.02, which uses the 2005–2010 food consumption data from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey, What We Eat in America (NHANES/WWEIA). The chronic dietary exposure assessment is unrefined, assuming tolerance level residues and 100 percent crop treated (PCT). Based on the lack of evidence of carcinogenicity or genotoxicity, the Agency has classified mandipropamid as ''Not Likely to be Carcinogenic to Humans'' and therefore, there is no concern for cancer risk.

I. Dietary Exposure From Drinking Water

Since this request is for a tolerance without U.S. registration the action will not impact drinking water exposure estimates. The estimated drinking water concentrations (EDWCs) included all residues of concern in drinking water: mandipropamid, SYN504851, and SYN500003. EPA used the Pesticide in Water Calculator (PWC) to determine both the groundwater and surface water EDWCs. For the chronic dietary risk assessment, the mandipropamid EDWCs are 21.9 ppb in surface water and 62.8 ppb in groundwater. The groundwater value was based on the Wisconsin corn scenario. Because the groundwater value is higher than the surface water value, it was used in the chronic dietary exposure assessment. It was incorporated into the DEEM–FCID model in the food categories ''water, direct, all sources'' and ''water, indirect, all sources.''

II. From Non-Dietary Exposure

There are no residential (non-occupational) uses proposed or currently registered for mandipropamid. Therefore, residential exposures were not assessed.

III. Cumulative Effects From Substances With a Common Mechanism of Toxicity

Section 408(b)(2)(D)(v) of FFDCA requires that, when considering whether to establish, modify, or revoke a tolerance, the Agency consider ''available information'' concerning the cumulative effects of a particular pesticide's residues and ''other substances that have a common mechanism of toxicity.'' Unlike other pesticides for which EPA has followed a cumulative risk approach based on a common mechanism of toxicity, EPA has not made a common mechanism of toxicity finding as to mandipropamid and any other substances and mandipropamid does not appear to produce a toxic metabolite produced by other substances. Therefore, for the purposes of this action, EPA has not assumed that mandipropamid has a common mechanism of toxicity with other substances.

E. Safety Factor for Infants and Children

FFDCA section 408(b)(2)(C) provides that EPA shall apply an additional tenfold (10X) margin of safety for infants and children in the case of threshold effects to account for prenatal and postnatal toxicity and the completeness of the database on toxicity and exposure unless EPA determines based on reliable data that a different margin of safety will be safe for infants and children. This additional margin of safety is commonly referred to as the Food Quality Protection Act (FQPA) Safety Factor (SF). In applying this provision, EPA either retains the default value of 10X, or uses a different additional safety factor when reliable data available to EPA support the choice of a different factor.

EPA continues to conclude that there are reliable data to support the reduction of the Food Quality Protection Act (FQPA) safety factor from 10X to 1X. See Unit III.D. of the March 22, 2019, rulemaking for a discussion of the Agency's rationale for that determination.

F. Aggregate Risk and Determination of Safety

EPA determines whether acute and chronic dietary pesticide exposures are safe by comparing dietary exposure estimates to the acute population adjusted dose (aPAD) and the chronic population adjusted dose (cPAD). Short-, intermediate-, and chronic term aggregate risks are evaluated by comparing the estimated total food, water, and residential exposure to the appropriate points of departure to ensure that an adequate margin of exposure (MOE) exists.

An acute dietary exposure assessment was not performed as there were no indications of an adverse effect attributable to a single dose. Chronic dietary risks (food and water) are below the Agency's level of concern of 100% of the cPAD; they are 44% of the cPAD for children 1 to less than 2 years old, the population subgroup receiving the highest exposure. As there are no residential uses for mandipropamid, the short-term and chronic aggregate risk estimates are equivalent to the chronic dietary risk estimates, which are not of concern.

Cancer risk was not assessed for mandipropamid because it is classified as ''Not Likely to be Carcinogenic to Humans.''

Therefore, based on the risk assessments and information described above, EPA concludes there is a reasonable certainty that no harm will result to the general population, or to infants and children, from aggregate exposure to mandipropamid residues, including its metabolites and degradates. More detailed information about the Agency's analysis can be found at https://www.regulations.gov in the document titled ''Mandipropamid. Human Health Risk Assessment for Proposed Label Amendments for the Tuberous and Corm Vegetable Crop Subgroup (1C) and Tobacco, a Tolerance Without U.S. Registration for Papaya, and Non-Food Status for Non-Bearing Strawberries and Non-Bearing Members of the Tree Nut Crop Group 14–12'' in docket ID number EPA–HQ–OPP–2023–0407.

IV. Other Considerations

A. Analytical Enforcement Methodology

Under a previous action, Syngenta submitted an updated version of Method 415/01. HED reviewed the updated method, Method 415/02 (W. Drew, D428278, 2/23/2016). This method is essentially the same as Method RAM 415/01, with the exception that it was modified by the addition of a second ion transition for determination of mandipropamid, inclusion of specific LC/MS/MS conditions, and modification to include analysis of hops. Method 415/02 underwent a successful independent laboratory validation, has a validated LOQ of 0.010 ppm, and is adequate for enforcement of mandipropamid tolerances.

B. International Residue Limits

In making its tolerance decisions, EPA seeks to harmonize U.S. tolerances with international standards whenever possible, consistent with U.S. food safety standards and agricultural practices. EPA considers the international maximum residue limits (MRLs) established by the Codex Alimentarius Commission (Codex), as required by FFDCA section 408(b)(4). The Codex Alimentarius is a joint United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization/World Health Organization food standards program, and it is recognized as an international food safety standards-setting organization in trade agreements to which the United States is a party. EPA may establish a tolerance that is different from a Codex MRL; however, FFDCA section 408(b)(4) requires that EPA explain the reasons for departing from the Codex level. The Codex does not have established MRLs for mandipropamid on papaya.

C. Revisions to Petitioned-For Tolerances

Based upon review of the data supporting the petition and in accordance with its authority under FFDCA section 408(d)(4)(A)(i), EPA is establishing a tolerance that varies from what was requested. The petitioner proposed a tolerance of 0.8 ppm for Papaya, Whole Fruit; 3 ppm for Papaya, Peel; and 0.015 ppm for Papaya, Pulp. Although the proposed tolerances are for Papaya, Whole Fruit; Papaya, Peel; and Papaya, Pulp, EPA has determined that a tolerance for Papaya only is appropriate because papaya is the only commodity of the three petitioned-for commodities for which the U.S. establishes tolerances, based on the OCSPP residue chemistry guideline 860.1000. Using papaya only, the OECD MRL calculation procedures generated a value of 0.9 ppm as the appropriate tolerance. As a result, the EPA-recommended tolerance for papaya is higher than the tolerance proposed by the petitioner.

V. Conclusion

Therefore, a tolerance is established for residues of mandipropamid (4-chloro-N-[2-[3-methoxy-4-(2-propyn-1-yloxy)phenyl]ethyl]-α-(2-propyn-1-yloxy)benzeneacetamide) in or on Papaya at 0.9 ppm.

VI. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

Additional information about these statutes and Executive orders can be found at https://www.epa.gov/laws-regulations/laws-and-executive-orders.

A. Executive Order 12866: Regulatory Planning and Review

This action is exempt from review under Executive Order 12866 (58 FR 51735, October 4, 1993), because it establishes or modifies a pesticide tolerance or a tolerance exemption under FFDCA section 408 in response to a petition submitted to the Agency. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has exempted these types of actions from review under Executive Order 12866.

B. Executive Order 14192: Unleashing Prosperity Through Deregulation

Executive Order 14192 (90 FR 9065, February 6, 2025) does not apply because actions that establish a tolerance under FFDCA section 408 are exempted from review under Executive Order 12866.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA)

This action does not impose an information collection burden under the PRA 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., because it does not contain any information collection activities.

D. Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA)

Since tolerance actions that are established on the basis of a petition under FFDCA section 408(d), such as the tolerance in this final rule, do not require the issuance of a proposed rule, the requirements of the RFA, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., do not apply to this action.

E. Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA)

This action does not contain an unfunded mandate of $100 million or more (in 1995 dollars and adjusted annually for inflation) as described in UMRA, 2 U.S.C. 1531–1538, and does not significantly or uniquely affect small governments. The action imposes no enforceable duty on any state, local or tribal governments or on the private sector.

F. Executive Order 13132: Federalism

This action does not have federalism implications as specified in Executive Order 13132 (64 FR 43255, August 10, 1999), because it will not have substantial direct effects on the states, on the relationship between the national government and the states, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government.

G. Executive Order 13175: Consultation and Coordination With Indian Tribal Governments

This action does not have tribal implications as specified in Executive Order 13175 (65 FR 67249, November 9, 2000), because it will not have substantial direct effects on tribal governments, on the relationship between the Federal government and the Indian tribes, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities between the Federal government and Indian tribes.

H. Executive Order 13045: Protection of Children From Environmental Health Risks and Safety Risks

This action is not subject to Executive Order 13045 (62 FR 19885, April 23, 1997) because tolerance actions like this one are exempt from review under Executive Order 12866.

I. Executive Order 13211: Actions Concerning Regulations That Significantly Affect Energy Supply, Distribution or Use

This action is not subject to Executive Order 13211 (66 FR 28355) (May 22, 2001) because it is not a significant regulatory action under Executive Order 12866.

J. National Technology Transfer Advancement Act (NTTAA)

This action does not involve technical standards that would require Agency consideration under NTTAA section 12(d), 15 U.S.C. 272.

K. Congressional Review Act (CRA)

This action is subject to the CRA, 5 U.S.C. 801 et seq., and EPA will submit a rule report to each House of the Congress and to the Comptroller General of the United States. This action is not a ''major rule'' as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2).

Endangered and Threatened Species; Designation of Critical Habitat for Five Species of Threatened Indo-Pacific Corals; Correction

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Commerce.

ACTION: Final rule; correction.

SUMMARY: NMFS is correcting a final rule that appeared in the Federal Register of July 15, 2025. The document designated critical habitat for five species of Indo-Pacific corals that are listed as threatened under the Endangered Species Act (ESA). As part of the final rule, NMFS added a section describing the critical habitat areas being designated and amended a table to cross-reference the newly added section for each of the five species. In amending the table, NMFS inadvertently used the incorrect section number as the cross-reference. This document corrects those errors.

DATES: The rule is effective August 14, 2025.

IV. Proposed Actions
V. Incorporation by Reference
VI. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

I. Background

A. North Carolina's October 27, 2023, Submittal

In its October 27, 2023, SIP revision [1] NCDAQ requested that EPA incorporate into the North Carolina SIP ''15A NCAC 02D .0535 as submitted in the April 13, 2021, Group 6 rule-readoption submission but . . . exclude paragraphs (c) and (g) from such approval.'' [2] Approving this SIP revision would have the effect of removing paragraphs (c) and (g) from the SIP and incorporating the changes to the remaining portions of Rule 02D .0535 into the SIP. In the existing North Carolina SIP, Rules 02D .0535(c) and (g) provide exemptions for emissions exceeding otherwise applicable SIP emission limitations at the discretion of a State official during malfunctions at paragraph (c) and startup and shutdown at paragraph (g). The October 27, 2023, SIP revision also included minor and administrative changes to the remaining Rule 02D .0535 regulatory provisions made since EPA's last approval on August 1, 1997.[3]

B. Mecklenburg County's October 25, 2023, Submittal

In its October 25, 2023, SIP revision, NCDAQ on behalf of MCAQ requested that EPA incorporate recently adopted Mecklenburg County Air Pollution Control Ordinance (MCAPCO) Article 2.0000, Section 2.0500, Rule 2.0535 (''Rule 2.0535''), Excess Emissions Reporting and Malfunctions [4] into the

[1] NCDAQ submitted a SIP revision on October 25, 2023, and supplemented it with additional required materials on October 27, 2023; therefore, EPA considers October 27, 2023, to be the date on which the Agency received the SIP revision submission.

[2] On April 13, 2021, as part of a SIP revision with a group of readopted air quality rules termed ''Group 6,'' NCDAQ requested action on the readopted Rule 02D .0535, including paragraphs (c) and (g), but on January 19, 2023, NCDAQ withdrew Rule 02D .0535 from the Group 6 SIP revision. Rule 02D .0535, as originally transmitted to EPA in the April 13, 2021, Group 6 SIP revision has been resubmitted by NCDAQ, except for paragraphs (c) and (g). The Group 6 and October 27, 2023, SIP revisions also requested action on the readoption, in full and in part, respectively, of 15A NCAC 02D .1423 into the North Carolina SIP, but on December 16, 2024, in a letter dated December 13, NCDAQ withdrew the portion of the October 27, 2023, SIP revision revising Rule 02D .1423. That letter is included in the rulemaking docket for this proposed action.

[3] See 62 FR 41277.

[4] The Rule 2.0535 title was previously revised from Excess Emissions Reporting and Malfunction to Malfunctions, Start-Up and Shut-Down in an administrative update to materials incorporated by

Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP to ''replace the obsolete version'' of SIP Rule 2.0535 ''with the current version, except for paragraphs (c) and (g), and remove existing paragraph (c).'' In the existing Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP, Rule 2.0535(c) provides exemptions for emissions exceeding otherwise applicable SIP emission limitations at the discretion of a local official during malfunctions, comparable to Title 15A of the North Carolina Administrative Code (15A NCAC) Subchapter 02D, Section .0500, Rule .0535 (''Rule 02D .0535''), Excess Emissions Reporting and Malfunctions, paragraph (c).[5] Approving this SIP revision would have the effect of removing paragraph (c) from the SIP, not incorporating paragraph (g) or the changes to paragraph (a)(1) into the SIP, and incorporating the changes to the remaining portions of Rule 2.0535 into the SIP. The October 25, 2023, SIP revision also included minor and administrative changes to the remaining Rule 2.0535 regulatory provisions made since EPA's original approval on May 2, 1991.[6]

II. Analysis of North Carolina's SIP Submittal

A. 15A NCAC 02D .0535(c) and (g)

North Carolina requested that EPA incorporate the November 1, 2020, state-effective version of Rule 02D .0535 into the North Carolina SIP, excluding paragraphs (c) and (g). Removing paragraphs (c) and (g) from the North Carolina SIP would mean that emission limits incorporated into the SIP that were formerly inapplicable under certain circumstances at the discretion of a State official are no longer subject to those exemptions. If removed from the SIP, Rules 02D .0535(c) and (g) would continue to exist in North Carolina state law and would apply to North Carolina in its exercise of enforcement authority for state law purposes only. Because Rules 02D .0535(c) and (g) would no longer be part of the North Carolina SIP, citizens and EPA could seek injunctive relief or civil penalties for exceedances of emission limits during the periods that would otherwise have been covered by Rules 02D .0535(c) and (g). EPA proposes to approve the State's request to remove Rules 02D .0535(c) and (g) from the North Carolina SIP as consistent with CAA requirements.

B. Other Changes—15A NCAC 02D .0535

Minor and administrative changes to Rule 02D .0535 have been adopted by the State since EPA's last approval in 1997, resulting in an inconsistency between the federally approved SIP and state rules (i.e., a ''SIP gap''). North Carolina's October 27, 2023, SIP revision included administrative changes that update the formatting of rule references or are minor, generally clarifying edits. EPA is proposing to approve the administrative changes because they are non-substantive and therefore have no impact on air quality. The October 27, 2023, SIP revision also included minor changes to Rules 02D .0535(a), (b), (d), (e), and (f) that revise the definition of ''excess emissions,'' rule applicability, malfunction abatement plan requirements, and certain notification and source testing requirements. EPA discusses its proposed action with respect to those minor changes below.

1. 15A NCAC 02D .0535(a)

The changes to Rule 02D .0535(a)(1) in the October 27, 2023, SIP revision revise what is included in the definition of ''excess emissions'' by adding emission rates exceeding applicable nitrogen oxide (NO_X) emission limitations or standards in Section 02D .1400 and update a recodified air toxics permitting cross-reference. The revised provision states that ''excess emissions'' means an emission rate exceeding any applicable emission limitation or standard in Sections 02D .0500, .0900, .1200, or .1400, a permit condition, or a permit issued pursuant to Section 02Q .0700, whereas the existing provision provides that ''excess emissions'' are those emissions that exceed applicable emission limitations or standards in Sections 02D .0500, .0900, or .1200, a permit condition, or a permit issued pursuant to Rule 02H .0610. North Carolina recodified Rule 02H .0610 to Section 02Q .0700 in 1998.[7] In the North Carolina SIP, Section 02D .1400 establishes emission standards for sources of NO_X in the State, particularly to prevent and address violations of the National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) for ozone. EPA proposes to approve the addition to Rule 02D .0535(a)(1) of the cross-reference to Section 02D .1400 because the change adds malfunction requirements to the SIP for sources with emission limits under Section 02D .1400. Section 02Q .0700 provides procedures for permitting emissions of toxic air pollutants.[8] The reference to Section 02Q .0700 captures toxic air pollutant emissions within the definition of ''excess emissions'' if emissions exceed permitted limits for such sources. Therefore, EPA proposes to approve the update to this cross-reference.[9]

2. 15A NCAC 02D .0535(b)

The changes to Rule 02D .0535(b) in the October 27, 2023, SIP revision revise the rule's applicability to update a reference to recodified Rule 02H .0610 (now Section 02Q .0700). The revised provision states that Rule 02D .0535 does not apply to sources subject to Rules 02D .0524, .1110, or .1111 unless emissions exceed an emission limit in a permit issued pursuant to Section 02Q .0700 that is more stringent than emission limits set in the aforementioned rules, whereas the existing provision provides that those sources are not subject to the rule unless emissions exceed a more stringent emission limit in a permit issued pursuant to now recodified Rule 02H .0610. In Rule 02D .0535(b), the reference to Section 02Q .0700 captures a narrow subset of sources emitting toxic air pollutants for purposes of rule applicability—namely, toxic air pollutant sources with permitted limits more stringent than the national emission standards for hazardous air pollutants (NESHAP) limits. With the removal of the exemptions for emissions exceeding otherwise applicable SIP emission limitations (i.e., the removal of Rules 02D .0535(c) and (g) from the SIP), the updated rule reference would simply maintain the universe of sources subject to the malfunction abatement plan requirements and certain reporting and testing requirements within the rule. Therefore, EPA proposes to approve the update to this cross-reference.

3. 15A NCAC 02D .0535(d) and (e)

The changes to Rules 02D .0535(d) and (e) in the October 27, 2023, SIP revision revise and update malfunction abatement plan requirements. Rule 02D

[7] North Carolina Register Volume 13, Issue 1, pp. 81–85 (July 1, 1998) noted the recodification of 15A NCAC 02H .0610 to 02Q .0700 effective July 1, 1998. The North Carolina Register is available at https://www.oah.nc.gov/rules-division/north-carolina-register.

[8] Section 02Q .0700 is a state-only (i.e., not SIP-approved) permitting program.

[9] North Carolina Register Volume 12, Issue 8, p. 650 (October 15, 1997) noted that certain provisions, including certain Section 02Q .0700 provisions, were proposed for adoption and that Rule 02H .0610 was proposed for repeal to, among other reasons, ''amend the air toxics rules by recodifying them into a new Section.''

.0535(d) is revised to require a source other than an electric utility boiler to submit a malfunction abatement plan, if the Director requires a plan, within 60 days after receipt of the Director's request. SIP-approved Rule 02D .0535(e) currently requires sources other than electric utility boilers to submit those plans within six months of the Director's requirement to prepare a plan. The added 60-day deadline for sources other than electric utility boilers at Rule 02D .0535(d), by shortening the timeframe for plan submittal, would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act.[10]

Rule 02D .0535(e) is revised to remove an obsolete sentence that reads, ''The owner or operator of any electric utility boiler unit required to have a malfunction abatement plan shall submit a malfunction abatement plan to the Director within 60 days of the effective date of this Rule.'' The existing subsequent sentence requires ''any other source'' required to have a malfunction abatement plan to submit that plan within six months of the Director's requirement to do so, whereas the revised provision states that ''any source'' required to have a malfunction abatement plan must submit that plan within six months of the Director's requirement to do so. Because SIP-approved Rule 02D .0535(d) requires all electric utility boiler units to have an approved malfunction abatement plan and the change to Rule 02D .0535(d) in the October 27, 2023, SIP revision now also requires the submission of malfunction abatement plans within 60 days of receipt of the Director's request for sources other than electric utility boilers, the six-month submission deadline in Rule 02D .0535(e) would now apply to electric utility boilers only. The six-month deadline for electric utility boilers by which malfunction abatement plans must be submitted, by replacing the obsolete timeframe based on the effective date of the rule with a specific timeframe for sources constructed after the effective date of the rule, would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act.

At Rule 02D .0535(e), the timeframe within which amendments can be submitted to remedy malfunction abatement plan deficiencies is also revised. The revised provision states that, if a malfunction abatement plan does not carry out objectives described in Rule 02D .0535(d) and is therefore disapproved, an amendment that corrects the deficiencies identified must be submitted ''within 30 days of receipt of the Director's notification of disapproval,'' whereas the existing provision requires a satisfactory amendment to be submitted ''within a period of time prescribed by the Director.'' The revised timeframe within which amendments can be submitted to remedy malfunction abatement plan deficiencies, due to the increased enforceability of the specific timeframe compared to the former, uncertain one, would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act. For these reasons, EPA proposes to approve the changes to Rules 02D .0535(d) and (e).

4. 15A NCAC 02D .0535(f)

The changes to Rule 02D .0535(f) in the October 27, 2023, SIP revision revise and update certain notification and source testing requirements. Rule 02D .0535(f)(1) is revised to update a malfunction notification requirement. The revised provision states that, if excess emissions lasting more than four hours resulting from ''a malfunction, a breakdown of process or control equipment or any other abnormal conditions'' occur, the source owner or operator, after becoming aware of the occurrence, must notify a State official on the air agency's next business day by 9:00 a.m. (Eastern Time), whereas the existing provision requires the owner or operator to notify a State official ''within 24 hours.'' According to a description of the proposed state rule revision in the North Carolina Register,[11] the State revised the time for reporting malfunctions because notification to a State official ''within 24 hours may be difficult when the day on which the malfunction or abnormal condition occurs and the following day are weekend days or holidays,'' noting that ''allowing notification on the following business day would alleviate this problem'' and make rule reporting requirements compatible with permitting rule reporting requirements. EPA proposes to approve the change to Rule 02D .0535(f)(1) because, based on the description above, it would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act.

Rule 02D .0535(f)(2) is revised to update a corrective-measures notification requirement. The revised provision states that, ''after'' measures correcting excess emissions as described in prefatory text at paragraph (f) have been accomplished, the source owner or operator must notify a State official, whereas the existing provision requires the owner or operator to notify a State official ''immediately when . . . corrective measures have been accomplished.'' The reported information in Rule 02D .0535(f) regarding excess emissions remains unchanged. EPA proposes to approve the change to Rule 02D .0535(f)(2) because it would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act as it does not impact the timing of the corrective action, the information required to be reported in paragraph (f), or the need to report completion of corrective action.

Rule 02D .0535(f) is also revised to update a cross-reference to source testing requirements. In the final sentence of Rule 02D .0535(f), the revised provision directs any source owner or operator required to demonstrate compliance to test the source in accordance with Section 02D .2600, the purpose of which ''is to assure consistent application of testing methods and methodologies to demonstrate compliance with emission standards.'' [12] The existing provision requires source testing in accordance with Rule 02D .0501, which in turn, requires the owner or operator of any subject source or control equipment to use the source testing procedures of Section 02D .2600 to demonstrate compliance with Section 02D .0500 if required to do so.[13] EPA proposes to approve this change to Rule 02D .0535(f) because the updated source testing requirements cross-reference simply clarifies testing requirements to which certain sources may be subject. For these reasons, EPA proposes to approve the changes to Rule 02D .0535(f).

III. Analysis of Mecklenburg County's SIP Submittal

A. MCAPCO 2.0535(c)

Mecklenburg County requested that EPA incorporate recently adopted Rule 2.0535, which was locally effective on October 19, 2021, into the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina

[10] See CAA section 110(l), which prohibits EPA from approving a SIP revision that would interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment and reasonable further progress (as defined in CAA section 171), or any other applicable requirement of the Act.

[11] North Carolina Register Volume 10, Issue 18, p. 2,382 (December 15, 1995).

[13] See the final sentence of Rule 02D .0501.

SIP to replace obsolete SIP Rule 2.0535, excluding paragraph (c) and new paragraph (g), which is substantively identical to North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .0535(g). Removing paragraph (c) and excluding paragraph (g) from the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP would mean that emission limits incorporated into the SIP that were formerly inapplicable under certain circumstances at the discretion of a local official are not subject to those exemptions. If removed from the SIP, Rule 2.0535(c) would continue to exist in Mecklenburg County local law and would apply to Mecklenburg County in its exercise of enforcement authority for local law purposes only, along with local-only Rule 2.0535(g). Because Rules 2.0535(c) and (g) would not be part of the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP, citizens and EPA could seek injunctive relief or civil penalties for exceedances of emission limits during the periods that would otherwise have been covered by Rules 2.0535(c) and (g). EPA proposes to approve Mecklenburg County's request to remove Rule 2.0535(c) and exclude Rule 2.0535(g) from the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP as consistent with CAA requirements.

B. Other Changes—MCAPCO 2.0535

Minor and administrative changes to Rule 2.0535 have been adopted by Mecklenburg County since EPA's original approval in 1991, resulting in a ''SIP gap.'' Mecklenburg County's October 25, 2023, SIP revision included administrative changes that update the rule title [14] and re-number paragraphs or are minor, generally clarifying edits. EPA is proposing to approve the administrative changes because they are non-substantive and therefore have no impact on air quality. The October 25, 2023, SIP revision also included changes to Rules 2.0535(a) and (b) that revise the definition of ''excess emissions'' and rule applicability and minor changes to Rules 2.0535(d), (e), and (f) that revise malfunction abatement plan requirements and certain notification and source testing requirements. EPA discusses its proposed action with respect to those changes below.

1. MCAPCO 2.0535(a)

EPA is proposing to approve administrative changes to Rules 2.0535(a)(2), (3), and (4) that re-number paragraphs or are minor, generally clarifying edits. EPA is not proposing to act on the changes to Rule 2.0535(a)(1) in the October 25, 2023, SIP revision at this time. The changes to Rule 2.0535(a)(1) revise what is included in the definition of ''excess emissions'' by adding emission rates exceeding applicable title V emission limitations or standards in Section 1.5500, incinerator emission limitations or standards in Section 2.1200, NO_X emission limitations or standards in Section 2.1400, and emission limits in an air toxics permit issued pursuant to Section 1.5700, and removing emission rates exceeding applicable emission control emission limitations or standards in Section 2.0500. The existing provision provides that ''excess emissions'' exceed applicable emission control emission limitations or standards in Section 2.0500, applicable volatile organic compound emission limitations or standards in Section 2.0900, or a permit condition.[15] Sections 1.5700, 2.1200, and 2.1400 are comparable to regulations in North Carolina's 15A NCAC, and references to those sections within the definition of ''excess emissions'' in Rule 2.0535(a)(1) are comparable to references within North Carolina's definition of ''excess emissions'' in 15A NCAC 02D .0535(a)(1).[16] However, the added reference to Section 1.5500, which contains Mecklenburg County's title V operating permit rules,[17] in lieu of the reference to Section 2.0500, which provides emission control standards ''to establish maximum limits on the rate of emission of air contaminants into the atmosphere,'' [18] is not comparable to North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .0535(a)(1), which, in the October 27, 2023, SIP revision, retains an analogous cross-reference to Section 2.0500, 15A NCAC 02D .0500, and does not include an analogous reference to 15A NCAC 02Q .0500, North Carolina's title V operating permit rules.

EPA is not proposing to act on changes to Rule 2.0535(a)(1) in the October 25, 2023, SIP revision at this time because the Agency cannot approve under the definition of ''excess emissions'' the replacement of emission rates that exceed applicable emission control limitations or standards in Mecklenburg's Section 2.0500 with emission rates exceeding applicable limitations or standards in Section 1.5500 because Section 1.5500 itself contains no emission limits or standards. Furthermore, Section 1.5500 is not in the SIP, and title V rules are generally not included in SIPs. EPA also finds that the remaining Rule 2.0535(a)(1) regulatory text in the October 25, 2023, SIP revision is not severable from the previously described changes to Rule 2.0535(a)(1), and the Agency is therefore not proposing to act on any changes to Rule 2.0535(a)(1) through this rulemaking.

2. MCAPCO 2.0535(b)

The changes to Rule 2.0535(b) in the October 25, 2023, SIP revision revise the rule's applicability to update a reference to recodified Rule 2.0525 (now Rule 2.1110),[19] remove cross-references to 40 CFR parts 60 and 61, exclude from rule applicability certain sources subject to maximum achievable control technology (MACT) standards in Rule 2.1111, and expand rule applicability to capture certain sources of toxic air pollutants permitted under Section 1.5700. The revised provision states that Rule 2.0535 does not apply to sources subject to Rules 2.0524, 2.1110, or 2.1111 unless emissions exceed an emission limit in a permit issued pursuant to Section 1.5700 that is more stringent than emission limits set in the aforementioned rules, whereas the existing provision provides that sources subject to Rule 2.0524, now recodified Rule 2.0525, or 40 CFR parts 60 or 61 are not subject to the rule.[20] Rule 2.0524, comparable to North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .0524, requires sources subject to federal new source performance standards (NSPS) at 40 CFR part 60 to, with certain exceptions,[21] comply with all applicable requirements promulgated at 40 CFR part 60. Rule 2.1110, comparable to North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .1110, requires sources subject to federal NESHAPs at 40 CFR part 61 to, with certain exceptions,[22] comply with all applicable requirements promulgated at 40 CFR part 61. Likewise, Rule 2.1111, comparable to North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .1111, requires sources subject to federal source category NESHAPs at 40 CFR

[14] Mecklenburg County revises the Rule 2.0535 title from Malfunctions, Start-Up and Shut-Down to Excess Emissions Reporting and Malfunctions, consistent with North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .0535 title.

[15] Sections 1.5500, 2.1200, 2.1400, and 1.5700 are local-only (i.e., not SIP-approved) provisions.

[16] Unlike North Carolina's comparable 15A NCAC 02D .1400, Section 2.1400 is not approved into the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP.

[17] See Rule 1.5501(a).

[18] See Rule 2.0502.

[19] Rule 2.0535(b)'s cross-reference to Rule 2.0525, which was repealed from the local regulations effective July 1, 1996, is changed to a cross-reference to Rule 2.1110.

[20] Sections 2.0524, 2.1110, and 2.1111 are local-only (i.e., not SIP-approved) provisions.

[21] See Rule 2.0524(b) and (c).

part 63 to, with certain exceptions,[23] comply with all applicable requirements promulgated at 40 CFR part 63. EPA proposes to approve the addition to Rule 2.0535(b) of the updated cross-reference to Rule 2.1110 and the cross-reference to Rule 2.1111 and the concurrent removal of the cross-references to now-recodified Rule 2.0525 and 40 CFR parts 60 and 61 because the changes simply reflect that, in Mecklenburg County, sources subject to applicable NSPS and NESHAPs are subject to those same standards under Rules 2.0524, 2.1110, or 2.1111.

In Rule 2.0535(b), the added reference to Section 1.5700 captures a narrow subset of sources emitting toxic air pollutants for purposes of rule applicability—namely, toxic air pollutant sources with permitted limits more stringent than the NESHAP limits. With the removal of the exemption for emissions exceeding otherwise applicable SIP emission limitations (i.e., the removal of Rule 2.0535(c) from the SIP), the added rule reference would simply capture that narrow subset of sources under rule applicability so that those sources are subject to the malfunction abatement plan requirements and certain reporting and testing requirements within the rule, consistent with North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .0535(b). Therefore, EPA proposes to approve the addition of this cross-reference.

3. MCAPCO 2.0535(d) and (e)

The changes to Rules 2.0535(d) and (e) in the October 25, 2023, SIP revision revise and update malfunction abatement plan requirements. These changes are comparable to the changes to North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .0535(d) and (e) as described in Section II.B.3, above. Rule 2.0535(d) is revised to require a source other than an electric utility boiler to submit a malfunction abatement plan, if the Director requires a plan, within 60 days after receipt of the Director's request. SIP-approved Rule 2.0535(e) currently requires sources other than electric utility boilers to submit those plans within six months of the Director's requirement to prepare a plan. The added 60-day deadline for sources other than electric utility boilers at Rule 2.0535(d), by shortening the timeframe for plan submittal, would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act.[24]

Rule 2.0535(e) is revised to remove an obsolete sentence that reads, ''The owner or operator of any electric utility boiler unit required to have a malfunction abatement plan shall submit a malfunction abatement plan to the director within 60 days of the effective date of this Regulation.'' The existing subsequent sentence requires ''any other source'' required to have a malfunction abatement plan to submit that plan within six months of the Director's requirement to do so, whereas the revised provision states that ''any source'' required to have a malfunction abatement plan must submit that plan within six months of the Director's requirement to do so. Because SIP-approved Rule 2.0535(d) requires all electric utility boiler units to have an approved malfunction abatement plan and the change to Rule 2.0535(d) in the October 25, 2023, SIP revision now also requires the submission of malfunction abatement plans within 60 days of receipt of the Director's request for sources other than electric utility boilers, the six-month submission deadline in Rule 2.0535(e) would now apply to electric utility boilers only. The six-month deadline for electric utility boilers by which malfunction abatement plans must be submitted, by replacing the obsolete timeframe based on the effective date of the rule with a specific timeframe for sources constructed after the effective date of the rule, would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act.

At Rule 2.0535(e), the timeframe within which amendments can be submitted to remedy malfunction abatement plan deficiencies is also revised. The revised provision states that, if a malfunction abatement plan does not carry out objectives described in Rule 2.0535(d) and is therefore disapproved, an amendment that corrects the deficiencies identified must be submitted ''within 30 days of receipt of the Director's notification of disapproval,'' whereas the existing provision requires a satisfactory amendment to be submitted ''within a period of time prescribed by the director.'' The revised timeframe within which amendments can be submitted to remedy malfunction abatement plan deficiencies, due to the increased enforceability of the specific timeframe compared to the former, uncertain one, would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act. For these reasons, EPA proposes to approve the changes to Rules 2.0535(d) and (e).

4. MCAPCO 2.0535(f)

The changes to Rule 2.0535(f) in the October 25, 2023, SIP revision revise and update certain notification and source testing requirements. These changes are comparable to the changes to North Carolina's 15A NCAC 02D .0535(f) as described in Section II.B.4, above. Rule 2.0535(f)(1) is revised to update a malfunction notification requirement. The revised provision states that, if excess emissions lasting more than four hours resulting from ''a malfunction, a breakdown of process or control equipment or any other abnormal conditions'' occur, the source owner or operator, after becoming aware of the occurrence, must notify a local official on the air agency's next business day by 9:00 a.m. (Eastern Time), whereas the existing provision requires the owner or operator to notify a local official ''within 24 hours.'' EPA proposes to approve the change to Rule 2.0535(f)(1) because, as discussed in Section II.B.4, it would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act.

Rule 2.0535(f)(2) is revised to update a corrective-measures notification requirement. The revised provision states that, ''after'' measures correcting excess emissions as described in prefatory text at paragraph (f) have been accomplished, the source owner or operator must notify a local official, whereas the existing provision requires the owner or operator to notify a local official ''immediately when . . . corrective measures have been accomplished.'' The reported information in Rule 2.0535(f) regarding excess emissions remains unchanged. EPA proposes to approve the change to Rule 2.0535(f)(2) because it would not interfere with any applicable requirement concerning attainment of the NAAQS or any other applicable requirement of the Act as it does not impact the timing of the corrective action, the information required to be reported in paragraph (f), or the need to report completion of corrective action.

Rule 2.0535(f) is also revised to update a cross-reference to source testing requirements. In the final sentence of Rule 2.0535(f), the revised provision directs any source owner or operator required to demonstrate compliance to test the source in accordance with Section 2.2600, whereas the existing provision requires source testing in accordance with Rule 2.0501, which in turn, requires the owner or operator of any subject source or control equipment to use the source testing procedures of Section 2.2600 to demonstrate compliance with Section 2.0500 if required to do so.[25] EPA proposes to approve this change to Rule 2.0535(f) because the updated source testing requirements cross-reference simply clarifies testing requirements to which certain sources may be subject. For these reasons, EPA proposes to approve the changes to Rule 2.0535(f).

IV. Proposed Actions

Under the CAA, the Administrator is required to approve SIP submissions that comply with the provisions of the CAA and applicable federal regulations. See 42 U.S.C. 7410(k); 40 CFR 52.02(a). EPA is proposing to approve North Carolina's October 27, 2023, SIP revision requesting changes to Title 15A of the North Carolina Administrative Code Subchapter 02D, Section .0500, Rule.0535, Excess Emissions Reporting and Malfunctions and incorporate those changes into the North Carolina SIP. Specifically, EPA is proposing to remove Rules 02D .0535(c) and (g) from the North Carolina SIP and to approve the remaining changes to Rule 02D .0535 into the North Carolina SIP.

EPA is also proposing to approve Mecklenburg County's October 25, 2023, SIP revision requesting changes to Mecklenburg County Air Pollution Control Ordinance Article 2.0000, Section 2.0500, Rule 2.0535, Malfunctions, Start-Up and Shut-Down, except for the changes to Rule 2.0535(a)(1), and incorporate those changes into the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP. Specifically, EPA is proposing to remove Rule 2.0535(c) from the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP and to approve the remaining changes to Rule 2.0535 into the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP, with the exceptions of the October 19, 2021, locally effective version of paragraph (a)(1), which EPA is not proposing to act on at this time, and new paragraph (g). EPA is proposing to approve these SIP revisions for the reasons discussed in Sections II and III.

V. Incorporation by Reference

In this document, EPA is proposing to include in a final EPA rule regulatory text that includes incorporation by reference. In accordance with requirements of 1 CFR 51.5, and as discussed in Sections I, II, and IV of this preamble, EPA is proposing to incorporate by reference Title 15A of the North Carolina Administrative Code Subchapter 02D, Section .0500, Rule .0535, Excess Emissions Reporting and Malfunctions, state effective November 1, 2020, except for paragraphs (c) and (g).[26] Also, in accordance with requirements of 1 CFR 51.5, and as discussed in Sections I, III, and IV of this preamble, EPA is proposing to incorporate by reference Mecklenburg County Air Pollution Control Ordinance Article 2.0000, Section 2.0500, Rule 2.0535, Excess Emissions Reporting and Malfunctions,[27] locally effective October 19, 2021, except for paragraphs (a)(1), (c), and (g).[28] EPA has made and will continue to make these materials generally available through www.regulations.gov and at the EPA Region 4 office (please contact the person identified in the FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT section of this preamble for more information).

VI. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

Under the CAA, the Administrator is required to approve a SIP submission that complies with the provisions of the CAA and applicable Federal regulations. See 42 U.S.C. 7410(k); 40 CFR 52.02(a). Thus, in reviewing SIP submissions, EPA's role is to approve state choices, provided that they meet the criteria of the CAA. Accordingly, these proposed actions merely propose to approve state law as meeting Federal requirements and do not impose additional requirements beyond those imposed by state law. For that reason, these proposed actions:

- Are not significant regulatory actions subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget under Executive Order 12866 (58 FR 51735, October 4, 1993);
- Are not subject to Executive Order 14192 (90 FR 9065, February 6, 2025) because SIP actions are exempt from review under Executive Order 12866;
- Do not impose an information collection burden under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.);
- Are certified as not having a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.);
- Do not contain any unfunded mandate or significantly or uniquely affect small governments, as described in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (Pub. L. 104–4);
- Do not have federalism implications as specified in Executive Order 13132 (64 FR 43255, August 10, 1999);
- Are not subject to Executive Order 13045 (62 FR 19885, April 23, 1997) because they approve a state program;
- Are not significant regulatory actions subject to Executive Order 13211 (66 FR 28355, May 22, 2001); and
- Are not subject to requirements of section 12(d) of the National Technology Transfer and Advancement Act of 1995 (15 U.S.C. 272 note) because application of those requirements would be inconsistent with the CAA.

In addition, the SIP is not approved to apply on any Indian reservation land or in any other area where EPA or an Indian tribe has demonstrated that a tribe has jurisdiction. In those areas of Indian country, the rule does not have Tribal implications and will not impose substantial direct costs on Tribal governments or preempt Tribal law as specified by Executive Order 13175 (65 FR 67249, November 9, 2000).

[26] If EPA takes final action to approve the October 27, 2023, SIP revision, Rule 02D .0535(c) and (g) would not be included in the North Carolina SIP, and the Agency would update the SIP table at 40 CFR 52.1770(c) to reflect this.

[27] If EPA takes final action to approve the October 25, 2023, SIP revision, the Rule 2.0535 title would change from Malfunctions, Start-Up and Shut-Down to Excess Emissions Reporting and Malfunctions, and the Agency would update the SIP table at 40 CFR 52.1770(c) to reflect this.

[28] If EPA takes final action to approve the October 25, 2023, SIP revision, Rule 2.0535(c) and (g) and the October 19, 2021, locally effective version of Rule 2.0535(a)(1) would not be included in the Mecklenburg County portion of the North Carolina SIP, and the Agency would update the SIP table at 40 CFR 52.1770(c) to reflect this. The SIP would retain the version of Rule 2.0535(a)(1) that was locally effective on April 3, 1989.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On August 1, 2025, EPA published a proposed rule titled ''Reconsideration of 2009 Endangerment Finding and Greenhouse Gas Vehicle Standards'' (90 FR 36288). The public comment for this proposed rule was scheduled to end on September 15, 2025. The public hearing on this rule is scheduled for August 19, 20, and 21, 2025. In EPA's Federal Register notice announcing the public hearing (90 FR 36125), EPA stated the agency would hold the public hearing on August 19 and 20, and EPA would consider adding a third day, August 21, if needed. EPA has now decided to add a third day (August 21, 2025) and is considering adding a fourth day (August 22, 2025). The Clean Air Act requires that the record of proceedings allowing oral presentation of data, views, and arguments on a proposed rule be kept open for 30 days after completion of the proceeding to provide an opportunity for submission of rebuttal and supplementary information. 42 U.S.C. 7607(d)(5). Because EPA plans to hold a third of public hearing for this proposed rule, and is considering adding a fourth day, the final ''proceeding allowing oral presentation of data, views, and arguments,'' will be held on August 21, 2025, and potentially on August 22, 2025. For this reason, the public comment period for this proposed rule is extended and will now end on September 22, 2025.

Director, Assessment and Standards Division, Office of Transportation and Air Quality.

Takes of Marine Mammals Incidental to Specified Activities; Taking Marine Mammals Incidental to the Duckabush Estuary Restoration Project in Washington

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Commerce.

ACTION: Proposed rule, request for comments.

SUMMARY: NMFS has received a request from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) for incidental take regulations (ITR) and a Letter of Authorization (LOA) pursuant to the Marine Mammal Protection Act. The requested regulations would govern the authorization of take of small numbers of marine mammals over 5 years (2026–2031) incidental to the Duckabush Estuary Restoration Project (DERP) in Hood Canal, Washington. NMFS requests public comments and will consider them prior to making any final decision on the requested ITR and issuance of the LOA; agency responses to comments will be summarized in the final rule, if issued.

DATES: Comments and information must be received no later than September 15, 2025.

ADDRESSES: A plain language summary of this proposed rule is available at: https://www.regulations.gov/docket/NOAA-NMFS-2025-0636.

- Electronic Submissions: Submit all electronic public comments via the Federal e-Rulemaking Portal. Go to https://www.regulations.gov and enter NOAA–NMFS–2025–0636 in the Search box (note: copying and pasting the FDMS Docket Number directly from this document may not yield search results). Click on the ''Comment'' icon, complete the required fields, and enter or attach your comments.

Instructions: Comments sent by any other method, to any other address or individual, or received after the end of the comment period, may not be considered by NMFS. All comments received are a part of the public record and will generally be posted for public viewing at: https://www.regulations.gov without change. Purpose and Need for Regulatory Action

This proposed rule, if adopted, would establish a framework under the authority of the Marine Mammal Protection Act (MMPA) (16 U.S.C. 1361 et seq.) to authorize, for a 5-year period (2026–2031), take of marine mammals incidental to the USACE's construction activities associated with the DERP. NMFS received an application (the application) from the USACE requesting 5-year regulations and an LOA to take a single species of marine mammals. Take would occur by Level B harassment only incidental to construction activities. Except with respect to certain activities not pertinent here, section 3(18) of the MMPA defines ''Level B harassment'' as any act of pursuit, torment, or annoyance, which has the potential to disturb a marine mammal or marine mammal stock in the wild by causing disruption of behavioral patterns, including, but not limited to, migration, breathing, nursing, breeding, feeding, or sheltering. Take by Level A harassment is not anticipated or proposed for authorization. Similarly, no mortality or serious injury is anticipated or proposed.

Legal Authority for the Proposed Action

The MMPA prohibits the ''take'' of marine mammals, with certain exceptions. Sections 101(a)(5)(A) and (D) of the MMPA (16 U.S.C. 1361 et seq.) direct the Secretary of Commerce (as delegated to NMFS) to allow, upon request, the incidental, but not intentional, taking of small numbers of marine mammals by U.S. citizens who engage in a specified activity (other than commercial fishing) within a specified geographical region if certain findings are made, regulations are promulgated, and public notice and an opportunity for public comment are provided.

Authorization for incidental takings shall be granted if NMFS finds that the taking will have a negligible impact on the species or stock(s) and will not have an unmitigable adverse impact on the availability of the species or stock(s) for taking for subsistence uses (where relevant). Further, NMFS must prescribe the permissible methods of taking and other ''means of effecting the least practicable adverse impact'' on the affected species or stocks and their habitat, paying particular attention to rookeries, mating grounds, and areas of similar significance, and on the availability of the species or stocks for taking for certain subsistence uses (referred to as ''mitigation''). The MMPA sets forth requirements pertaining to the mitigation, monitoring and reporting of the takings. The definitions of all applicable MMPA statutory terms cited above are included in the discussion below.

Section 101(a)(5)(A) of the MMPA and the implementing regulations at 50 CFR part 216, subpart I provide the legal basis for proposing and, if appropriate, issuing 5-year regulations and an associated LOA. This proposed rule also establishes required mitigation, monitoring, and reporting requirements for the USACE's activities.

Summary of Major Provisions Within the Proposed Rule

The following is a summary of the major provisions of this proposed rule regarding USACE construction activities. These provisions include measures requiring:

- Performance of construction work only during daylight hours when visual monitoring of marine mammals can be implemented;
- Gradually increasing time periods dedicated to construction activities each day throughout the day to reduce the risk of potentially startling marine mammals;
- Conducting 30 minutes of pre- and post-activity monitoring associated with pile installation or removal activities;
- Establishment and monitoring by protected species observers (PSOs) of a 300-meter observation zone for all construction activities;
- Halting construction activity: (1) if a marine mammal comes within 10 meters of operations of heavy equipment; or (2) a pup less than one week old comes within 20 meters of where heavy machinery is operating; and
- Not initiating construction activities within 300 meters of a mother-pup pair that is hauled out, or within 100 meters of a mother-pup pair in the water.

National Environmental Policy Act

To comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.) and NOAA Administrative Order (NAO) 216–6A, NMFS must evaluate the proposed action (i.e., promulgation of regulations and subsequent issuance of a 5-year LOA) and alternatives with respect to potential impacts on the human environment.

This action is consistent with categories of activities identified in Categorical Exclusion B4 (Incidental Harassment Authorizations (IHAs)) with no anticipated serious injury or mortality) of the Companion Manual for NAO 216–6A, which do not individually or cumulatively have the potential for significant impacts on the quality of the human environment and for which we have not identified any extraordinary circumstances that would preclude this categorical exclusion. Accordingly, NMFS has preliminarily determined that issuance of the proposed rule qualifies to be categorically excluded from further NEPA review.

Information in the USACE's application and this document collectively provide the environmental information related to proposed issuance of these proposed regulations and subsequent incidental take authorization for public review and comment. We will review all comments submitted in response to this notice of proposed rulemaking prior to concluding our NEPA process and prior to making a final decision on the request for incidental take authorization.

Summary of Request

On April 17, 2024 NMFS received an application from the USACE requesting authorization for the take of marine mammals incidental to construction activities associated with the DERP in Washington. A revised application was submitted on September 27, 2024. We determined the application was adequate and complete on November 19, 2024. On November 25, 2024, we published a notice of receipt of the USACE's application in the Federal Register, requesting comments and information related to the request for 30 days (89 FR 92907). We received no public comments.

The USACE requests authorization to take harbor seal (Phoca vitulina), by Level B harassment only. The proposed regulations would be valid for 5 years (2026–2031).

Description of Proposed Activity

Overview

The USACE would be working with the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) and the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT) to implement an ecosystem restoration project on the Duckabush River Estuary in Hood Canal, WA. The project would reconnect floodplain and intertidal wetlands to improve tidal exchange, sediment transport, and estuary development. The DERP would restore tidal and riverine hydrology to 38 acres (15.38 hectares) of the Duckabush River delta, allowing for natural habitat-forming processes including sediment and detritus exchange, freshwater input, and tidal flushing. Restoration will provide rearing habitat for Hood Canal summer chum salmon by reconnecting 20 river miles (32 kilometers (km)) of nearly pristine upstream habitat with a now fully functional salt marsh and mudflat estuary. The USACE anticipates construction will take up to 880 workdays across 48 months to complete. Time estimates assume that construction would take place 8 hours per day, 5 days per week. At the project location, the freshwater in-water work window is July 16–August 15 and the marine in-water work window is July 16–January 15. However, with the exception of very limited in-water work, these dates are non-binding since the vast majority of construction work would be land-based with minimal or no impacts on marine mammals.

Dates and Duration

The proposed regulations would be valid for a period of 5 years from July 30, 2026 through July 29, 2031. In the Puget Sound region, wet weather begins about mid-October and continues until about May, although rainy periods could occur at any time of the year. The USACE would attempt to schedule earthwork construction during the drier months of June through September. During wet weather months, the groundwater levels could increase, resulting in seepage into site excavations. Placing and compacting fill may not be practicable during wet weather.

Specific Geographic Region

The Duckabush River exists within a single channel encompassing a 76-square-mile (196.84 square kilometer) watershed near Brinnon, WA. The Duckabush River Estuary is a tidally influenced river delta that opens into Hood Canal on the south side of the Black Point Peninsula at approximately Mile 310 of Highway 101. The estuary consists of approximately 38 acres of salt marshes, eelgrass beds, and extensive mud and gravel flats that support productive shellfish beds. The project area is mostly undeveloped with single-family homes and forested habitat comprising boundaries to the north, south, and west while the Duckabush Estuary and Hood Canal form the eastern border.

The historical processes and functions of the Duckabush Estuary site differ from current conditions. By the early 1900s, road and bridge construction bisected the estuary. Washington State replaced these early roadways in 1934 with two bridges over the Duckabush River and Duckabush Slough as part of Highway 101. This highway cuts across the intertidal river delta and estuary wetland complex, spanning the main channel and a former distributary channel. The Highway 101 bridges disrupt tidal circulation and impede fish access to productive salt marsh and slough habitats. These hydrologic constrictions, along with fill within the estuary, caused decline in mudflats and salt marshes.

Detailed Description of the Specified Activity

A new Highway 101 crossing of the Duckabush Estuary, known as the Highway 101 Bridge, would consist of an eight-span bridge, 1,613 feet (491.64 meters (m)) long and 34 feet (10.36 m) wide. Span lengths would range from about 175 feet (53.34 m) to 228 feet (69.49 m). The bridge would be supported by nine piers and founded on drilled shaft foundations. On the Highway 101 Bridge, construction crews would first erect temporary work platforms so that all subsequent work will be isolated from the estuary surface. The construction of the new Petitjean Creek Bridge and realignments of Duckabush Road and Highway 101 bridge approaches would also occur during this timeframe. Work within the current Highway 101 footprint would only occur after the new bridge is open to traffic. The construction of the Highway 101 bridge may take up to 600 workdays to complete over the course of 27 months. The bridge would be built out of alignment with the current Highway 101, so any substructures and superstructures would be built simultaneously. Construction would progress from south to north. Construction of each section would begin with installing piers and their related superstructure components. This portion of construction would take 150 days to complete across the duration of the project. Piers would be installed into the ground by oscillators, vibratory hammers, augers, cranes, concrete mixing and pump trucks, and drill rigs.

A new bridge (Petitjean Creek Bridge) would be constructed. Since it falls within the current Highway 101 footprint, crews must take measures during construction to minimize the impacts on traffic. To accommodate through traffic during construction, crews would temporarily widen the road by about 5 feet (1.52 m). Bridge construction would occur in two phases. The first phase would consist of building the substructure and installing piers. In the second phase, crews would build the superstructure, including the girders, traffic barriers, and road surface. Pier installations for the Petitjean Creek Bridge would follow the same protocol as described previously for construction of the Highway 101 Bridge.

The realignment of Highway 101 bridge approaches and Duckabush Road would require subgrade improvement, likely involving the installation of aggregate piers. Construction of these piers may require an auger to dig a pilot hole, filling the pier location with crushed stone, and compacting this fill with a vibratory hammer. After aggregate pier installations, standard road grading and surfacing would occur using front-end loaders, graders, pavers, and vibratory rollers.

The existing Highway 101 causeway would be demolished by a dozer or excavator with excavated material loaded on to dump trucks for off-site removal. The finished causeway demolition cross section would excavate 24 inches below the finished grade and replace this material with excavated channel material. The USACE would lower the causeway to the 8- to 9-foot (2.44 to 2.74 m) elevation range, which is within the normal high tide line and Mean Higher High Water (MHHW). The training berms upstream of the south bridge would be removed to an elevation of 10 feet (3.05 m). This would allow the Duckabush River to flow into that area.

The demolition of existing Highway 101 bridges would occur after the new bridge is fully operational as not to disrupt through traffic. Following construction sequencing, the north bridge would be demolished before the south bridge. For each bridge, the bridge decks would be removed first, followed by piles and foundations. Work would access from both sides of the bridges, using cranes, excavators, and concrete cutting tools. Vibratory hammers may be used to remove embedded piers during north bridge demolition. Some of these piers are located within the wetted river channel up to 10 feet (3.05 m) below the high tide line.

Wood piles removal typically uses a metal chain wrapped around the pile to pull it up and out with a crane or excavator. If piles cannot be removed in this manner, piles may be left intact 2–3 feet (0.61–0.91 m) below the streambed. If this is the case, divers with pneumatic chainsaws would cut the pile tops off at the appropriate level.

The USACE would need to excavate six channels under or near the new Highway 101 bridge to reconnect river delta distributary channels that were disconnected by the old Highway 101 causeway. Channels would be excavated from temporary work platforms when possible. Construction will utilize swamp mats and low-pressure equipment when working from the platforms is not feasible. The existing WDFW parking lot located southwest of the new bridge would be enlarged and raised by 3 ft (.091 m) and two new pedestrian paths would also be built. Visual disturbance of seals from these areas is unlikely as these items are located west of Highway 101. Therefore, the newly constructed causeway and bridge span would interfere with any direct sight lines to the seal haulout areas. The USACE would install large wood structures, known as engineered logjams, placed along restored banks to provide near-term bank stability as the river re-establishes flow connections to restored channels and vegetation becomes re-established on banks. For engineered logjams, construction teams would augur four pilot holes for vertical anchor piles. They would then place piles using a crane and then embed to the final depth using an impact hammer, if necessary. These structures are unlikely to result in visual disturbance of seals since they are also located west of the new causeway and bridge span.

Proposed mitigation, monitoring, and reporting measures are described in detail later in this document (please see Proposed Mitigation and Proposed Monitoring and Reporting).

Description of Marine Mammals in the Area of Specified Activities

Sections 3 and 4 of the application summarize available information regarding status and trends, distribution and habitat preferences, and behavior and life history of the potentially affected species. NMFS fully considered all of this information, and we refer the reader to these descriptions, instead of reprinting the information. Additional information regarding population trends and threats may be found in NMFS' Stock Assessment Reports (SARs; https://www.fisheries.noaa.gov/national/marine-mammal-protection/marine-mammal-stock-assessments) and more general information about these species (e.g., physical and behavioral descriptions) may be found on NMFS' website (https://www.fisheries.noaa.gov/find-species).

Table 1 lists all species or stocks for which take is expected and proposed to be authorized for this activity and summarizes information related to the population or stock, including regulatory status under the MMPA and Endangered Species Act (ESA) and potential biological removal (PBR), where known. PBR is defined by the MMPA as the maximum number of animals, not including natural mortalities, that may be removed from a marine mammal stock while allowing that stock to reach or maintain its optimum sustainable population (as described in NMFS' SARs). While no serious injury or mortality is anticipated or proposed to be authorized here, PBR and annual serious injury and mortality (M/SI) from anthropogenic sources are included here as gross indicators of the status of the species or stocks and other threats.

Marine mammal abundance estimates presented in this document represent the total number of individuals that make up a given stock or the total number estimated within a particular study or survey area. NMFS' stock abundance estimates for most species represent the total estimate of individuals within the geographic area, if known, that comprises that stock. For some species, this geographic area may extend beyond U.S. waters. All managed stocks in this region are assessed in NMFS' U.S. Pacific Marine Mammal SARs (Carretta et al. 2024). All values presented in table 1 are the most recent available at the time of publication (available online at: https://www.fisheries.noaa.gov/national/marine-mammal-protection/marine-mammal-stock-assessments).

TABLE 1—MARINE MAMMAL SPECIES [1] LIKELY TO OCCUR NEAR THE PROJECT AREA THAT MAY BE TAKEN BY USACE'S ACTIVITIES.

[2] ESA status: Endangered (E), Threatened (T)/MMPA status: Depleted (D). A dash (-) indicates that the species is not listed under the ESA or designated as depleted under the MMPA. Under the MMPA, a strategic stock is one for which the level of direct human-caused mortality exceeds PBR or which is determined to be declining and likely to be listed under the ESA within the foreseeable future. Any species or stock listed under the ESA is automatically designated under the MMPA as depleted and as a strategic stock.

[3] NMFS marine mammal SARs online at: https://www.fisheries.noaa.gov/national/marine-mammal-protection/marine-mammal-stock-assessment-reports-region. CV is coefficient of variation; N_{min} is the minimum estimate of stock abundance.

[4] These values, found in NMFS's SARs, represent annual levels of human-caused mortality plus serious injury from all sources combined (e.g., commercial fisheries, ship strike). Annual M/SI often cannot be determined precisely and is in some cases presented as a minimum value or range.

[5] These values were presented in the 2023 Draft Marine Mammal SAR. However, the draft 2023 SAR for the Washington Inland Waters harbor seal stocks, including the Hood Canal stock was not finalized as part of the 2023 Final SAR (89 FR 104989, December 26, 2024) given that the Pearson et al. (2024) estimates of abundance and trends remain unpublished at the time of publication. This SAR will be revised in a subsequent cycle when the abundance estimates for these stocks are published. However, this remains the best available information for use in evaluating effects to this stock of harbor seals.

As indicated above in table 1, a single species (with one managed stock) temporally and spatially co-occurs with the activity to the degree that take is reasonably likely to occur. All species that could potentially occur in the proposed restoration and construction areas are included in table 4 of the IHA application. Harbor porpoise (Phocoena phocoena), Dall's porpoise (Phocoenoides dalli dalli), and transient killer whale (Orcinus orca) would not be affected by the proposed activities since there would be no impact to these marine mammals occurring in the marine waters of Hood Canal. California sea lion (Zalophus califiornianus) and Steller sea lion (Eumetopias jubatus), have been documented in Hood Canal, but are not expected to use any of the estuarine or upland haulout areas; therefore, these species are not expected to be affected by the proposed activities.

Harbor Seal

Harbor seals are the most common, widely distributed marine mammal found in Washington marine waters and are frequently observed in the nearshore marine environment. They occur year-round and breed in Washington. Numerous harbor seal haulouts occur in Washington inland waters and frequently occupy bays, estuaries, and inlets (Baird, 2001). Ideal harbor seal habitat includes haulout sites, shelter during the breeding periods, sufficient food, and harbor seals have displayed strong fidelity to haulout sites.

Harbor seals are the only resident marine mammal species in Hood Canal and utilize the Duckabush River estuary as one of the primary haulout sites in the Canal (London et al. 2012, Jeffries et al. 2000). Harbor seals typically haul out along the river channels and sloughs at the Duckabush River estuary. Harbor seal counts peak at the Duckabush River during the primary pupping season (August-October) and molting season (September-November) with seals spending more time in the water during colder winter and spring months (Jeffries et al. 2003, Jeffries et al. 2000). WDFW conducts regular aerial surveys of hauled-out harbor seals in Hood Canal, typically restricting monitoring to the peak of the pupping period and the window 2 hours before and after high tides to maximize the number of individuals observed on land.

The Hood Canal stock of harbor seals exhibit different haul out behaviors and timing of pupping and molting seasons compared to coastal and other Washington Inland Waters stocks as Hood Canal seals typically haul out during low tide when more beach or substrate area is exposed (Carretta et al. 2022). Hood Canal seals haul out at high tide along river channels and sloughs because those areas are not as accessible during low tides (London et al. 2012). Hood Canal has five main harbor seal haulout sites including the Duckabush River estuary (Jeffries et al. 2000, London et al. 2012). The population of the Hood Canal stock of harbor seals has been relatively stable for the over the past three decades (Pearson et al. 2024).

Potential Effects of Specified Activities on Marine Mammals and Their Habitat

This section provides a discussion of the ways in which components of the specified activity may impact marine mammals and their habitat. The Estimated Take of Marine Mammals section later in this document includes a quantitative analysis of the number of individuals that are expected to be taken by this activity. The Negligible Impact Analysis and Determination section considers the content of this section, the Estimated Take of Marine Mammals section, and the Proposed Mitigation section, to draw conclusions regarding the likely impacts of these activities on the reproductive success or survivorship of individuals and whether those impacts are reasonably expected to, or reasonably likely to, adversely affect the species or stock through effects on annual rates of recruitment or survival.

Visual and acoustic stimuli generated by the presence and operation of assorted DERP construction equipment (e.g., auger, chainsaw, crane, impact pile driver, vibratory pile driver, concrete saw, dump truck, excavator, etc.), as well as the presence of personnel, has the potential to cause Level B harassment of pinnipeds in the DERP project area where harbor seal haulout sites have been identified (see figure 1). This section includes a summary and discussion of the ways that the types of stressors associated with the specified activity (e.g., construction) have been observed to impact marine mammals. This discussion may also include reactions that we consider to rise to the level of a take and those that we do not consider to rise to the level of a take. This section provides background information on potential effects of these activities. For a discussion of the manner in which the mitigation measures will be implemented, and how the mitigation measures will shape the anticipated impacts from this specific activity, see the Proposed Mitigation section below.

Disturbance may result in reactions ranging from an animal simply becoming alert to the presence of machinery (e.g., turning the head, assuming a more upright posture) to flushing from the haulout site into the water. NMFS does not consider the lesser reactions to constitute behavioral harassment, or Level B harassment takes, but rather assumes that pinnipeds that flee some distance or change the speed or direction of their movement in response to the presence of researchers are behaviorally harassed. Animals that respond to stimuli associated with the specified activity by becoming alert, but do not move or change the nature of locomotion as described, are not considered to have been subject to behavioral harassment.

Visual disturbance has the potential to directly affect harbor seals that haul out or otherwise utilize the environment near the project area. It is possible that seals flushed from haulout sites at Duckabush will move to other nearby haulout sites in Hood Canal, the closest of which are Dosewallips (3.5 miles (5.63 km) northeast), Quilcene Bay 7 miles (11.26 km) northeast), and Hamma Hamma (8.5 miles (13.68 km) southwest). Alternatively, harbor seals may also habituate to consistently elevated sound levels or visual disturbances and flush from haulout sites less often due to in-air noise disturbances (Bankhead et al. 2023).

There are few studies that have examined the influence of visual disturbance on the haulout behavior of harbor seals and we are aware of none that specifically investigate impacts from land-based construction operations. Reactions to visual disturbance, if any, have been documented and are dependent on species, state of maturity, experience, current activity, reproductive state, time of day, and many other factors (Richardson et al., 1995; Southall et al., 2007; Weilgart 2007). These behavioral reactions from marine mammals are often shown as: Changing durations of surfacing and dives, number of blows per surfacing, or moving direction and/or speed; reduced/increased vocal activities; changing/cessation of certain behavioral activities (such as socializing or feeding); visible startle responses or aggressive behavior; avoidance of areas; and/or flight responses (e.g., pinnipeds flushing into the water from haulouts or rookeries). If a marine mammal does react briefly to a disturbance by changing its behavior or moving a small distance, the impacts of the change are unlikely to be significant to the individual, let alone the stock or population. However, if visual stimuli displaces marine mammals from an important feeding or breeding area for a prolonged period, impacts on individuals and populations could be significant (e.g., Lusseau and Bejder 2007; Weilgart, 2007). Numerous studies have shown that human activity can flush harbor seals off haulout sites (Calambokidis et al., 1991; Suryan and Harvey, 1999). The Hawaiian monk seal (Neomonachus schauinslandi) has been shown to avoid beaches that have been disturbed often by humans (Kenyon 1972). In one case, human disturbance appeared to cause Steller sea lions to desert a breeding area at Northeast Point on St. Paul Island, Alaska (Kenyon 1962).

Scientists have documented that pinnipeds exhibit altered behavior such as increased swimming speed, erratic movement, and active avoidance behavior (Acevedo, 1991; Trites and Bain, 2000), disruption of normal social behaviors (Lusseau 2003; 2006), and the shift of behavioral activities that may increase energetic costs (Constantine et al., 2003).

Henry and Hammil (2001) conducted a study to measure the impacts of small boats (i.e., kayaks, canoes, motorboats and sailboats) on harbor seal haulout behavior in Metis Bay, Quebec, Canada. During that study, the authors noted that the most frequent disturbances (n=73) were caused by lower speed, lingering kayaks, and canoes (33.3 percent) as opposed to motorboats (27.8 percent) conducting high-speed passes. The seals' flight reactions could be linked to a surprise factor by kayaks and canoes, which approach slowly, quietly, and low on the water making them look like predators. However, the authors note that, once the animals were disturbed, there did not appear to be any significant lingering effect on the recovery of numbers to their pre-disturbance levels. In conclusion, the study showed that boat traffic at current levels had only a temporary effect on the haul out behavior of harbor seals in the Metis Bay area.

In 2004, Acevedo-Gutierrez and Johnson (2007) evaluated the efficacy of buffer zones for watercraft around harbor seal haulout sites on Yellow Island, Washington. The authors estimated the minimum distance between the vessels and the haulout sites; categorized the vessel types; and evaluated seal responses to the disturbances. During the course of the 7-weekend study, the authors recorded 14 human-related disturbances that were associated with stopped powerboats and kayaks. During these events, hauled out seals became noticeably active and moved into the water. The flushing occurred when stopped kayaks and powerboats were at distances as far as 453 and 1,217 ft (138 and 371 m) away, respectively. The authors note that the seals were unaffected by passing powerboats, even those approaching as close as 128 ft (39 m), possibly indicating that the animals had become tolerant of the brief presence of the vessels and ignored them. The authors reported that, on average, the seals quickly recovered from the disturbances and returned to the haulout site in less than or equal to 60 minutes. Seal numbers did not return to pre-disturbance levels within 180 minutes of the disturbance less than one quarter of the time observed. The study concluded that the return of seal numbers to pre-disturbance levels and the relatively regular seasonal cycle in abundance throughout the area counter the idea that disturbances from powerboats may result in site abandonment (Johnson and Acevedo-Gutierrez, 2007).

There are other ways in which disturbance, as described previously, could result in more than Level B harassment of marine mammals. They are most likely to be consequences of stampeding, a potentially dangerous occurrence in which large numbers of animals succumb to mass panic and rush away from a stimulus. These situations are: (1) Falling when entering the water at high-relief locations; (2) extended separation of mothers and pups; and (3) crushing of pups by larger animals during a stampede. However, NMFS does not expect any of these scenarios to occur at the project area since (1) there are no high exposure topographical conditions that could result in significant falls; (2) mother pup separation is not expected (see below); and (3) there are no larger pinniped species present that could injure or kill pups in a stampede.

While pups are able to identify and follow their mothers in the water (Stein 1989), they are more likely to become separated and possibly stranded after flushing events (Thiéry and Kiszka 2005, Osinga et al. 2012). However, mother-pup separation from construction noise related flushing has been presumed to be unlikely (CDFW 2021). It is more likely that flushed mother-pup pairs will remain together but not return to their original haulout site and will instead seek out a different undisturbed site (Jansen et al. 2014, Suryan and Harvey 1999, Ruiz-Mar et al. 2022).

The effects of repeated disturbance may differ for non-pup and non-mother seals. Harbor seals typically demonstrate haulout site fidelity (Yochem et al. 1987, Paterson et al. 2019). Most seals utilize one primary haulout site and while they may spend several hours in the water after flushing, they will tend to haul out again at that same site. This may result in loss of fitness and increased predation risk for seals returning to Duckabush estuary throughout the construction period as they could be subject to disturbances whenever work is occurring. However, there is evidence that harbor seals that regularly haul out at locations with high anthropogenic activity and elevated in-air noise will habituate to those disturbances (Bankhead et al. 2023). Although it is unclear how long this habituation takes, seals that regularly haul out at Duckabush River estuary may become accustomed to the regular in-air construction noise and flush less frequently as construction progresses.

Furthermore, there would be no risk of vessel strike of pinnipeds since no boats are used during construction. Given the nature of the proposed activities (i.e. construction activities at a distance) in conjunction with proposed mitigation measures, NMFS is confident that any anticipated effects would be in the form of behavioral disturbance only. NMFS considers the risk of injury, serious injury, or mortality to marine mammals to be very low.

There are minor negative impacts to habitat associated with the proposed activity. There may be a slight increase in turbidity during a limited number of construction activities. However, nearly all construction operations would be land-based, with no impact on turbidity. Furthermore, work crews would minimize these effects through various methods, including performing work at low tide when possible, and installing silt fences and floating booms around any in-water work.

The proposed project would restore several ecological processes, including sediment transport, freshwater input, and tidal exchange. An increase in suitable haulout locations would be likely due to marsh accretion and channel migration. Restoration of the estuary would benefit habitat for fish species which serve as prey species for harbor seals. Elevating and setting back Highway 101 farther away from haulout sites will decrease the amount of anthropogenic noise and visual disturbance experienced by harbor seals. Given this information, NMFS does not expect that the proposed activity would have any negative effects on marine mammal habitat or prey species at the Duckabush River estuary and that there would be a long-term positive benefit.

Estimated Take of Marine Mammals

This section provides an estimate of the number of incidental takes proposed for authorization through the LOA, which will inform NMFS' consideration of ''small numbers,'' the negligible impact determinations, and impacts on subsistence uses.

Harassment is the only type of take expected to result from these activities. Except with respect to certain activities not pertinent here, section 3(18) of the MMPA (16 U.S.C. 1362(18) defines ''harassment'' as any act of pursuit, torment, or annoyance, which (i) has the potential to injure a marine mammal or marine mammal stock in the wild (Level A harassment); or (ii) has the potential to disturb a marine mammal or marine mammal stock in the wild by causing disruption of behavioral patterns, including, but not limited to, migration, breathing, nursing, breeding, feeding, or sheltering (Level B harassment).

Authorized takes would be by Level B harassment only, in the form of behavioral reactions for individual marine mammals resulting from exposure to visual or acoustic disturbance associated with various construction equipment and personnel or protected species observers (PSOs). Based on the nature of the activity, Level A harassment is neither anticipated nor proposed to be authorized.

As described previously, no serious injury or mortality is anticipated or proposed to be authorized for this activity. Below we describe how the proposed take numbers are estimated.

Acoustic Impacts

There is very limited potential for impacts from underwater noise to result in harassment of pinnipeds. As noted previously, nearly all construction would be land-based. Pile driving within a wetted channel is only planned at a single location among the river channels and other permanently inundated areas in the project area. A vibratory driver would be used to remove bridge piers within the wetted river channel during the demolition of the existing north Highway 101 bridge (see figure 12 in the USACE's application). The USACE, in consultation with NMFS, concluded that the meandering path of the river at this location would adequately prevent direct propagation of underwater noise to the nearest haulout site and, while it is possible that underwater noise from pile-driving could potentially result in take, it is not considered likely and would be adequately addressed through our consideration of the effects of other, more likely causes of disturbance to seals.

All other vibratory and impact pile driving would occur on solid ground and will either occur during low tide or will be isolated from water using the existing Highway 101 causeway, cofferdams, or aquadams, thereby dampening propagation of sound through the substrate. For in-air sounds, NMFS has established a threshold of received levels above 90 dB re 20 µPa (rms) that could result in behavioral harassment (Level B harassment) of harbor seals. The actual measured in-air Lmax (dBA) at 50 feet (15.24 m) for vibratory and impact pile drivers is 101 dB (FHWA 2017). Noise attenuates as the distance from the source of the noise increases. A general equation shows noise propagation loss as 7.5 dB for each doubling of distance in areas where landscape features and vegetation exist (WSDOT 2020). Additionally, the following equation can be used to determine construction noise levels at a specific distance from the source (WSDOT 2020):

Lmax = the Construction Lmax at 50 feet (15.24 m)—25 * Log(D/Do). In this equation, Lmax = the highest A-weighted sound level occurring during a noise event during the time that noise is being measured; 50 feet (15.24 m) = the reference measurement distance; and D = the distance from the noise source.

Do = the reference measurement distance (50 feet (15.24 m) in this case). Using this equation, a 101 dB vibratory or impact pile driver will attenuate to 90 dB after 54 m (177 ft). The nearest vibratory pile driving site in the project area is about 265 m (870 ft) from known harbor seal haulout sites at the Duckabush River estuary. Therefore, Level B harassment from airborne noise could only occur if a seal left their haulout site and proceeded to within 54 m (177 ft) of an active pile driving site.

Marine Mammal Occurrence

In this section we provide information about the occurrence of marine mammals, including abundance or other relevant information which will inform the take calculations.

WDFW conducts regular aerial surveys of hauled out harbor seals in the Hood Canal, typically restricting monitoring to the peak of the pupping period and the window two hours before and after high tides to maximize the number of individuals on land. The USACE utilized unpublished WDFW data from 2021–2023 (USACE, 2024) as well as aerial survey information of hauled out harbor seals at Duckabush River in 2013 and 2014 (Jeffries et al.

2014) to estimate harbor seal abundance. Table 2 summarizes the results from both surveys.

From 2021–2023, an average of 86 seals hauled out at the Duckabush River estuary during the pupping season, with a maximum daily count of 130 seals. Harbor seal counts during the molting season peaked at 23 per day although data during this period is limited. Available count data outside of the critical life history periods of pupping and molting season is also limited but indicated scarce usage of Duckabush River estuary haulout sites during the daytime for this period.

Take Estimation

Here, we describe how the information provided above is synthesized to produce a quantitative estimate of the take that is reasonably likely to occur and proposed for authorization.

Since there is no previous data on how harbor seals react to construction activities at the Duckabush River estuary, take rates from an analogous project were utilized to estimate take. The Elkhorn Slough Tidal Marsh Restoration Project in Monterey County, California is a similar wetland restoration project involving land-based construction near harbor seal haulout sites (CDFW 2021). NMFS has issued IHAs for all three phases of this project, all authorizing take by Level B harassment of harbor seals resulting from similar disturbances as considered here, including the use of haul trucks, dozers, backhoes, loaders, and excavators. The objective of both projects is to restore tidal marshes that have been altered by past land use practices. The Elkhorn Slough project is in the process of restoring 147 wetland acres while the DMMP project would restore 38 acres. Impacts from both projects include the potential for Level B harassment of harbor seals by visual disturbance and in-air noise.

Due to the limited harbor seal survey data at the Duckabush River estuary, a basic model was used to estimate seal counts throughout the year. Using the survey data from table 3, it was assumed that there is an increase or decrease in the number of seals, as defined by use of a linear function (instead of a block function). This means that every day of the year has a unique number of seals based on a linear relationship between a specific date on which a certain number of seals were actually recorded and the next specific date on which seals were recorded. For example, in table 2, there were 99 total seals (pups and adults) recorded on August 27, while 130 total seals were recorded on September 21. Using a linear relationship, it was assumed that 100.24 seals were observed on August 28 (one day after the date of recording—August 27 with 99 seals) observation, while 128.76 seals were observed on September 20 (one day before the next actual date of recording—September 20 with 130 seals). This methodology allows each day of the year to have a unique number of assumed seals present. The USACE developed a detailed project schedule which identified the number of workdays expected to occur for each year of the proposed authorization, ranging from a minimum of 111 days in 2026 to a maximum of 262 days in 2029. The USACE further identified the specific dates of each year that work is planned. The sum of the number of observed seals associated with each specified work date was then calculated for each year of the proposed authorization.

Monitoring reports from the Elkhorn Slough Tidal Marsh Restoration Project showed that nine percent of harbor seals present were recorded as takes in Phase I of the Elkhorn Slough Tidal Marsh Restoration Project while 0.7 percent were recorded as takes in Phase II. Monitoring data from Phase III of the project is not available, so the conservative assumption of nine percent take rate will be used to estimate realized take in this proposed rule. The sum of the number of assumed seals present calculated for each year, as described previously, was then multiplied by nine percent to provide the calculated annual take estimates shown in table 3.

TABLE 3—PROPOSED TAKES BY LEVEL B HARASSMENT ANNUALLY

Year	NMFS stock abundance	Predicted work dates	Predicted work days	Estimated total seals exposed	Estimated take by Level B harassment	Take % of stock
2026	3,363	July 30–December 31	111	4,883	440	13.1
2027		January 1–December 31	261	5,331	480	14.3
2028		January 1–December 31	260	5,310	478	14.2
2029		January 1–November 7	262	5,090	458	13.6

To inform both the negligible impact analysis and the small numbers determination, NMFS assesses the maximum number of takes of marine mammals that could occur within any given year during the effective LOA period. In this calculation, the maximum estimated number of Level B harassment takes in any one year (480 in 2027) is used to yield the highest number of estimated take that could occur in any year (table 3). Table 3 also depicts the number of takes requested by the USACE and proposed by NMFS relative to the abundance of the Hood Canal stock.

Proposed Mitigation

In order to issue an LOA under section 101(a)(5)(A) of the MMPA, NMFS must set forth the permissible methods of taking pursuant to the activity, and other means of effecting the least practicable adverse impact on the species or stock and its habitat, paying particular attention to rookeries, mating grounds, and areas of similar significance, and on the availability of the species or stock for taking for certain subsistence uses (latter not applicable for this action). NMFS regulations require applicants for incidental take authorizations to include information about the availability and feasibility (economic and technological) of equipment, methods, and manner of conducting the activity or other means of effecting the least practicable adverse impact upon the affected species or stocks, and their habitat (50 CFR 216.104(a)(11)).

In evaluating how mitigation may or may not be appropriate to ensure the least practicable adverse impact on species or stocks and their habitat, as well as subsistence uses where applicable, NMFS considers two primary factors:

(1) The manner in which, and the degree to which, the successful implementation of the measure(s) is expected to reduce impacts to marine mammals, marine mammal species or stocks, and their habitat. This considers the nature of the potential adverse impact being mitigated (likelihood, scope, range). It further considers the likelihood that the measure will be effective if implemented (probability of accomplishing the mitigating result if implemented as planned), the likelihood of effective implementation (probability implemented as planned), and;

(2) The practicability of the measures for applicant implementation, which may consider such things as cost and impact on operations.

The mitigation measures described in the following sections would apply to the USACE construction activities.

The USACE shall conduct training between supervisors and crews, the PSO team, and relevant USACE staff prior to the start of DERP construction so that responsibilities, communication procedures, monitoring protocols, and operational procedures are clearly understood. If new construction personnel are added to the project, the contractor shall ensure that the personnel receive the mandatory training before starting work.

Visual Monitoring

Required monitoring must be conducted by dedicated, trained, NMFS-approved PSO(s). PSOs shall establish and monitor a 300-meter zone around all construction activities. A PSO will be present every day when construction activities occur in or near the DERP area. A 30-minute pre-clearance observation period will occur prior to the start of construction activities. Construction may not start until the work area is cleared by the PSOs. Monitoring will occur until 30 minutes after construction is complete. One or more PSOs will be stationed at location(s) offering the best view of four haulout sites and the project area as described in the USACE's marine mammal monitoring plan (MMMP).

If environmental conditions deteriorate such that marine mammals within the entire shutdown zone (10 m) would not be visible (e.g., fog, heavy rain), construction must be delayed until the PSO is confident marine mammals within the shutdown zone could be detected.

Pre-Construction Clearance and Ramp-Up

A 30-minute pre-clearance observation period must occur prior to the start of ramp-up and construction activities. The USACE must adhere to the following pre-clearance and ramp-up requirements: (i) Construction activities must not be initiated if any marine mammal is within 10 m of planned operations. If a marine mammal is observed within 10 m of planned operations during the 30-minute pre-clearance period, ramp-up must not begin until the animal(s) has been observed exiting the zones or until an additional time period has elapsed with no further sightings (ii) Construction activities may not be initiated within 100 meters of a mother-pup pair in the water.

To reduce the risk of potentially startling marine mammals with a sudden intensive sound, the contractor will ramp-up construction activities gradually each day by moving around the project area and starting equipment one at a time.

Shutdown Requirements

For heavy machinery work, if a marine mammal comes within 10 meters of such operations, operations must cease work or will not be initiated until the marine mammal has moved outside the 10-meter buffer. During pupping season (August 1-October 31) construction activities may not be initiated: (1) Within 300 meters of a mom/pup pair that is hauled out, or (2) within 100 meters of a mom/pup pair in the water. If a pup less than 1 week old (neonate) comes within 20 meters of where heavy machinery is working, construction activities in that area must be shutdown or delayed until the pup has left the area.

Activities must cease if a marine mammal species for which take was not authorized, or a species for which authorization was granted but the authorized number of takes have been met, is observed by PSOs approaching or within the Level B harassment zone. Activities must not resume until the animal is confirmed to have left the area.

Based on our evaluation of the applicant's proposed measures, NMFS has preliminarily determined that the proposed mitigation measures provide the means of effecting the least practicable adverse impact on the affected species or stocks and their habitat, paying particular attention to rookeries, mating grounds, and areas of similar significance.

Proposed Monitoring and Reporting

In order to issue an LOA for an activity, section 101(a)(5)(A) of the MMPA states that NMFS must set forth requirements pertaining to the monitoring and reporting of such taking. The MMPA implementing regulations at 50 CFR 216.104(a)(13) require that requests for authorizations include the suggested means of accomplishing the necessary monitoring and reporting that will result in increased knowledge of the species and of the level of taking or impacts on populations of marine mammals that are expected to be present while conducting the activities. Effective reporting is critical both to compliance as well as ensuring that the most value is obtained from the required monitoring.

Monitoring and reporting requirements prescribed by NMFS should contribute to improved understanding of one or more of the following:

- Occurrence of marine mammal species or stocks in the area in which take is anticipated (e.g., presence, abundance, distribution, density);
- Nature, scope, or context of likely marine mammal exposure to potential stressors/impacts (individual or cumulative, acute or chronic), through better understanding of: (1) action or environment (e.g., source characterization, propagation, ambient noise); (2) affected species (e.g., life history, dive patterns); (3) co-occurrence of marine mammal species with the activity; or (4) biological or behavioral context of exposure (e.g., age, calving or feeding areas);
- Individual marine mammal responses (behavioral or physiological) to acoustic stressors (acute, chronic, or cumulative), other stressors, or cumulative impacts from multiple stressors;
- How anticipated responses to stressors impact either: (1) long-term fitness and survival of individual marine mammals; or (2) populations, species, or stocks;
- Effects on marine mammal habitat (e.g., marine mammal prey species, acoustic habitat, or other important physical components of marine mammal habitat); and,
- Mitigation and monitoring effectiveness.

Visual Monitoring

PSO monitoring during construction will occur from vantage points along the current Highway 101 elevated causeway that allow monitors to observe any seals hauling out in the estuary as shown in the Marine Mammal Monitoring Plan. The primary observation locations shall be on the northern Highway 101 bridge and at the head of the existing estuary access path that will become the temporary parking platform. Monitors may also traverse along the Highway 101 causeway to obtain clearer views of approaching or hauled-out seals, such as from the southern Highway 101 bridge or North Parking Area. The observation area for the restoration area shall be accessed by foot and used to provide a vantage point of the construction area and Duckabush River estuary. This observation area includes all restoration areas within 300 meters of harbor seal haulout sites.

Marine mammal monitoring during construction activities must be conducted by qualified, NMFS approved PSOs, in accordance with the following:

- PSOs must be independent of the activity contractor (for example, employed by a subcontractor) and have no other assigned tasks during monitoring periods.
- At least one PSO must have prior experience performing the duties of a PSO during construction activity pursuant to a NMFS-issued incidental take authorization.
- Other PSOs may substitute other relevant experience, education (degree in biological science or related field), or training for prior experience performing the duties of a PSO during construction activity pursuant to a NMFS-issued incidental take authorization.
- PSOs must be approved by NMFS prior to beginning any activity subject to this proposed rule.

PSOs should have the following additional qualifications:

- Ability to conduct field observations and collect data according to assigned protocols;
- Experience or training in the field identification of marine mammals, including the identification of behaviors;
- Sufficient training, orientation, or experience with the construction operation to provide for personal safety during observations;
- Writing skills sufficient to prepare a report of observations including but not limited to: (1) the number and species of marine mammals observed; (2) dates and times when in-water construction activities were conducted; (3) dates, times, and reason for implementation of mitigation (or why mitigation was not implemented when required); and (4) marine mammal behavior; and
- Ability to communicate orally, by radio or in person, with project personnel to provide real-time information on marine mammals observed in the area as necessary.

Pre- and Post-Construction Daily Censuses

A census of marine mammals in the project area and the area surrounding the project will be conducted 30 minutes prior to the beginning of construction on monitoring days, and again 30 minutes after the completion of construction activities. Data collected during the pre-and post-construction daily censuses will include:

- Environmental conditions (weather condition, tidal conditions, visibility, cloud cover, air temperature and wind speed);
- Numbers of each marine mammal species spotted;
- Location of each species spotted, including distance from construction activity;
- Status (in water or hauled-out); and
- Behavior.

Hourly Counts

The USACE will conduct hourly counts of animals hauled out and in the water. Data collected will include:

- Numbers of each species;
- Location of species, whether hauled out or in the water; and distance from construction activities;
- Time;
- Tidal conditions;
- Time construction activities start and end;
- Primary construction activities occurring during past hour;
- Any noise or visual disturbance;
- Number of mom/pup pairs and neonates observed;
- Notable behaviors, including foraging, grooming, resting, aggression, mating activity, and others;

PSOs will take notes including any of the following information to the extent it is feasible to record:

- Age-class;
- Sex;
- Unusual activity or signs of stress; and
- Any other information worth noting

PSOs will record reaction observed in relation to construction activities including:

- Tally of each reaction;
- Time of reaction;
- Concurrent construction activity (including duration) and assumed cause (whether related to construction activities or not) and observer determination as to the source of disturbance, to the extent possible;
- Location of animal during initial reaction and distance from the noted disturbance;
- Direction of movement;
- Activity before and after disturbance;
- Status (in water or hauled out) before and after disturbance; and
- Coded reaction as shown in table 4.

Level	Type of response	Definition
1	Alert	Head orientation or brief movement in response to disturbance, which may include turning head towards the disturbance, craning head and neck or craning head and neck while holding the body rigid in a u-shaped position, changing from a lying to a sitting position, or brief movement of less than twice the animal's body length. Alerts would be recorded, but not counted as a 'take'.
2*	Movement	Movements away from the source of disturbance, ranging from short withdrawals at least twice the animal's body length to longer retreats, or if already moving a change of direction of greater than 90 degrees.
3*	Flush	All retreats (flushes) to the water.

*Only Levels 2 and 3 are considered take under the MMPA, whereas Level 1 is not.

Reporting

The USACE must submit a draft monitoring report to NMFS within 90 calendar days of the completion of each construction year. A draft comprehensive 5-year summary report must also be submitted to NMFS within 90 days of the end of the effective period of the LOA. The reports must detail the monitoring protocol and summarize the data recorded during monitoring. Final annual reports and the final comprehensive report must be prepared and submitted within 30 days following resolution of any NMFS comments on the draft report. If no comments are received from NMFS within 30 days of receipt of the draft report, the report must be considered final. If comments are received, a final report addressing NMFS comments must be submitted within 30 days after receipt of comments. The annual and final marine mammal monitoring reports would include an overall description of work completed, a narrative regarding marine mammal sightings, and associated PSO data sheets. Specifically, the report must include:

- Dates and times (begin and end) of all marine mammal monitoring;
- Construction activities occurring during each daily observation period
- PSO locations during marine mammal monitoring;
- Environmental conditions during monitoring periods (at beginning and end of PSO shift and whenever conditions change significantly), including Beaufort sea state and any other relevant weather conditions including cloud cover, fog, sun glare, and overall visibility to the horizon, and estimated observable distance;
- Upon observation of a marine mammal, the following information: (1) name of PSO who sighted the animal(s) and PSO location and activity at time of sighting; (2) time of sighting; (3) identification of the animal(s) (e.g., genus/species, lowest possible taxonomic level, or unidentified); (4) distance and bearing of each marine mammal observed relative to the pile being driven for each sighting (if pile driving was occurring at time of sighting); (5) estimated number of animals (min/max/best estimate); (6) estimated number of animals by cohort (e.g., adults, juveniles, neonates, group composition, etc.); (7) animal's closest point of approach; and (8) description of any marine mammal behavioral observations (e.g., observed behaviors such as feeding or traveling), including an assessment of behavioral responses thought to have resulted from the activity (e.g., no response or changes in behavioral state such as ceasing feeding, changing direction, flushing, or breaching);
- Number of marine mammals detected within the harassment zones; and
- Detailed information about any implementation of any mitigation triggered (e.g., shutdowns and delays), a description of specific actions that ensued, and resulting changes in behavior of the animal(s), if any.

Negligible Impact Analysis and Determination

NMFS has defined negligible impact as an impact resulting from the specified activity that cannot be reasonably expected to, and is not reasonably likely to, adversely affect the species or stock through effects on annual rates of recruitment or survival (50 CFR 216.103). A negligible impact finding is based on the lack of likely adverse effects on annual rates of recruitment or survival (i.e., population-level effects). An estimate of the number of takes alone is not enough information on which to base an impact determination. In addition to considering estimates of the number of marine mammals that might be ''taken'' through harassment, NMFS considers other factors, such as the likely nature of any impacts or responses (e.g., intensity, duration), the context of any impacts or responses (e.g., critical reproductive time or location, foraging impacts affecting energetics), as well as effects on habitat, and the likely effectiveness of the mitigation. We also assess the number, intensity, and context of estimated takes by evaluating this information relative to population status. Consistent with NMFS' implementing regulations (54 FR 40338, September 29, 1989), the impacts from other past and ongoing anthropogenic activities are incorporated into this analysis via their impacts on the baseline (e.g., as reflected in the regulatory status of the species, population size and growth rate where known, ongoing sources of human-caused mortality, or ambient noise levels).

The USACE has requested, and NMFS is proposing to authorize take, by Level B harassment, of harbor seals from the Washington Inland Hood Canal stock. No injuries or mortalities are anticipated to occur as a result of the DERP project and none are proposed to be authorized. Effects on individuals that are taken by Level B harassment, on the basis of reports in the literature, would likely be localized and limited to reactions such as alerts or movements away from the construction area, including flushing into the water. Most likely, individuals, if affected at all will simply move away from the visual or acoustic stimulus and be temporarily displaced from the areas.

Repeated exposures of individuals to relatively low levels of visual and sound disturbance outside of preferred habitat areas are unlikely to significantly disrupt critical behaviors or result in permanent abandonment of the haulout site. Even repeated Level B harassment of some small subset of the overall stock is unlikely to result in any significant realized decrease in viability for the affected individuals, and thus would not result in any adverse impact to the stock as a whole. Level B harassment will be reduced to the level of least practicable adverse impact through use of mitigation measures described herein. If visual disturbance and low-level sound produced by project activities is sufficiently disturbing, animals are likely to simply avoid the area while the activity is occurring.

No adverse effects to habitat or prey species are anticipated during or after construction has ended since almost the entirety of work would be land-based. There is other suitable habitat nearby where harbor seals could temporarily relocate. The restoration of the marsh habitat will have no adverse effect on marine mammal habitat, but possibly a long-term beneficial effect on habitat and harbor seals by improving ecological function of the slough, including increased prey availability, higher species diversity, larger fish, and improved habitat.

Harbor seals are not listed as threatened or endangered under the ESA and there are no known areas of biological importance in the project area. Furthermore, the population of the Hood Canal stock of harbor seals has been relatively stable over the past three decades (Pearson et al. 2024).

Taking into account the planned mitigation measures, effects to marine mammals are generally expected to be restricted to short-term changes in behavior or temporary displacement from haulout sites. There are other haulout areas for pinnipeds to temporarily relocate, and marine mammals are expected to return to the area shortly after activities cease.

In summary and as described above, the following factors primarily support our preliminary determination that the impacts resulting from this activity are not expected to adversely affect harbor seals (or any other species) through effects on annual rates of recruitment or survival:

- No serious injury, mortality or Level A harassment is anticipated or proposed to be authorized;
- Effects of the activities would be limited to localized behavioral changes and temporary displacement;
- Nominal adverse impacts to pinniped habitat are anticipated while improved ecological processes in the estuary would result in positive effects to habitat;
- No biologically important areas have been identified in the project area; and
- Mitigation measures are anticipated to be effective in minimizing the number and severity of takes by Level B harassment, which are expected to be localized.

Based on the analysis contained herein of the likely effects of the specified activity on marine mammals and their habitat, and taking into consideration the implementation of the proposed monitoring and mitigation measures, NMFS preliminarily finds that the total marine mammal take from the proposed activity will have a negligible impact on all affected marine mammal species or stocks.

Small Numbers

As noted previously, only take of small numbers of marine mammals may be authorized under sections 101(a)(5)(A) and (D) of the MMPA for specified activities other than military readiness activities. The MMPA does not define small numbers and so, in practice, where estimated numbers are available, NMFS compares the maximum number of individuals taken in any year to the most appropriate estimation of abundance of the relevant species or stock in our determination of whether an authorization is limited to small numbers of marine mammals. When the predicted maximum annual number of individuals to be taken is fewer than one-third of the species or stock abundance, the take is considered to be of small numbers. Additionally, other qualitative factors may be considered in the analysis, such as the temporal or spatial scale of the activities.

Table 3 demonstrates the maximum number of Level B harassment events per year. Our analysis shows that no more than 13.4 percent of harbor seals could be taken by Level B harassment. The numbers of animals proposed to be taken for these stocks would be considered small relative to the relevant stock's abundances, even if each estimated taking occurred to a new individual—an extremely unlikely scenario.

Based on the analysis contained herein of the proposed activity (including the proposed mitigation and monitoring measures) and the anticipated take of marine mammals, NMFS preliminarily finds that small numbers of marine mammals would be taken relative to the population size of the affected species or stocks.

Unmitigable Adverse Impact Analysis and Determination

There are no relevant subsistence uses of the affected marine mammal stocks or species implicated by this action. Therefore, NMFS has determined that the total taking of affected species or stocks would not have an unmitigable adverse impact on the availability of such species or stocks for taking for subsistence purposes.

Adaptive Management

The regulations governing the take of marine mammals incidental to the USACE's construction activities would contain an adaptive management component. The reporting requirements associated with this proposed rule, if adopted, are designed to provide NMFS with monitoring data from completed projects to allow consideration of whether any changes are appropriate. The use of adaptive management allows NMFS to consider new information from different sources to determine (with input from the USACE regarding practicability) on an annual or biennial basis if mitigation or monitoring measures should be modified (including additions or deletions). Mitigation measures could be modified if new data suggests that such modifications would have a reasonable likelihood of reducing adverse effects to marine mammals and if the measures are practicable.

The following are some of the possible sources of applicable data to be considered through the adaptive management process: (1) results from monitoring reports, as required by MMPA authorizations; (2) results from general marine mammal and sound research; and (3) any information which reveals that marine mammals may have been taken in a manner, extent, or number not authorized by these regulations or LOAs issued pursuant to these regulations.

Endangered Species Act

Section 7(a)(2) of the ESA of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) requires that each Federal agency insure that any action it authorizes, funds, or carries out is not likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any endangered or threatened species or result in the destruction or adverse modification of designated critical habitat. To ensure ESA compliance for the issuance of proposed rules, NMFS consults internally whenever we propose to authorize take for endangered or threatened species.

No incidental take of ESA-listed species is proposed for authorization or expected to result from this activity. Therefore, NMFS has determined that formal consultation under section 7 of the ESA is not required for this action.

Request for Information

NMFS requests interested persons to submit comments, information, and suggestions concerning the USACE's request and the proposed regulations (see ADDRESSES). All comments germane to this rulemaking will be reviewed and evaluated as we prepare a final rule and make final determinations on whether to issue the requested authorization. This proposed rule and referenced documents provide all environmental information relating to our proposed action for public review.

Classification

The Office of Management and Budget has determined that this proposed rule is not significant for purposes of Executive Order 12866. This proposed rule is not an Executive Order 14192 regulatory action because this rule is not significant under Executive Order 12866.

Pursuant to section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), the Chief Counsel for Regulation of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the Small Business Administration that this proposed rule, if adopted, would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The USACE is the sole entity that would be subject to the requirements in these proposed regulations, and the USACE is not a small governmental jurisdiction, small organization, or small business, as defined by the RFA. Therefore, a regulatory flexibility analysis is not required and none has been prepared.

This proposed rule does not contain a collection-of-information requirement subject to the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) because the applicant is a Federal agency.

(a) Regulations in this subpart apply only to the United States Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) and those persons it authorizes or funds to conduct activities on its behalf for the taking of marine mammals that occur in the areas outlined in paragraph (b) of this section and that occur incidental to construction activities, including maintenance and replacement of piles, as designated in the Duckabush Estuary Restoration Project in Washington. Requirements imposed on the USACE pursuant to this subpart must be implemented by those persons it authorizes or funds to conduct activities on its behalf.

(b) The taking of marine mammals by the USACE may be authorized in a Letter of Authorization (LOA) only if it occurs as part of the Duckabush Estuary Restoration Project in Washington.

§ 217.242 Permissible methods of taking.

Under an LOA issued pursuant to §§ 216.106 of this chapter and 217.246 of this chapter, the Holder of the LOA (hereinafter ''USACE'') may incidentally, but not intentionally, take marine mammals within the area described in § 217.240 (b) by harassment associated with construction activities, provided the activity is in compliance with all terms, conditions, and requirements of the regulations in this subpart and the applicable LOA.

§ 217.243 Prohibitions.

(a) Except for the takings contemplated in § 217.242 and authorized by an LOA issued under this subpart, it is unlawful for any person to do any of the following in connection with the activities described in § 217.240:

(1) Violate, or fail to comply with, the terms, conditions, and requirements of this subpart or a LOA issued under this subpart;

(2) Take of any marine mammal not specified in such LOA;

(3) Take any marine mammal specified in such LOA in any manner other than as specified;

(4) Take a marine mammal specified in such LOA if NMFS determines such taking results in more than a negligible impact on the species or stocks of such marine mammal; or

(5) Take a marine mammal specified in such LOA after NMFS determines such taking results in an unmitigable adverse impact on the species or stock of such marine mammal for taking for subsistence uses.

(b) [Reserved]

§ 217.244 Mitigation requirements.

(a) When conducting the activities identified in § 217.240(a), the mitigation measures contained in any LOA issued under this subpart must be implemented. These mitigation measures include but are not limited to:

(1) A copy of this LOA must be in the possession of the USACE, supervisory construction personnel, lead protected species observers (PSOs), and any other relevant designees of the USACE operating under the authority of this LOA at all times that activities subject to this LOA are being conducted.

(2) The USACE shall conduct training between supervisors and crews, the PSO team, and relevant USACE staff prior to the start of construction activity subject to this rule, so that responsibilities, communication procedures, monitoring protocols, and operational procedures are clearly understood. New personnel joining during the project must be trained in the aforementioned matters prior to commencing work.

(3) The USACE must employ PSOs and establish monitoring locations as described in the Marine Mammal Monitoring Plan. The USACE must monitor the Project Area to the maximum extent possible based on the required number of PSOs, required monitoring locations, and environmental conditions.

(4) Monitoring must take place from 30 minutes prior to initiation of pile driving activity (i.e., pre-start clearance monitoring) through 30 minutes post-completion of construction activity.

(5) Pre-start clearance monitoring must be conducted during periods of visibility sufficient for the lead PSO to determine that the shutdown zones are clear of marine mammals. Construction activity may commence following 30 minutes of observation when the shutdown zones are clear of marine mammals.

(6) Construction activities must stop if a marine mammal is in a shutdown zone and may not resume until a marine mammal exits the shutdown zone.

(7) If construction activity is delayed or halted due to the presence of a marine mammal, the activity may not commence or resume until either the animal has voluntarily exited and been visually confirmed beyond the shutdown zone.

(8) The USACE must conduct a gradual increase (i.e. ramp-up) to begin construction each day by moving around the project area and starting equipment one at a time, not all at once.

(9) The USACE must avoid direct physical interaction with marine mammals during construction activity. If a marine mammal comes within 10 meters (m) of such activity operations must cease to avoid direct physical interaction and can only resume after the animal has left the 10 m zone.

(10) If a pup less than one week old comes within 20 m of where heavy machinery is working, operations must cease and can only resume after the animal has left the 20 m zone.

(11) During pupping season (August 1 through October 31), construction activities may not be initiated within 300 m of a mom/pup pair that is hauled out or within 100 m of a mom/pup pair in the water.

(b) [Reserved]

§ 217.245 Requirements for monitoring and reporting.

(a) The USACE must submit a Marine Mammal Monitoring Plan to NMFS for approval at least 90 days in advance of construction. Marine mammal monitoring must be conducted in accordance with the conditions in this section and the approved Marine Mammal Monitoring Plan.

(b) Monitoring must be conducted by qualified, NMFS-approved PSOs, in accordance with the following conditions:

(1) PSOs must be independent of the activity contractor (for example, employed by a subcontractor) and have no other assigned tasks during monitoring periods.

(2) At least one PSO must have prior experience performing the duties of a PSO during construction activity pursuant to a NMFS-issued incidental take authorization.

(3) Other PSOs may substitute other relevant experience, education (i.e., degree in biological science or related field), or training for prior experience performing the duties of a PSO during construction activity pursuant to a NMFS-issued incidental take authorization.

(4) PSOs must record all observations of marine mammals as described in the Marine Mammal Monitoring Plan, regardless of distance from the pile being driven. PSOs shall document any behavioral reactions in concert with distance from piles being driven or removed.

(c) A census of marine mammals in the project area and the area surrounding the project must be conducted 30 minutes prior to the beginning of any construction day, and again 30 minutes after the completion of construction activities. Data collected during the pre-and post-construction daily censuses must include:

(1) Environmental conditions (weather condition, tidal conditions, visibility, cloud cover, air temperature and wind speed);

(2) Numbers of each marine mammal species spotted;

(3) Location of each species spotted, including distance from construction activity;

(4) Status (in water or hauled-out); and

(5) Behavior

(d) The USACE must conduct hourly counts of animals hauled out and in the water. Data collected must include:

(1) Numbers of each species;

(2) Location of species; whether hauled-out or in the water; and distance from construction activities;

(3) Time;

(4) Tidal conditions;

(5) Time construction activities start and end;

(6) Primary construction activities occurring during past hour;

(7) Any noise or visual disturbance;

(8) Number of mom/pup pairs and neonates observed; and

(9) Notable behaviors, including foraging, grooming, resting, aggression, mating activity, and others;

(e) The USACE must note any of the following information to the extent it is feasible to record:

(1) Age-class;

(2) Sex;

(3) Unusual activity or signs of stress;

(4) Any other information worth noting;

(f) The USACE must record reaction observed in relation to construction activities including:

(1) Tally of each reaction;

(2) Time of reaction;

(3) Concurrent construction activity (including duration) and assumed cause (whether related to construction activities or not) and whether observer feels the disturbance was visual or acoustic;

(4) Location of animal during initial reaction and distance from the noted disturbance;

(5) Direction of movement;

(6) Activity before and after disturbance;

(7) Status (in water or hauled out) before and after disturbance; and

(8) Coded reaction of Level 1—Alert; Level 2—Movement, or Level 3—Flush as defined in the Preamble.

(g) The USACE must submit a draft monitoring report to NMFS within 90 calendar days of the completion of each construction year. A draft comprehensive 5-year summary report must also be submitted to NMFS within 90 days of the end of the project. The reports must detail the monitoring protocol and summarize the data recorded during monitoring. Final annual reports and the final comprehensive report must be prepared and submitted within 30 days following resolution of any NMFS comments on the draft report. If no comments are received from NMFS within 30 days of receipt of the draft report, the report must be considered final. If comments are received, a final report addressing NMFS comments must be submitted within 30 days after receipt of comments. The reports must contain the informational elements described at minimum below including:

(1) Information collected in § 247.245 (c)–(f).

(2) All PSO datasheets and/or raw sightings data in electronic format.

§ 217.246 Letters of Authorization.

(a) To incidentally take marine mammals pursuant to these regulations, the USACE must apply for and obtain an LOA.

(b) An LOA, unless suspended or revoked, may be effective for a period of time not to exceed the expiration date of these regulations.

(c) If an LOA expires prior to the expiration date of these regulations, the USACE may apply for and obtain a renewal of the LOA.

(d) In the event of projected changes to the activity or to mitigation and monitoring measures required by an LOA, the USACE must apply for and obtain a modification of the LOA as described in § 217.247.

(e) The LOA must set forth the following information:

(1) Permissible methods of incidental taking;

(2) Means of effecting the least practicable adverse impact (i.e., mitigation) on the species, its habitat, and on the availability of the species for subsistence uses; and

(3) Requirements for monitoring and reporting.

(f) Issuance of the LOA must be based on a determination that the level of taking will be consistent with the findings made for the total taking allowable under these regulations.

(g) Notice of issuance or denial of an LOA must be published in the Federal Register within 30 days of a determination.

§ 217.247 Renewals and modifications of Letters of Authorization.

(a) An LOA issued under § 216.106 of this chapter and § 217.246 for the activity identified in § 217.240(a) may be renewed or modified upon request by the applicant, provided that:

(1) The proposed specified activity and mitigation, monitoring, and reporting measures, as well as the anticipated impacts, are the same as those described and analyzed for these regulations; and

(2) NMFS determines that the mitigation, monitoring, and reporting measures required by the previous LOA under these regulations were implemented.

(b) For LOA modification or renewal requests by the applicant that include changes to the activity or the mitigation, monitoring, or reporting that do not change the findings made for the regulations or result in no more than a minor change in the total estimated number of takes (or distribution by species or years), NMFS may publish a notice of proposed LOA in the Federal Register, including the associated analysis of the change, and solicit public comment before issuing the LOA.

(c) An LOA issued under §§ 216.106 of this chapter and 217.246 for the activity identified in § 217.240 (a) may be modified by NMFS under the following circumstances:

(1) NMFS may modify (including augment) the existing mitigation, monitoring, or reporting measures (after consulting with USACE regarding the practicability of the modifications) if doing so creates a reasonable likelihood of more effectively accomplishing the goals of the mitigation and monitoring set forth in the preamble for these regulations;

(i) Possible sources of data that could contribute to the decision to modify the mitigation, monitoring, or reporting measures in an LOA:

(A) Results from USACE's monitoring from previous years;

(B) Results from other marine mammal and/or sound research or studies; and

(C) Any information that reveals marine mammals may have been taken in a manner, extent or number not authorized by these regulations or subsequent LOAs; and

(ii) If, through adaptive management, the modifications to the mitigation, monitoring, or reporting measures are substantial, NMFS must publish a notice of proposed LOA in the Federal Register and solicit public comment;

(2) If NMFS determines that an emergency exists that poses a significant risk to the well-being of the species or stocks of marine mammals specified in a LOA issued pursuant to § 216.106 of this chapter and § 217.246, a LOA may be modified without prior notice or opportunity for public comment. Notification would be published in the Federal Register within 30 days of the action.

DATES: Effective date: July 1, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Farah Ahmad, Program Analyst, Food Distribution Policy Branch, SNAS Policy Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, 1320 Braddock Place, Alexandria, VA 22314, or telephone 703–305–2453.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: These programs are located in the Assistance Listings under Nos. 10.555 and 10.558 and are subject to the provisions of Executive Order 12372, which requires intergovernmental consultation with State and local officials. (See 7 CFR part 3015, subpart V, and final rule related notice published at 48 FR 29114, June 24, 1983). This notice imposes no new reporting or recordkeeping provisions that are subject to Office of Management and Budget review in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3507). This action is not a rule as defined by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601–612) and thus is exempt from the provisions of that Act. This notice was reviewed by the Office of Management and Budget under Executive Order 12866. Pursuant to the Congressional Review Act (5 U.S.C. 801 et seq.), the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs designated this rule as not a major rule, as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2).

National Average Minimum Value of Donated Foods for the Period July 1, 2025, Through June 30, 2026

This notice implements mandatory provisions of sections 6(c) and 17(h)(1)(B) of the Richard B. Russell National School Lunch Act (the Act) (42 U.S.C. 1755(c) and 1766(h)(1)(B)). Section 6(c)(1)(A) of the Act establishes the national average value of donated food assistance to be given to States for each lunch served in the NSLP at 11.00 cents per meal. Pursuant to section 6(c)(1)(B), this amount is subject to annual adjustments on July 1 of each year to reflect changes in a 3Principamonth average value of the Producer Price Index for Foods Used in Schools and Institutions for March, April, and May each year (Price Index). Section 17(h)(1)(B) of the Act provides that the same value of donated foods (or cash in lieu of donated foods) for school lunches shall also be established for lunches and suppers served in the CACFP. Notice is hereby given that the national average minimum value of donated foods, or cash in lieu thereof, per lunch under the NSLP (7 CFR part 210) and per lunch and supper under the CACFP (7 CFR part 226) shall be 30.50 cents for the period July 1, 2025, through June 30, 2026.

The Price Index is computed using five major food components in the Bureau of Labor Statistics Producer Price Index (cereal and bakery products; meats, poultry, and fish; dairy; processed fruits and vegetables; and fats and oils). Each component is weighted using the relative weight as determined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The value of food assistance is adjusted each July 1 by the annual percentage change in a 3-month average value of the Price Index for March, April, and May each year. The 3-month average of the Price Index increased by 1.51 percent from 263.66 for March, April, and May of 2024 as previously published in the Federal Register, to 267.65 for the same 3 months in 2025. When computed on the basis of unrounded data and rounded to the nearest one-quarter cent, the resulting national average for the period July 1, 2025, through June 30, 2026, will be 30.50 cents per meal. This is an increase of one-half (½) cents from the school year 2025 (July 1, 2024, through June 30, 2025) rate.

Adjustment of Appendices Under the Dairy Tariff-Rate Quota Import Licensing Regulation

AGENCY: Foreign Agricultural Service, USDA.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: This notice announces the transfer of amounts for certain dairy articles from the historical license category (Appendix 1) to the lottery (nonhistorical) license category (Appendix 2) pursuant to the Dairy Tariff-Rate Quota Import Licensing regulations for the 2025 quota year.

DATES: August 15, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Elizabeth Riley, Dairy Import Licensing Program, Foreign Agricultural Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, at (202) 7206868; or by email at: Elizabeth.riley@usda.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Foreign Agricultural Service, under a delegation of authority from the Under Secretary for Trade and Foreign Agricultural Affairs, administers the Dairy Tariff-Rate Import Quota Licensing Regulation codified at 7 CFR 6.20–6.36 that provides for the issuance of licenses to import certain dairy articles under tariff-rate quotas (TRQs) as set forth in the Harmonized Tariff Schedule (HTS) of the United States. These dairy articles may only be entered into the United States at the low-tier tariff by or for the account of a person or firm to whom such licenses have been issued and only in accordance with the terms and conditions of the regulation.

Licenses are issued on a calendar year basis, and each license authorizes the license holder to import a specified quantity and type of dairy article from a specified country of origin. The Imports Program, Foreign Agricultural Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, issues these licenses and, in conjunction with U.S. Customs and Border Protection, U.S. Department of Homeland Security, monitors their use.

The regulation at 7 CFR 6.34(a) states that whenever a historical license (Appendix 1) is permanently surrendered, revoked by the Licensing Authority, or not issued to an applicant pursuant to the provisions of § 6.23, then the amount of such license will be transferred to Appendix 2. Section 6.34(b) provides that the cumulative annual transfers will be published by notice in the Federal Register.

Accordingly, this document sets forth the revised Appendices in the table below. Although there are no changes to the quantities for designated licenses (Appendix 3 and Appendix 4), those numbers are also included in the table below for completeness.

Daniel B. Whitley,

Administrator, Foreign Agricultural Service.

Assessment of Fees for Dairy Import Licenses for the 2026 Tariff-Rate Import Quota Year

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: This notice announces a fee of $350 to be charged for the 2026 tariff-rate quota (TRQ) year for each license issued to a person or firm by the Department of Agriculture authorizing the importation of certain dairy articles, which are subject to tariff-rate quotas set forth in the Harmonized Tariff Schedule (HTS) of the United States.

DATES: August 15, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Elizabeth Riley, Dairy Import Licensing Program, Foreign Agricultural Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, at (202) 720–6868; or by email at: Elizabeth.riley@usda.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Dairy Tariff-Rate Quota Import Licensing Regulation promulgated by the Department of Agriculture and codified at 7 CFR 6.20–6.36 provides for the issuance of licenses to import certain dairy articles that are subject to TRQs set forth in the HTS. Those dairy articles may only be entered into the United States at the in-quota TRQ tariff-rates by or for the account of a person or firm to whom such licenses have been issued and only in accordance with the terms and conditions of the regulation.

Licenses are issued on a calendar year basis, and each license authorizes the license holder to import a specified quantity and type of dairy article from a specified country of origin. The use of such licenses is monitored by the Import Program within the Foreign Agricultural Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and U.S. Customs and Border Protection, U.S. Department of Homeland Security.

The regulation at 7 CFR 6.33(a) provides that a fee will be charged for each license issued to a person or firm by the Licensing Authority to defray the Department of Agriculture's costs of administering the licensing system under this regulation.

The regulation at 7 CFR 6.33(a) also provides that the Licensing Authority will announce the annual fee for each license and that such fee will be set out in a notice to be published in the Federal Register. Accordingly, this notice sets out the fee for the licenses to be issued for the 2026 calendar year.

The total cost to the Department of Agriculture of administering the licensing system for 2026 has been estimated to be $800,800.00 and the estimated number of licenses expected to be issued is 2,288. Of the total cost, $598,566.00 represents staff and supervisory costs directly related to administering the licensing system, and $202,234.00 represents other miscellaneous costs, including travel, publications, and Automatic Data Processing (ADP) system support.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given that the fee for each license issued to a person or firm for the 2026 calendar year, in accordance with 7 CFR 6.33, will be $350 per license.

Administrator, Foreign Agricultural Service.

Information Collection Request for Volunteer Program—Earth Team

AGENCY: Natural Resources Conservation Service, USDA.

ACTION: Notice; request for comments.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act, the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is requesting comments from all interested individuals and organizations on an extension of a currently approved information collection associated with Volunteer Program—Earth Team. The Volunteer Interest and Placement Summary and the Timesheet forms are used by the respondents. The information NRCS collects on the forms is used to match the skills of individuals, who are 14 years of age or older and interested in volunteering for opportunities that will further NRCS's mission.

Applicable Dates: We will consider comments that we receive by October 14, 2025.

ADDRESSES: We invite you to submit comments on this notice. You may submit comments, identified by Docket ID: NRCS–2025–0071, in the Federal eRulemaking Portal: Go to http://www.regulations.gov. Follow the online instructions for submitting comments.

You may also send comments to the Desk Officer for Agriculture, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, DC 20503.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For specific questions related to the collection activities or to request a copy of the information collection, contact Toni Flax, Legislative Affairs Specialist, 610 N Middle, Hill City KS, (785–421–8373), or Toni.Flax@usda.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Title: Volunteer Program—Earth Team.

OMB Number: 0578–0024.

Type of Request: Extension.

Abstract: NRCS is collecting information from individuals who are interested in volunteering to work with NRCS. The information will be used by NRCS to assign the volunteer to an appropriate position, and to track their volunteer time. Collection of this information is necessary to match volunteers with NRCS assignments as authorized by section 1526 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1981 (Pub. Law 97–98). NRCS is authorized to recruit, train, and accept (following Civil Service classification laws, rules, or regulations) individuals to serve without compensation. Subject to certain conditions, most volunteers may assist in agency programs or projects, and may perform activities that the employees may perform. The two forms Volunteer Interest and Placement Summary Forms, NRCS–PER–002, and Timesheet Form, NRCS–PER–004, are used to collect information from the individuals.

The timesheet is an optional form and provides the volunteer or volunteer's supervisor a simplified method for tracking the volunteer's time. The form is placed in a volunteer ''case file'' and will be destroyed 3 years after the volunteer has completed service. In the event the volunteer is injured while engaged in volunteer activities and claims workman's compensation, the ''case file'' will be transferred to an Official Personnel Folder.

The information collection burden estimates have been updated. There were no other revisions required.

Estimate of Average Time to Respond: Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 4 minutes per response.

Type of Respondents: Retirees, students, teachers, or senior citizens.

Estimated Annual Number of Respondents: 7,120.

Estimated Total Annual Responses: 14,440.

Estimated Total Annual Burden on Respondents: 964.59 hours.

We are requesting comments on all aspects of this information collection to help us to:

(1) Evaluate whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of NRCS, including whether the information will have practical utility;

(2) Evaluate the accuracy of the estimate of the burden of the collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

(3) Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and

(4) Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology.

All responses received in response to this notice, including names and addresses when provided, will be a matter of public records. Comments will be summarized and included in the submission for Office of Management and Budget approval.

Aubrey Bettencourt,

Chief, Natural Resources Conservation Service.

AGENCY: Enforcement and Compliance, International Trade Administration, Department of Commerce.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Department of Commerce (Commerce) determines that sol gel alumina-based ceramic abrasive grains (ceramic abrasive grains) from the People's Republic of China (China) are being, or are likely to be, sold in the United States at less-than-fair-value (LTFV). The period of investigation (POI) is April 1, 2024, through September 30, 2024.

DATES: Applicable August 15, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Thomas Cloyd, AD/CVD Operations, Office VII, Enforcement and Compliance, International Trade Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, 1401 Constitution Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20230; telephone: (202) 482–1246.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On June 2, 2025, Commerce published in the Federal Register the Preliminary Determination in this investigation and invited interested parties to comment.[1] We received no comments or case briefs addressing any of the findings in the Preliminary Determination; therefore, we made no changes, and no decision memorandum accompanies this notice. The Preliminary Determination is hereby adopted as this final determination. The deadline for the final determination is August 11, 2025.

Scope of the Investigation

The product covered by this investigation is ceramic abrasive grains from China. For a complete description of the scope of this investigation, see the appendix to this notice.

Scope Comments

We received no comments from interested parties on the scope of the investigation as it appeared in the Preliminary Determination and accompanying Preliminary Scope Decision Memorandum.[2] Therefore, we made no changes to the scope of the investigation.

China-Wide Entity and Use of Adverse Facts Available (AFA)

For the purposes of this final determination, consistent with the Preliminary Determination,[3] we relied solely on the application of AFA for the China-wide entity, pursuant to sections 776(a) and (b) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Act). Further, because no companies are eligible for a rate separate from the China-wide entity, we continue to find that all Chinese producers or exporters of ceramic abrasive grains are part of the China-wide entity. No interested party submitted comments on the Preliminary Determination. Thus, we made no changes to our analysis or to the China-wide entity's dumping margin for the final determination. A detailed discussion of our application of AFA is provided in the Preliminary Determination.[4]

Combination Rates

Because no Chinese exporters qualified for a separate rate, producer/exporter combination rates were not calculated for this final determination.

Final Determination

The final estimated dumping margin is as follows:

Exporter/producer	Weighted-average dumping margin (percent)	Cash deposit rate (adjusted for subsidy offset) (percent)
China-wide Entity	* 88.32	72.22

* Rate based on facts available with adverse inferences.

Disclosure

Normally, Commerce will disclose to the parties in a proceeding the calculations performed in connection with a final determination within five days of any public announcement or, if there is no public announcement, within five days of the date of publication of the notice of final determination in the Federal Register, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.224(b). However, because Commerce continues to find that all Chinese producers or exporters of ceramic abrasive grains are part of the China-wide entity and continues to rely solely on the application of AFA for the China-wide entity, there are no calculations to disclose for this final determination.

Continuation of Suspension of Liquidation

In accordance with section 735(c)(1)(B) of the Act, Commerce will instruct U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) to continue to suspend liquidation of subject merchandise, as described in the appendix to this notice, entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after June 2, 2025, which is the date of publication of the affirmative Preliminary Determination in the Federal Register, at the cash deposit rate indicated above.

Pursuant to section 735(c)(1)(B)(ii) of the Act and 19 CFR 351.210(d), we will instruct CBP to require a cash deposit for such entries of merchandise equal to the amount by which the normal value exceeds the U.S. price as follows: (1) for all Chinese producers or exporters of subject merchandise, the cash deposit rate will be equal to the estimated dumping margin established for the China-wide entity, adjusted for the subsidy offset as appropriate; and (2) for all third country exporters of subject merchandise, the cash deposit rate is also the cash deposit rate applicable to the China-wide entity, adjusted for the subsidy offset as appropriate. These suspension of liquidation instructions will remain in effect until further notice.

To determine the antidumping duty cash deposit rate, Commerce normally adjusts the estimated weighted-average dumping margin by the amount of domestic subsidy pass-through and export subsidies determined in a companion countervailing duty (CVD) proceeding. Accordingly, where Commerce has made a final affirmative determination of countervailable export subsidies, Commerce offsets the estimated weighted-average dumping margin by the appropriate CVD rate. Commerce has continued to adjust the cash deposit rate for export subsidies found in the companion CVD investigation by the appropriate export subsidy rate as indicated in the above chart.

U.S. International Trade Commission (ITC) Notification

In accordance with section 735(d) of the Act, we will notify the ITC of our final affirmative determination of sales at LTFV. We will allow the ITC access to all privileged and business proprietary information in our files, provided the ITC confirms that it will not disclose such information, either publicly or under an administrative protective order (APO), without the written consent of the Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Compliance.

Because the final determination in this proceeding is affirmative, in accordance with section 735(b)(2) of the Act, the ITC will make its final determination as to whether the domestic industry in the United States is materially injured, or threatened with material injury, by reason of imports of ceramic abrasive grains from China no later than 45 days after our final determination. If the ITC determines that material injury or threat of material injury does not exist, the proceeding will be terminated and all cash deposits will be refunded. If the ITC determines that such injury does exist, Commerce intends to issue an antidumping duty order, in accordance with section 736(a) of the Act, directing CBP to assess, upon further instruction by Commerce, antidumping duties on all imports of the subject merchandise that are entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after the effective date of the suspension of liquidation, as discussed above in the ''Continuation of Suspension of Liquidation'' section.

Administrative Protective Order

In the event that the ITC issues a final negative injury determination, this notice will serve as the only reminder to parties subject to an APO of their responsibility concerning the disposition of proprietary information disclosed under APO in accordance with 19 CFR 351.305(a)(3). Timely written notification of the return/destruction of APO materials or conversion to judicial protective order is hereby requested. Failure to comply with the regulations and terms of an APO is a violation which is subject to sanction.

Notification to Interested Parties

This determination is issued and published in accordance with sections 735(d) and 777(i) of the Act, and 19 CFR 351.210(c).

Dated: August 11, 2025.

Deputy Assistant Secretary for Policy and Negotiations, performing the non-exclusive functions and duties of the Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Compliance.

Appendix

Scope of the Investigation

The merchandise covered by this investigation is sol gel alumina-based ceramic abrasive grains which are comprised of minimum 94% aluminum oxide (Al2O3), and may contain other compounds, including, but not limited to, titanium dioxide, silicon dioxide, calcium oxide, sodium superoxide, ferric oxide, magnesium oxide, di-aluminum magnesium tetroxide, lanthanum oxide, lanthanum magnesium oxide, zirconium dioxide, or zirconium carbonate. Grain sizes of sol gel alumina-based ceramic abrasive grains range from 0.85 mm to 0.0395 mm (which corresponds to American National Standards Institute (ANSI) grit sizes from 20 to 280).

Shapes include but are not limited to angular, sharp, extra sharp, blocky, splintery, round stripped, triangular or shaped like extruded rods or stars.

Ceramic abrasive grains have unique crystalline structures that impart certain advanced properties, such as their extreme hardness and strength ranging between 16 and 22 gigapascals by the Vickers Diamond Indent Method, high melting point (2050 °C), and a single- or multi-phase microstructure, which may contain multiple phases, having crystalline sizes ranging from 0.05 to 30μm. These ceramic abrasive grains include but are not limited to blue, white, white-translucent, or off-white opaque colors.

Sol gel alumina-based ceramic abrasive grains are covered by the scope of this investigation, whether or not incorporated into downstream articles, including but not limited to, abrasive papers, grinding wheels, grinding cylinders, and grinding discs. When incorporated into downstream articles, only the sol gel alumina-based ceramic abrasive grains component of such articles is covered by the product scope, and not the downstream product as a whole.

The merchandise subject to this investigation is properly classified under subheadings 2818.10.2010 and 2818.10.2090 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS). Other merchandise subject to the current scope, including when incorporated into the abovementioned downstream articles, may be classified under HTSUS subheadings 2818.10.1000, 2818.20.0000, 2818.30.0000, 3824.99.1100, 3824.99.1900, 6805.10.0000, 6805.20.0000, 6805.30.1000, 6805.30.5000, 6804.22.1000, 6804.22.4000, 6804.22.6000, 8204.12.0000, 8474.90.0010, 8474.90.0020, 8474.90.0050, and 8474.90.0090. Although the HTSUS statistical reporting numbers are provided for convenience and customs purposes, the written description of the merchandise is dispositive.

AGENCY: Enforcement and Compliance, International Trade Administration, Department of Commerce.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Department of Commerce (Commerce) determines that countervailable subsidies are being provided to producers and exporters of sol gel alumina-based ceramic abrasive grains (ceramic abrasive grains) from the People's Republic of China (China). The period of investigation (POI) is January 1, 2023, through December 31, 2023.

DATES: Applicable August 15, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Suresh Maniam, AD/CVD Operations, Office I, Enforcement and Compliance, International Trade Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, 1401 Constitution Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20230; telephone: (202) 482–1603.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On May 22, 2025, Commerce published in the Federal Register the Preliminary Determination in this investigation and invited interested parties to comment.[1] We received no comments or case briefs from interested parties addressing any of the findings in the Preliminary Determination; therefore, we made no changes, and no decision memorandum accompanies this Federal Register notice. The Preliminary Determination is hereby adopted as this final determination. On May 29, 2025, and in accordance with section 705(a)(1) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Act) and 19 CFR 351.210(b)(4)(i), Commerce aligned the final countervailing duty (CVD) determination with the final antidumping duty determination.[2] The deadline for the final determination is August 11, 2025.

Scope of the Investigation

The product covered by this investigation is ceramic abrasive grains from China. For a complete description of the scope of this investigation, see the appendix to this notice.

Scope Comments

We received no comments from interested parties on the scope of the investigation as it appeared in the Preliminary Determination and accompanying Preliminary Scope Decision Memorandum.[3] Therefore, we made no changes to the scope of the investigation.

Methodology

Commerce conducted this investigation in accordance with section 701 of the Act. For each of the subsidy programs found to be countervailable, Commerce determines that there is a subsidy, i.e., a financial contribution by an ''authority'' that gives rise to a benefit to the recipient, and that the subsidy is specific.[4]

In making this final determination, Commerce relied on facts available, including with an adverse inference, pursuant to sections 776(a) and (b) of the Act.

Verification

Because the mandatory respondents and the Government of China (GOC) did not participate, and Commerce preliminarily determined that the mandatory respondents and the GOC have been uncooperative, Commerce did not conduct verification.[5]

All-Others Rate

Sections 703(d) and 705(c)(5)(A) of the Act provide that Commerce shall determine an estimated all-others rate for companies not individually examined. This rate shall be an amount equal to the weighted average of the estimated subsidy rates established for those companies individually examined, excluding any zero and de minimis rates and any rates based entirely under section 776 of the Act.

Pursuant to section 705(c)(5)(A)(ii) of the Act, if the individual estimated countervailable subsidy rates established for all exporters and producers individually examined are zero, de minimis , or determined based entirely on facts otherwise available, Commerce may use any reasonable method to establish the estimated subsidy rate for all other producers or exporters. In this investigation, Commerce has determined the estimated subsidy rate for the individually examined respondents under section 776 of the Act. This is the only rate available in this proceeding for deriving the all-others rate. Consequently, pursuant to sections 703(d) and 705(c)(5)(A)(ii) of the Act, Commerce established the all-others rate by applying the countervailable subsidy rate assigned to the non-responsive companies listed below. For a full description of the methodology underlying Commerce's analysis, see the Preliminary Decision Memorandum.[6]

Final Determination

Commerce determines that the following estimated countervailable subsidy rates exist:

Qingdao SISA Abrasives Co., Ltd	* 165.05
Shandong Imerys Mount Tai Co., Ltd	* 165.05
Futong Industry Co., Ltd	* 165.05
Guangzhou Qianyang Metals & Machine	* 165.05
Kumthai Abrasives Co., Ltd	* 165.05
Luoyang Runbao Super Abrasives Co	* 165.05
More Superhard Products Co., Ltd	* 165.05
Qingdao Roy Grinding Material Co	* 165.05
Reckel Advanced Materials Co., Ltd	* 165.05
Zhengshou Haixu Abrasives Co	* 165.05
All Others	165.05

* Rate is based on facts available with adverse inferences.

Disclosure

Normally, Commerce discloses to interested parties the calculations performed in connection with a final determination within five days of any public announcement or, if there is no public announcement, within five days of the date of publication of the notice of final determination in the Federal Register, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.224(b). However, because Commerce received no comments on the Preliminary Determination, it is adopting the Preliminary Determination as the final determination in this investigation. Consequently, there are no new calculations to disclose.

Continuation of Suspension of Liquidation

In accordance with sections 703(d)(1)(B) and (d)(2) of the Act, Commerce will instruct U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) to collect cash deposits and suspend liquidation of entries of subject merchandise as described in the scope of the investigation section entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after May 22, 2025, the date of publication of the Preliminary Determination in the Federal Register, at the cash deposit rate indicated above.

If the U.S. International Trade Commission (ITC) issues a final affirmative injury determination, we will issue a countervailing duty order, reinstate the suspension of liquidation under section 706(a) of the Act, and require a cash deposit of estimated countervailing duties for such entries of subject merchandise. If the ITC determines that material injury, or threat of material injury, does not exist, this proceeding will be terminated, and all estimated duties deposited or securities posted as a result of the suspension of liquidation will be refunded or canceled.

ITC Notification

In accordance with section 705(d) of the Act, Commerce will notify the ITC of its final affirmative determination that countervailable subsidies are being provided to producers and exporters of ceramic abrasive grains from China. As Commerce's final determination is affirmative, in accordance with section 705(b) of the Act, the ITC will determine, within 45 days, whether the domestic industry in the United States is materially injured, or threatened with material injury, by reason of imports of ceramic abrasive grains from China. In addition, we are making available to the ITC all non-privileged and non-proprietary information in our files, provided the ITC confirms that it will not disclose such information, either publicly or under administrative protective order (APO), without the written consent of the Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Compliance.

Administrative Protective Order

In the event that the ITC issues a final negative injury determination, this notice will serve as the only reminder to parties subject to the APO of their responsibility concerning the destruction of proprietary information disclosed under APO, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.305(a)(3). Timely written notification of the return/destruction of APO materials or conversion to judicial protective order is hereby requested. Failure to comply with the regulations and terms of an APO is a violation which is subject to sanction.

Notification to Interested Parties

This determination is issued and published pursuant to sections 705(d) and 777(i) of the Act, and 19 CFR 351.210(c).

Dated: August 11, 2025.

Scope of the Investigation

The product covered by this investigation is overhead door springs from China. For a complete description of the scope of this investigation, see Appendix I.

Scope Comments

In the Preliminary Scope Memorandum, we set aside a period of time for parties to raise issues regarding product coverage (i.e., scope) in scope-specific case briefs or other written comments on scope issues.[4] No interested parties commented. Therefore, we made no changes to the scope of the investigation. See Appendix I.

Verification

Commerce did not conduct verification of the mandatory respondents under examination in this investigation, because the respondents did not provide information requested by Commerce.

Analysis of Comments Received

The issue raised in the case brief by an interested party in this investigation is discussed in the Issues and Decision Memorandum. For a list of topics discussed, and the issue raised to which we responded in the Issues and Decision Memorandum, see Appendix II.

China-Wide Entity and Use of Adverse Facts Available (AFA)

For the purposes of this final determination, consistent with the Preliminary Determination,[5] we relied solely on the application of AFA for the China-wide entity, pursuant to sections 776(a) and (b) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Act). No interested party submitted comments on the Preliminary Determination. Thus, we made no changes to our analysis or to the China-wide entity's dumping margin for the final determination. A detailed discussion of our application of AFA is provided in the Preliminary Determination.[6]

Final Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances, in Part

Commerce preliminarily determined, in accordance with section 733(e)(1) of the Act and 19 CFR 351.206(c)(1), that critical circumstances existed with respect to imports of overhead door springs produced and/or exported by the China-wide entity, but that critical circumstances did not exist with respect all other producers and/or exporters granted a separate rate not individually examined.[7]

For the final determination, pursuant to section 735(a)(3)(B) of the Act and 19 CFR 351.206, we are continuing to find that critical circumstances exist for the China-wide entity, and do not exist for all other producers and/or exporters granted a separate rate. With respect to finding that critical circumstances exist for the China-wide entity, we relied on facts otherwise available, including with an adverse inference, pursuant to sections 776(a) and (b) of the Act. For a full description of the methodology and results of Commerce's critical circumstances analysis, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.

Separate Rate Eligibility

In the Preliminary Determination, we found that seven companies[8] demonstrated their eligibility for a separate rate.[9] As we received no information or interested party arguments to the contrary since the issuance of the Preliminary Determination, we continue to find that these companies are each eligible for a separate rate.

Final Determination

Commerce determines that the following estimated weighted-average dumping margins exist:

Continuation of Suspension of Liquidation

As a result of our Preliminary Determination and Preliminary Critical Circumstances Determination, and pursuant to sections 733(e)(2)(A) of the Act, for the China-wide entity, Commerce will instruct U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) to continue to suspend liquidation of subject merchandise, as described in Appendix I, entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after March 4, 2025, which is 90 days prior to the date of the publication of the affirmative Preliminary Determination in the Federal Register, at the cash deposit rate indicated above.

For the separate rate companies, we will instruct CBP to continue to suspend liquidation of subject merchandise, entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption, on or after June 2, 2025, which is the date of publication of the affirmative Preliminary Determination in the Federal Register, at the cash deposit rate indicated in the above table.

Pursuant to section 735(c)(1)(B)(ii) of the Act and 19 CFR 351.210(d), we will instruct CBP to require a cash deposit for such entries of merchandise equal to the amount by which normal value exceeds the U.S. price as follows: (1) the cash deposit rate for the exporter/producer combination listed in the table above will be the rate identified in the table, adjusted for subsidy offsets, if appropriate; (2) for all combinations of Chinese producers/exporters of subject merchandise that have not established eligibility for their own separate rates, the cash deposit rate will be the rate established for the China-wide entity, adjusted for subsidy offsets if appropriate; and (3) for all third country exporters of subject merchandise, the cash deposit rate will be the cash deposit rate applicable to the Chinese producer/exporter that supplied that third country exporter.

To determine the cash deposit rate, Commerce normally adjusts the estimated weighted-average dumping margin by the amount of domestic pass-through and export subsidies countervailed in a companion countervailing duty (CVD) proceeding, when CVD provisional measures are in effect. Accordingly, where Commerce has made a final affirmative determination for domestic pass-through or export subsides, Commerce offsets the estimated weighted-average dumping margin by the appropriate CVD rate. Commerce has continued to adjust the cash deposit rate for export subsidies found in the companion CVD investigation by the appropriate export subsidy rate, however, the suspension of liquidation of provisional measures in the companion CVD case has been discontinued.[10] Therefore, we are not instructing CBP to collect cash deposits based on the adjusted estimated weighted-average dumping margin for export subsidies at this time.[11] If the U.S. International Trade Commission (ITC) makes a final affirmative determination of injury due to both dumping and subsidies, then the cash deposit rate will be revised effective on the date of publication of the ITC's final affirmative determination in the Federal Register to be the company-specific estimated weighted-average dumping margin adjusted for export subsidies.

ITC Notification

In accordance with section 735(d) of the Act, Commerce will notify the ITC of its final affirmative determination of sales at LTFV of overhead door springs from China. Because the final determination is affirmative, in accordance with section 735(b)(2) of the Act, the ITC will determine, within 45 days, whether the domestic industry in the United States is materially injured, or threatened with material injury, by reason of imports of overhead door springs from China.

In addition, we are making available to the ITC all non-privileged and non-proprietary information related to this investigation. We will allow the ITC access to all privileged and business proprietary information in our files, provided the ITC confirms that it will not disclose such information, either publicly or under an administrative protective order (APO), without the written consent of the Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Compliance.

If the ITC determines that material injury or threat of material injury does not exist, this proceeding will be terminated and all cash deposits will be refunded. If the ITC determines that such injury does exist, Commerce will issue an AD order, in accordance with section 736(a) of the Act, directing CBP to assess, upon further instruction by Commerce, antidumping duties on all imports of the subject merchandise that are entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after the effective date of the suspension of liquidation, as discussed in the ''Continuation of Suspension of Liquidation'' section.

Administrative Protective Order

In the event that the ITC issues a final negative injury determination, this notice will serve as the only reminder to parties subject to an APO of their responsibility concerning the destruction of proprietary information disclosed under APO, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.305(a)(3). Timely written notification of the return/destruction of APO materials or conversion to judicial protective order is hereby requested. Failure to comply with the regulations and terms of an APO is a violation which is subject to sanction.

Notification to Interested Parties

Appendix I

Scope of the Investigation

The merchandise covered by this investigation is helically-wound, overhead door counterbalance torsion steel springs (overhead door counterbalance torsion springs) and any cones, plugs or other similar fittings for mounting and creating torque in the spring (herein collectively referred to as cones) attached to or entered with and invoiced with the subject overhead door counterbalance torsion springs. Overhead door counterbalance torsion springs are helical steel springs with tightly wound coils that store and release mechanical energy by winding and unwinding along the spring's axis by an angle, using torque to create a lifting force in the counterbalance assembly typically used to raise and lower overhead doors, including garage doors, industrial rolling doors, warehouse doors, trailer doors, and other overhead doors, gates, grates, or similar devices. The merchandise covered by this investigation covers all overhead door counterbalance torsion springs with a coil inside diameter of 15.8 millimeters (mm) or more but not exceeding 304.8 mm (measured across the diameter from inner edge to inner edge); a wire diameter of 2.5 mm to 20.4 mm; a length of 127 mm or more; and regardless of the following characteristics:

[10] See section 703(d) of the Act, which states that the provisional measures may not be in effect for more than four months, which in the companion CVD case is 120 days after the publication of the preliminary determination, or July 31, 2025 (i.e., the last day provisional measures are in effect).

• wire type (including, but not limited to, oil-tempered wire, hard-drawn wire, music wire, galvanized or other coated wire);
• wire cross-sectional shape (e.g., round, square, or other shapes);
• coating (e.g., uncoated, oil- or water-based coatings, lubricant coatings, zinc, aluminum, zinc-aluminum, paint or plastic coating, etc.);
• winding orientation (left-hand or right-hand wind direction);
• end type (including, but not limited to, looped, double looped, clipped, long length, mini warehouse, Barcol, Crawford, Kinnear, Wagner, rolling steel or barrel ends); and
• whether the overhead door counterbalance torsion springs are fitted with hardware, including but not limited to fasteners, clips, and cones (winding or stationary cones).

For purposes of the diameters referenced above, where the nominal and actual measurements vary, a product is within the scope if application of either the nominal or actual measurement would place it within the scope based on the definitions set forth above.

The steel torsion springs included in the scope of this investigation are produced from steel in which: (1) iron predominates, by weight, over each of the other contained elements; and (2) the carbon content is 2 percent or less, by weight.

Subject merchandise includes cones attached to or entered with and invoiced with the subject overhead door counterbalance torsion springs. Such cones, which are typically cast aluminum, aluminum alloy or steel (but may be made from other materials) are made to mount the subject springs to the overhead door counterbalance system and create and maintain torque in the spring. Cones or other similar fittings that are not attached to the subject springs or are not entered with and invoiced with the subject springs are not included within the scope unless entered as parts of kits as described below.

Subject merchandise also includes all subject overhead door counterbalance torsion springs and cones or other similar fittings for mounting and tensioning the spring entered as a part of overhead door kits, overhead door mounting or assembly kits, or as a part of a spring-operated motor assembly or as a part of a spring winder assembly kit for torsion springs. When counterbalance torsion springs and cones or other similar fittings for attaching and tensioning the torsion spring are entered as a part of such kits, only the counterbalance spring and cones or other similar fittings in the kit are within scope.

Subject merchandise also includes overhead door counterbalance torsion springs that have been further processed in a third country, including but not limited to cutting to length, attachment of hardware, cones or end-fittings, inclusion in garage door kits or garage door mounting or assembly kits, or any other processing that would not remove the merchandise from the scope of this investigation if performed in the country of manufacture of the in-scope overhead door counterbalance torsion springs.

All products that meet the written physical description are within the scope of this investigation unless specifically excluded. The following products are specifically excluded from the scope of this investigation:
• leaf springs (slender arc-shaped length of spring steel of a rectangular cross-section);
• disc springs (conical springs consisting of a convex disc with the outer edge working against the center of the disc);
• extension springs (close-wound round helical wire springs that store and release energy by resisting the external pulling forces applied to the spring's ends in the direction of its length);
• compression springs (helical coiled springs with open wound active coils (such open winding is also known as pitch) that are designed to compress under load or force); and
• spiral springs (torsion springs wound as concentric spirals such as a clock spring or mainspring).

The products subject to this investigation are currently classified under Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS) subheadings 7320.20.5020, 7320.20.5045, and 7320.20.5060. They may also be classified under HTSUS subheading 8412.90.9085 if entered as parts of spring-operated motors. They may also be classified in HTSUS subheading 8412.80.1000 (spring-operated motors) if entered as part of a spring counterweight assembly for an overhead door. They may also be classified in HTSUS subheading 7308.90.9590, a basket category that includes metal garage doors entered with mounting accessories or assemblies.

Although the HTSUS subheadings are provided for convenience and customs purposes, the written description of the scope of this investigation is dispositive.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On November 13, 2024, Commerce published the preliminary results of this review in the Federal Register and invited interested parties to comment.[1] From December 9 through December 20, 2024, Commerce conducted verification of Tokyo Steel Manufacturing Co., Ltd. (Tokyo Steel) and NSC's questionnaire responses.[2]

On December 9, 2024, Commerce tolled the deadline for these final results by 90 days.[3] On May 22, 2025, we extended the deadline for the final results until July 11, 2025.[4] On June 27, 2025, we further extended the deadline for the final results by an additional 30 days to August 11, 2025.[5] On July 18, 2025, Commerce issued a post-preliminary differential pricing analysis.[6] well as a full discussion of the issues raised by parties for these final results, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.[7] Commerce conducted this review in accordance with section 751(a) of the Act.

Scope of the Order [8]

The merchandise covered by the Order is certain hot-rolled steel flat products. For a complete description of the scope of the Order, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.

Analysis of Comments Received

We addressed all issues raised in the case and rebuttal briefs in the Issues and Decision Memorandum, which is hereby adopted with this notice. The list of topics discussed in the Issues and Decision Memorandum is attached as an appendix to this notice. The Issues and Decision Memorandum is a public document and is on file electronically via Enforcement and Compliance's Antidumping and Countervailing Duty Centralized Electronic Service System (ACCESS). ACCESS is available to registered users at https://access.trade.gov. In addition, a complete version of the Issues and Decision Memorandum can be accessed directly at https://access.trade.gov/public/FRNoticesListLayout.aspx.

Changes Since the Preliminary Results

Based on our review and analysis of the comments received from parties, and minor corrections submitted at verification, we made changes to NSC's and Tokyo Steel's preliminary results margin calculations. For a discussion of these changes, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.

Final Results of Review

Commerce determines that the following estimated weighted-average dumping margins exist for the period October 1, 2022, through September 30, 2023:

Producer/exporter	Weighted-average dumping margin (percent)
Nippon Steel Corporation/Nippon Steel Nisshin Co., Ltd./Nippon Steel Trading Corporation [9]	29.70
Tokyo Steel Manufacturing Co., Ltd	0.00

Disclosure

Commerce intends to disclose to interested parties the calculations performed for these final results of review within five days of any public announcement or, if there is no public announcement, within five days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.224(b).

Assessment

Commerce intends to issue assessment instructions to U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) no earlier than 35 days after the date of publication of the final results of this review in the Federal Register. If a timely summons is filed at the U.S. Court of International Trade, the assessment instructions will direct CBP not to liquidate relevant entries until the time for parties to file a request for a statutory injunction has expired (i.e., within 90 days of publication).

Where the respondent reported reliable entered values, we calculated importer- (or customer-) specific ad valorem rates by aggregating the dumping margins calculated for all U.S. sales to each importer (or customer) and dividing this amount by the total entered value of the sales to each importer (or customer).[10] Where Commerce calculated a weighted-average dumping margin by dividing the total amount of dumping for reviewed sales to that party by the total sales quantity associated with those transactions, Commerce will direct CBP to assess importer- (or customer-) specific assessment rates based on the resulting per-unit rates.[11] Where an importer- (or customer-) specific ad valorem or per-unit rate is greater than de minimis (i.e., 0.50 percent), Commerce will instruct CBP to collect the appropriate duties at the time of liquidation.[12] Where an importer- (or customer-) specific ad valorem or per-unit rate is zero or de minimis, Commerce will instruct CBP to liquidate appropriate entries without regard to antidumping duties.[13]

Consistent with Commerce's assessment practice, for entries of subject merchandise during the POR produced by NSC or Tokyo Steel for which the producer did not know that its merchandise was destined for the United States, we will instruct CBP to liquidate unreviewed entries at the all-others rate if there is no rate for the intermediate company(ies) involved in the transaction.[14]

Cash Deposit Requirements

The following cash deposit requirements will be effective for all shipments of subject merchandise entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after the publication date of the final results of this administrative review, as provided for by section 751(a)(2)(C) of the Act: (1) the cash deposit rates for the companies listed in these final results will be equal to the weighted-average dumping margins established in the final results of this review; (2) for merchandise exported by producers or exporters not covered in this review but covered in a prior segment of this proceeding, the cash deposit rate will continue to be the company-specific rate published for the most recently completed segment in which the company was reviewed; (3) if the exporter is not a firm covered in this review or the original less-than-fair-value (LTFV) investigation, but the producer is, the cash deposit rate will be the rate established for the most recently completed segment of this proceeding for the producer of the subject merchandise; and (4) the cash deposit rate for all other producers or exporters will continue to be 5.58 percent,[15] the all-others rate established in the LTFV investigation. These cash deposit requirements, when imposed, shall remain in effect until further notice.

Notification to Importers

This notice serves as a final reminder to importers of their responsibility under 19 CFR 351.402(f)(2) to file a certificate regarding the reimbursement of antidumping duties prior to liquidation of the relevant entries during this POR. Failure to comply with this requirement could result in the presumption that reimbursement of antidumping duties occurred and the subsequent assessment of double antidumping duties.

Administrative Protective Order

This notice also serves as a reminder to parties subject to an administrative protective order (APO) of their responsibility concerning the destruction of proprietary information disclosed under APO in accordance with 19 CFR 351.305(a)(3). Timely written notification of the return or destruction of APO materials or conversion to judicial protective order is hereby requested. Failure to comply with the regulations and terms of an APO is a sanctionable violation.

Notification to Interested Parties

We are issuing and publishing these results in accordance with sections 751(a)(1) and 777(i)(1) of the Act and 19 CFR 351.213(h) and 351.221(b)(5) of Commerce's regulations.

Overhead Door Counterbalance Torsion Springs From the People's Republic of China: Final Affirmative Countervailing Duty Determination and Final Affirmative Critical Circumstances Determination in Part

AGENCY: Enforcement and Compliance, International Trade Administration, Department of Commerce.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Department of Commerce (Commerce) determines that countervailable subsidies are being provided to producers and exporters of overhead door counterbalance torsion springs (overhead door springs) from the People's Republic of China (China). The period of investigation (POI) is January 1, 2023, through December 31, 2023.

DATES: Applicable August 15, 2025.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On April 3, 2025, Commerce published the Preliminary Determination in the Federal Register and invited interested parties to comment.[1] On July 16, 2025, Commerce published the Preliminary Critical Circumstances Determination in the Federal Register.[2] For a complete description of the events that followed the Preliminary Determination and Preliminary Critical Circumstances Determination, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.[3] The Issues and Decision Memorandum is a public document and is on file electronically via Enforcement and Compliance's Antidumping and Countervailing Duty Centralized Electronic Service System (ACCESS). ACCESS is available to registered users at https://access.trade.gov. In addition, a complete version of the Issues and Decision Memorandum can be accessed directly at https://access.trade.gov/public/FRNoticesListLayout.aspx.

Scope of the Investigation

Scope Comments

In the Preliminary Scope Memorandum, we set aside a period of time for parties to raise issues regarding product coverage (i.e., scope) in scope-specific case briefs or other written comments on scope issues.[4] No interested parties commented. Therefore, we made no changes to the scope of the investigation. See Appendix I.

Verification

Commerce did not conduct verification of the respondents under examination in this investigation, because the mandatory respondents either did not provide information requested by Commerce (i.e., Foshan Nanhai Xulong Spring Factory (Xulong Spring)) or withdrew from the investigation (i.e., Tianjin Wangxia Spring Co., Ltd. (Tianjin Wangxia)). Accordingly, because each of the examined respondents is uncooperative in this investigation, Commerce could not conduct verification. See Issues and Decision Memorandum.

Analysis of Comments Received

The subsidy programs under investigation and the issues raised in the case brief filed by an interested party in this investigation are discussed in the Issues and Decision Memorandum. For a list of the topics raised to which we responded in the Issues and Decision Memorandum, see Appendix II.

Methodology

Commerce conducted this investigation in accordance with section 701 of the Act. For each of the subsidy programs found to be countervailable, Commerce determines that there is a subsidy, i.e., a financial contribution by an ''authority'' that gives rise to a benefit to the recipient, and that the subsidy is specific.[5] For a full description of the methodology underlying our final determination, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.

In making this final determination, Commerce relied, in part, on facts otherwise available, including with an adverse inference, pursuant to sections 776(a) and (b) of the Act. For a full discussion of our application of adverse facts available (AFA), see the ''Use of Facts Otherwise Available and Application of Adverse Inferences'' section in the Issues and Decision Memorandum.

Final Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances, in Part

Commerce preliminarily determined, in accordance with section 703(e)(1) of the Act and 19 CFR 351.206(c)(1), that critical circumstances existed with respect to imports of overhead door springs produced and/or exported by Xulong Spring, Tianjin Wangxia, and the non-responsive companies,[6] but that critical circumstances did not exist with respect to all other producers and/or exporters not individually examined.[7]

For this final determination, pursuant to section 705(a)(2) of the Act and 19 CFR 351.206, we are continuing to find that critical circumstances exist for Xulong Spring, Tianjin Wangxia, and the non-responsive companies, and do not exist for all other producers and/or exporters. With respect to finding that critical circumstances exist for Xulong Spring, Tianjin Wangxia, and the non-responsive companies, we relied on AFA, pursuant to sections 776(a) and (b) of the Act. For a full description of the methodology, changes to the Preliminary Critical Circumstances Determination, and results of Commerce's critical circumstances analysis, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.

Changes Since the Preliminary Determination

Based on Tianjin Wangxia's withdrawal from the investigation and Commerce's subsequent cancellation of verification, for this final determination, we made certain changes to the countervailable subsidy rate calculations for Tianjin Wangxia. Additionally, we made certain changes to the countervailable subsidy rates applicable to Xulong Spring, the non-responsive companies, and for all other producers/exporters. For a discussion of these changes, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.

All-Others Rate

Sections 703(d) and 705(c)(5)(A) of the Act provide that Commerce shall determine an estimated all-others rate for companies not individually examined. This rate shall be an amount equal to the weighted average of the estimated subsidy rates established for those companies individually examined, excluding any zero and de minimis rates and any rates based entirely under section 776 of the Act.

Pursuant to section 705(c)(5)(A)(ii) of the Act, if the individual estimated countervailable subsidy rates established for all exporters and producers individually examined are zero, de minimis, or determined entirely under section 776, Commerce may use any reasonable method to establish the estimated subsidy rate for all other producers and/or exporters. Commerce in this investigation has determined the subsidy rates for the individually examined respondents under section 776 of the Act. Consequently, as a reasonable method, Commerce is determining the all-others rate based on the rate determined for Xulong Spring and Tianjin Wangxia, the mandatory respondents in this investigation, as determined under section 776 of the Act, as this is the only rate available in this proceeding.[8] For a full description of the methodology underlying Commerce's analysis, see the Issues and Decision Memorandum.

Final Determination

Commerce determines that the following estimated countervailable subsidy rates exist for the period January 1, 2023, through December 31, 2023:

Tianjin Wangxia Spring Co. Ltd.[9]	* 257.46
Foshan Nanhai Xulong Spring Factory	* 257.46
Beled Co., Ltd./Beled (Shenzhen) Commerce Co., Ltd	* 257.46
Jiaxing Taike Springs Co., Ltd	* 257.46
Kowloon Metal Spring Factory	* 257.46
Ningbo I Promise Import Export	* 257.46
Xiamen Globe Truth (GT) Industries	* 257.46
All Others[10]	257.46

* This rate is based on AFA.

Disclosure

Commerce intends to disclose its calculations and analysis performed to interested parties in this final determination within five days of any public announcement, or if there is no public announcement, within five days of the date of the publication of this notice in the Federal Register, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.224(b).

Commerce instructed U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) to collect cash deposits and suspend liquidation of entries of subject merchandise, as described in the scope of the investigation section, entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after April 3, 2025, the date of publication of the Preliminary Determination in the Federal Register. As a result of the Preliminary Critical Circumstances Determination, Commerce instructed CBP to collect cash deposits and suspend liquidation of entries of subject merchandise covered by the scope of the investigation entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after January 3, 2025 (90 days prior to the Preliminary Determination) for Xulong Spring, Tianjin Wangxia, and the non-responsive companies for which Commerce preliminarily found that critical circumstances exist.[11] In accordance with section 703(d) of the Act, we instructed CBP to discontinue the suspension of liquidation of all entries of subject merchandise entered or withdrawn from warehouse, on or after August 1, 2025, the first day provisional measures were no longer in effect, but to continue the suspension of liquidation of all entries of subject merchandise on or before July 31, 2025.

If the U.S. International Trade Commission (ITC) issues a final affirmative injury determination, we will issue a countervailing duty order, reinstate the suspension of liquidation under section 706(a) of the Act, and require a cash deposit of estimated countervailing duties for such entries of subject merchandise in the amounts indicated above. Pursuant to section 705(c)(2) of the Act, if the ITC determines that material injury, or threat of material injury, does not exist, this proceeding will be terminated, and all estimated duties deposited, or securities posted, as a result of the suspension of liquidation will be refunded or canceled.

ITC Notification

In accordance with section 705(d) of the Act, Commerce will notify the ITC of its final affirmative determination that countervailable subsidies are being provided to producers and/or exporters of overhead door springs from China. Because the final determination is affirmative, in accordance with section 705(b) of the Act, the ITC will determine, within 45 days, whether the domestic industry in the United States is materially injured, or threatened with material injury, by reason of imports of overhead door springs from China. In addition, we are making available to the ITC all non-privileged and non-proprietary information related to this investigation. We will allow the ITC access to all privileged and business proprietary information in our files, provided the ITC confirms that it will not disclose such information, either publicly or under an administrative protective order (APO), without the written consent of the Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Compliance.

Administrative Protective Order

In the event that the ITC issues a final negative injury determination, this notice will serve as the only reminder to parties subject to an APO of their responsibility concerning the destruction of proprietary information disclosed under APO, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.305(a)(3). Timely written notification of the return/destruction of APO materials or conversion to judicial protective order is hereby requested. Failure to comply with the regulations and terms of an APO is a violation which is subject to sanction.

Notification to Interested Parties

This determination is issued and published pursuant to sections 705(d) and 777(i) of the Act, and 19 CFR 351.210(c).

Dated: August 11, 2025.

Deputy Assistant Secretary for Policy and Negotiations, performing the non-exclusive functions and duties of the Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Compliance.

Appendix I

Scope of the Investigation

The merchandise covered by this investigation is helically-wound, overhead door counterbalance torsion steel springs (overhead door counterbalance torsion springs) and any cones, plugs or other similar fittings for mounting and creating torque in the spring (herein collectively referred to as cones) attached to or entered with and invoiced with the subject overhead door counterbalance torsion springs. Overhead door counterbalance torsion springs are helical steel springs with tightly wound coils that store and release mechanical energy by winding and unwinding along the spring's axis by an angle, using torque to create a lifting force in the counterbalance assembly typically used to raise and lower overhead doors, including garage doors, industrial rolling doors, warehouse doors, trailer doors, and other overhead doors, gates, grates, or similar devices. The merchandise covered by this investigation covers all overhead door counterbalance torsion springs with a coil inside diameter of 15.8 millimeters (mm) or more but not exceeding 304.8 mm (measured across the diameter from inner edge to inner edge); a wire diameter of 2.5 mm to 20.4 mm; a length of 127 mm or more; and regardless of the following characteristics:

- wire type (including, but not limited to, oil-tempered wire, hard-drawn wire, music wire, galvanized or other coated wire);
- wire cross-sectional shape (e.g., round, square, or other shapes);
- coating (e.g., uncoated, oil- or water-based coatings, lubricant coatings, zinc, aluminum, zinc-aluminum, paint or plastic coating, etc.);
- winding orientation (left-hand or right-hand wind direction);
- end type (including, but not limited to, looped, double looped, clipped, long length, mini warehouse, Barcol, Crawford, Kinnear, Wagner, rolling steel or barrel ends); and
- whether the overhead door counterbalance torsion springs are fitted with hardware, including but not limited to fasteners, clips, and cones (winding or stationary cones).

For purposes of the diameters referenced above, where the nominal and actual measurements vary, a product is within the scope if application of either the nominal or actual measurement would place it within the scope based on the definitions set forth above.

The steel torsion springs included in the scope of this investigation are produced from steel in which: (1) iron predominates, by weight, over each of the other contained elements; and (2) the carbon content is 2 percent or less, by weight.

Subject merchandise includes cones attached to or entered with and invoiced with the subject overhead door counterbalance torsion springs. Such cones, which are typically cast aluminum, aluminum alloy or steel (but may be made from other materials) are made to mount the subject springs to the overhead door counterbalance system and create and maintain torque in the spring. Cones or other similar fittings that are not attached to the subject springs or are not entered with and invoiced with the subject springs are not included within the scope unless entered as parts of kits as described below.

Subject merchandise also includes all subject overhead door counterbalance torsion springs and cones or other similar fittings for mounting and tensioning the spring entered as a part of overhead door kits, overhead door mounting or assembly kits, or as a part of a spring-operated motor assembly or as a part of a spring winder assembly kit for torsion springs. When counterbalance torsion springs and cones or other similar fittings for attaching and tensioning the torsion spring are entered as a part of such kits, only the counterbalance spring and cones or other similar fittings in the kit are within scope.

Subject merchandise also includes overhead door counterbalance torsion springs that have been further processed in a third country, including but not limited to cutting to length, attachment of hardware, cones or end-fittings, inclusion in garage door kits or garage door mounting or assembly kits, or any other processing that would not remove the merchandise from the scope of this investigation if performed in the country of manufacture of the in-scope overhead door counterbalance torsion springs.

All products that meet the written physical description are within the scope of this investigation unless specifically excluded. The following products are specifically excluded from the scope of this investigation:

- leaf springs (slender arc-shaped length of spring steel of a rectangular cross-section);
- disc springs (conical springs consisting of a convex disc with the outer edge working against the center of the disc);
- extension springs (close-wound round helical wire springs that store and release energy by resisting the external pulling forces applied to the spring's ends in the direction of its length);
- compression springs (helical coiled springs with open wound active coils (such open winding is also known as pitch) that are designed to compress under load or force); and
- spiral springs (torsion springs wound as concentric spirals such as a clock spring or mainspring).

The products subject to this investigation are currently classified under Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS) subheadings 7320.20.5020, 7320.20.5045, and 7320.20.5060. They may also be classified under HTSUS subheading 8412.90.9085 if entered as parts of spring-operated motors. They may also be classified in HTSUS subheading 8412.80.1000 (spring-operated motors) if entered as part of a spring counterweight assembly for an overhead door. They may also be classified in HTSUS subheading 7308.90.9590, a basket category that includes metal garage doors entered with mounting accessories or assemblies.

Although the HTSUS subheadings are provided for convenience and customs purposes, the written description of the scope of this investigation is dispositive.

Additionally, we are rescinding this administrative review with respect to six companies for which there were no reviewable entries of subject merchandise during the POR. We invite interested parties to comment on these preliminary results of review.

DATES: Applicable August 15, 2025.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On April 27, 2007, Commerce published in the Federal Register the antidumping duty order on activated carbon from China.[1] On April 1, 2024, Commerce published a notice of opportunity to request an administrative review of the Order, pursuant to section 751(a)(1) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Act).[2] On June 12, 2024, based on timely requests for review from certain interested parties,[3] Commerce initiated an administrative review of the Order covering 20 companies,[4] including the two mandatory respondents, DJAC and Ningxia Huahui.[5] On July 22, 2024, Commerce tolled certain administrative deadlines in this review by seven days.[6] On December 9, 2024, Commerce tolled administrative deadlines in this review by an additional 90 days.[7] On March 11, 2025, Commerce extended the deadline for the preliminary results, which is now August 5, 2025.[8]

For a complete description of the events that followed the initiation of this review, see the Preliminary Decision Memorandum.[9] A list of topics included in the Preliminary Decision Memorandum is provided in Appendix I to this notice. Scope of the Order

The product covered by the Order is activated carbon from China. For a complete description of the scope of the Order, see the Preliminary Decision Memorandum.[10]

Rescission of Review, in Part

Pursuant to 19 CFR 351.213(d)(3), Commerce's practice is to rescind an administrative review when there are no reviewable entries of subject merchandise during the POR for which liquidation is suspended.[11] Normally, upon completion of an administrative review, the suspended entries are liquidated at the antidumping duty assessment rate calculated for the review period.[12] Therefore, to conduct an administrative review of a company, there must be a suspended entry that Commerce can instruct U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) to liquidate at the antidumping duty assessment rate calculated for the POR.[13]

On June 16, 2025, we notified parties of our intent to rescind this administrative review, in part, with respect to the companies listed in Appendix IV because there were no suspended entries of subject merchandise produced or exported by these firms during the POR. We invited interested parties to comment.[14] No parties commented on our intent to rescind the review with respect to these companies. Thus, in the absence of suspended entries of subject merchandise from these companies during the POR, we are rescinding the administrative review with respect to the companies listed in Appendix IV, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.213(d)(3).

Methodology

Commerce is conducting this review in accordance with section 751(a)(1)(B) of the Act. We calculated export price in accordance with section 772 of the Act. Because China is a non-market economy (NME) country within the meaning of section 771(18) of the Act, we calculated NV in accordance with section 773(c) of the Act. For a full description of the methodology underlying our preliminary results, see the Preliminary Decision Memorandum.[15]

Separate Rates

In the Initiation Notice, we informed parties that all firms for which a review was initiated that wished to qualify for separate rate status must complete, as appropriate, either a separate rate application (SRA) or a separate rate certification (SRC).[16] Commerce preliminarily determines that DJAC and Ningxia Huahui and the seven companies listed in Appendix II are eligible to receive a separate rate in this review. Commerce also preliminarily determines that the five companies listed in Appendix III are not eligible to receive a separate rate and are, therefore, considered part of the China-wide entity because each of them failed to file an SRA or SRC. For further discussion, see the Preliminary Decision Memorandum.

Separate Rate Calculation

The Act and Commerce's regulations do not address the establishment of a separate rate to be applied to companies not selected for individual examination when Commerce limits its examination in an administrative review pursuant to section 777A(c)(2) of the Act. Generally, Commerce looks to section 735(c)(5) of the Act, which provides instructions for calculating the all-others rate in an investigation, for guidance when calculating the rate for separate rate respondents which Commerce did not examine individually in an administrative review. Section 735(c)(5)(A) of the Act states that the all-others rate should be calculated by averaging the weighted-average dumping margins calculated for individually-examined respondents, excluding dumping margins that are zero, de minimis, or based entirely on facts available.

For the preliminary results of this review, Commerce determined the estimated dumping margins for DJAC and Ningxia Huahui are $1.41/kg and $1.30/kg, respectively. For the reasons explained in the Preliminary Decision Memorandum, we are assigning to the seven non-examined respondents which qualify for a separate rate in this review, an estimated dumping margin of $1.34/kg, consistent with Commerce's practice and section 735(c)(5)(A) of the Act.

China-Wide Entity

Under Commerce's policy regarding the conditional review of the China-wide entity,[17] the China-wide entity will not be under review unless a party specifically requests, or Commerce self-initiates, a review of the entity. Because no party requested a review of the China-wide entity in this review, the entity is not under review, and the entity's rate (i.e., $2.42/kg) is not subject to change.[18] Because each of the companies listed in Appendix III failed to timely file an SRA or SRC in this proceeding, we preliminarily find that each company is ineligible for a separate rate and is considered part of the China-wide entity.

Preliminary Results of Review

Commerce preliminarily determines that the following weighted-average dumping margins exist for the period April 1, 2023, through March 31, 2024:

Exporter	Weighted-average dumping margin (U.S. dollars per kilogram) [19]
Datong Juqiang Activated Carbon Co., Ltd	1.41
Ningxia Huahui Environmental Technology Co., Ltd	1.30
Separate Rate for Non-Examined Companies [20]	1.34

Disclosure

Commerce intends to disclose the calculations performed for these preliminary results to interested parties within five days after public announcement, or if there is no public announcement, within five days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register.[21]

Public Comment

Case briefs or other written comments may be submitted to the Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Compliance. Pursuant to 19 CFR 351.309(c)(1)(ii), we have modified the deadline for interested parties to submit case briefs to no later than 21 days after the date of the publication of this notice.[22] Rebuttal briefs, limited to issues raised in the case briefs, may be filed no later than five days after the date for filing case briefs.[23] Parties who submit case briefs or rebuttal briefs in this proceeding are encouraged to submit with each argument: (1) a table of contents listing each issue; and (2) a table of authorities.[24] All briefs must be filed electronically using ACCESS. An electronically filed document must be received successfully in its entirety in ACCESS by 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on the established deadline.

As provided under 19 CFR 351.309(c)(2) and (d)(2), in prior proceedings we have encouraged interested parties to provide an executive summary of their brief that should be limited to five pages total, including footnotes. In this review, we instead request that interested parties provide at the beginning of their briefs a public, executive summary for each issue raised in their briefs.[25] Further, we request that interested parties limit their public executive summary of each issue to no more than 450 words, not including citations. We intend to use the public executive summaries as the basis of the comment summaries included in the issues and decision memorandum that will accompany the final results in this administrative review. We request that interested parties include footnotes for relevant citations in the public executive summary of each issue. Note that Commerce has amended certain of its requirements pertaining to the service of documents in 19 CFR 351.303(f).[26]

Pursuant to 19 CFR 351.310(c), interested parties who wish to request a hearing must submit a written request to the Acting Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Compliance, U.S. Department of Commerce, filed electronically via ACCESS within 30 days after publication of this notice. Requests should contain: (1) the requesting party's name, address, and telephone number; (2) the number of individuals associated with the requesting party that will attend the hearing and whether any of those individuals is a foreign national; and (3) a list of issues the party intends to discuss at the hearing. Issues raised in the hearing will be limited to issues raised in the respective case briefs. If a request for a hearing is made, Commerce intends to hold the hearing at a date and time to be determined.[27] Parties should confirm the date, time, and location of the hearing two days before the scheduled date.

Assessment Rates

In accordance with section 751(a)(2)(C) of the Act, the final results of this review shall be the basis for assessment of antidumping duties on entries of merchandise covered by this review.[28] Upon issuance of the final results, Commerce shall determine, and U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) shall assess, antidumping duties on all appropriate entries covered by this review.[29] Commerce intends to issue assessment instructions to CBP no earlier than 35 days after the date of publication of the final results of this review in the Federal Register. If a timely summons is filed at the U.S. Court of International Trade, the assessment instructions will direct CBP not to liquidate relevant entries until the time for parties to file a request for a statutory injunction has expired (i.e., within 90 days of publication).

If the individually examined respondents' weighted-average dumping margins are above de minimis (i.e., 0.50 percent) in the final results of this review, we will calculate importer or customer-specific assessment rates for each respondent on the basis of the ratio of the total amount of dumping calculated for each importer or customer's examined sales and, where possible, the total entered value of those same sales in accordance with 19 CFR 351.212(b)(1).[30] Where a respondent did not report entered value, we will calculate importer or customer-specific per-unit duty assessment rates based on the ratio of the total amount of antidumping duties calculated for the examined sales to the total quantity of those sales.

Where an importer-specific or customer-specific assessment rate is zero or de minimis, we will instruct CBP to liquidate the appropriate entries without regard to antidumping duties. For entries that were not reported in the U.S. sales database submitted by each mandatory respondent individually examined during this review, Commerce will instruct CBP to liquidate such entries at the rate for the China-wide entity.[31]

For the respondents that were not selected for individual examination in this administrative review but qualified for a separate rate, the per unit assessment rate will be the rate established for these companies in the final results of review.

For the final results of this review, if we continue to treat the five companies identified in Appendix III to this notice as part of the China-wide entity, we will instruct CBP to apply the China-wide per-unit assessment rate to all entries of subject merchandise during the POR which were exported by those companies.

For the companies listed in Appendix IV, for which this review is being rescinded, Commerce will instruct CBP to assess antidumping duties on all appropriate entries. Antidumping duties shall be assessed at rates equal to the cash deposit rate for estimated antidumping duties required at the time of entry, or withdrawal from warehouse, for consumption, in accordance with 19 CFR 351.212(c)(1)(i). With respect to the recission of this review, in part, Commerce intends to issue assessment instructions to CBP no earlier than 35 days after the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register.

Cash Deposit Requirements

The following cash deposit requirements will be effective upon publication of the final results of this administrative review for all shipments of the subject merchandise from China entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after the publication date, as provided for by section 751(a)(2)(C) of the Act: (1) for the subject merchandise exported by the companies listed above that have a separate rate, the cash deposit rate will be equal to the weighted-average dumping margin established in the final results of this administrative review (except, if the rate is zero or de minimis, then zero cash deposit will be required); (2) for previously investigated or reviewed Chinese and non-Chinese exporters not listed above that received a separate rate in a prior segment of this proceeding, the cash deposit rate will continue to be the existing exporter-specific rate; (3) for all Chinese exporters of subject merchandise that have not been found to be entitled to a separate rate, the cash deposit rate will be that for the China-wide entity; and (4) for all non-Chinese exporters of subject merchandise which have not received their own rate, the cash deposit rate will be the rate applicable to the Chinese exporter that supplied that non-Chinese exporter. These deposit requirements, when imposed, shall remain in effect until further notice. These deposit requirements, when imposed, shall remain in effect until further notice.

Final Results of Review

Unless otherwise extended, Commerce intends to issue the final results of this administrative review, including the results of its analysis of issues raised in case and rebuttal briefs, within 120 days of publication of these preliminary results of review in the Federal Register, pursuant to section 751(a)(3)(A) of the Act.

Notification to Importers

This notice serves as a preliminary reminder to importers of their responsibility under 19 CFR 351.402(f) to file a certificate regarding the reimbursement of antidumping duties prior to liquidation of the relevant entries during this POR. Failure to comply with this requirement could result in Commerce's presumption that reimbursement of antidumping duties occurred and the subsequent assessment of double antidumping duties.

Notification to Interested Parties

We are issuing and publishing these preliminary results of review in accordance with sections 751(a)(l) and 777(i)(l) of the Act, and 19 CFR 351.213 and 351.221(b)(4).

Final Environmental Impact Statement for Real Property Master Plan Implementation at Military Ocean Terminal Sunny Point, North Carolina (ID# EISX–007–21–001–1751989587)

AGENCY: Department of the Army, DoD.

ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: The Department of the Army (Army) announces the availability of the Final Environmental Impact Statement (FEIS) for implementing proposed real property actions at Military Ocean Terminal Sunny Point (MOTSU), North Carolina. This FEIS evaluates the potential effects of the implementation of various projects needed for the safety and mission of the facility and provides an analysis of the effects of implementing real property maintenance, repair, upgrade, and development actions. The proposed action is needed to address improvements to real property related to explosive safety, waterfront maintenance, security, and linear infrastructure. The projects and programs address compliance with federal, state, DoD, and Army standards vital to safety, security, and other mission needs. The document includes a final Finding of No Practicable Alternative (FONPA) prepared because portions of the proposed action occur in floodplains or involve construction in wetlands, or both.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Frederick Rice, Director, Public and Congressional Affairs Office, Military Surface Deployment and Distribution Command; telephone: (618) 220–6284; email: frederick.l.rice.civ@army.mil.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: MOTSU is the Military Surface Deployment and Distribution Command's East Coast strategic ammunition port and is among DoD's seaports supporting global operations. The proposed action includes barricade safety, waterfront maintenance, Pleasure Island Explosive Safety Clear Zone security, linear infrastructure (e.g., roads, rail, utilities, and firebreaks), stormwater mitigation, and cantonment area infill. The proposed action also includes modernizing operation areas and general repair and maintenance of infrastructure, to include facilities, wharves, roads, rail, utilities, and perimeter security. The proposed projects address critical mission requirements and are planned for fiscal years 2026 through 2031.

The FEIS evaluates the potential effects associated with implementing the proposed RPMP activities, to include analyzing Full-Plan Implementation, a Partial Implementation Alternative, and a No-Action Alternative. The FEIS assesses the effects of the alternatives on resources and identifies mitigation measures. Resource areas and potential effects addressed include coastal zone management, air quality, noise, geology and soils, water resources, biological resources, and cultural resources. Consultation with applicable regulatory agencies has been concluded.

Executive Order (E.O.) 11988, Floodplain Management, requires that if an agency finds that the only practicable alternative for an action requires siting in a floodplain, the agency shall design or modify its action in order to minimize potential harm to or within the floodplain. Under E.O. 11990, Protection of Wetlands, an agency must avoid undertaking new construction in wetlands unless the agency finds that there is no practicable alternative to such construction. The Army determined that elements of the proposed action must be located within portions of the floodplain and wetlands at MOTSU. Accordingly, a FONPA—i.e., a description of the anticipated impacts and reasoning why the only practicable alternative is to locate the proposed action within floodplains and wetlands—has been prepared and included in the FEIS.

The FEIS is available on the project website at: https://www.amc.army.mil/Resources/Environmental-Information/. This notice that the FEIS is available to the public starts a 30-day waiting period. No sooner than the conclusion of that waiting period, the Army will publish a Record of Decision.

Title of Collection: Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) 2024–25 through 2026–27.

OMB Control Number: 1850–0582.

Type of Review: A revision of a currently approved ICR.

Respondents/Affected Public: Private Sector; State, Local, and Tribal Governments.

Total Estimated Number of Annual Responses: 65,868.

Total Estimated Number of Annual Burden Hours: 740,511.

Abstract: In 2023, the Supreme Court ruled in Students for Fair Admissions v. President and Fellows of Harvard College (SFFA v. Harvard) that discrimination on the basis of race in admissions violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment and Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Despite the ruling in SFFA, the continued widespread emphasis on ''diversity, equity, and inclusion'' (DEI) in higher education causes concerns that unlawful practices may persist because DEI has been used as a pretext to advance overt and insidious racial discrimination. The federal government does not currently collect racial data on admissions and scholarships and has limited tools to ensure widescale compliance with Title VI. Greater transparency through the collection of this type of information will help to expose unlawful practices, enable the Department to better enforece Title VI, and create good incentives for voluntary compliance.

To address these concerns, President Donald J. Trump issued a Presidential Memorandum on August 7, 2025 entitled ''Ensuring Transparency in Higher Education Admissions,'' available at https://www.whitehouse.gov/presidential-actions/2025/08/ensuring-transparency-in-higher-education-admissions/. In that memorandum, President Trump directed the Secretary of Education to, within 120 days of that date, ''expand the scope of required [IPEDS] reporting to provide adequate transparency into admissions.'' On that same day, Secretary McMahon issued a directive to NCES to initiate a series of changes to IPEDS during the 2025–26 school year. That directive is available at https://www.ed.gov/media/document/secretary-directive-ensuring-transparency-higher-education-admissions-august-7-2025-110497.pdf. The data to be collected from this effort will capture information that could indicate whether institutions of higher education are using race-based preferencing in their admissions processes.

As such, in this submission, we are requesting to add the new IPEDS ''Admissions and Consumer Transparency Supplement'' (ACTS) survey component. This component is expected to be applicable to all four-year institutions who utilize selective college admissions, as these institutions have an elevated risk of noncompliance with the civil rights laws. Likewise, these institutions have a higher risk of noncompliance in awarding scholarships because of their selectivity. Open-access institutions, such as community colleges and trade schools, have minimal or no risk for civil rights noncompliance in admssions because they admit all (or the vast majority of) students who apply. These institutions may present some risk of noncompliance in awarding scholarships. A Directed Question about the scope of this survey component appears below.

The ACTS component will collect data separately for undergraduate and graduate students. For undergraduate students, we anticipate the component will collect data by race-sex pair on: (1) the count of institutions' applied, admitted, and enrolled cohorts, both overall and further disaggregated by admission test score quintiles, GPA quintiles, ranges of family income, Pell Grant eligibility, and parental education; (2) the average high school grade point average and admission test score quintiles for institutions' applied, admitted, and enrolled cohorts; (3) the count of students admitted via early action, early decision, or regular admissions.

Among newly enrolled undergraduate students, we anticipate the ACTS component will collect data by race-sex pair on both the count and average amount of students receiving: (1) any institutional grant aid, (2) merit-based institutional grant aid, (3) need-based institutional grant aid and (4) any local, state, or federal government aid overall, and further disaggregated by admission test score quintiles, GPA quintiles, ranges of family income, and enrollment via early action, early decision, or regular admissions.

We anticipate the ACTS component will also collect data overall and by race-sex pair on (1) students' average cumulative GPA at the end of the academic year; (2) the average cost of attendance, and further disaggregated by admission test score quintiles, ranges of high school grade point average, ranges of family income, and enrollment via early action, early decision, or regular admissions. (3) graduation rates further disaggregated by admission test score quintiles and ranges of high school grade point average; and (4) graduates' final cumulative grade point average. Additional data may be gathered to better understand remedial or other non-credit coursework for newly enrolled students.

For graduate students, many of the same data elements identified above are anticipated. However, data on graduate students will be further disaggregated by broad fields of study defined by the following CIP codes: Arts & Humanities (CIP codes: 4, 5, 16, 23, 24, 30, 38, 39, 50, 54); Education (CIP code: 13); Public Service (CIP codes: 25, 42, 43, 44); Agriculture, Consumer Services, and Trades (CIP codes: 1, 3, 9, 10, 12, 19, 31, 46, 47, 48, 49); Business (CIP code: 52); Other Social Sciences (CIP codes: 45.01, 45.02, 45.03, 45.04, 45.05, 45.07, 45.09, 45.11, 45.12, 45.13, 45.14, 45.99); Economics/Political Science (CIP codes: 45.06, 45.10); STEM (CIP codes: 11, 14, 15, 26, 27, 28, 29, 40, 41); Health (CIP code: 51); Medical Residencies (CIP code: 60.02, 60.04, 60.05); Other Residency Programs (60.01, 60.03, 60.06); Law (CIP code: 22). Graduate programs are to be broken down by fields of study due to the fact that applicants apply directly to institutional departments based on their field of study.

In the 2025–26 survey only, the new component will seek to capture data not only from the 2025–26 academic year but also from the five prior academic years. Data will be collected from the five prior academic years to establish a baseline of admissions practices from before the Supreme Court decision in SFFA v. Harvard. This baseline is crucial to helping to track racial changes in admissions practices. Data alone is not determinative as to whether institutions are engaging in unlawful discrimination, but the Department may use data to develop risk-based enforcement practices. As such, in the 2025–26 survey, institutions should anticipate providing admissions data for the 2020–21 through 2025–26 academic years. Similarly, graduation rates reported in the 2025–26 survey should cover not only academic year 2024–25, but also academic years 2019–20 through 2023–24.

Directed Questions. The Department invites you to submit all aspects of the proposed data collection. We are particularly interested in commenters' feedback on the questions listed below.

(1) Applicable Institutions. The Department is interested in feedback pertaining to the types of institutions required to complete the ACTS component, including whether there are other objective characteristics that the Department could use to identify institutions that have a low-risk or high-risk of noncompliance with Title VI. In addition, the Department is interested in feedback regarding whether open-enrollment institutions are at-risk of noncompliance with respect to scholarship awarding practices that provide preferential treatment based upon race. Feedback received will help to inform us as to whether we should narrow or expand the scope of institutions required to complete the ACTS component.

(2) Time Burden. The Department is interested in feedback pertaining to the anticipated amount of time it will take for your institution to compile and submit the anticipated data elements in ACTS.

Brian Fu,

Acting Chief Data Officer Office of Planning, Evaluation and Policy Development.

Records Governing Off-The-Record Communications; Public Notice

This constitutes notice, in accordance with 18 CFR 385.2201(b), of the receipt of prohibited and exempt off-the-record communications.

Order No. 607 (64 FR 51222, September 22, 1999) requires Commission decisional employees, who make or receive a prohibited or exempt off-the-record communication relevant to the merits of a contested proceeding, to deliver to the Secretary of the Commission, a copy of the communication, if written, or a summary of the substance of any oral communication.

Prohibited communications are included in a public, non-decisional file associated with, but not a part of, the decisional record of the proceeding. Unless the Commission determines that the prohibited communication and any responses thereto should become a part of the decisional record, the prohibited off-the-record communication will not be considered by the Commission in reaching its decision. Parties to a proceeding may seek the opportunity to respond to any facts or contentions made in a prohibited off-the-record communication and may request that the Commission place the prohibited communication and responses thereto in the decisional record. The Commission will grant such a request only when it determines that fairness so requires. Any person identified below as having made a prohibited off-the-record communication shall serve the document on all parties listed on the official service list for the applicable proceeding in accordance with Rule 2010, 18 CFR 385.2010.

Exempt off-the-record communications are included in the decisional record of the proceeding, unless the communication was with a cooperating agency as described by 40 CFR 1501.6, made under 18 CFR 385.2201(e)(1)(v).

The following is a list of off-the-record communications recently received by the Secretary of the Commission. Public Participation

There are three ways to become involved in the Commission's review of this project: you can file comments on the project, you can protest the filing, and you can file a motion to intervene in the proceeding. There is no fee or cost for filing comments or intervening. The deadline for filing a motion to intervene is 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on September 2, 2025. How to file protests, motions to intervene, and comments is explained below.

The Commission's Office of Public Participation (OPP) supports meaningful public engagement and participation in Commission proceedings. OPP can help members of the public, including landowners, community organizations, Tribal members and others, access publicly available information and navigate Commission processes. For public inquiries and assistance with making filings such as interventions, comments, or requests for rehearing, the public is encouraged to contact OPP at (202) 502–6595 or OPP@ferc.gov.

Comments

Any person wishing to comment on the project may do so. Comments may include statements of support or objections, to the project as a whole or specific aspects of the project. The more specific your comments, the more useful they will be.

Protests

Pursuant to sections 157.10(a)(4) [1] and 385.211 [2] of the Commission's regulations under the NGA, any person [3] may file a protest to the application. Protests must comply with the requirements specified in section 385.2001 [4] of the Commission's regulations. A protest may also serve as a motion to intervene so long as the protestor states it also seeks to be an intervenor.

To ensure that your comments or protests are timely and properly recorded, please submit your comments on or before 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on September 2, 2025.

There are three methods you can use to submit your comments or protests to the Commission. In all instances, please reference the Project docket number CP25–535–000 in your submission.

(1) You may file your comments electronically by using the eComment feature, which is located on the Commission's website at www.ferc.gov under the link to Documents and Filings. Using eComment is an easy method for interested persons to submit brief, text-only comments on a project;

(2) You may file your comments or protests electronically by using the eFiling feature, which is located on the Commission's website (www.ferc.gov) under the link to Documents and Filings. With eFiling, you can provide comments in a variety of formats by attaching them as a file with your submission. New eFiling users must first create an account by clicking on ''eRegister.'' You will be asked to select the type of filing you are making; first select ''General'' and then select ''Comment on a Filing''; or

(3) You can file a paper copy of your comments or protests by mailing them to the following address below. Your written comments must reference the Project docket number (CP25–535–000).

[2] 18 CFR 385.211.

[3] Persons include individuals, organizations, businesses, municipalities, and other entities. 18 CFR 385.102(d).

To file via any other courier: Debbie-Anne A. Reese, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 12225 Wilkins Avenue, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

The Commission encourages electronic filing of comments (options 1 and 2 above) and has eFiling staff available to assist you at (202) 502–8258 or FercOnlineSupport@ferc.gov.

The Commission considers all comments received about the project in determining the appropriate action to be taken. However, the filing of a comment alone will not serve to make the filer a party to the proceeding. To become a party, you must intervene in the proceeding. For instructions on how to intervene, see below.

Interventions

Any person, which includes individuals, organizations, businesses, municipalities, and other entities,[5] has the option to file a motion to intervene in this proceeding. Only intervenors have the right to request rehearing of Commission orders issued in this proceeding and to subsequently challenge the Commission's orders in the U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeal.

To intervene, you must submit a motion to intervene to the Commission in accordance with Rule 214 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure[6] and the regulations under the NGA[7] by the intervention deadline for the project, which is 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on September 2, 2025. As described further in Rule 214, your motion to intervene must state, to the extent known, your position regarding the proceeding, as well as your interest in the proceeding. For an individual, this could include your status as a landowner, ratepayer, resident of an impacted community, or recreationist. You do not need to have property directly impacted by the project in order to intervene. For more information about motions to intervene, refer to the FERC website at https://www.ferc.gov/resources/guides/how-to/intervene.asp.

There are two ways to submit your motion to intervene. In both instances, please reference the Project docket number CP25–535–000 in your submission.

(1) You may file your motion to intervene by using the Commission's eFiling feature, which is located on the Commission's website (www.ferc.gov) under the link to Documents and Filings. New eFiling users must first create an account by clicking on ''eRegister.'' You will be asked to select the type of filing you are making; first select ''General'' and then select ''Intervention.'' The eFiling feature includes a document-less intervention option; for more information, visit https://www.ferc.gov/docs-filing/efiling/document-less-intervention.pdf.; or

(2) You can file a paper copy of your motion to intervene, along with three copies, by mailing the documents to the address below. Your motion to intervene must reference the Project docket number CP25–535–000.

To file via USPS: Debbie-Anne A. Reese, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 888 First Street NE, Washington, DC 20426.

To file via any other courier: Debbie-Anne A. Reese, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 12225 Wilkins Avenue, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

The Commission encourages electronic filing of motions to intervene (option 1 above) and has eFiling staff available to assist you at (202) 502–8258 or FercOnlineSupport@ferc.gov.

Protests and motions to intervene must be served on the applicant either by mail at: Blair Lichtenwalter, Senior Director, Regulatory Affairs, Rover Pipeline LLC, 1300 Main Street, Houston, Texas 77002, or by email (with a link to the document) at blair.lichtenwalter@energytransfer.com. Any subsequent submissions by an intervenor must be served on the applicant and all other parties to the proceeding. Contact information for parties can be downloaded from the service list at the eService link on FERC Online. Service can be via email with a link to the document.

All timely, unopposed[8] motions to intervene are automatically granted by operation of Rule 214(c)(1).[9] Motions to intervene that are filed after the intervention deadline are untimely, and may be denied. Any late-filed motion to intervene must show good cause for being late and must explain why the time limitation should be waived and provide justification by reference to factors set forth in Rule 214(d) of the Commission's Rules and Regulations.[10]

A person obtaining party status will be placed on the service list maintained by the Secretary of the Commission and will receive copies (paper or electronic) of all documents filed by the applicant and by all other parties.

Tracking the Proceeding

Throughout the proceeding, additional information about the project will be available from the Commission's Office of External Affairs, at (866) 208–FERC, or on the FERC website at www.ferc.gov using the ''eLibrary'' link as described above. The eLibrary link also provides access to the texts of all formal documents issued by the Commission, such as orders, notices, and rulemakings.

In addition, the Commission offers a free service called eSubscription which allows you to keep track of all formal issuances and submittals in specific dockets. This can reduce the amount of time you spend researching proceedings by automatically providing you with notification of these filings, document summaries, and direct links to the documents. For more information and to register, go to www.ferc.gov/docs-filing/esubscription.asp.

Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Company, LLC; Notice of Availability of the Final General Conformity Determination Reevaluation for the Northeast Supply Enhancement Project

The staff of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC or Commission) has prepared a Final General Conformity Determination Reevaluation (GCD Reevaluation) for the Northeast Supply Enhancement Project (Project), proposed by Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Company, LLC (Transco) in the above-referenced dockets. The Final GCD Reevaluation was prepared to satisfy the requirements of the Clean Air Act. The Final GCD Reevaluation assesses the potential air quality impacts associated with the construction and operation of the following Project facilities:

[7] 18 CFR 157.10.

[8] The applicant has 15 days from the submittal of a motion to intervene to file a written objection to the intervention.

[9] 18 CFR 385.214(c)(1).

[10] 18 CFR 385.214(b)(3) and (d).

• 10.2 miles of 42-inch-diameter pipeline loop [1] in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania (the Quarryville Loop);
• 3.4 miles of 26-inch-diameter pipeline loop in Middlesex County, New Jersey (the Madison Loop);
• 23.5 miles of 26-inch-diameter pipeline loop onshore and offshore in Middlesex and Monmouth Counties, New Jersey and Queens and Richmond Counties, New York (Raritan Bay Loop);
• modification of existing Compressor Station 200 in Chester County, Pennsylvania;
• new Compressor Station 206 in Somerset County, New Jersey; and ancillary facilities.

The Final GCD Reevaluation identifies that all emissions above the General Conformity applicability thresholds from construction of the Project are expected to occur in New York and New Jersey within the New Jersey-New York-Connecticut Interstate Air Quality Control Region. The Final GCD Reevaluation concludes that the Project would achieve conformity with the New York and New Jersey State Implementation Plans through the purchase of emission reduction credits of nitrogen oxides to offset Project emissions.

The Final GCD Reevaluation is only available in electronic format. It may be viewed and downloaded from the FERC's website (www.ferc.gov) using the eLibrary link. Certain New Chemicals or Significant New Uses; Statements of Findings—June 2025

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA) requires EPA to publish in the Federal Register a statement of its findings after its review of certain TSCA submissions when EPA makes a finding that a new chemical substance or significant new use is not likely to present an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment. Such statements apply to premanufacture notices (PMNs), microbial commercial activity notices (MCANs), and significant new use notices (SNUNs) submitted to EPA under TSCA. This document presents statements of findings made by EPA on such submissions during the period from June 1, 2025 to June 30, 2025.

ADDRESSES: The docket for this action, identified by docket identification (ID) number EPA–HQ–OPPT–2025–0077, is available online at https://www.regulations.gov. Additional information about dockets generally, along with instructions for visiting the docket in-person, is available at *https://www.epa.gov/*dockets.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Executive Summary

A. Does this action apply to me?

This action provides information that is directed to the public in general.

B. What action is the Agency taking?

This document lists the statements of findings made by EPA after review of submissions under TSCA section 5(a) that certain new chemical substances or significant new uses are not likely to present an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment. This document presents statements of findings made by EPA during the applicable period.

C. What is the Agency's authority for taking this action?

TSCA section 5(a)(3) requires EPA to review a submission under TSCA section 5(a) and make specific findings pertaining to whether the substance may present unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment. Among those potential findings is that the chemical substance or significant new use is not likely to present an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment per TSCA Section 5(a)(3)(C).

TSCA section 5(g) requires EPA to publish in the Federal Register a statement of its findings after its review of a submission under TSCA section 5(a) when EPA makes a finding that a new chemical substance or significant new use is not likely to present an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment. Such statements apply to PMNs, MCANs, and SNUNs submitted to EPA under TSCA section 5.

Anyone who plans to manufacture (which includes import) a new chemical substance for a non-exempt commercial purpose and any manufacturer or processor wishing to engage in a use of a chemical substance designated by EPA as a significant new use must submit a notice to EPA at least 90 days before commencing manufacture of the new chemical substance or before engaging in the significant new use.

The submitter of a notice to EPA for which EPA has made a finding of ''not likely to present an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment'' may commence manufacture of the chemical substance or manufacture or processing for the significant new use notwithstanding any remaining portion of the applicable review period.

II. Statements of Findings Under TSCA Section 5(a)(3)(C)

In this unit, EPA identifies the PMNs, MCANs and SNUNs for which EPA has made findings under TSCA section 5(a)(3)(C) that the new chemical substances or significant new uses are not likely to present an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment. For the findings made during this period, the following list provides the EPA case number assigned to the TSCA section 5(a) submission and the chemical identity (generic name if the specific name is claimed as confidential).

- P–24–0110, Alkyl fatty acids, polymers with substituted heteropolycyclic, substituted carbomonocycle, carbomonocyclic dicarboxylic acid and trisubstituted alkyl, substituted alkyl alkenoate-blocked, polymers with substituted alkene, substituted bis alkylalkanenitrile-initiated heteromonocyclic alkenoate-substituted alkanoic acid-alkyl alkenoate polymer alkenoate, heteromonocyclic alkenoate, substituted alkyl alkenoate, alkyl alkenoate, alkyl alkenoate, alkenoic acid and substituted carbomonocycle, alkyl substituted alkyl alkanoate initiated, and substituted bis alkylalkanenitrile-initiated (Generic Name).

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

Fees for Cruise Ship Operational Sanitation, Construction, and Renovation Inspections

AGENCY: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).

ACTION: General notice.

SUMMARY: The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), within the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) announces the vessel sanitation inspection fees instituted in fiscal year (FY) 2025 will continue in FY 2026 and remain in place until further notice or a modification is published. These inspections are conducted by HHS/CDC's Vessel Sanitation Program (VSP). VSP helps the cruise line industry fulfill its responsibility for developing and implementing comprehensive sanitation programs to minimize the risk for environmentally associated illnesses and hazards. Every vessel that has a foreign itinerary and carries 13 or more passengers is subject to twice-yearly unannounced operations inspections and, when necessary, reinspection.

DATES: Fiscal year (FY) 2025 fees for vessel sanitation inspections will continue in FY 2026 and remain in place until further notice.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Purpose and Background

HHS/CDC established the Vessel Sanitation Program (VSP) in the 1970s as a cooperative activity with the cruise ship industry. VSP helps the cruise ship industry prevent and control the introduction and spread of environmentally associated illnesses and hazards on cruise ships. VSP operates under the authority of the Public Health Service Act (Section 361 of the Public Health Service Act; 42 U.S.C. 264, ''Control of Communicable Diseases''). Regulations found at 42 CFR 71.41 (Foreign Quarantine—Requirements Upon Arrival at U.S. Ports: Sanitary Inspection; General Provisions) state that carriers arriving at U.S. ports from foreign areas are subject to sanitary inspections to determine potential rodent, insect, or other vermin infestations; contaminated food or water; or other sanitary conditions requiring measures to prevent introduction or spread of communicable diseases.

The fee schedule for sanitation inspections of passenger cruise ships by VSP was first published in the Federal Register on November 24, 1987 (52 FR 45019). HHS/CDC began collecting fees on March 1, 1988. The fee schedule was most recently published in the Federal Register on September 23, 2024 (89 FR 77513). This notice announces FY 2025 fees for inspections will continue in FY26 and remain in place until further notice or a modification is published. The fee schedule is presented in Appendix A.

The following formula will be used to determine the fees:

$$Average\ cost\ per\ inspection = \frac{Total\ cost\ of\ VSP}{Weighted\ number\ of\ annual\ inspections}$$

Total cost of VSP = Total cost of operating the program, such as administration, travel, staffing, sanitation inspections, and outbreak response.

Weighted number of annual inspections = Total number of ships and inspections per year accounting for vessel size, number of inspectors needed for vessel size, travel logistics to conduct inspections, and vessel location and arrivals in U.S. jurisdiction per year.

Fee

The fee schedule (Appendix A) will remain in place until further notice.

Applicability

The fees will apply to all passenger cruise vessels for which inspections are conducted as part of HHS/CDC's VSP.

Noah Aleshire,

Chief Regulatory Officer, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

Section 564 of the FD&C Act (21 U.S.C. 360bbb–3) as amended by the Project BioShield Act of 2004 (Pub. L. 108–276) and the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act of 2013 (Pub. L. 113–5) allows FDA to strengthen the public health protections against biological, chemical, radiological, or nuclear agent or agents. Among other things, section 564 of the FD&C Act allows FDA to authorize the use of an unapproved medical product or an unapproved use of an approved medical product in certain situations.

On October 14, 2020, FDA issued the Authorization to LumiraDx UK Ltd. for the LumiraDx SARS CoV–2 RNA STAR Complete, subject to the terms of the Authorization. Notice of the issuance of this Authorization was published in the Federal Register on April 23, 2021 (86 FR 21749), as required by section 564(h)(1) of the FD&C Act.

Subsequent updates to the Authorization were made available on FDA's website. The authorization of a device for emergency use under section 564 of the FD&C Act may, pursuant to section 564(g)(2) of the FD&C Act, be revoked when the criteria under section 564(c) of the FD&C Act for issuance of such authorization are no longer met (section 564(g)(2)(B) of the FD&C Act), or other circumstances make such revocation appropriate to protect the public health or safety (section 564(g)(2)(C) of the FD&C Act).

II. Authorization Revocation Request

In a request received by FDA on November 8, 2024, LumiraDx UK Ltd. requested the revocation of, and on April 15, 2025, FDA revoked, the Authorization for the LumiraDx UK Ltd.'s LumiraDx SARS CoV–2 RNA STAR Complete. LumiraDx UK Ltd. notified FDA that they have ceased manufacture of the authorized product, and requested FDA revoke the LumiraDx UK Ltd.'s LumiraDx SARS CoV–2 RNA STAR Complete. FDA has determined that it is appropriate to protect the public health or safety to revoke this Authorization.

III. Electronic Access

An electronic version of this document and the full text of the revocation is available on the internet at https://www.regulations.gov/.

IV. The Revocation

Having concluded that the criteria for revocation of the Authorization under section 564(g)(2)(C) of the FD&C Act are met, FDA has revoked the EUA for LumiraDx UK Ltd.'s LumiraDx SARS CoV–2 RNA STAR Complete. The revocation in its entirety follows and provide an explanation of the reason for revocation, as required by section 564(h)(1) of the FD&C Act.

U.S. FOOD & DRUG ADMINISTRATION

Justin Davis
Regulatory Affairs, U.S. Representative
LumiraDx UK Ltd.
Roche House Charles Avenue
Burgess Hill, England, RH15 9RY
Re: Revocation of EUA202584

Dear Justin Davis:
This letter is in response to the request from LumiraDx UK Ltd., in an email dated November 8, 2024, that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) revoke the EUA for the LumiraDx SARS CoV-2 RNA STAR Complete issued on October 14, 2020, revised and reissued on February 9, 2021, March 29, 2021, November 30, 2021, and February 18, 2022, and amended on March 22, 2021, April 13, 2021, September 23, 2021, April 25, 2022, August 17, 2022, September 15, 2022, February 22, 2023, and July 10, 2023. LumiraDx UK Ltd. indicated that they have ceased manufacture of the authorized product and requested that the EUA be revoked. FDA understands that as of the date of this letter there are no viable LumiraDx SARS CoV-2 RNA STAR Complete reagents remaining in distribution in the United States.

The authorization of a device for emergency use under section 564 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the Act) (21 U.S.C. 360bbb-3) may, pursuant to section 564(g)(2) of the Act, be revoked when circumstances make such revocation appropriate to protect the public health or safety (section 564(g)(2)(C) of the Act). Because LumiraDx UK Ltd. has requested that FDA revoke the EUA for the LumiraDx SARS CoV-2 RNA STAR Complete, FDA has determined that it is appropriate to protect the public health or safety to revoke this authorization. Accordingly, FDA hereby revokes EUA202584 for the LumiraDx SARS CoV-2 RNA STAR Complete, pursuant to section 564(g)(2)(C) of the Act. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is hosting a hybrid public workshop entitled ''Advancing the Development of Interchangeable Products: Identifying Future Needs,'' in accordance with the commitment in section II.D.3 of the BsUFA III commitment letter. The purpose of the public workshop is to seek stakeholder input on potential areas that need to be addressed to facilitate the development of interchangeable biosimilar products. Input received during the workshop will inform the development of a draft strategy document that outlines specific actions FDA will take to facilitate the development of interchangeable biosimilar products and that FDA will publish, for public input, within 12 months following the workshop.

II. Topics for Discussion at the Public Workshop

FDA and industry stakeholders invited by FDA will provide perspectives on future needs for the development of interchangeable biosimilar products. Additionally, FDA subject matter experts will discuss product quality considerations for biosimilars (including interchangeable biosimilars) and considerations around interchangeability from the perspective of user interface and human factor aspects related to delivery devices as well as other considerations around interchangeability of biological products. Following speaker presentations, presenters will participate in a moderated panel discussion and question and answer session.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Health Resources and Services Administration

Notice of Supplemental Award; Infant-Toddler Court Program—National Resource Center

AGENCY: Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), Department of Health and Human Services.

ACTION: Notice of supplemental funding.

SUMMARY: HRSA is providing additional award funds of $1,750,000 in federal fiscal year (FY) 2025 to ZERO TO THREE National Center for Infant, Toddler and Families, Inc., the current recipient of the Infant-Toddler Court Program (ITCP)—National Resource Center (NRC) cooperative agreement (HRSA–22–074), to support the continuation of existing activities, using the Infant Toddler Court (ITC) approach, to improve child welfare and early childhood systems and advance early developmental health and well-being. The supplemental funding would provide financial and technical support to local infant-toddler court sites that previously received funding under HRSA–18–123, but that do not currently receive HRSA funding under HRSA–22–073/074, and expand technical assistance (TA) needed to support the continuation and expansion of State Award activities funded under HRSA–22–073/074.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ekaterina Zoubak, Early Childhood Systems Analyst, Division of Home Visiting and Early Childhood Systems, HRSA, at ezoubak@hrsa.gov or 240–475–8014.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Intended Recipient of the Award: ZERO TO THREE National Center for Infant, Toddler and Families, Inc.

Amount of Non-Competitive Award: $1,750,000.

Project Period: September 30, 2025–September 29, 2026.

Assistance Listing Number: 93.110.

Award Instrument: Non-competitive supplemental funding to the existing Cooperative Agreement.

Authority: 42 U.S.C. 701(a)(2) (Title V, § 501(a)(2) of the Social Security Act).

TABLE 1—RECIPIENT(S) AND AWARD AMOUNT(S)

Grant No.	Award recipient name	City, state	Award amount
U2DMC32394	ZERO TO THREE National Center for Infant, Toddler and Families, Inc.	Washington, DC	$1,750,000

Justification: In FY 2022, under the authority for Special Projects of Regional and National Significance (SPRANS) (42 U.S.C. 701(a)(2) (Title V, § 501(a)(2) of the Social Security Act)), HRSA awarded the ITCP National Resource Center to ZERO TO THREE National Center for Infant, Toddler and Families, Inc (HRSA–22–074). This award included expectations for the recipient to provide TA to the ITCP (HRSA–22–073) recipients and support the nationwide implementation and sustainability of the evidence-based ITC approach.

A Congressional Report accompanying the Further Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2024 (Pub. L. 118–47) included funding to ''to continue and expand research-based Infant-Toddler Court Teams to change child welfare practices to improve wellbeing for infants, toddlers, and their families,'' (Senate Report 118–84). In addition, the Joint Explanatory Statement accompanying the FY 2024 appropriations act directed HRSA to ''allocate funding to ensure continuation of existing grantees, technical assistance, and other activities.'' In FY 2024, HRSA provided a supplement of $1,750,000 in SPRANS to the NRC Program recipient to continue work initiated in FY 2023 (with an increased SPRANS appropriation), to expand TA to ITC teams, provide financial and technical support to local infant-toddler court sites that previously received funding under HRSA–18–123, and advance national-level reach and impact of the program.

Consistent with previous Congressional intent, HRSA, through its Maternal and Child Health Bureau, will provide a supplement of $1,750,000 in SPRANS funding to the ITCP NRC Program recipient to continue to provide subawards and technical assistance to ITC teams, expand technical assistance to ITC teams funded under HRSA–22–073/074 and advance the reach and impact of the program.

This supplement will improve access to evidence-based child welfare practices and improve the early developmental health and well-being of infants, toddlers, and their families. Supplemental funding for similar activities may be considered in future years, subject to the availability of funding for the activity and satisfactory performance.

Administrator.

Abstract: HRSA seeks to collect data on the Scholarships for Disadvantaged Students (SDS) Program Specific Form, which will assist the agency in making funding decisions for SDS program awards. The SDS Program Specific Form and another form, the Bureau of Health Workforce (BHW) Program Specific Data Form, are currently approved under OMB No. 0906–0073 with an expiration date of November 30, 2025. This clearance is for the approval of one form, the SDS Program Specific Form, and removal of the BHW Program Specific Data Form. For programmatic efficiency, HRSA will move the BHW Program Specific Data Form to another ICR that reports data outcomes post grant award. The information collection request has been renamed to the Scholarships for Disadvantaged

Students Program Specific Form in accordance with these updates.

A 60-day notice published in the Federal Register on May 28, 2025, Vol. 90, No. 101; pp. 22494. There were no public comments.

Need and Proposed Use of the Information: The SDS Program Specific Form seeks to assist HRSA in assessing applicants for the SDS Program, which makes grant awards to eligible schools to provide scholarships to full-time, financially needy students from disadvantaged backgrounds enrolled in health professions programs. To qualify for participation in the SDS program, a school must carry out a program in accordance with section 737(d)(1)(B) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 293a(d)(1)(B)). To meet this requirement, a school must provide data via the SDS Program Specific Form to confirm that at least 20 percent of the school's full-time enrolled students and graduates are from a disadvantaged background. Additionally, to successfully make awards, the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall give priority to eligible entities based on proportions of students/graduates in accordance with section 737(c) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 293a(c)). This form will be used to collect 3 years of student and participant data from SDS program applicants and does not include substantive changes.

Likely Respondents: Institutions that apply for SDS program awards.

Burden Statement: Burden in this context means the time expended by persons to generate, maintain, retain, disclose, or provide the information requested. This includes the time needed to review instructions; to develop, acquire, install, and utilize technology and systems for the purpose of collecting, validating, and verifying information, processing and maintaining information, and disclosing and providing information; to train personnel and to be able to respond to a collection of information; to search data sources; to complete and review the collection of information; and to transmit or otherwise disclose the information. The total annual burden hours estimated for this ICR are summarized in the table below.

TOTAL ESTIMATED ANNUALIZED BURDEN HOURS

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY

Federal Emergency Management Agency

Agency Information Collection Activities: Proposed Collection; Comment Request; FEMA Reasonable Accommodation Medical Request Form

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency, Department of Homeland Security.

ACTION: 60-Day notice of new collection and request for comments.

SUMMARY: The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), as part of its continuing effort to reduce paperwork and respondent burden, invites the general public to take this opportunity to comment on an existing information collection in use without an OMB control number. In accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, this notice seeks comments concerning FEMA's new instrument to collect information to make informed reasonable accommodation decisions.

DATES: Comments must be submitted on or before October 14, 2025.

ADDRESSES: Submit comments at www.regulations.gov under Docket ID FEMA–2025–0015. Follow the instructions for submitting comments.

All submissions received must include the agency name and Docket ID, and will be posted, without change, to the Federal eRulemaking Portal at http://www.regulations.gov, and will include any personal information you provide. Therefore, submitting this information makes it public. You may wish to read the Privacy and Security Notice that is available via a link on the homepage of www.regulations.gov.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Alejandro Ortiz, Disability Support Branch Chief, Office of Civil Rights, (202) 813–2511 or Alejandro.Ortiz@fema.dhs.gov. You may contact the Information Management Division for copies of the proposed collection of information at FEMA-Information-Collections-Management@fema.dhs.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FEMA is making a submission to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for this collection of information requesting medical documentation from a licensed health care provider about the functional limitations, duration, and need for a reasonable accommodation that support an employee or applicant's request for reasonable accommodation in accordance with the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, 29 CFR part 1614, and Executive Order 13163 on Increasing the Opportunity for Individuals With Disabilities To Be Employed in the Federal Government.

Consistent with the law, FEMA managers have a right to request medical documentation when a disability or need for accommodation is not known or obvious. The intended respondents include primarily employees and their respective licensed health care providers but may also include applicants for FEMA employment. Generally, two individuals will complete each form, the requestor and the licensed medical professional. An estimated 2,000 individuals will be requested to fill out this form annually, and an estimated 232 will respond to the collection of information.

FEMA managers will use the information gathered to inform decisions about whether to grant an accommodation and determine together with the employee in an interactive process what accommodations would most appropriately address the requestor's functional limitations. The medical data on this form will be considered confidential and will only be distributed to those in the organization with a need to know. The data will be saved in an approved system of records (authorized by the Department of Homeland Security), which will require an additional recordkeeping burden of approximately 2 hours per form (including analyzing the form and saving the form in the approved recordkeeping system).

Collection of Information

Title: FEMA Reasonable Accommodation Medical Request Form.

Type of Information Collection: New Collection.

OMB Number: 1660–NW179.

FEMA Forms: FEMA Form FF–256–FY–25–100, FEMA Reasonable Accommodation Medical Request Form.

Abstract: FEMA's new form supports a fair, efficient, and consistent process for evaluating employee requests for reasonable accommodations. It ensures that medical information is collected by license health care providers, helping the agency make informed decisions. FEMA is streamlining the process by ensuring that all necessary and relevant information is consistently captured. By providing a clear and uniform structure, it enhances efficiency for employees and licensed health care providers, while reducing the potential for delays caused by incomplete or insufficient submissions of medical documentation.

Affected Public: Business or other for-profit, and not-for-profit institutions.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 232.

Estimated Number of Responses: 232.

Estimated Total Annual Burden Hours: 116.

Estimated Total Annual Respondent Cost: $7,901.

Estimated Respondents' Operation and Maintenance Costs: $0.

Estimated Total Annual Cost to the Federal Government: $469,728.

Comments

Comments may be submitted as indicated in the ADDRESSES caption above. Comments are solicited to (a) evaluate whether the proposed data collection is necessary for the proper performance of the Agency, including whether the information shall have practical utility; (b) evaluate the accuracy of the Agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used; (c) enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This notice announces HUD's intention to sell due and payable Secretary-held reverse mortgage loans in HVLS 2025–3. HUD is offering approximately 1,945 reverse mortgage notes with a loan balance of approximately $550 million. The mortgage loans consist of first liens secured by single family, vacant residential properties, where all borrowers are deceased, and no borrower is survived by a non-borrowing spouse.

A listing of the mortgage loans will be included in the due diligence materials made available to eligible bidders. The mortgage loans will be sold without FHA insurance and with servicing released.

The Bidding Process

The BIP describes in detail the procedure for bidding in HVLS 2025–3. The BIP also includes the applicable standardized non-negotiable Conveyance, Assignment and Assumption Agreements for HVLS 2025–3 (CAA). The CAAs will NOT contain first look requirements or mission outcome goals.

HUD will evaluate the bids submitted and determine the successful bids, in terms of the best value to HUD, in its sole and absolute discretion. If a bidder is successful, it will be required to submit a deposit which will be calculated based upon the total dollar value of the bidder's potential award. Award will be contingent on receiving the deposit in the timeframe outlined in the bid deposit confirmation. The deposit amount will be applied to the sale price on the settlement date.

This notice provides some of the basic terms of sale. The CAA will be released in the BIP or BIP Supplement, as applicable. These documents provide comprehensive contractual terms and conditions to which eligible bidders will acknowledge and agree. To ensure a competitive bidding process, the terms of the bidding process and the CAA are not subject to negotiation.

Due Diligence Review

The BIP describes how eligible bidders may access the due diligence materials remotely via a high-speed internet connection.

Mortgage Loan Sale Policy

HUD reserves the right to remove mortgage loans from a sale at any time prior to the Award Date and the settlement date for the mortgage loans. HUD also reserves the right to reject any and all bids, in whole or in part, and include any unsold reverse mortgage loans from the HVLS 2025–3 sale in a later sale. Deliveries of mortgage loans will occur in conjunction with settlement and servicing transfer no later than 60 days after the Award Date.

The reverse mortgage loans offered for sale were insured by and were assigned to HUD pursuant to section 255 of the National Housing Act, as amended. The sale of the reverse mortgage loans is pursuant to HUD's authority in section 204(g) of the National Housing Act.

Mortgage Loan Sale Procedure

HUD selected an open competitive whole-loan sale as the method to sell the reverse mortgage loans for this specific sale transaction. For the HVLS 2025–3 sale, HUD has determined that this method of sale optimizes HUD's return on the sale of these reverse mortgage loans, affords the greatest opportunity for all eligible bidders to bid on the reverse mortgage loans, and provides the quickest and most efficient vehicle for HUD to dispose of the due and payable reverse mortgage loans.

Bidder Ineligibility

In order to bid in HVLS 2025–3 as an eligible bidder, a prospective bidder must complete, execute, and submit a Confidentiality Agreement and a Qualification Statement (HUD–9611) that is acceptable to HUD. In past sales, nonprofit and governmental entities were able to submit an addendum (HUD–9612), which required additional certifications and documentation regarding the entity's organizational structure. This additional information collection will be removed for HVLS 2025–3. Nonprofit and governmental entities will be required to certify eligibility only under the Qualification Statement (HUD–9611). The Confidentiality Agreement and Qualification Statement collectively are the ''Qualification Statement Documents.'' In the Qualification Statement, the prospective bidder must disclose its key employees, including officers, directors and other decision makers and provide certain representations and warranties regarding the prospective bidder, including (i) the prospective bidder's board of directors, (ii) the prospective bidder's direct parent, (iii) the prospective bidder's subsidiaries, (iv) any related entity with which the prospective bidder shares a common officer, director, subcontractor or sub-contractor who has access to Confidential Information as defined in the Confidentiality Agreement or is involved in the formation of a bid transaction (collectively the ''Related Entities''), and (v) the prospective bidder's repurchase lenders. The prospective bidder is ineligible to bid on any of the reverse mortgage loans included in HVLS 2025–3 if the prospective bidder, its Related Entities, or its repurchase lenders, are any of the following, unless other exceptions apply as provided for in the Qualification Statement.

1. An individual or entity that is currently debarred, suspended, or excluded from doing business with HUD pursuant to the Governmentwide Suspension and Debarment regulations at 2 CFR parts 180 and 2424;

2. An individual or entity that is currently suspended, debarred, or otherwise restricted by any department or agency of the federal government or of a state government from doing business with such department or agency;

3. An individual or entity that is currently debarred, suspended, or excluded from doing mortgage related business, including having a business license suspended, surrendered or revoked, by any federal, state, or local government agency, division, or department;

4. An entity that has had its right to act as a Government National Mortgage Association (''Ginnie Mae'') issuer terminated and its interest in mortgages backing Ginnie Mae mortgage-backed securities extinguished by Ginnie Mae;

5. An individual or entity that is in violation of its neighborhood stabilizing outcome obligations or post-sale reporting requirements under a Conveyance, Assignment and Assumption Agreement executed for a past sale;

6. An employee of HUD's Office of Housing, a member of such employee's household, or an entity owned or controlled by any such employee or member of such an employee's household with household to be inclusive of the employee's father, mother, stepfather, stepmother, brother,

7. A contractor, subcontractor, and/or consultant or advisor (including any agent, employee, partner, director, or principal of any of the foregoing) who performed services for or on behalf of HUD in connection with the sale;

8. An individual or entity that knowingly acquired or will acquire prior to the sale date material non-public information, other than that information which is made available to Bidder by HUD pursuant to the terms of this Qualification Statement, about mortgage loans offered in the sale;

9. An individual or entity which knowingly employs or uses the services of an employee of HUD's Office of Housing (other than in such employee's official capacity); or

10. An individual or entity that knowingly uses the services, directly or indirectly, of any person or entity ineligible under 1 through 10 to assist in preparing any of its bids on the mortgage loans.

The Qualification Statement has additional representations and warranties which the prospective bidder must make, including but not limited to the representation and warranty that the prospective bidder or its Related Entities are not and will not knowingly use the services, directly or indirectly, of any person or entity that is, any of the following (and to the extent that any such individual or entity would prevent the prospective bidder from making the following representations, such individual or entity has been removed from participation in all activities related to this sale and has no ability to influence or control individuals involved in formation of a bid for this sale):

(1) An entity or individual is ineligible to bid on any included reverse mortgage loan or on the pool containing such reverse mortgage loan because it is an entity or individual that:

(a) Serviced or held such reverse mortgage loan at any time during the six-month period prior to the bid, or

Even if HUD elects not to publicly disclose any information relating to HVLS 2025–3, HUD will disclose any information that HUD is obligated to disclose pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act and all regulations promulgated thereunder.

Scope of Notice

This notice applies to HVLS 2025–3 and does not establish HUD's policy for the sale of other mortgage loans. Additional information regarding sale structure, loan pool composition, and bidding procedures will be provided in subsequent announcements.

Bureau of Land Management

[A2407–014–004–065516; #O2412–014–004–047181.1]

Draft Environmental Assessment, Public Hearing, and Request for Comment on Maximum Economic Recovery and Fair Market Value for the Navajo Transitional Energy Company Proposed Federal Coal Lease Modification for MTM 110693 and Lease-By-Application and Mining Plan for MTM 105485–01, Big Horn County, MT AGENCY: Bureau of Land Management, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of availability and public hearing.

SUMMARY: The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement (OSMRE) announce that a draft environmental assessment (EA) is available. The draft EA analyzes the Navajo Transitional Energy Company's Federal coal lease modification application (LMA), serial number MTM 110693, and lease-by-application (LBA) and mining plan, MTM 105485–01, for Spring Creek Mine. The BLM also announces that a public hearing will be held to receive comments on the Fair Market Value (FMV), Maximum Economic Recovery (MER), and on factors that may affect the FMV and MER determinations of the coal resources contained in the proposed LBA lease tracts. The BLM and OSMRE take these actions in compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended; the Mineral Leasing Act, as amended; and the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, as amended.

DATES: The draft EA will be available on August 15, 2025. A public hearing will be held on Friday, August 15, 2025, from 3 p.m. until 6 p.m. Mountain Time (MT).

ADDRESSES: The public hearing will be held at the Sheridan County Courthouse, Room #210, second floor, 224 S. Main Street, Sheridan, WY 82801. Any updates to the public hearing will be provided through the ePlanning project website and a press release.

The draft EA and documents pertinent to this proposal are available on the BLM ePlanning project website at https://eplanning.blm.gov/eplanning-ui/project/2039569/510.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Tessa Wallace, BLM Montana/Dakotas State Office, Solid Minerals, 5001 Southgate Dr., Billings, MT 59101; telephone: 406–896–5086; email: tlwallace@blm.gov.

Individuals in the United States who are deaf, deafblind, hard of hearing, or have a speech disability may dial 711 (TTY, TDD, or TeleBraille) to access telecommunications relay services for contacting Ms. Wallace. Individuals outside the United States should use the relay services offered within their country to make international calls to the point-of-contact in the United States.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The purpose and need for the BLM's Federal action is to respond to Navajo Transitional Energy Company's LMA and LBA to lease Federal coal resources at the Spring Creek Mine in Montana. The Federal tracts associated with the LBA and LMA contain approximately 177 million tons of minable coal over approximately 1,412 acres which could be mined through 2034. The purpose of OSMRE's Federal action is to conduct an analysis of the potential environmental effects of the proposed mining plan for the proposed MTM 1105485–01 lease. OSMRE will use this analysis to inform its recommendation to the Assistant Secretary for Land and Minerals Management, who may approve, disapprove, or approve with conditions the proposed Federal mining plan. Three alternatives are analyzed in the draft EA.

Comments on the FMV and MER received from the public will be considered and incorporated as appropriate into the final written report.

The tracts for the proposed MTM 110693 lease modification and MTM 105485–01 lease underlie Federal and private surface and are described as follows:

Abstract: Each year, more than 7,000 visitors to the various units of the National Park System file reports of lost or found items. Found property not claimed by the owner, an authorized representative of the owner, or the finder, shall be deemed abandoned and disposed of in accordance with title 41 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background: Section 1205(a) of the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988 (the 1988 Act) (19 U.S.C. 3005) requires that the Commission keep the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (Harmonized Tariff Schedule or HTS) under continuous review and periodically recommend to the President such modifications in the HTS as the Commission considers necessary or appropriate to conform the HTS with amendments made to the International Convention on the Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System (Convention), which contains the Harmonized System nomenclature in the Annex to the Convention. The World Customs Organization (WCO) administers and maintains the Harmonized System and has completed six systematic reviews of the Harmonized System nomenclature since 1988. The reviews are conducted to ensure that the Harmonized System is kept up to date in light of changes in technology or patterns of international trade.

The Harmonized System nomenclature provides uniform product architecture for the customs tariffs and statistical nomenclatures of all major trading countries of the world, including the United States. The Harmonized System establishes the general arrangement or structure of product categories, set forth in chapters, 4-digit headings, and 6-digit subheadings. It also includes the general rules of interpretation, and section and chapter legal notes that define the scope of sections, chapters, 4-digit headings, and 6-digit subheadings. The HTS is based on the Harmonized System nomenclature. The HTS includes additional national subdivisions (8-digit subheadings and 10-digit statistical annotations), as well as additional U.S. chapter notes, and other national provisions that facilitate the administration of U.S. customs, tariff, and statistical programs.

In January 2026, the WCO is expected to publish recommended amendments to the Harmonized System nomenclature that the WCO proposes will enter into force on January 1, 2028. The amendments are the seventh in a series of such amendments and are part of the WCO's ongoing program of periodically reviewing and updating the Harmonized System nomenclature. The Commission will post a copy of the WCO recommended amendments on its website at www.usitc.gov, once they become available, likely in January 2026. A copy of the current HTS, which incorporates the Harmonized System nomenclature in its overall structure, is available on the Commission's website at https://hts.usitc.gov.

Proposed recommendations; opportunity for submission of views by Federal agencies and the public: In preparing its recommended modifications to the HTS to the President, the Commission will post the proposed recommendations on its website, likely in February 2026. The Commission will publish a notice in the Federal Register at that time providing notice of their availability and notice of procedures for filing written views, including the date by which such written views must be filed. To assist the public in understanding the proposed changes and in developing comments, the Commission will include, with the proposed recommendations, a non-authoritative cross-reference table linking the proposed headings, subheadings, and statistical annotations to the corresponding current headings, subheadings, and statistical annotations. Persons using the cross-reference table should be aware that the cross-references shown are subject to change during the course of the investigation.

Recommendations to the President: The Commission will submit its recommended modifications to the HTS to the President in the form of a report that will include a summary of the information on which the recommendations were based, together with a statement of the probable economic effect of each recommended change on any industry in the United States. The report also will include a copy of all written views submitted by interested Federal agencies and a copy or summary, prepared by the Commission, of the views of all other interested parties. The Commission expects to submit that report in September 2026.

By order of the Commission.

Issued: August 12, 2025.

Lisa Barton,

Secretary to the Commission.

[OMB 1140–0107]

Agency Information Collection Activities; Proposed eCollection eComments Requested; Revision of a Previously Approved Collection; NFA Responsible Person Questionnaire, ATF Form 5320.23

AGENCY: Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives, Department of Justice.

ACTION: 60-Day notice.

SUMMARY: The Department of Justice (DOJ), The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF), will be submitting the following information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for review and approval in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995.

DATES: Comments are encouraged and will be accepted for 60 days until October 14, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: If you have additional comments, especially on the estimated public burden or associated response time, suggestions, or need a copy of the proposed information collection instrument with instructions or additional information, contact: Meghan Tisserand, Division Staff, National Firearms Act Division, either by mail at National Firearms Act Division; Division Staff Office; 244 Needy Road; Martinsburg, WV 25405, by email at meghan.tisserand@atf.gov, or by telephone at 304–616–3219.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: We encourage written comments and suggestions from the public and affected agencies concerning the proposed information collection. Your comments should address one or more of the following four points:

—Evaluate whether the proposed information collection is necessary to properly perform the identified functions of the Bureau, including whether the information will have practical utility;

—Evaluate the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the proposed information collection's burden, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

—Evaluate whether, and if so how, the agency can enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information being collected; and —Minimize the information collection's burden on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting responses to be submitted electronically.

Abstract: When a trust or other legal entity (including corporations, married couples jointly registering a firearm, etc) must submit ATF Form 5320.1 (''Form 1''), Application to Make and Register NFA Firearm, as the maker, or is identified as the transferee on ATF Form 5320.4 (''Form 4''), Application to Transfer and Register NFA Firearm (Tax-Paid), or ATF Form 5320.5 (''Form 5''), Application to Transfer and Register NFA Firearm (Tax-Exempt), they are not able to submit individualy identifying information for purposes of a background check. As a result, ATF Form 5320.23 is required for any responsible person (as defined in 27 CFR 479.11) who is part of such trust or other legal entity. Forms 1, 4, and 5 are required under the National Firearms Act (NFA).

Information Collection (IC) OMB 1140–0107 is being revised to reflect an increase in the number of applicant responsible persons per year, rising from 115,829 applicants during the last renewal to 749,242, an increase of 633,413 responsible persons. However, there has been a decrease in the time burden due to changes in technology allowing electronic forms, reducing the number of respondents who must provide fingerprints and reducing the number of copies, allowing electronic fingerprints on-site, reducing respondents who must provide photographs, and substituting photocopied identification cards instead, all submitted electronically. As a result, there has been a corresponding decrease in the burden hours per respondent, from .5 hours to .2 hours each. These combined changes have resulted in resulting in an increase in total annual burden hours from 57,915 to 149,848 (an increase of 91,933 hours).

In addition, the Department is making the following changes to Form 5320.23 in anticipation of upcoming regulatory changes, and to make the form easier to read, correct minor errors, and adjust for updated technology:

- revising the title to be shorter
- removing the photo box on the form and revising the instructions to reflect anticipated regulatory change to who must submit fingerprints or photographs and to shift from a passport-style photo to a copy of a photo identification card
- combining race/ethnicity items
- allowing additional types of electronic/digital signatures
- adding references to eForms
- adding instructions for married couples jointly making, transferring, and registering a firearm, as an 'other legal entity'
- correcting typographical/grammar items
- removing specific firearm information other than the type of firearm

ACTION: Request for information.

SUMMARY: The Department of Justice is soliciting public comments on State laws significantly and adversely affecting the national economy or interstate commerce along with suggested solutions that could address such effects.

DATES: Electronic comments must be submitted, and written comments must be postmarked, on or before September 15, 2025.

ADDRESSES: You may submit comments, identified by Docket No. OLP182 through the Federal eRulemaking Portal: https://www.regulations.gov. Follow the instructions for submitting comments.

- Postal Mail or Commercial Delivery: If you do not have internet access or electronic submission is not possible, you may send written comments to Docket Clerk, Office of Legal Policy, U.S. Department of Justice, 950 Pennsylvania Ave. NW, Washington, DC 20530. To ensure proper handling, please reference Docket No. OAG182 on your correspondence.
- Privacy Note: The Department of Justice general policy is to make all comments received from members of the public available for public viewing in their entirety on the Federal eRulemaking Portal at http://www.regulations.gov. Therefore, commenters should be careful to include in their comments only information that they wish to make publicly available.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: From his first day in office, President Trump and his Administration have prioritized eliminating the ''crushing regulatory burden'' that has ''made necessary goods and services scarce.'' Memorandum on Delivering Emergency Price Relief for American Families and Defeating the Cost-of-Living Crisis, 90 FR 8245 (Jan. 20, 2025). Deregulatory efforts will boost the American economy, relieve Americans of undue burdens, and make America affordable and energy dominant again. President Trump issued multiple Executive Orders to advance his deregulatory agenda and requiring the Executive Branch to put that policy into action. On January 31, 2025, President Trump signed Executive Order 14192 (''Unleashing Prosperity Through Deregulation''), 90 FR 9065 (Jan. 31, 2025), declaring ''the policy of the executive branch'' to be that Federal agencies should ''alleviate unnecessary regulatory burdens placed on the American people.''

Consistent with this policy, on February 19, 2025, President Trump signed Executive Order 14219 (''Ensuring Lawful Governance and Implementing the President's 'Department of Government Efficiency' Deregulatory Initiative''), 90 FR 10583 (Feb. 19, 2025), directing agencies to ''initiate a process to review all regulations'' and identify regulations that, among other things, ''impose undue burdens on small businesses and impede private enterprise and entrepreneurship.'' He also signed Executive Orders aimed at unleashing American Energy, E.O. 14270, 90 FR 15643 (Apr. 9, 2025) (''Zero-Based Regulatory Budgeting to Unleash American Energy''), rolling back Obama-era regulations micro-managing Americans' showers, E.O. 14264, 90 FR 15619 (Apr. 9, 2025) (''Maintaining Acceptable Water Pressure in Showerheads''), and tackling anti-competitive rules, E.O. 14267, 90 FR 15629 (''Reducing Anti-Competitive Regulatory Barriers'') (Apr. 9, 2025).

However, Federal regulatory burdens are only part of the story. As President Trump also recognized, in Executive Order 14260 (''Protecting American Energy from State Overreach''), 90 FR 15513 (Apr. 8, 2025), State-level practices can drive up nationwide costs and undermine American safety and ''undermine Federalism by projecting the regulatory preferences of a few States into all States.'' Anecdotal evidence and the experience of countless Americans across the country strongly suggest that State laws and regulations can significantly burden commerce in other States and between States, thus raising costs unnecessarily and harming markets nationwide.

Request for Information

The Department of Justice is publishing this Request for Information (''RFI'') on behalf of the Administration as a whole. Accordingly, comments may address matters within the purview of any Executive Branch agency.

The public is invited to provide input to aid the Administration's efforts as set forth in the above-cited Executive Orders and elsewhere to alleviate unnecessary regulatory burdens and costs imposed on the American people.

This RFI seeks information pertaining to State laws, regulations, causes of action, policies, and practices (collectively, State laws) that adversely affect interstate commerce and business activities in other States.

In particular, comments are invited on:

- Which State laws significantly burden commerce in other States and between States, thus raising costs unnecessarily and harming markets nationwide.
- Whether the laws identified may be preempted by existing Federal authority and, if so, what authority.
- Whether there may be Federal legislative or regulatory means for addressing the State laws identified or the burdens they cause.
- Which Federal agency has the subject-matter expertise to address concerns lawfully within the Federal government's authority.

Several other initiatives are currently underway to identify Federal regulations for possible streamlining. Commenters interested in identifying problematic Federal regulations may visit https://www.regulations.gov, which has a ''Submit Your Deregulatory Recommendations'' section on its homepage.

Dated: August 13, 2025.

Nicholas J. Schilling, Jr.,

Supervisory Official, Office of Legal Policy.

II. Background

Under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. Chapter 35), the NRC recently submitted a request for renewal of an existing collection of information to OMB for review entitled, ''Nuclear Material Events Database (NMED) for the Collection of Event Report, Response, Analyses, and Follow-up Data on Events Involving the Use of Atomic Energy Act Radioactive Material.'' The NRC hereby informs potential respondents that an agency may not conduct or sponsor, and that a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

The NRC published a Federal Register notice with a 60-day comment period on this information collection on April 28, 2025, 90 FR 17627.

1. The title of the information collection: Nuclear Material Events Database (NMED) for the Collection of Event Report, Response, Analyses, and Follow-up Data on Events Involving the Use of Atomic Energy Act Radioactive Material.

2. OMB approval number: 3150–0178.

3. Type of submission: Extension.

4. The form number, if applicable: Not applicable.

5. How often the collection is required or requested: Agreement States are requested to provide copies of licensee nuclear material event reports electronically or by hard copy to the NRC within 30 days of receipt from their licensee. In addition, Agreement States are requested to report events that may pose a significant health and safety hazard to the NRC Headquarters Operations Officer within 24 hours of notification by an Agreement State licensee.

6. Who will be required or asked to respond: Current Agreement States and any State receiving Agreement State status in the future.

7. The estimated number of annual responses: 450.

8. The estimated number of annual respondents: 41.

9. The estimated number of hours needed annually to comply with the information collection requirement or request: 720 hours (360 reporting and 360 recordkeeping).

10. Abstract: NRC regulations require NRC licensees to report incidents and overexposures, leaking or contaminated sealed source(s), release of excessive contamination of radioactive material, lost or stolen radioactive material, equipment failures, abandoned well logging sources and medical events. Agreement State licenses are also required to report these events to their individual Agreement State regulatory authorities under compatible Agreement State regulations. The NRC is requesting that the Agreement States provide information to NRC on the initial notification, response actions, and follow-up investigations on events involving the use (including suspected theft or terrorist activities) of nuclear materials regulated pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act. The event information should be provided in a uniform electronic format, for assessment and identification of any facilities/site-specific or generic safety concerns that could have the potential to impact public health and safety. The identification and review of safety concerns may result in lessons learned and may also identify generic issues for further study which could result in proposals for changes or revisions to technical or regulatory designs, processes, standards, guidance or requirements.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

In accordance with section 51.118 of title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations, (10 CFR) ''Final environmental impact statement—notice of availability,'' the NRC is making available to the public NUREG–1437, Supplement 23, Second Renewal (the final SEIS) regarding the proposed subsequent renewal of Renewed Facility Operating License Nos. DPR–24 and DPR–27 for an additional 20 years for Point Beach. A notice of availability of the second draft report, which updated the 2021 draft SEIS, was published in the Federal Register on April 16, 2025 (90 FR 16008). The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency issued its notice of availability of the second draft report on April 18, 2025 (90 FR 16524). The public comment period on the second draft report ended on June 2, 2025, and the comments received on the second draft report, as well as on the 2021 draft SEIS, are addressed in the final SEIS.

II. Discussion

The second draft report, which updated the 2021 draft SEIS, was issued for public comment. The final SEIS (NUREG–1437, Supplement 23, Second Renewal) addresses the comments received on the second draft report and on the 2021 draft SEIS. As discussed in Chapter 4 of the final SEIS, the NRC staff has determined that the adverse environmental impacts of subsequent license renewal for Point Beach (i.e., the continued operation of Point Beach for a period of 20 years beyond the expiration dates of the current renewed operating licenses) are not so great that preserving the option of license renewal for energy-planning decision-makers would be unreasonable. This recommendation is based on: (1) information in the environmental report, as supplemented, and other documents submitted by NextEra Energy Point Beach, LLC; (2) the NRC staff's consultation with Federal, State, Tribal, and local governmental agencies; (3) the NRC staff's independent environmental review; and (4) the NRC staff's consideration of public comments received during the scoping process and on the second draft report and the 2021 draft SEIS.

Dated: August 13, 2025.

II. Discussion

HDI is the holder of Renewed Facility Operating License No. DRP–16 for OCNGS. The license provides, among other things, that the facility is subject to all rules, regulations, and orders of the NRC now or hereafter in effect. The facility consists of a single unit boiling water reactor (BWR) that was utilized for the generation and transmission of electric power using nuclear fission as the source of production. The plant entered commercial operation on December 23, 1969. The reactor was refueled 26 times during operation spanning a period of almost a half-century and was the oldest U.S. BWR at the time of permanent shutdown and defueling in 2018. By letter dated August 1, 2024 (ADAMS Accession No. ML24214A037), as supplemented by letters dated March 27, 2025 (ADAMS Accession No. ML25086A156), April 29, 2025 (ADAMS Package Accession No. ML25119A267) and May 13, 2025 (ADAMS Accession No. ML25133A131), HDI requested approval of a proposed amendment to the Renewed Facility Operating License DPR–16 for OCNGS to include LTP requirements.

III. Request for Comment and Public Meeting

According to paragraph 50.82(a)(9)(iii) of title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations (10 CFR), after the licensee submits an LTP, the NRC must hold a public meeting near the site. In accordance with 10 CFR 50.82(a)(9)(iii) and 20.1405, upon the receipt of an LTP from a licensee, NRC must publish a notice in the Federal Register and solicit comments from affected parties. The purpose of the meeting is for the NRC staff to meet with stakeholders and discuss the NRC's review of the LTP and request public comments on the LTP. In addition, please see the related notice regarding the LTP proposed no significant hazards consideration determination and opportunity to request a hearing and petition to intervene (90 FR 30110, July 8, 2025). The meeting will be held on Wednesday, September 17, 2025, at the Lacey Township Municipal Building Court Room, 818 Lacey Road, Forked River, New Jersey 08731, from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. ET. Please contact Amy M. Snyder at 301–415–6822 or by email at Amy.Snyder@nrc.gov no later than September 3, 2025, if accommodations or special equipment are needed for you to attend or to provide comments, so that the NRC staff can determine whether the request can be accommodated.

For additional information regarding this meeting see the NRC's Public Meeting Schedule website for information https://www.nrc.gov/pmns/mtg. The agenda will be posted no later than 10 days prior to the meeting.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

Cboe Exchange, Inc. (''Cboe Options'' or the ''Exchange'') is filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission (''Commission'' or ''SEC'') a proposed rule change to amend Interpretation and Policy .06 of Rule 4.3 to permit the listing of options on an exchange-traded fund as defined in Rule 6c–11 under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (''Rule 6c–11''). The text of the proposed rule change is provided in Exhibit 5.

The text of the proposed rule change is also available on the Exchange's website (http://www.cboe.com/AboutCBOE/CBOELegalRegulatoryHome.aspx) and at the Exchange's Office of the Secretary.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The Exchange proposes to amend Rule 4.3 (Criteria for Underlying Securities) to amend (1) Interpretation and Policy .06(a)(1) to Rule 4.3 to provide that securities deemed appropriate for options include Units [5] that are listed pursuant to generic listing standards for an exchange-traded fund as defined in Rule 6c–11 under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (''ETF Shares''), portfolio depositary receipts, or index fund shares; and (2) Interpretation and Policy .06(c)(1) to Rule 4.3 to provide that the Units must be listed pursuant to generic listing standards for ETF Shares. Existing Interpretation and Policy .06(c)(1) to Rule 4.3 provides that Units must be listed pursuant to generic listing standards for portfolio depositary receipts and index fund shares based on international global indexes under which a comprehensive surveillance agreement (''CSSA'') is not required. This proposal would amend Interpretation and Policy .06(c)(1) to add that the Units may also be listed pursuant to generic listing standards for ETF Shares.

This proposal will enable the Exchange to list and trade options on generically listed exchange-traded funds that can rely on Rule 6c–11, provided that the ETF Shares are listed pursuant to Rule 19b–4(e) of the Exchange Act. Rule 19b–4(e) provides that the listing and trading of a new derivative securities product by a self-regulatory organization (''SRO'') shall not be deemed a proposed rule change, pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of Rule 19b–4, if the Commission has approved, pursuant to Section 19(b) of the Exchange Act, the SRO's trading rules, procedures and listing standards for the product class that would include the new derivatives securities product, and the SRO has a surveillance program for the product class. In other words, the proposal will amend the listing standards to allow the Exchange to list and trade options on ETF Shares to a similar degree that they are allowed to be listed on index fund shares and portfolio depositary receipts. A series of index fund shares or portfolio depositary receipts may generically list as ETF Shares so long as the fund meets all listing requirements under the applicable ETF Shares listing rule.[6] The proposal merely represents a natural progression from a previous approval order, which established the principle that options listing standards should align with the surveillance framework of their underlying securities.[7] While the MIAX Approval Order was limited to portfolio depositary receipts and index fund shares based on international or global indexes, the Exchange believes the underlying regulatory logic (that adequate transparency and surveillance of the underlying security can support options listing without additional CSSA requirements) applies equally to ETF Shares listed under generic listing standards, and is further supported by the fact that index fund shares and portfolio depositary receipts are generally designed to meet the requirements of the ETF Shares listing standards.

The Exchange allows for the listing and trading of options on exchange-traded funds under Interpretation and Policy .06 to Rule 4.3. In particular, Interpretation and Policy .06(a)(1) provides that securities deemed appropriate for options trading include Units that represent interests in registered investment companies (or series thereof) organized as open-end management investment companies, unit investment trusts or similar entities that hold portfolios of securities and/or certain financial instruments and money market instruments.[8] The requirements of Interpretation and Policy .06(a)(1) are generally based on the generic listing standards [9] for exchange-traded funds that pre-dated the adoption of Rule 6c–11 (the ''previous generic listing standards''). The Exchange proposes to eliminate the language from the rule text that specifies the securities and/or financial instruments that the entity holds and instead provide that the securities deemed appropriate for options trading include Units that are listed pursuant to generic listing standards for ETF Shares, portfolio depositary receipts, or index fund shares.

Similarly, Interpretation and Policy .06(c)(1) to Rule 4.3 provides that Units must be listed pursuant to generic listing standards for series of portfolio depositary receipts and index fund shares based on international or global indexes under which a comprehensive surveillance agreement is not required. Thus, the requirements of Interpretation and Policy .06(c)(1) to Rule 4.3 are also generally based on the previous generic listing standards. The Exchange proposes to amend Interpretation and Policy .06(c)(1) to Rule 4.3 to explicitly provide that the Units must be listed pursuant to the generic listing standards for ETF Shares, or series of portfolio depositary receipts and index fund shares based on international or global indexes under which a comprehensive surveillance agreement is not required.

In 2019, the Commission adopted Rule 6c–11 to permit exchange-traded funds that satisfy certain conditions to operate without obtaining an exemptive order from the Commission under the Investment Company Act of 1940.[10] In 2020, the Commission approved generic listing standards pursuant to Rule 19b–4(e) of the Exchange Act for exchange-traded funds that meet the requirements of Rule 6c–11 (i.e., ETF Shares).[11] Such generic listing standards permit the listing and trading of ETF Shares that are permitted to operate in reliance on Rule 6c–11 to list and trade on an exchange without a prior Commission approval order or notice of effectiveness pursuant to Section 19(b) of the Act. Exchange-traded funds listed pursuant to the previous generic listing standards would generally meet the requirements of Rule 6c–11 and thus could list as ETF Shares on an equity exchange.

The ETF Shares generic listing standards did not include the quantitative standards applicable to a fund or an index that were included in the previous generic listing standards.[12] Ultimately, the Commission found that the ETF Shares generic listing standards are reasonably designed to help prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices particularly because a central qualification for listing generically is ongoing compliance with Rule 6c–11, which requires, among other things, ETF Shares to prominently disclose the portfolio holdings that will form the basis for each calculation of net asset value per share. Because initial and ongoing compliance with Rule 6c–11 is a condition for listing and trading on the equity listing markets, Rule 6c–11 permits the equity exchanges to list and trade shares of an investment company with a fully transparent portfolio. The Commission stated that it believes that such portfolio transparency should help prevent manipulation of the price of ETF Shares.[13]

In approving the ETF Shares generic listing standards, the Commission thoroughly considered the structure of the ETF Shares, their usefulness to investors and to the markets, and SRO rules that govern their listing and trading. The Exchange believes that allowing the listing of options overlying ETF Shares that are listed pursuant to the generic listing standards on equities exchanges and applying Rule 19b–4(e) [14] should fulfill the intended objective of that Rule by allowing options on those ETF Shares that have satisfied the generic listing standards to commence trading, without the need for the public comment period and Commission approval. The Exchange believes enabling the listing and trading of options on ETF Shares pursuant to this amended listing standard will benefit investors by providing them with valuable risk management tools, such as direct hedging tools, in a more timely manner. The proposed rule would allow the Exchange to quickly determine whether Units are appropriate for options trading under Interpretation and Policy .06 of Exchange Rule 4.3 and has the potential to reduce the time frame for bringing options on ETF Shares to market, thereby benefitting investors by timely providing increased trading and hedging opportunities. The failure of a particular exchange-traded fund to comply with the generic listing standards under Rule 19b–4(e) [15] would not, however, preclude the Exchange from submitting a separate filing pursuant to Section 19(b)(2),[16] requesting Commission approval to list and trade options on a particular exchange-traded fund.

Options on ETF Shares listed pursuant to the proposed generic listing standards would be traded, in all other respects, under the Exchange's existing trading rules and procedures that apply to options on exchange-traded funds and would be covered under the Exchange's surveillance program for options on Units.[17]

The Exchange believes this proposed listing standard for options on ETF Shares is reasonable and will result in options that are not readily susceptible to manipulation in light of existing Rule 6c–11 transparency requirements and options listing requirements.[18] The Commission has determined that portfolio transparency is central to preventing manipulation of ETF Share prices and serves as the primary qualification for generic listing of ETF

[8] Interpretation and Policy .06(a)(1) provides that such financial instruments include, but are not limited to, stock index futures contracts, options on futures, options on securities and indexes, equity caps, collars and floors, swap agreements, forward contracts, repurchase agreements and reverse purchase agreements (the ''Financial Instruments''). Such money market instruments, include, but are not limited to, U.S. government securities and repurchase agreements (the ''Money Market Instruments'') comprising or otherwise based on or representing investments in indexes or portfolios of securities and/or Financial Instruments and Money Market Instruments (or that hold securities in one or more other registered investment companies that themselves hold such portfolios of securities and/or Financial Instruments and Money Market Instruments).

Shares.[19] The Exchange believes this same transparency rationale supports the generic listing of options on ETF Shares by aligning the options generic listing standards with the ETF Shares generic listing standards. Where ETF Shares have been deemed sufficiently transparent to warrant generic listing, the Exchange believes the manipulation risks for both the underlying shares and overlying options are adequately mitigated through this transparency framework as options manipulation is typically achieved through manipulation of the underlying security. This proposal simply creates an streamlined pathway for listing options on qualifying ETF Shares that meet the enhanced transparency standards under Rule 6c–11.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to the Exchange and, in particular, the requirements of Section 6(b) of the Act.[20] Specifically, the Exchange believes the proposed rule change is consistent with the Section 6(b)(5)[21] requirements that the rules of an exchange be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in regulating, clearing, settling, processing information with respect to, and facilitating transactions in securities, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest.

In particular, the Exchange believes enabling the listing and trading of options on ETF Shares pursuant to this amended listing standard will benefit investors by providing them with valuable risk management tools, such as direct hedging tools, in a more timely manner. The proposed rule would allow the Exchange to quickly determine whether Units are appropriate for options trading under Interpretation and Policy .06 of Exchange Rule 4.3 and has the potential to reduce the time frame for bringing options on ETF Shares to market, thereby benefitting investors by timely providing increased trading and hedging opportunities.. The proposed rule streamlines the listing mechanism[22] for certain qualifying options on ETF Shares to be listed on the Exchange in a manner that is designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in facilitating transactions in securities, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanisms of a free and open market and a national market system and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest. Specifically, where ETF Shares have been deemed sufficiently transparent to warrant generic listing, the Exchange believes the manipulation risks for both the underlying shares and overlying options are adequately mitigated through this transparency framework as options manipulation is typically achieved through manipulation of the underlying security.

The Exchange believes that the proposal is similar to previous proposals that have sought to establish parallel listing standards for options as the underlying exchange-traded fund.[23] Specifically, in 2015 the Miami International Securities Exchange LLC (''MIAX'') submitted a proposed rule filing that would allow it to list and trade options on certain exchange-traded funds without a CSSA provided that such exchange-traded funds that underlie options are listed on an equities exchange pursuant to certain generic listing standards under which a CSSA is not required. In the MIAX Approval Order, the Commission stated that it ''believes that it is consistent with the Act for the Exchange to list and trade options that overlie ETFs, provided such ETFs are listed pursuant to generic listing standards on equities exchanges for portfolio depositary receipts and index fund shares based on international or global indexes under which a CSSA with a foreign market is not required''.[24]

The Exchange believes this proposal represents a natural progression from the MIAX Approval Order, which established the principle that options listing standards should align with the surveillance framework of their underlying securities. While the MIAX Approval Order was limited to portfolio depositary receipts and index fund shares based on international or global indexes, the Exchange believes the underlying regulatory logic (that adequate transparency and surveillance of the underlying security can support options listing without additional CSSA requirements) applies equally to ETF Shares listed under generic listing standards. This is further supported by the fact that Exchange-traded funds listed pursuant to the previous generic listing standards would generally meet the requirements of Rule 6c–11 and thus could list as ETF Shares. The Commission's determination that Rule 6c–11 ETF Shares can be listed generically without CSSA requirements due to their transparency should logically extend to options overlying these same transparent products. Specifically, the Exchange believes Rule 6c–11's portfolio transparency requirements provide an even stronger foundation for surveillance than the CSSA requirement contemplated in the MIAX Approval Order. The Commission has determined that portfolio transparency is central to preventing manipulation of ETF Share prices and serves as the primary qualification for generic listing of ETF Shares.[25] The Exchange believes this same transparency rationale supports the generic listing of options on ETF Shares by aligning the options generic listing standards with the ETF Shares generic listing standards. Where ETF Shares have been deemed sufficiently transparent to warrant generic listing, the Exchange believes the manipulation risks for both the underlying shares and overlying options are adequately mitigated through this transparency framework as options manipulation is typically achieved through manipulation of the underlying security. As such, the Exchange believes that the proposal furthers the protection of investors and the public interest by applying established regulatory principles to the evolved ETF landscape created by Rule 6c–11, while maintaining appropriate surveillance safeguards through the underlying securities' transparency requirements.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on intramarket competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act because ETF Shares, like any other exchange-traded funds, would have to satisfy the Exchange's initial listing standards to be eligible for options trading.[26] Additionally, the proposed rule change would apply to all market participants in the same manner as options on index fund shares and portfolio depositary receipts and generically listed options on ETF Shares would be equally available to all market participants who wish to trade such options.

[22] ETF Shares, which generally include index fund shares and portfolio depositary receipts, may list under the applicable ETF Shares listing rule, provided they meet all specified requirements. The proposal clarifies Exchange Rules to explicitly confirm that such ETF Shares fall within the scope of Interpretation and Policy .06 to Rule 4.3.

The Exchange does not believe that the proposal will impose any burden on intermarket competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. To the extent that aligning the options generic listing standards with the ETF Shares generic listing standards may make the Exchange a more attractive marketplace to market participants at other exchanges, such market participants are free to elect to become market participants on the Exchange.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

The Exchange neither solicited nor received comments on the proposed rule change.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

The Exchange has filed the proposed rule change pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act[27] and Rule 19b–4(f)(6) thereunder.[28] Because the proposed rule change does not: (i) significantly affect the protection of investors or the public interest; (ii) impose any significant burden on competition; and (iii) become operative prior to 30 days from the date on which it was filed, or such shorter time as the Commission may designate, if consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest, the proposed rule change has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act[29] and Rule 19b–4(f)(6)(iii) thereunder.[30]

A proposed rule change filed under Rule 19b–4(f)(6)[31] normally does not become operative prior to 30 days after the date of the filing. However, pursuant to Rule 19b4(f)(6)(iii),[32] the Commission may designate a shorter time if such action is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. The Exchange has requested that the Commission to waive the 30-day operative delay so that the proposal may become operative immediately upon filing. The Exchange states that waiver of the operative delay would add immediate clarity to the Exchange's rulebook by aligning its options listing requirements with the underlying generic ETF Shares listing standards. Specifically, the proposed rule change would explicitly confirm that such ETF shares fall within the scope of Interpretation and Policy .06 to Exchange Rule 4.3. In addition, the Exchange believes that the proposed rule change may result in more timely investment options and opportunities for market participants seeking efficient trading and hedging vehicles to achieve their investment objectives. For the foregoing reasons, the Commission believes that waiver of the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. Accordingly, the Commission hereby waives the 30-day operative delay and designates the proposed rule change operative upon filing.[33]

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission will institute proceedings under Section 19(b)(2)(B)[34] of the Act to determine whether the proposed rule change should be approved or disapproved.

(''Act''),[1] and Rule 19b–4 thereunder,[2] notice is hereby given that on August 7, 2025, The Nasdaq Stock Market LLC (''Nasdaq'' or ''Exchange'') filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (''Commission'') the proposed rule change as described in Items I and II below, which Items have been prepared by the Exchange. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The Exchange proposes to amend The Nasdaq Options Market LLC (''NOM'') Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, and Section 15, Exercise Limits, related to the listing of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

The text of the proposed rule change is available on the Exchange's website at https://listingcenter.nasdaq.com/rulebook/nasdaq/rulefilings and at the principal office of the Exchange.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The Exchange proposes to amend Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, and Options 9, Section 15, Exercise Limits, related to the listing of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

Recently, Cboe Exchange, Inc. (''Cboe'') received approval to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[3] Thereafter, Nasdaq ISE, LLC (''ISE'') filed a rule proposal to list and trade options on shares on an Exchange-Traded Fund or ''ETF'' that represent units of interest in the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[4] NOM's Options 4 Rules were amended by the ISE rule change as those Rules are incorporated by reference to ISE's Options 4 Rules, so NOM has the ability to list options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The Cboe VanEck Filing stated that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts. At this time, the Exchange proposes to amend NOM Option 9, Section 13 and Options 9, Section 15 to similarly note that options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall have a position limit of 25,000 contracts to mirror the Cboe VanEck Filing.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that its proposal is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Act,[5] in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Act,[6] in particular, in that it is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general to protect investors and the public interest.

The Exchange's proposal to amend Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, and Options 9, Section 15, Exercise Limits, to provide that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts is consistent with the Act as it will conform NOM's options position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF with ISE's options position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF to align those limits.[7]

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The proposed rule change does not impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

Amending Options 9, Sections 13 and 15 to provide that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts does not impose an undue burden on competition as the position and exercise limits will apply to all trading for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF trading on the Exchange as well as those trading on other exchanges that file a similar proposal.[8]

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

No written comments were either solicited or received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Because the foregoing proposed rule change does not: (i) significantly affect the protection of investors or the public interest; (ii) impose any significant burden on competition; and (iii) become operative for 30 days from the date on which it was filed, or such shorter time as the Commission may designate, it has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act[9] and subparagraph (f)(6) of Rule 19b–4 thereunder.[10]

A proposed rule change filed under Rule 19b–4(f)(6)[11] under the Act does not normally become operative prior to 30 days after the date of the filing. However, pursuant to Rule 19b–4(f)(6)(iii),[12] the Commission may designate a shorter time if such action is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. The Exchange has requested that the Commission waive the 30-day operative delay so that the proposal may become operative immediately upon filing. The Commission previously approved the listing of options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[13] As noted above, the Exchange's Options 4 Rules were amended by an ISE rule change[14] as those Rules are incorporated by reference to ISE's Options 4 Rules, so the Exchange has the ability to list the options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. This proposal establishes position and exercise limits for options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The Commission believes that waiver of the operative delay could benefit investors by assuring that trading in VanEck Bitcoin ETF options are subject to the same position and exercise limits in place on other exchanges. Therefore, the Commission believes that waiver of the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. Accordingly, the Commission hereby waives the 30-day operative delay and designates the proposed rule change as operative upon filing.[15]

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission shall institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule should be approved or disapproved.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34–103685; File No. SR–FINRA–2025–013]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc.; Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of a Proposed Rule Change To Require Use of an Office of Hearing Officers Portal

August 12, 2025.

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (''Act'')[1] and Rule 19b–4 thereunder,[2] notice is hereby given that on August 8, 2025, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (''FINRA'') filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (''SEC'' or ''Commission'') the proposed rule change as described in Items I, II, and III below, which Items have been prepared by FINRA. FINRA has designated the proposed rule change as constituting a ''non-controversial'' rule change under paragraph (f)(6) of Rule 19b–4 under the Act,[3] which renders the proposal effective upon receipt of this filing by the Commission. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

FINRA is proposing to require use of an Office of Hearing Officers (''OHO'') Portal.

The text of the proposed rule change is available on FINRA's website at http://www.finra.org and at the principal office of FINRA.

[3] 17 CFR 240.19b–4(f)(6).

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, FINRA included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. FINRA has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

Beginning in May 2020, FINRA adopted and extended temporary amendments to allow for electronic service and filing by electronic mail (''email'') in OHO and National Adjudicatory Council (''NAC'') proceedings during the period in which FINRA's operations were impacted by the COVID–19 pandemic.[4] In June 2022, the Commission approved a proposed rule change to make the temporary amendments permanent, with some modifications.[5]

FINRA has developed an electronic portal to replace email as the primary method for the filing and service of documents in OHO proceedings (the ''OHO Portal'').[6] As described, below, access to the OHO Portal will occur through accounts tied to the participant's email address. The proposed rule change would require use of the OHO Portal for the filing and service of documents in OHO matters.[7] When a party submits pleadings or [6] OHO serves as FINRA's adjudicatory forum for disciplinary proceedings and expedited proceedings, including hearings for temporary and permanent cease and desist orders (''TCDOs'' and ''PCDOs''). FINRA has developed the OHO Portal for use in OHO proceedings only. It has not been designed to support service or filing of documents in NAC proceedings.

[7] FINRA sometimes serves documents in its capacity as an adjudicator. In other instances, FINRA is a party, for example, in its capacity as the Department of Enforcement (''Enforcement'').

documents (other than the complaint [8]) through the OHO Portal, the party would accomplish both filing with OHO as well as service on the other parties. FINRA believes this is an appropriate next step to further improve efficiency in OHO proceedings, which have allowed for electronic filing and service by email in various proceedings since 2020.[9]

The OHO Portal provides a more secure method of exchanging documents. Parties will file cases electronically with OHO using online forms available on www.finra.org that integrate with the OHO Portal. FINRA will ensure the integrity of electronic filing of new cases and that access to the OHO Portal is limited to parties and their representatives.[10] To ensure that access to the OHO Portal is limited to parties and their representatives, OHO staff will provision user accounts for the parties and provide their credentials to them in an encrypted email.[11]

The OHO Portal is expected to provide all parties with a more efficient way to file, retrieve, organize and serve documents since the OHO Portal will allow parties to view and retrieve all filings at a single location in chronological order, easily verify receipt of documents submitted, and, as noted above, accomplish both filing with OHO as well as service on the other parties. The OHO Portal would also provide a corresponding calendar of deadlines and key dates. FINRA has tested the system and will provide step-by-step instructions and training videos for filing new cases and using the OHO Portal.[12] FINRA also intends to periodically update and enhance the OHO Portal.

To the extent an applicant, respondent or other party lacks the ability to use or access technology needed to file, serve or accept service through the OHO Portal, FINRA intends to provide reasonable accommodations to them. The process for requesting an alternative method of service or filing would be posted to FINRA's website, as well as explained in the Notice of Complaint.[13] If a party shows good cause, the Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel, or Extended Hearing Panel will order that filing or service occur by another method rather than the OHO Portal.[14]

FINRA notes that the OHO Portal is similar to other electronic filing systems. For example, the OHO Portal is similar in concept to the FINRA Dispute Resolution Services (''DRS'') Portal, which parties, arbitrators, mediators, and FINRA staff have used since 2016 to submit and access arbitration case-related information.[15] Likewise, the SEC amended its rules in November 2020 to require electronic filing and service of documents in administrative proceedings through its Electronic Filings in Administrative Proceedings (eFAP) system.[16]

Based on FINRA's experiences in requiring use of the DRS Portal for arbitrations since 2016, and permitting email filing and service in OHO proceedings since 2020, FINRA believes the proposal will further enhance the efficiency of the adjudicatory process for all parties. Accordingly, FINRA believes that it would be appropriate to require parties to use the OHO Portal on a mandatory basis with reasonable accommodations available to parties that lack the ability to use or access it.[17]

Proposed Amendments To Require Use of the OHO Portal

The FINRA Rule 9000 Series sets forth the procedure for, among other things, FINRA proceedings involving members, associated persons or formerly associated persons. The Rule 9100 Series is of general applicability to all proceedings set forth in the Rule 9000 Series, unless a rule specifically provides otherwise.

FINRA Rule 9120 [18] defines terms used in the Rule 9000 Series. The proposed rule change would define ''OHO Portal'' as the secure web-based system that is accessible by parties and their representatives in proceedings before OHO.[19] The definition would further state that the OHO Portal allows invited participants to access a secure web-based system to submit documents, serve other parties, and view their case information and documents.[20]

FINRA Rule 9134 sets forth the methods of and procedures for service. Paragraph (a) of Rule 9134 identifies three permissible methods of service: personal service, mail and courier.[21] Paragraph (b) of Rule 9134 sets forth the procedures for service.[22]

The proposed rule change would add paragraph (c) to Rule 9134 to specifically address methods of and procedures for service in proceedings before OHO, in light of the OHO Portal. As described in turn below, under the [8] FINRA rules do not permit FINRA to serve a complaint on a respondent electronically. Under the proposed rule change, FINRA would file a complaint through the OHO Portal, but not serve the complaint through the OHO Portal due to heightened fair process concerns. The only permissible methods for FINRA to serve a complaint are, and would continue to be under the proposed rule change, by personal service, mail or courier. FINRA proposes amendments to Rule 9131 (Service of Complaint) and Rule 9212(a)(1) (Complaint Issuance—Requirements, Service, Amendment, Withdrawal, and Docketing) to make clear that the complaint would continue to be served pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of Rule 9134 by personal service, mail or courier.

[10] To ensure the integrity of electronic filing of new cases, filers are required to complete a Completely Automated Public Turing test to tell Computers and Humans Apart (CAPTCHA). New cases will be manually screened by OHO staff before they are processed in the OHO Portal.

[11] First-time users will be prompted to change the default password. A party or representative could contact OHO to request additional user accounts to specify other individuals (such as legal assistants and co-counsel) who should have access to the specified case, and OHO staff will review those requests.

[12] FINRA will provide this guidance in multiple formats, including a full user manual, quick-reference guides, FAQs, and instructional videos. The guidance will include information regarding technical requirements for electronic filing, the mechanics of uploading documents, acceptable file formats, and file size limitations, among other things.

[13] When Enforcement serves a complaint on a respondent, the Notice of Complaint tells the respondent how to file the answer and other documents with OHO.

[14] See FINRA Rule 9120(r) (defining ''Hearing Officer''); FINRA Rule 9120(s) (defining ''Hearing Panel''); FINRA Rule 9120(j) (defining ''Extended Hearing Panel''). The Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel, or Extended Hearing Panel may order that filing or service occur by another method rather than the OHO Portal on its own or based on motion of a party.

[15] See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 79296 (November 14, 2016), 81 FR 81844 (November 18, 2016) (Order Approving File No. SR–FINRA–2016–029).

[16] See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 90442 (November 17, 2020), 85 FR 86464 (December 30, 2020) (File No. S7–18–15, Amendments to the Commission's Rules of Practice) (codified at 17 CFR 201 (2020)).

[17] As discussed, the Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel or Extended Hearing Panel may order filing or service by a means other than the OHO Portal on motion of a party or sua sponte. See supra note 14.

[18] FINRA Rule 9120 (Definitions).

[19] The OHO Portal will include several security features including Transport Layer Security 1.2 encryption for data in transit and security groups based authorization controls to limit user access to certain features based on their role.

[20] Rule 9120(w) will define ''OHO Portal'' and paragraphs (w) through (dd) will be renumbered as paragraphs (x) through (ee). FINRA notes that paragraphs (z) through (cc) were previously renumbered as (aa) through (dd), effective May 18, 2018, but the cross-references under FINRA Rules 9750 and 9760 have not been updated. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 83332 (May 25, 2018), 83 FR 25062 (May 31, 2018) (Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of File No. SR–FINRA–2018–021). FINRA thus proposes technical amendments to Rules 9750 and 9760 to reflect the renumbering of Rule 9120.

[21] In addition to the methods stated in Rule 9134, other FINRA rules permit additional methods of service. For example, some FINRA rules permit service by facsimile or by email. See, e.g., FINRA Rule 9551(b) (Service of Notice of Pre-Use Filing Requirement).

[22] Paragraph (b) is not being amended. For readability, the proposed rule change would add language to paragraph (a) of Rule 9134 to make clear that proposed paragraph (c) sets forth the methods of service in OHO proceedings.

proposed rule change, other FINRA rules would be amended to incorporate proposed new paragraph (c) of Rule 9134 by reference.[23]

Proposed paragraph (c)(1) of Rule 9134 would specify that service through the OHO Portal is the required method of service for papers served in proceedings before OHO unless otherwise ordered by the Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel or Extended Hearing Panel,[24] subject to two specified exceptions. The first is for complaints, which as discussed above, must continue to be served by personal service, mail or courier.[25] The second is for service of papers in default cases. In default cases, where the respondent failed to answer the complaint, failed to appear at an initial pre-hearing conference, or failed to appear at a hearing, the respondent may not have registered with the OHO Portal or otherwise have access to it. Thus, service of papers in default cases must continue to be served by personal service, mail or courier. Proposed paragraph (c)(2) would specify that service through the OHO Portal is accomplished by submitting the papers to the OHO Portal and is complete upon submission to the OHO Portal.[26] Proposed paragraph (c)(3) would state that service through the OHO Portal is only permissible in proceedings before OHO and may not be used in any other proceeding.

FINRA Rule 9132(b)[27] provides that an order, notice, or decision issued by a Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel or Extended Hearing Panel under the Rule 9200 Series shall be served pursuant to Rule 9134 or by email. The proposed rule change would amend Rule 9132(b) to require orders, notices and decisions issued by a Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel or Extended Hearing Panel in an OHO proceeding to be served through the OHO Portal, unless they have ordered an alternative method of service. However, in cases of default, an order, notice, or decision issued by a Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel or Extended Hearing Panel shall be served pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of Rule 9134 because, as noted above, the respondent in a default case may not have access to the OHO Portal. Rule 9132(b) would continue to permit all other Adjudicators to serve orders, notices or decisions pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of Rule 9134 or by email.[28]

FINRA Rule 9133(b)[29] provides that papers other than complaints, orders, notices or decisions be served by email, unless an alternative method of service is ordered by the Adjudicator. The proposed rule change would amend Rule 9133(b) to require parties in OHO proceedings to serve such papers pursuant to Rule 9134(c). For all other proceedings, the parties would continue to be required to serve documents by email unless an alternative method of service is ordered by the Adjudicator.

FINRA Rule 9135[30] sets forth the procedure for filing papers in proceedings pursuant to the Rule 9000 Series. Paragraph (a) addresses when to file. FINRA proposes to add subparagraph (1) to address when to file documents in proceedings before OHO, and subparagraph (2) to address when to file all other documents in other proceedings. Proposed paragraph (a)(1) would state that complaints and other papers that are required to be filed with OHO shall be filed through the OHO Portal and deemed filed as of the date of submission to the OHO Portal, unless otherwise ordered by the Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel or Extended Hearing Panel.[31] Proposed paragraph (a)(2) would retain the current language in Rule 9135(a), which would continue to apply to the timeliness of all other documents required to be filed pursuant to the Rule 9000 Series.[32]

FINRA Rule 9135(b) addresses where to file. It provides that papers shall be filed with OHO, but does not specify the method of filing. For readability, the proposed rule change would create subparagraphs. Paragraph (b)(1) would state that papers required to be filed with OHO shall be filed through the OHO Portal unless an alternative method of filing has been ordered by the Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel or Extended Hearing Panel. It would also clarify that only papers required to be filed with OHO shall be filed through the OHO Portal. As to all other papers filed in other proceedings, paragraph (b)(2) would continue to provide that such papers shall be filed where specified in the Rule, or if not specified in the Rule, with the Adjudicator, unless the Adjudicator orders otherwise.[33]

FINRA notes that Rule 9135(c) sets forth the requirement that filing be accompanied by a certificate of service. This requirement would continue to apply to papers filed and served through the OHO Portal. For papers served through the OHO Portal, the certificate of service would indicate that the OHO Portal was the method of service. Likewise, Rule 9135(d) would continue to require parties in OHO proceedings to file and serve the parties with their current email address and contact information at the time of their first appearance, and to file and serve any change in email address or contact information during the course of the proceeding. Paragraph (d) was originally added to support the transition to service and filing by email.[34] It will also support the transition to the OHO Portal by ensuring that users have a valid email address, which is necessary to register with the OHO Portal. To further support the use of electronic methods of service, the proposed rule change would amend Rule 9141[35] to require that persons representing themselves or others provide an email address at the time they make any filing or otherwise appear before an Adjudicator.

FINRA Rule 9146(l)[36] provides that motions, oppositions, responses, replies and any other filings shall comply with Rules 9133, 9135, 9136 and 9137. The proposed rule change would state that [23] Where appropriate to retain the current scope of rules, some cross-references to Rule 9134 would be amended to cross-reference only paragraphs (a) and (b) of Rule 9134. See, e.g., FINRA Rule 6490(d)(5), 9131(b), 9212(a)(1), 9522(a)(4), 9524(b)(3), 9525(e), 9526(c), 9551(b), 9552(b), 9553(b), 9554(b), 9555(b), 9620, 9630(e)(1) and (2); Funding Portal Rule 900(b)(3)(A)(iv) and (b)(13)(E).

[24] See supra note 14.

[25] See supra note 8.

[26] This is consistent with service by email under the current rules, which is complete upon sending the relevant documents or information.

[27] FINRA Rule 9132(b) (Service of Orders, Notices, and Decisions by Adjudicator; How Served).

[28] See FINRA Rule 9120(a) (defining ''Adjudicator'').

[29] FINRA Rule 9133(b) (Service of Papers Other Than Complaints, Orders, Notices or Decisions; How Served).

[30] FINRA Rule 9135 (Filing of Papers with Adjudicator: Procedure).

[31] Rule 9215 (Answer to Complaint) currently cross-references Rule 9135 with respect to filing answers with OHO. FINRA proposes to specifically cross-reference paragraph (a)(1) of Rule 9135 to align with the proposed amendments to Rule 9135. FINRA notes that whether a filing is timely would depend on whether it is received within the time limit, if specified.

[32] Under the proposed rule change, complaints would be filed with OHO through the OHO Portal, but would be served on the respondent(s) by personal service, mail or courier. For readability, FINRA proposes to delete ''except complaints, which shall be deemed timely filed upon mailing, delivery by electronic mail, or delivery to the Office of Hearing Officers,'' and instead, to state affirmatively in proposed Rule 9135(a)(1) that complaints shall be deemed filed as of the date of submission to the OHO Portal. FINRA also proposes to clarify in the second sentence of proposed paragraph (a)(2) that documents shall be sent to ''the Adjudicator,'' not to ''FINRA.''

[33] For readability, FINRA proposes to replace the specific references to the Rule 9200 and 9300 Series with a general reference to the Rule 9000 Series.

[34] See supra note 5.

[35] FINRA Rule 9141 (Appearance and Practice; Notice of Appearance) sets forth the required contact information to include in a Notice of Appearance.

filings required to be served in proceedings before OHO shall be served pursuant to Rule 9134(c). It would also reiterate that service through the OHO Portal shall be deemed complete upon submitting the documents to the OHO Portal. For all other filings required to be served under the Rule 9000 Series, the rule would continue to permit service by email.

The FINRA Rule 9550 Series sets forth the procedures for expedited proceedings.[37] Rule 9559(h)(2) sets forth the timing and method of service requirements for the parties' exchange of proposed exhibit and witness lists in advance of an expedited proceeding. Rule 9559(h) permits email as a method of service. Under the proposed rule change, exhibit lists and witness lists for expedited proceedings would be served pursuant to Rule 9134(c) rather than by email, and service through the OHO Portal shall be deemed complete upon submitting the document(s) to the OHO Portal.[38]

The FINRA Rule 9800 Series sets forth the procedures for TCDOs and PCDOs. Rule 9830(b) sets forth the requirements for service of notice of hearing by OHO on Enforcement and the respondent. Rule 9840(f) sets forth the requirements for service of the Hearing Panel's decision and any TCDO or PCDO on Enforcement and the respondent. Rule 9850 sets forth the requirements for service of the Hearing Panel's response to a written request to have a TCDO or PCDO modified, set aside, limited, or suspended. These rules currently permit service via personal service, overnight commercial courier, facsimile, or email. Under the proposed rule change, these documents would be served pursuant to Rule 9134(c) and service through the OHO Portal shall be deemed complete upon submitting the document(s) to the OHO Portal.[39]

As discussed in detail in Item II.A.2., FINRA believes the proposed rule change will further modernize the rules and make service and filing in OHO proceedings more efficient and effective for all parties. Access to internet and email is widely available and use of electronic methods of service and filing is common practice in the courts and other regulatory agencies, including the SEC.[40] At the same time and consistent with current rules that provide for email service and filing, the proposed rule change would provide for alternative methods of service for parties who lack the ability to use or access technology needed to send or receive documents through the OHO Portal.[41]

FINRA has filed the proposed rule change for immediate effectiveness. The operative date will be 60 days after the date of the filing.

2. Statutory Basis

FINRA believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,[42] which requires, among other things, that FINRA rules be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest. FINRA believes that the proposed rule change is also consistent with Section 15A(b)(8) of the Act,[43] which requires, among other things, that FINRA rules provide a fair procedure for the disciplining of members and persons associated with members.

FINRA believes that the proposed rule change protects investors and the public interest by requiring use of broadly available technology to make service and filing processes more efficient and effective. FINRA's disciplinary proceedings serve a critical role in providing investor protection and maintaining fair and orderly markets by, for example, sanctioning misconduct and preventing further customer harm by members and associated persons. A more efficient disciplinary hearing process serves the interests of both investors and respondents.

The proposed rule change promotes efficiency in these processes by requiring service and filing that is currently conducted via email to occur instead through the OHO Portal. For all parties, the OHO Portal is an improvement to email as a method of service and filing for many reasons, including that using the OHO Portal would consolidate the acts of service and filing for most documents and enable the parties to keep track of key correspondence and case documents in one place, among other benefits. Thus, the proposed rule change would improve the overall efficiency of OHO's operations by centralizing various processes, including filing, service, and case management. These amendments would also continue to reduce the reliance on paper documents in favor of more efficient electronic formats.

The proposed rule change is intended to further modernize OHO proceedings without imposing significant additional obligations on case participants. Indeed, for the past several years, FINRA has laid the foundation for transitioning to the OHO Portal by amending its rules to permit service and filing by email—initially on a temporary and eventually on a permanent basis—and by requiring parties to provide and update their contact information, including their email address, during the course of a proceeding.[44] FINRA thus anticipates a smooth transition from email to the OHO Portal as the primary method of service and filing in OHO proceedings.

While promoting efficiency, the proposed rule change also includes safeguards to ensure fairness. For example, FINRA would continue to maintain procedures in place for persons who lack the ability to use or access technology necessary to use the OHO Portal. Such parties would have the ability to request relief from the Hearing Officer, Hearing Panel or Extended Hearing Panel to file or serve documents by another method. Based on FINRA's experience of operating under the amendments permitting service and filing by email since mid-2020, however, FINRA anticipates that requests to use non-electronic methods of service will continue to be rare. In addition, the proposed rule change balances the interests of fairness and efficiency. As discussed, service of some documents, including complaints and papers in default cases, will continue to occur by personal service, mail or courier, rather than through the OHO Portal, thus ensuring there is satisfactory notice and fair process.

Thus, the proposed rule change represents a significant step toward modernizing the service and filing processes in a manner that will protect investors and the public interest by [37] FINRA proposes changes within the Rule 9550 Series to make clear that only paragraphs (a) and (b) of Rule 9134 apply to service of suspension and other notices under those rules. Such notices would not be submitted through the OHO Portal. See FINRA Rules 9551(b) (Service of Notice of Pre-Use Filing Requirement), 9552(b) (Service of Notice of Suspension), 9553(b) (Service of Notice of Suspension, Cancellation or Bar), 9554(b) (Service of Notice of Suspension or Cancellation), and 9555(b) (Service of Notice). Individuals who have received a notice under the Rule 9550 Series may request a hearing with OHO for expedited proceedings under the Rule 9550 Series by filing the request through the OHO Portal. In expedited proceedings before OHO, documents would be filed and served pursuant to the FINRA Rule 9130 Series (Service, Filing of Papers), as proposed to be amended.

[38] FINRA proposes a technical change to Rule 9559(s) to specify that service by email applies to subparagraph (1) of Rule 9559(h).

[39] FINRA also proposes a technical amendment to Rule 9850 to change ''ten'' to ''10.''

[40] See supra note 16.

[41] FINRA notes that the proposed rule change would impact all members, including members that are funding portals or have elected to be treated as capital acquisition brokers (''CABs''), given that the funding portal and CAB rule sets incorporate the impacted FINRA rules by reference. See Funding Portal Rule 900 and CAB Rule 900.

promoting efficiency while preserving fair process in OHO proceedings.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

FINRA does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The proposed rule changes will impact current and former member firms and associated persons, including current and former registered persons and their counsel. These individuals would be respondents or other related parties to proceedings before OHO. None of the proposed rule changes will directly impact the customers of those firms. The number of new OHO filings has ranged from 45 to 57 filings between 2022 and 2024 with an average of 52 filings per year. The majority of respondents in these filings consist of current or former registered persons.

The OHO Portal is expected to provide to all parties benefits from efficiencies in filing, retrieving, organizing, and serving documents. As discussed above, the OHO Portal will allow parties to view and retrieve all filings at a single location in chronological order, easily verify receipt of documents submitted, and accomplish both filing with OHO as well as service on the other parties. The OHO Portal would also provide a corresponding calendar of deadlines and key dates. Such benefits will likely accrue to all parties who use the portal. The proposed rule change would also improve the overall efficiency of OHO's operations by centralizing various processes, including filing, service, and case management.

FINRA anticipates that the requirement to use the OHO Portal will likely not impose any material costs on parties. As discussed above, many parties to OHO proceedings would already be familiar with electronic methods of service and filing, as it is a common practice in the courts and other regulatory agencies, including the SEC. FINRA has allowed for electronic filing and service by email in OHO proceedings since 2020.[45] Although parties may expend some additional time and effort to learn the new OHO Portal system, as discussed above, OHO will support the transition by providing step-by-step instructions and training videos on www.finra.org as well as user support through various means.[46]

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Because the foregoing proposed rule change does not: (i) significantly affect the protection of investors or the public interest; (ii) impose any significant burden on competition; and (iii) become operative for 30 days from the date on which it was filed, or such shorter time as the Commission may designate, it has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act[47] and Rule 19b–4(f)(6) thereunder.[48]

FINRA believes that the filing is appropriately filed pursuant to Rule 19b4(f)(6)(iii) under the Act[49] because the proposed rule change will require use of the OHO Portal instead of email as the primary method of filing and service of most papers in OHO proceedings. The proposed amendments are generally consistent with existing procedures, including with respect to service of the complaint, which will continue to occur by hand, mail or courier. Likewise, the method for requesting relief from the requirement to use the OHO Portal will be the same as under the current rules with respect to the ability to obtain relief from the requirement to file and serve documents by email. As noted above, the Commission previously approved the use of email for filing and service of most documents in OHO proceedings.[50] FINRA believes the proposed changes will further improve efficiency in OHO proceedings in a manner similar to current email-based processes, since access to the OHO Portal will occur through accounts tied to the participant's email address.

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission shall institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule should be approved or disapproved.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34–103684; File No. SR–ISE–2025–23]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Nasdaq ISE, LLC; Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of Proposed Rule Change To List and Trade Options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF

August 12, 2025.

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (''Act''),[1] and Rule 19b–4 thereunder,[2] notice is hereby given that on August 7, 2025, Nasdaq ISE, LLC (''ISE'' or ''Exchange'') filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (''Commission'') the proposed rule change as described in Items I and II below, which Items have been prepared by the Exchange. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The Exchange proposes to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

The text of the proposed rule change is available on the Exchange's website at https://listingcenter.nasdaq.com/rulebook/ise/rulefilings and at the principal office of the Exchange.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The Exchange proposes to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF by amending Options 4, Section 3, Criteria for Underlying Securities. Specifically, the Exchange proposes to list and trade options on an Exchange-Traded Fund or ''ETF'' that represent interests in the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[3] Recently, Cboe Exchange, Inc. (''Cboe'') received approval to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[4]

Currently, Options 4, Section 3(h) provides that securities deemed appropriate for options trading shall include shares or other securities (''Exchange-Traded Fund Shares'' or ''ETFs'') that are traded on a national securities exchange and are defined as an ''NMS'' stock under Rule 600 of Regulation NMS, and that meet certain criteria specified in Options 4, Section 3(h), including that they:

(i) represent interests in registered investment companies (or series thereof) organized as open-end management investment companies, unit investment trusts or similar entities that hold portfolios of securities and/or financial instruments, including, but not limited to, stock index futures contracts, options on futures, options on securities and indices, equity caps, collars and floors, swap agreements, forward contracts, repurchase agreements and reverse repurchase agreements (the ''Financial Instruments''), and money market instruments, including, but not limited to, U.S. government securities and repurchase agreements (the ''Money Market Instruments'') comprising or otherwise based on or representing investments in broad-based indexes or portfolios of securities and/or Financial Instruments and Money Market Instruments (or that hold securities in one or more other registered investment companies that themselves hold such portfolios of securities and/or Financial Instruments and Money Market Instruments) or
(ii) represent interests in a trust or similar entity that holds a specified non-U.S. currency or currencies deposited with the trust when aggregated in some specified minimum number may be surrendered to the trust or similar entity by the beneficial owner to receive the specified non-U.S. currency or currencies and pays the beneficial owner interest and other distributions on the deposited non-U.S. currency or currencies, if any, declared and paid by the trust (''Currency Trust Shares'') or
(iii) represent commodity pool interests principally engaged, directly or indirectly, in holding and/or managing portfolios or baskets of securities, commodity futures contracts, options on commodity futures contracts, swaps, forward contracts and/or options on physical commodities and/or non-U.S. currency (''Commodity Pool ETFs'') or (iv) represent interests in the iShares Ethereum Trust, the SPDR® Gold Trust, the iShares COMEX Gold Trust, the iShares Silver Trust, the Aberdeen Standard Physical Gold Trust, or the iShares Bitcoin Trust, or the Fidelity Wise Origin Bitcoin Fund, or the ARK21Shares Bitcoin ETF, or the Grayscale Bitcoin Trust (BTC), or the Grayscale Bitcoin Mini Trust BTC, or the Bitwise Bitcoin ETF or the Fidelity Ethereum Fund, the Bitwise Ethereum ETF, the Grayscale Ethereum Trust, and Grayscale Ethereum Mini Trust or (v) represents an interest in a registered investment company (''Investment Company'') organized as an open-end management company or similar entity, that invests in a portfolio of securities selected by the Investment Company's investment adviser consistent with the Investment Company's investment objectives and policies, which is issued in a specified aggregate minimum number in return for a deposit of a specified portfolio of securities and/or a cash amount with a value equal to the next determined net asset value (''NAV''), and when aggregated in the same specified minimum number, may be redeemed at a holder's request, which holder will be paid a specified portfolio of securities and/or cash with a value equal to the next determined NAV (''Managed Fund Share'').

In addition to the aforementioned requirements, Options 4, Section 3(h)(1) and (2) must be met to list options on ETFs.[5]

The VanEck Bitcoin ETF is a Bitcoin-backed commodity ETF structured as a trust. Similar to any ETF currently deemed appropriate for options trading under Options 4, Section 3(h), the investment objective of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is for its shares to reflect the performance of Bitcoin (less the expenses of the trust's operations), offering investors an opportunity to gain exposure to Bitcoin without the complexities of Bitcoin delivery. As is the case for ETFs currently deemed appropriate for options trading, the VanEck Bitcoin ETF's shares represent units of fractional undivided beneficial interest in the trust, the assets of which [5] Options 4, Section 3(h)(1) and (2) state that the Exchange-Traded Fund Shares either (i) meet the criteria and guidelines set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) described herein; or (ii) the Exchange-Traded Fund Shares are available for creation or redemption each business day from or through the issuing trust, investment company, commodity pool or other entity in cash or in kind at a price related to net asset value, and the issuer is obligated to issue Exchange-Traded Fund Shares in a specified aggregate number even if some or all of the investment assets and/or cash required to be deposited have not been received by the issuer, subject to the condition that the person obligated to deposit the investment assets has undertaken to deliver them as soon as possible and such undertaking is secured by the delivery and maintenance of collateral consisting of cash or cash equivalents satisfactory to the issuer of the Exchange-Traded Fund Shares, all as described in the Exchange-Traded Fund Shares' prospectus. Also, the Exchange-Traded Fund Shares based on international or global indexes, or portfolios that include non-U.S. securities, shall meet the criteria in Options 4, Section 3(h)(2)(A)–(F).

consist principally of Bitcoin and are designed to track Bitcoin or the performance of the price of Bitcoin and offer access to the Bitcoin market.[6] The VanEck Bitcoin ETF provides investors with cost-efficient alternatives that allow a level of participation in the Bitcoin market through the securities market.

The Exchange believes the VanEck Bitcoin ETF satisfies the Exchange's initial listing standards for ETFs on which the Exchange may list options. Specifically, the VanEck Bitcoin ETF satisfies the initial listing standards set forth in Options 4, Section 3(h), as is the case for other ETFs on which the Exchange lists options (including trusts that hold commodities). Pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(h)(1) ETFs either (i) meet the criteria and guidelines set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of Options 4, Section 3; or (ii) the ETFs must be available for creation or redemption each business day from or through the issuer in cash or in kind at a price related to net asset value, and the issuer must be obligated to issue ETFs in a specified aggregate number even if some or all of the investment assets required to be deposited have not been received by the issuer, subject to the condition that the person obligated to deposit the investments has undertaken to deliver the investment assets as soon as possible and such undertaking is secured by the delivery and maintenance of collateral consisting of cash or cash equivalents satisfactory to the issuer, as provided in the respective prospectus. The VanEck Bitcoin ETF satisfies Options 4, Section 3(h)(1)(ii), as each is subject to this creation and redemption process.

While not required by the Rules for purposes of options listings, the Exchange believes the VanEck Bitcoin ETF satisfies the criteria and guidelines set forth in Options 4, Section 3(a) which requires that a security (which includes a ETF) on which options may be listed and traded on the Exchange must be duly registered (with the Commission) and be an NMS stock (as defined in Rule 600 of Regulation NMS under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the ''Act'')), and be characterized by a substantial number of outstanding shares that are widely held and actively traded.[7] The VanEck Bitcoin ETF is an NMS Stock as defined in Rule 600 of Regulation NMS under the Act.[8] The Exchange believes the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is characterized by a substantial number of outstanding shares that are widely held and actively traded.

Cboe VanEck Filing noted that, as of March 5, 2025, the VanEck Bitcoin ETF had the following number of shares outstanding:

Bitcoin Fund	Shares outstanding
VanEck Bitcoin ETF	49,900,000

Cboe VanEck Filing noted that the VanEck Bitcoin ETF had significantly more than 7,000,000 shares outstanding (approximately 7 times that amount), which is the minimum number of shares of a corporate stock that the Exchange generally requires to list options on that stock pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(b)(1). The Exchange believes this demonstrates that the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is characterized by a substantial number of outstanding shares. Further, the below table that was provided in the Cboe VanEck Filing, contains information regarding the number of beneficial holders of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF as of the specified dates:

Bitcoin Fund	Beneficial holders	Date
VanEck Bitcoin ETF	32,469	1/31/25

This Cboe VanEck Filing table noted that the VanEck Bitcoin ETF has significantly more than 2,000 beneficial holders (approximately 16 times more), which is the minimum number of holders the Exchange generally requires for corporate stock in order to list options on that stock pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(b)(2). Therefore, the Exchange believes the shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF are widely held.

The Exchange also believes the shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF are actively traded. The Cboe VanEck Filing stated that, as of March 5, 2025, the total trading volume (by shares) for the trust for the six-month period of September 5, 2024, through March 5, 2025, and the approximate average daily volume (''ADV'') (in shares and notional) over the 30-day period of January 21, 2025, through March 5, 2025, for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF was as follows:

Bitcoin Fund	6-Month trading volume (shares)	30-Day ADV (shares)	30-Day ADV (notional $)
VanEck Bitcoin ETF	133,275,448	794,677	39,163,513.72

As demonstrated above, Cboe noted that as of March 5, 2025, the six-month trading volume for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF as of that date was substantially higher than 2,400,000 shares (approximately 55 times that amount), which is the minimum 12-month volume the Exchange generally requires for a corporate stock in order to list options on that security as set forth in Options 4, Section 3(b)(4). The Exchange believes this data demonstrates the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is characterized as having shares that are actively traded.

Options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF will be subject to the Exchange's continued listing standards set forth in Options 4, Section 4(g) for ETFs deemed appropriate for options trading pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(h). Specifically, ETFs approved for trading pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(h) will not be deemed to meet the requirements for continued approval, and the Exchange shall not open for trading any additional series of option contracts of the class covering such ETFs if the ETFs are delisted from trading as provided in subparagraph (b)(4) of Options 4, Section 4[9] or the ETFs are halted or suspended from trading on their primary market.[10] In addition, the Exchange shall consider the suspension of opening transactions in any series of [6] The trust may include minimal cash and cash equivalents (i.e., short-term instruments with maturities of less than three months).

[7] The criteria and guidelines for a security to be considered widely held and actively traded are set forth in Options 4, Section 3(b), subject to exceptions.

[8] An ''NMS stock'' means any NMS security other than an option, and an ''NMS security'' means any security or class of securities for which transaction reports are collected, processed, and made available pursuant to an effective transaction reporting plan (or an effective national market system plan for reporting transaction in listed options). See 17 CFR § 242.600(b)(64) (definition of ''NMS security'') and (65) (definition of ''NMS stock'').

[9] Options 4, Section 4(b)(4) states that the underlying security ceases to be an ''NMS stock'' as defined in Rule 600 of Regulation NMS under the Exchange Act.

options of the class covering ETFs in any of the following circumstances:

(1) in the case of options covering Exchange-Traded Fund Shares approved pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(h)(i), in accordance with the terms of subparagraphs (b)(1), (2), (3) and (4) of Options 4, Section 4; [11]

(2) in the case of options covering Fund Shares approved pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(h)(ii),[12] following the initial twelve-month period beginning upon the commencement of trading in the Exchange-Traded Fund Shares on a national securities exchange and are defined as an ''NMS stock'' under Rule 600 of Regulation NMS, there were fewer than 50 record and/or beneficial holders of such Exchange-Traded Fund Shares for 30 or more consecutive trading days;

(3) the value of the index or portfolio of securities or non-U.S. currency, portfolio of commodities including commodity futures contracts, options on commodity futures contracts, swaps, forward contracts, options on physical commodities and/or Financial Instruments and Money Market Instruments, on which the Exchange-Traded Fund Shares are based is no longer calculated or available; or

(4) such other event occurs or condition exists that in the opinion of the Exchange makes further dealing in such options on the Exchange inadvisable.

Options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF would be physically settled contracts with American-style exercise.[13] Consistent with current Options 4, Section 5, which governs the opening of options series on a specific underlying security (including ETFs), the Exchange will open at least one expiration month for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF and may also list series of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF for trading on a monthly,[14] weekly [15] or quarterly [16] basis. The Exchange may also list long-term equity option series (''LEAPS'') [17] that expire from twelve to thirty-nine months from the time they are listed.

Pursuant to Options 4, Section 5(d), which governs strike prices of series of options on ETFs, the interval between strike prices of series of options on ETFs approved for options trading pursuant to Section 3(h) of Options 4 shall be fixed at a price per share which is reasonably close to the price per share at which the underlying security is traded in the primary market at or about the same time such series of options is first open for trading on the Exchange, or at such intervals as may have been established on another options exchange prior to the initiation of trading on the Exchange. With respect to the Short Term Options Series or Weekly Program, during the month prior to expiration of an option class that is selected for the Short Term Option Series Program, the strike price intervals for the related non-Short Term Option (''Related non-Short Term Option'') shall be the same as the strike price intervals for the Short Term Option.[18] Specifically, the Exchange may open for trading Short Term Option Series at strike price intervals of (i) $0.50 or greater where the strike price is less than $100, and $1 or greater where the strike price is between $100 and $150 for all option classes that participate in the Short Term Options Series Program; (ii) $0.50 for option classes that trade in one dollar increments and are in the Short Term Option Series Program; or (iii) $2.50 or greater where the strike price is above $150.[19] Additionally, the Exchange may list series of options pursuant to the $1 Strike Price Interval Program,[20] the $0.50 Strike Program,[21] the $2.50 Strike Price Program,[22] and the $5 Strike Program.[23] Options 3, Section 3 governs the minimum increment for bids and offers for both equity and index options. Pursuant to Options 3, Section 3, where the price of a series of options for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is less than $3.00 the minimum increment will be $0.05, and where the price is $3.00 or higher, the minimum increment will be $0.10 [24] consistent with the minimum increments for options on other ETFs listed on the Exchange. Any and all new series of VanEck Bitcoin ETF options that the Exchange lists will be consistent and comply with the expirations, strike prices, and minimum increments set forth in Options 4, Section 5 and Options 3, Section 3, as applicable.

VanEck Bitcoin ETF options will trade in the same manner as any other ETF options on the Exchange. The Exchange Rules that currently apply to the listing and trading of all ETF options on the Exchange, including, for example, Rules that govern listing criteria, expirations, exercise prices, minimum increments, margin requirements, customer accounts, and trading halt procedures will apply to the listing and trading of VanEck Bitcoin ETF options on the Exchange in the same manner as they apply to other options on all other ETFs that are listed and traded on the Exchange, including the precious metal backed commodity ETFs already deemed appropriate for options trading on the Exchange pursuant to current Options 4, Section 3(h)(iv).

Options 3A, Section 3(a) currently permits the Exchange to authorize for trading a FLEX option class on any equity security if it may authorize for trading a non-FLEX option class on that equity security pursuant to Options 4, Section 3 . The proposed rule change amends Options 3A, Section 3(a) to exclude the VanEck Bitcoin ETF from this provision.

The Exchange also proposes to amend Options 9, Sections 13 and 15. Specifically, the Exchange proposes to amend Options 9, Sections 13 to provide a position limit of 25,000 same side option contracts for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF option. Additionally, pursuant to Options 9, Sections 15, the exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF will be equivalent to this proposed position limit.

Cboe determined these proposed position and exercise limits considering, among other things, the approximate six-month average daily volume (''ADV'') and outstanding shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF (which as discussed above demonstrate that the [11] Options 4, Section 4(b)(1) through (4) provides, if: (1) there are fewer than 6,300,000 shares of the underlying security held by persons other than those who are required to report their security holdings under Section 16(a) of the Act, (2) there are fewer than 1,600 holders of the underlying security, (3) the trading volume (in all markets in which the underlying security is traded) has been less than 1,800,000 shares in the preceding twelve (12) months, or (4) the underlying security ceases to be an 'NMS stock' as defined in Rule 600 of Regulation NMS under the Exchange Act. VanEck Bitcoin ETF is widely held and actively traded and thus justify these conservatively proposed position limits), as set forth below, along with market capitalization (as of March 5, 2025):

Underlying Bitcoin Fund	Six-month ADV (shares)	Outstanding shares	Market capitalization ($)
VanEck Bitcoin ETF	1,074,802	49,900,000	1,271,859,416

Cboe then compared the number of outstanding shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF to those of other ETFs. The following table provides the approximate average position (and exercise limit) of ETF options with similar outstanding shares (as of March 5, 2025), compared to the proposed position and exercise limit for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options:

Underlying Bitcoin Fund	Average limit of other ETF options (contracts)	Proposed limit (contracts)
VanEck Bitcoin ETF	225,000	25,000

Cboe considered current position and exercise limits of options on ETFs [25] with outstanding shares comparable to those of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF, with the proposed limit significantly lower (between two and ten times lower) than the average limits of the options on the other ETFs. As discussed above, the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is actively held and widely traded (all statistics as of March 5, 2025) because it: (1) had significantly more than 7,000,000 shares outstanding, which is the minimum number of shares of a corporate stock that the Exchange generally requires to list options on that stock pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(b)(1); had significantly more than 2,000 beneficial holders, which is the minimum number of holders the Exchange generally requires for corporate stock in order to list options on that stock pursuant to Options 4, Section 3(b)(2); and had a six-month trading volume substantially higher than 2,400,000 shares, which is the minimum 12-month volume the Exchange generally requires for a security in order to list options on that security as set forth in Options 4, Section 3(b)(4).

With respect to outstanding shares, if a market participant held the maximum number of positions possible pursuant to the proposed position and exercise limits, the equivalent shares represented by the proposed position/exercise limit would represent the following approximate percentage of current outstanding shares:

Underlying Bitcoin Fund	Proposed position/ exercise limit (in equivalent shares)	Outstanding shares	Percentage of outstanding shares
VanEck Bitcoin ETF	2,500,000	49,900,000	5.01%

As this table demonstrates, if a market participant held the maximum permissible options positions in VanEck Bitcoin ETF options and exercised all of them at the same time, that market participant would control a small percentage of the outstanding shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

Options 9, Section 13(d) provides two methods of qualifying for a position limit tier above 25,000 option contracts. The first method is based on six-month trading volume in the underlying security, and the second method is based on slightly lower six-month trading volume and number of shares outstanding in the underlying security. An underlying stock or ETF that qualifies for method two based on trading volume and number of shares outstanding would be required to have the minimum number of outstanding shares as shown in middle column of the table below.

The table from the Cboe VanEck Filing provides the equivalent shares of the position limits applicable to equity options, including ETFs, further represents the percentages of the minimum number of outstanding shares [26] that an underlying stock or ETF must have to qualify for that position limit (under the second method described above), all of which are higher than the percentages for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

Position/ exercise limit (in equivalent shares)	Minimum outstanding shares	Percentage of outstanding shares (%)
5,000,000 ..	40,000,000	12.5
7,500,000 ..	120,000,000	6.3
20,000,000	240,000,000	8.3
25,000,000	300,000,000	8.3

The equivalent shares represented by the proposed position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF as a percentage of outstanding shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is significantly lower than the percentage for the lowest possible position limit for equity options of 25,000 (under 6% compared to 40%) and is lower than that [25] Over 90% of the ETFs used for comparison have a limit of at least 200,000, and more than 75% have a limit of 250,000.

[26] This is the minimum number of outstanding shares an underlying security must have for the Exchange to continue to list options on that security, so this would be the smallest number of outstanding shares permissible for any corporate option that would have a position limit of 25,000 contract. See Options 4, Section 4(b). This rule applies to corporate stock options but not ETF options, which currently have no requirement regarding outstanding shares of the underlying ETF for the Exchange to continue listing options on that ETF. Therefore, there may be ETF options trading for which the 25,000 contract position limits represents an even larger percentage of outstanding shares of the underlying ETF than set forth above.

Further, the proposed position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF option are significantly below the limits that would otherwise apply pursuant to current Options 9, Section 13(d). These position and exercise limits are the lowest position and exercise limits available in the options industry, are extremely conservative and more than appropriate given the market capitalization, average daily volume, and high number of outstanding shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

All of the above information demonstrates that the proposed position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options are more than reasonable and appropriate. The trading volume, ADV, and outstanding shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF demonstrate that the trust is actively traded and widely held, and proposed position and exercise limits are well below those of other ETFs with similar market characteristics. The proposed position and exercise limits are the lowest position and exercise limits available for equity options in the industry are extremely conservative, and are more than appropriate given the VanEck Bitcoin ETF's market capitalization, ADV, and high number of outstanding shares.

Today, the Exchange has an adequate surveillance program in place for options. ISE intends to apply those same program procedures to options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF that it applies to the Exchange's other options products.[28] ISE's market surveillance staff would have access to the surveillances conducted by Nasdaq [29] with respect to the VanEck Bitcoin ETF and would review activity in the underlying VanEck Bitcoin ETF when conducting surveillances for market abuse or manipulation in the options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. Additionally, ISE is a member of the Intermarket Surveillance Group (''ISG'') under the Intermarket Surveillance Group Agreement. ISG members work together to coordinate surveillance and investigative information sharing in the stock, options, and futures markets. The Exchange would be able to obtain information regarding trading in shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF on other exchanges through ISG.

In addition, ISE has a Regulatory Services Agreement with the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (''FINRA''). Pursuant to a multi-party 17d–2 joint plan, all options exchanges allocate regulatory responsibilities to FINRA to conduct certain options-related market surveillance that are common to rules of all options exchanges.[30]

The underlying shares of spot bitcoin exchange-traded products (''ETPs''), including the VanEck Bitcoin ETF, are also subject to safeguards related to addressing market abuse and manipulation. As the Commission stated in its order approving proposals of several exchanges to list and trade shares of spot bitcoin-based ETPs:

> Each Exchange has a comprehensive surveillance-sharing agreement with the CME via their common membership in the Intermarket Surveillance Group. This facilitates the sharing of information that is available to the CME through its surveillance of its markets, including its surveillance of the CME bitcoin futures market.[31]

The Exchange states that, given the consistently high correlation between the CME Bitcoin futures market and the spot bitcoin market, as confirmed by the Commission through robust correlation analysis, the Commission was able to conclude that such surveillance sharing agreements could reasonably be ''expected to assist in surveilling for fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices in the specific context of the [Bitcoin ETPs].'' [32]

In light of surveillance measures related to both options and futures as well as the VanEck Bitcoin ETF,[33] the Exchange believes that existing surveillance procedures are designed to deter and detect possible manipulative behavior which might potentially arise from listing and trading the proposed options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. Further, the Exchange will implement any new surveillance procedures it deems necessary to effectively monitor the trading of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

The Exchange has also analyzed its capacity and represents that it believes the Exchange and the Options Price Reporting Authority or ''OPRA'' have the necessary systems capacity to handle the additional traffic associated with the listing of new series that may result from the introduction of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF up to the number of expirations currently permissible under the Exchange Rules. Because the proposal is limited to one class, the Exchange believes any additional traffic that may be generated from the introduction of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options will be manageable.

The Exchange believes that offering options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF will benefit investors by providing them with an additional, relatively lower cost investing tool to gain exposure to the price of Bitcoin and hedging vehicle to meet their investment needs in connection with Bitcoin-related products and positions. The Exchange expects investors will transact in options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF in the unregulated over-the-counter (''OTC'') options market,[34] but may prefer to trade such options in a listed environment to receive the benefits of trading listing options, including (1) enhanced efficiency initiating and closing out positions; (2) increased market transparency; and (3) heightened contra-party creditworthiness due to the role of OCC as issuer and guarantor of all listed options. The Exchange believes that listing the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options may cause investors to bring this liquidity to the Exchange, would increase market transparency and enhance the process of price discovery conducted on the Exchange through increased order flow. The ETFs that hold financial instruments, money market instruments, or precious metal commodities on which the Exchange may already list and trade options are trusts structured in substantially the same manner as the VanEck Bitcoin ETF and essentially offer the same objectives and benefits to investors, just with respect to different assets. The Exchange notes that it has not identified any issues with the continued listing and [27] As these percentages are based on the minimum number of outstanding shares an underlying security must have to qualify for the applicable position limit, these are the highest possible percentages that would apply to any option subject to that position and exercise limit.

trading of any ETF options, including ETFs that hold commodities (i.e., precious metals) that it currently lists and trades on the Exchange.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that its proposal is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Act,[35] in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Act,[36] in particular, in that it is designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in regulating, clearing, settling, processing information with respect to, and facilitating transactions in securities, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest.

In particular, the Exchange believes that the proposal to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF will remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system and, in general, protect investors because offering options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF will provide investors with an opportunity to realize the benefits of utilizing options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF, including cost efficiencies and increased hedging strategies. The Exchange believes that offering the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options will benefit investors by providing them with a relatively lower-cost risk management tool, which will allow them to manage their positions and associated risk in their portfolios more easily in connection with exposure to the price of Bitcoin and with Bitcoin-related products and positions. Additionally, the Exchange's offering of VanEck Bitcoin ETF options will provide investors with the ability to transact in such options in a listed market environment as opposed to in the unregulated OTC options market, which would increase market transparency and enhance the process of price discovery conducted on the Exchange through increased order flow to the benefit of all investors. The Exchange also notes that it already lists options on other commodity-based ETFs,[37] which, as described above, are trusts structured in substantially the same manner as the VanEck Bitcoin ETF and essentially offer the same objectives and benefits to investors and for which the Exchange has not identified any issues with the continued listing and trading of commodity-backed ETF options it currently lists for trading.[38]

The Exchange also believes the proposed rule change will remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, because it is consistent with current Exchange Rules previously filed with the Commission.[39] Options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF satisfy the initial listing standards and continued listing standards currently in the Exchange Rules applicable to options on all ETFs, including ETFs that hold other commodities already deemed appropriate for options trading on the Exchange. Additionally, as demonstrated above, the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is characterized by a substantial number of shares that are widely held and actively traded. VanEck Bitcoin ETF options will trade in the same manner as any other ETF options—the same Exchange Rules that currently govern the listing and trading of all ETF options, including permissible expirations, strike prices and minimum increments, and applicable margin requirements, will govern the listing and trading of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF in the same manner. The Exchange believes the proposed rule change to exclude the VanEck Bitcoin ETF from being eligible for trading as FLEX options is consistent with the Act, because it will permit the Exchange to continue to participate in ongoing discussions with the Commission regarding appropriate position limits for ETF options.[40]

The Exchange believes the proposed position and exercise limits are designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices and promote just and equitable principles of trade, as they are designed to address potential manipulative schemes and adverse market impacts surrounding the use of options, such as disrupting the market in the security underlying the options. The proposed position and exercise limits in this proposal for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options are 25,000 contracts, which is currently the lowest limit applicable to any equity options (including ETF options). The Exchange believes the proposed position and exercise limits are extremely conservative for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF option given the trading volume and outstanding shares for each. The information above demonstrates that the average position and exercise limits of options on ETFs with comparable outstanding shares and trading volume to those of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is significantly higher than the proposed position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options. Therefore, the proposed position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options are conservative relative to options on ETFs with comparable market characteristics.

Further, given that the issuer of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF may create and redeem shares that represent an interest in Bitcoin, the Exchange believes it is relevant to compare the size of a position limit to the market capitalization of the Bitcoin market. Cboe noted that, as of March 5, 2025, the global supply of Bitcoin was 19,832,309, and the price of one Bitcoin was approximately $90,608.57,[41] which equates to a market capitalization of approximately $1.797 trillion. Consider the proposed position and exercise limit of 25,000 option contracts for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF option. A position and exercise limit of 25,000 same side contracts effectively restricts a market participant from holding positions that could result in the receipt of no more than 2,500,000 of VanEck Bitcoin ETF shares, as applicable (if that market participant exercised all of its options). The following table provided by Cboe shows the share price of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF on March 5, 2025, the value of 2,500,000 shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF at that price, and the approximate percentage of that value of the size of the Bitcoin market:

[40] The Exchange may submit a separate rule filing that would permit the Exchange to authorize for trading FLEX options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF (which filing may propose changes to existing FLEX option position limits for such options if appropriate).

Therefore, if a market participant with the maximum 25,000 same side contracts in VanEck Bitcoin ETF options exercised all positions at one time, such an event would have no practical impact on the Bitcoin market. The Exchange also believes the proposed limits are appropriate given position limits for Bitcoin futures. For example, the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (''CME'') imposes a position limit of 2,000 futures (for the initial spot month) on its Bitcoin futures contract.[42] Cboe noted that on March 5, 2025, CME Mar 25 Bitcoin Futures settled at $90,935. A position of 2,000 CME Bitcoin futures, therefore, would have a notional value of $909,350,000. The following table shows the share price of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF on March 5, 2025, and the approximate number of option contracts that equates to that notional value:

Bitcoin Fund	March 5, 2025 share price ($)	Number of option contracts
VanEck Bitcoin ETF	25.60	355,214

The approximate number of option contracts for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF that equate to the notional value of CME Bitcoin futures is significantly higher than the proposed limit of 25,000 options contract for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF option. The fact that many options ultimately expire out-of-the-money and thus are not exercised for shares of the underlying, while the delta of a Bitcoin Future is 1, further demonstrates how conservative the proposed limits of 25,000 options contracts are for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options.

The Exchange notes, unlike options contracts, CME position limits are calculated on a net futures-equivalent basis by contract and include contracts that aggregate into one or more base contracts according to an aggregation ratio(s).[43] Therefore, if a portfolio includes positions in options on futures, CME would aggregate those positions into the underlying futures contracts in accordance with a table published by CME on a delta equivalent value for the relevant spot month, subsequent spot month, single month and all month position limits.[44] If a position exceeds position limits because of an option assignment, CME permits market participants to liquidate the excess position within one business day without being considered in violation of its rules. Additionally, if at the close of trading, a position that includes options exceeds position limits for futures contracts, when evaluated using the delta factors as of that day's close of trading but does not exceed the limits when evaluated using the previous day's delta factors, then the position shall not constitute a position limit violation. Considering CME's position limits on futures for Bitcoin, the Exchange believes that the proposed same side position limits are more than appropriate for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options.

The Exchange believes the proposed position and exercise limits in this proposal will have no material impact to the supply of Bitcoin. For example, consider again the proposed position limit of 25,000 option contracts for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF option. As noted above, a position limit of 25,000 same side contracts effectively restricts a market participant from holding positions that could result in the receipt of no more than 2,500,000 shares of the applicable VanEck Bitcoin ETF (if that market participant exercised all its options). Cboe noted that, as of March 5, 2025, the VanEck Bitcoin ETF had the number of shares outstanding set forth in the table below. The table below also sets forth the approximate number of market participants that could hold the maximum of 25,000 same side positions in the VanEck Bitcoin ETF that would equate to the number of shares outstanding of the VanEck Bitcoin:

VanEck Bitcoin ETF	49,900,000	20

This means if 20 market participants had 25,000 same side positions in VanEck Bitcoin ETF options, each of them would have to simultaneously exercise all of those options to create a scenario that may put the underlying security under stress. The Exchange believes it is highly unlikely for either such event to occur; however, even if either such event did occur, the Exchange would not expect the VanEck Bitcoin ETF to be under stress because such an event would merely induce the creation of more shares through the trust's creation and redemption process.

Cboe also noted that, as of March 5, 2025, the global supply of Bitcoin was approximately 19,832,309[45] and, based on the $25.60 price of VanEck Bitcoin ETF share on March 5, 2025, a market participant could have redeemed one Bitcoin for approximately 3,539 VanEck Bitcoin ETF shares. Cboe also noted that another 70,194,417,201 VanEck Bitcoin ETF shares could be created before the supply of Bitcoin was exhausted. As a result, 28,078 market participants would have to simultaneously exercise 25,000 same side positions in VanEck Bitcoin ETF options to receive shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF holding the entire global supply of Bitcoin. Unlike the VanEck Bitcoin ETF, the number of shares that corporations may issue is limited. However, like corporations, which authorize additional shares, repurchase shares, or split their shares, the VanEck Bitcoin ETF may create, redeem, or split shares in response to demand. While the supply of Bitcoin is limited to 21,000,000, it is believed that it will take more than 100 years to fully mine the remaining Bitcoin. The supply of Bitcoin is larger than the available supply of most securities. Given the significant unlikelihood of any of these events ever occurring, the Exchange does not believe options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF should be subject to position and exercise limits even lower than those proposed (which are already equal to the lowest available limit for equity options in the industry) to protect the supply of Bitcoin.[46]

The Exchange believes the available supply of Bitcoin is not relevant to the determination of position and exercise limits for options overlying the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. Position and exercise limits are not a tool that should be used to address a potential limited supply of the underlying of an underlying. Position and exercise limits do not limit the total number of options that may be held, but rather they limit the number of positions a single customer may hold or exercise at one time.[47] ''Since the inception of standardized options trading, the options exchanges have had rules imposing limits on the aggregate number of options contracts that a member or customer could hold or exercise.'' [48] Position and exercise limit rules are intended ''to prevent the establishment of options positions that can be used or might create incentives to manipulate or disrupt the underlying market so as to benefit the options position. In particular, position and exercise limits are designed to minimize the potential for mini-manipulations and for corners or squeezes of the underlying market. In addition, such limits serve to reduce the possibility for disruption of the options market itself, especially in illiquid options classes.'' [49]

The Exchange notes that a Registration Statement on Form S–1 was filed with the Commission for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF, each of which described the supply of Bitcoin as being limited to 21,000,000 (of which approximately 90% had already been mined), and that the limit would be reached around the year 2140.[50] The Registration Statement permits an unlimited number of shares of the applicable the VanEck Bitcoin ETF to be created. Further, the Commission approved proposed rule changes that permitted the listing and trading of shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF, which approval did not comment on the sufficient supply of Bitcoin or address whether there was a risk that permitting an unlimited number of shares for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF would impact the supply of Bitcoin.[51] Therefore, the Exchange believes the Commission had ample time and opportunity to consider whether the supply of Bitcoin was sufficient to permit the creation of unlimited the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shares, and does not believe considering this supply with respect to the establishment of position and exercise limits is appropriate given its lack of relevance to the purpose of position and exercise limits. However, given the significant size of the Bitcoin supply, the proposed positions limits are more than sufficient to protect investors and the market.

Based on the above information demonstrating, among other things, that the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is characterized by a substantial number of outstanding shares that are actively traded and widely held, the Exchange believes the proposed position and exercise limits are extremely conservative compared to those of ETF options with similar market characteristics. The proposed position and exercise limits reasonably and appropriately balance the liquidity provisioning in the market against the prevention of manipulation. The Exchange believes these proposed limits are effectively designed to prevent an individual customer or entity from establishing options positions that could be used to manipulate the market of the underlying as well as the Bitcoin market.[52]

The Exchange represents that it has the necessary systems capacity to support VanEck Bitcoin ETF options. As discussed above, the Exchange believes that its existing surveillance and reporting safeguards are designed to deter and detect possible manipulative behavior which might arise from listing and trading ETF options, including VanEck Bitcoin ETF options.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on intramarket competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act as the VanEck Bitcoin ETF will be equally available to all market participants who wish to trade such options and will trade generally in the same manner as other options. The Exchange Rules that currently apply to the listing and trading of all ETF options on the Exchange, including, for example, Rules that govern listing criteria, expirations, exercise prices, minimum increments, margin requirements, customer accounts, and trading halt procedures will apply to the listing and trading of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options on the Exchange in the same manner as they apply to other options on all other ETFs that are listed and traded on the Exchange. Also, and as stated above, the Exchange already lists options on other commodity-based ETFs.[53] Further, the VanEck Bitcoin ETF would need to satisfy the maintenance listing standards set forth in the Exchange Rules in the same manner as any other ETF for the Exchange to continue listing options on them.

The Exchange does not believe that the proposal to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF will impose any burden on intermarket competition that [46] This would be even more unlikely with respect to the VanEck Bitcoin ETF for which the Exchange proposes lower position limits.

[47] For example, suppose an option has a position limit of 25,000 option contracts and there are a total of 10 investors trading that option. If all 10 investors max out their positions, that would result in 250,000 option contracts outstanding at that time. However, suppose 10 more investors decide to begin trading that option and also max out their positions. This would result in 500,000 option contracts outstanding at that time. An increase in the number of investors could cause an increase in outstanding options even if position limits remain unchanged.

is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. To the extent that the advent of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF options trading on the Exchange may make the Exchange a more attractive marketplace to market participants at other exchanges, such market participants are free to elect to become market participants on the Exchange. Additionally, other options exchanges are free to amend their listing rules, as applicable, to permit them to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The Exchange notes that listing and trading VanEck Bitcoin ETF options on the Exchange will subject such options to transparent exchange-based rules as well as price discovery and liquidity, as opposed to alternatively trading such options in the OTC market.

The Exchange believes that the proposed rule change may relieve any burden on, or otherwise promote, competition, as it is designed to increase competition for order flow on the Exchange in a manner that is beneficial to investors by providing them with a lower-cost option to hedge their investment portfolios. The Exchange notes that it operates in a highly competitive market in which market participants can readily direct order flow to competing venues that offer similar products. Ultimately, the Exchange believes that offering VanEck Bitcoin ETF options for trading on the Exchange will promote competition by providing investors with an additional, relatively low-cost means to hedge their portfolios and meet their investment needs in connection with Bitcoin prices and Bitcoin-related products and positions on a listed options exchange.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

No written comments were either solicited or received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Because the foregoing proposed rule change does not: (i) significantly affect the protection of investors or the public interest; (ii) impose any significant burden on competition; and (iii) become operative for 30 days from the date on which it was filed, or such shorter time as the Commission may designate, it has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act [54] and subparagraph (f)(6) of Rule 19b–4 thereunder.[55]

A proposed rule change filed under Rule 19b–4(f)(6) [56] under the Act does not normally become operative prior to 30 days after the date of the filing. However, pursuant to Rule 19b–4(f)(6)(iii),[57] the Commission may designate a shorter time if such action is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. The Exchange has requested that the Commission waive the 30-day operative delay so that the proposal may become operative immediately upon filing. The Commission previously approved the listing and trading of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[58] The Exchange has provided information regarding the underlying ETF, including, among other things, information regarding trading volume, the number of beneficial holders, and the average daily trading volume of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The proposal also establishes position and exercise limits for options on the ETF and provides information regarding the surveillance procedures that will apply to VanEck Bitcoin ETF options. The Commission believes that waiver of the operative delay could benefit investors by providing an additional venue for trading options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. Therefore, the Commission believes that waiver of the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. Accordingly, the Commission hereby waives the 30-day operative delay and designates the proposed rule change as operative upon filing.[59]

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission shall institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule should be approved or disapproved.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34–103687; File No. SR–ICC–2025–011]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; ICE Clear Credit LLC; Notice of Filing of Proposed Rule Change Relating to the ICC CDS Instrument On-Boarding Policies and Procedures

August 12, 2025.

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1) and Rule 19b–4, 17 CFR 240.19b–4, notice is hereby given that on August 07, 2025, ICE Clear Credit LLC (''ICC'' or ''ICE Clear Credit'') filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission the proposed rule change as described in Items I, II and III below, which Items have been primarily prepared by ICC. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Clearing Agency's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The principal purpose of the proposed rule change is to revise the ICC CDS Instrument On-boarding Policies and Procedures (''Instrument On-boarding Policy''). These revisions do not require any changes to the ICC Clearing Rules (''Rules'').[1]

II. Clearing Agency's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, ICC included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change, security-based swap submission, or advance notice and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change, security-based swap submission, or advance notice. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. ICC has prepared summaries, set forth in sections (A), (B), and (C) below, of the most significant aspects of these statements.

(A) Clearing Agency's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

(a) Purpose

ICC proposes to amend its Instrument On-boarding Policy. This document provides an overview of ICC's on-boarding process for new instruments, which includes selecting new instruments for clearing, configuring internal systems, notifying and receiving feedback from stakeholders, and ensuring operational readiness by ICC and its Clearing Participants (''CPs''). The proposed changes (1) amend the guiding principles that ICC maintains for instrument selection, (2) reflect current practices and other updates, and (3) include clarifying or non-substantive changes. ICC believes that such changes will facilitate the prompt and accurate clearance and settlement of securities transactions and derivative agreements, contracts, and transactions for which it is responsible. ICC proposes to make such changes effective following Commission approval of the proposed rule change. The proposed rule change is described in detail as follows.

1. Guiding Principle Amendments

ICC proposes to amend Section III.A. of the Instrument On-boarding Policy, which discusses the guiding principles that ICC maintains for considering instruments for clearing. Such principles are designed to ensure that ICC proceeds in a prudent manner with respect to instrument selection while also providing the best opportunity for CPs to minimize their risk. The changes to the guiding principles are designed to promote ICC's ability to consider additional instruments for clearing.

Currently, ICC maintains a guiding principle to consider instruments for clearing that are constituents of currently clearable On-The-Run (''OTR'') indices. When adopted in 2021, this guiding principle was designed to provide the market with additional instruments to hedge and mitigate indirect risk exposure from OTR indices.[2] ICC proposes to remove reference to OTR indices, such that ICC will consider instruments for clearing that are constituents of currently clearable indices. ICC believes it is appropriate to expand this guiding principle because many market participants hedge and mitigate indirect risk exposure from credit default swap (''CDS'') indices (including but not limited to OTR indices) with the constituents of those indices. The proposed change would promote ICC's risk management by providing increased transparency to the clearing house regarding the risk exposure of market participants to allow ICC to better assess and manage its credit risk.

ICC maintains another guiding principle applicable to instruments that are not constituents of such indices. Under this guiding principle, ICC considers such instruments for clearing that meet an open interest threshold or a volume threshold. Currently, ICC considers either instruments with uncleared gross notional open interest equal to or greater than the average combined cleared open interest and bilateral open interest of instruments belonging to the same, currently cleared instrument types among ICC CPs, or instruments with an average bilateral weekly volume equal to or greater than the average bilateral and cleared volume across all currently cleared instrument types over the last twelve months and with an average weekly volume of at least five contracts per week over the last twelve months. ICC also currently considers instruments with bilateral open interest held by at least half, but no less than three, CP Affiliate Groups (''AGs''). As amended, ICC would consider instruments with uncleared gross notional open interest among ICC CPs, or with an average bilateral weekly volume equal to or greater than the average cleared volume across currently cleared instruments belonging to the same product type over the last twelve months. ICC would also consider instruments with bilateral open interest held by at least three CP AGs. This guiding principle was formally adopted in 2020 with the formalization of the Instrument On-boarding Policy[3] and has allowed ICC to consider the most liquid single names, most of which ICC currently clears. The proposed changes expand the thresholds to consider instruments for clearing that have any uncleared gross notional open interest (rather than those with a specified uncleared gross notional open interest) or an average bilateral weekly volume equal to or greater than the average cleared volume across comparable cleared instruments (removing reference to bilateral cleared volume and the requirement for an average weekly volume of at least five contracts), and bilateral open interest held by at least three CP AGs (removing the requirement that bilateral open interest be held by at least half of the CP AGs). The revisions thus allow ICC to consider additional instruments for clearing, including those requested by market participants, i.e., currently less liquid single name instruments that, in ICC's view, still have sufficient trading volume and market liquidity, and are held widely enough by CPs. Instruments subject to the amended guiding principles would continue to be subject to effective controls through existing governance,[4] risk,[5] pricing,[6] and operations [7] reviews, which ultimately determine the instruments that ICC may clear. As such, ICC believes that expanding these guiding principles is appropriate to ensure that ICC continues to provide the best opportunity for CPs to minimize their risk while proceeding in a prudent manner with respect to instrument selection.

2. Changes To Reflect Current Practices and Other Updates

ICC proposes amendments throughout the Instrument On-Boarding Policy to reflect current practices or make other updates regarding governance, operations, and instruments that are outside the scope of the standard on-boarding process. With respect to governance, ICC proposes adding references to the recently established Board Risk Committee in Section IV. to memorialize the types of matters related to instrument on-boarding that are subject to Board Risk Committee review.[8] In particular, such matters would include changes to the ICC Rulebook and ICC risk methodology related to new instruments. ICC proposes removing outdated references in Section IV. to the Risk Management Subcommittee, which is no longer in existence.[9] ICC also proposes adding references to the recently established Risk Advisory Working Group to memorialize its role in reviewing matters that could materially affect the risk profile of ICC, including the addition of a new product category or material modifications to ICC's risk methodology.[10]

ICC also proposes changes to Sections III. and V. regarding its instrument on-boarding operational practices. ICC proposes removing a reference to an external system that it no longer uses for purposes of processing post-trade life cycle events (e.g., coupon payments, credit events, succession events) in Section V. In Section III.C. and Section V., ICC also proposes removing a reference to a service provider for market data and intraday pricing, as ICC does not intend for the Instrument On-boarding Policy to list or control ICC service providers or manage the on-boarding or review of such providers. Consistent with current practices, ICC service providers are subject to contractual arrangements entered into by authorized ICC officers and governed by the Operational Risk Management Framework, if appropriate.[11]

Additionally, ICC proposes revisions throughout the document with respect to new instruments that are outside of the scope of the standard on-boarding process. As noted in Section IV.D., such exceptions include, in respect of CDS indices, a new index series with updated reference entity constituents.[12] ICC proposes to clarify relevant processes pertaining to such instrument on-boarding. Namely, for those indices and corresponding new reference entity constituent(s) falling under an already approved CDS index product type, ICC proposes to clarify that it will begin clearing the new series from the index roll date, followed by the corresponding new reference entity constituent(s) once ICC reviews the parameters and analysis with the relevant working groups, consistent with current practices. ICC also proposes additional edits in Sections VI and VIII to specify which processes are applicable to instruments that are outside of the scope of the standard on-boarding process. Consistent with current practices, ICC proposes to specify that for all proposed instruments, excluding those that are outside of the scope of the standard on-boarding process, stress-testing is performed.[13] Additionally, with respect to instruments that are outside of the scope of the standard on-boarding process, ICC proposes to collect voluntary quote submissions from CPs for a period of at least one week, instead of two weeks.[14] ICC believes this update is warranted to promote the timely clearing of constituents of new index series following the index roll date [15] by ICC and would not create operational problems because CPs are, in general, operationally ready for a new index series on the index roll date, including pricing constituents of the new index. In general, ICC believes that the aforementioned changes generally improve the clarity and effectiveness of this document by setting out current ICC practices and making other updates.

3. Clarifying or Non-Substantive Changes

ICC proposes making certain clarifying, conforming and other non-substantive changes to the Instrument On-Boarding Policy, as further set out below.

- ICC proposes replacing ''instrument type'' with ''product type'' throughout the document. Such revisions are intended for clarity to generally mirror the product-specific subchapters of the ICC Rulebook. ICC proposes clarifying footnotes to distinguish between a product type and a product category, the former of which can be identified based on a review of the product-specific subchapters of Chapter 26 [16] and the latter of which represents a collection of product types.
- In Section IV., ICC proposes updating certain instrument naming conventions (e.g., Standard Emerging

[4] Once it has been determined that the proposed instrument meets ICC's guiding principles, appropriate governance actions must be taken to determine whether ICC should proceed with clearing such instrument. For example, a risk review process is performed by the ICC Risk Committee, which includes the review of a risk impact analysis and pricing analysis. Additional review and approval by ICC's Board may also be necessary depending on whether clearing the new instrument requires changes to ICC's Rulebook or risk methodology. See Section IV. in the Instrument On-Boarding Policy.

[5] As part of its risk management evaluation, ICC ensures that the risks associated with the proposed instrument is appropriately accounted for by ICC's risk models and that risk requirements will provide adequate protection to the clearing house and its CPs. See Section VI. in the Instrument On-Boarding Policy.

[6] As part of its pricing evaluation, ICC ensures that its end-of-day price discovery process operates effectively with the proposed instrument, including that sufficient CPs are available to readily provide prices to ensure the effectiveness of such process. See Section VII. in the Instrument On-Boarding Policy.

[7] New instruments are subject to an operational setup. In particular, a reference obligation, which specifies a particular bond that is either guaranteed or issued by the reference entity, is one product attribute that must be defined for each reference entity. See Section V. in the Instrument On-Boarding Policy.

[8] ICC previously filed a proposed rule change to establish the Board Risk Committee. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 103161 (May 30, 2025), 90 FR 23970 (June 5, 2025) (File No. SR–ICC–2025–006).

[9] ICC previously filed a proposed rule change to eliminate references to the ICC Risk Management Subcommittee from its Rules and related policies and procedures. See Exchange Act Release Nos. 100876 (August 29, 2024), 89 FR 72538 (September 5, 2024) (File No. SR–ICC–2024–009); 101382 (Oct. 18, 2024), 89 FR 84979 (Oct. 24, 2024) (File No. SR–ICC–2024–009).

[12] A new series of CDS indices is issued every six months and, pursuant to ICC's rule-filed Risk Management Framework, ICC clears subsequent versions of cleared indices.

[13] In place of stress-testing, ICC conducts pricing and risk parameter analyses which are reviewed with relevant working groups for instruments that are outside of the scope of the standard on-boarding process.

[14] Currently, ICC collects voluntary quote submissions from CPs for a period of at least two weeks, including for instruments that are outside of the scope of the standard on-boarding process. ICC initially selected a period of two weeks to provide CPs with sufficient time to become operationally ready to price a new instrument.

[15] ICC's current process is to begin clearing the new index series from the index roll date.

Market Corporate Single Name) to be consistent with the terminology in the ICC Rulebook or industry terminology.

- In Section IV.D., with respect to the publication of new index series, ICC proposes to update the name of such publisher to be current and make a conforming change in a footnote in Section V.
- In Section V., ICC proposes to remove an introductory phrase to clarify that the selection of reference obligations has more than just one purpose.[17]
- In Section V., ICC proposes to clarify that it generally maintains a list of the versions of the Credit Derivatives Physical Settlement Matrix (''Matrix'') that are applicable, rather than a separate list for each reference entity.[18]
- ICC proposes clarifying changes throughout the document, including adding defined terms in quotations, updating a policy name to match its current title, updating references to ICC Rules, and adding ''ICC'' as a qualifier in front of certain department and committee names.
- ICC proposes making certain grammatical updates throughout the document, including changes in capitalization and adding or expanding abbreviations.
- Lastly, ICC proposes to revise the revision history to reflect the above-described changes.

(b) Statutory Basis

ICC believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of Section 17A of the Act[19] and the regulations thereunder applicable to it, including the applicable standards under Rule 17Ad–22.[20] In particular, Section 17A(b)(3)(F) of the Act[21] requires that the rule change be designed to promote the prompt and accurate clearance and settlement of securities transactions and derivative agreements, contracts and transactions cleared by ICC, to assure the safeguarding of securities and funds in the custody or control of ICC or for which it is responsible, and to protect investors and the public interest. As described above, the proposed changes (1) amend the guiding principles that ICC maintains for instrument selection, (2) reflect current practices and make other updates, and (3) make clarifying or non-substantive changes. The amended guiding principles would continue to ensure that ICC proceeds in a prudent manner with respect to instrument selection while also providing the best opportunity for CPs to minimize their risk, including by providing additional instruments to hedge and mitigate indirect risk exposure from indices and allowing ICC to consider additional instruments for clearing, including those requested by market participants, i.e., currently less liquid single name instruments that, in ICC's view, still have sufficient trading volume and market liquidity, and are held widely enough by CPs. The additional changes that reflect current practices and make other updates or clarifying or non-substantive changes generally improve the clarity and effectiveness of the Instrument On-Boarding Policy and ensure that it remains readable, transparent, and up-to-date. The proposed rule change is therefore consistent with the prompt and accurate clearing and settlement of the contracts cleared by ICC, the safeguarding of securities and funds in the custody or control of ICC or for which it is responsible, and the protection of investors and the public interest, within the meaning of Section 17A(b)(3)(F) of the Act.[22]

The amendments would also satisfy relevant requirements of Rule 17Ad–22.[23] Rule 17Ad–22(e)(2)(i) and (v)[24] requires each covered clearing agency to establish, implement, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to provide for governance arrangements that are clear and transparent and specify clear and direct lines of responsibility. The proposed rule change updates ICC's governance arrangements by adding references to the newly established Board Risk Committee and Risk Advisory Working Group and removing references to the retired Risk Management Subcommittee to ensure that the Instrument On-boarding Policy continues to describe the roles and responsibilities of relevant stakeholders with respect to instrument selection and subject new instruments to ICC's governance process. As such, in ICC's view, the proposed rule change continues to ensure that ICC maintains policies and procedures that are reasonably designed to provide for clear and transparent governance arrangements and specify clear and direct lines of responsibility, consistent with Rule 17Ad–22(e)(2)(i) and (v).[25]

Rule 17Ad–22(e)(4)(ii)[26] requires each covered clearing agency to establish, implement, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to effectively identify, measure, monitor, and manage its credit exposures to participants and those arising from its payment, clearing, and settlement processes, including by maintaining additional financial resources at the minimum to enable it to cover a wide range of foreseeable stress scenarios that include, but are not limited to, the default of the two participant families that would potentially cause the largest aggregate credit exposure for the covered clearing agency in extreme but plausible market conditions. As discussed above, the proposed changes to the guiding principles would, among other things, promote ICC's risk management by providing increased transparency to the clearing house regarding the risk exposure of market participants to allow ICC to better assess and manage its credit risk. Furthermore, instruments subject to the amended guiding principles would continue to be subject to effective controls through existing governance, risk, pricing, and operations reviews, which support ICC's ability to maintain its financial resources and withstand the pressures of defaults, consistent with the requirements of Rule 17Ad–22(e)(4)(ii).[27]

Rule 17Ad–22(e)(17)[28] requires, in relevant part, each covered clearing agency to establish, implement, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to manage its operational risks by (i) identifying the plausible sources of operational risk, both internal and external, and mitigating their impact through the use of appropriate systems, policies, procedures, and controls; and (ii) ensuring that systems have a high degree of security, resiliency, operational reliability, and adequate, scalable capacity. As discussed above, ICC proposes revisions to ensure that the document reflects current practices and is up-to-date, clear, and transparent, including with respect to ICC's operational practices for instrument on-boarding. The Instrument On-boarding Policy would thus continue to appropriately describe the process for the introduction of new instruments to ensure that ICC and its CPs are operationally ready and that ICC proceeds in a controlled manner, thereby supporting ICC's ability to identify the plausible sources of operational risk and mitigate their impact and ensure that systems have a high degree of security, resiliency, operational reliability, and adequate, scalable capacity, consistent with the requirements of Rule 17Ad–22(e)(17).[29]

Rule 17Ad–22(e)(21)[30] requires, among other things, that each covered clearing agency establish, implement, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to be efficient and effective in meeting the requirements of its participants and the markets it serves. Such changes to promote ICC's ability to consider additional instruments for clearing, including those requested by market participants, would support and enhance the guiding principles by ensuring that ICC continues to proceed in a prudent manner with respect to instrument selection while also providing CPs the best opportunity to minimize their risk, thereby allowing ICC to be efficient and effective in meeting the requirements of its participants and the markets it serves, consistent with Rule 17Ad–22(e)(21).[31]

(B) Clearing Agency's Statement on Burden on Competition

ICC does not believe the proposed amendments will have any impact, or impose any burden, on competition not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. As discussed above, the proposed rule change (1) amends the guiding principles that ICC maintains for instrument selection, (2) reflects current practices and other updates, and (3) makes other clarifying or non-substantive changes. Additional instruments selected for clearing under the revised guiding principles in the proposed Instrument On-Boarding Policy will be available to all ICC CPs for clearing. The clearing of any such additional instruments does not preclude the offering of such instruments for clearing by other market participants. Moreover, the proposed changes to the Instrument On-Boarding Policy, including changes to reflect current practices and other clarifying or non-substantive changes, will apply uniformly across all market participants. Therefore, ICC does not believe the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition that is inappropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34–103688; File No. SR–BX–2025–015]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Nasdaq BX, Inc.; Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of Proposed Rule Change To Amend Position and Exercise Limits for Options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF

August 12, 2025.

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (''Act''),[1] and Rule 19b–4 thereunder,[2] notice is hereby given that on August 7, 2025, Nasdaq BX, Inc. (''BX'' or ''Exchange'') filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (''Commission'') the proposed rule change as described in Items I and II below, which Items have been prepared by the Exchange. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The Exchange proposes to amend Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, and Section 15, Exercise Limits, related to the listing of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

The text of the proposed rule change is available on the Exchange's website at https://listingcenter.nasdaq.com/rulebook/bx/rulefilings and at the principal office of the Exchange.

[2] 17 CFR 240.19b–4.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The Exchange proposes to amend Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, and Options 9, Section 15, Exercise Limits, related to the listing of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

Recently, Cboe Exchange, Inc. (''Cboe'') received approval to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[3] Thereafter, Nasdaq ISE, LLC (''ISE'') filed a rule proposal to list and trade options on shares on an Exchange-Traded Fund or ''ETF'' that represent units of interest in the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[4] BX's Options 4 Rules were amended by the ISE rule change as those Rules are incorporated by reference to ISE's Options 4 Rules, so BX has the ability to list options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The Cboe VanEck Filing stated that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts. At this time, the Exchange proposes to amend BX Option 9, Section 13 and Options 9, Section 15 to similarly note that options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall have a position limit of 25,000 contracts to mirror the Cboe VanEck Filing.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that its proposal is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Act,[5] in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Act,[6] in particular, in that it is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general to protect investors and the public interest.

The Exchange's proposal to amend Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, and Options 9, Section 15, Exercise Limits, to provide that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts is consistent with the Act as it will conform BX's options position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF with ISE's options position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF to align those limits.[7]

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The proposed rule change does not impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

Amending Options 9, Sections 13 and 15 to provide that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts does not impose an undue burden on competition as the position and exercise limits will apply to all trading for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF trading on the Exchange as well as those trading on other exchanges that file a similar proposal.[8]

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

No written comments were either solicited or received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Because the foregoing proposed rule change does not: (i) significantly affect the protection of investors or the public interest; (ii) impose any significant burden on competition; and (iii) become operative for 30 days from the date on which it was filed, or such shorter time as the Commission may designate, it has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act[9] and subparagraph (f)(6) of Rule 19b–4 thereunder.[10]

A proposed rule change filed under Rule 19b–4(f)(6)[11] under the Act does not normally become operative prior to 30 days after the date of the filing. However, pursuant to Rule 19b–4(f)(6)(iii),[12] the Commission may designate a shorter time if such action is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. The Exchange has requested that the Commission waive the 30-day operative delay so that the proposal may become operative immediately upon filing. The Commission previously approved the listing of options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[13] As noted above, the Exchange's Options 4 Rules were amended by an ISE rule change[14] as those Rules are incorporated by reference to ISE's Options 4 Rules, so the Exchange has the ability to list the options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. This proposal establishes position and exercise limits for options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The Commission believes that waiver of the operative delay could benefit investors by assuring that trading in VanEck Bitcoin ETF options are subject to the same position and exercise limits in place on other exchanges. Therefore, the Commission believes that waiver of the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. Accordingly, the Commission hereby waives the 30-day operative delay and designates the proposed rule change as operative upon filing.[15]

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission shall institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule should be approved or disapproved.

IV. Solicitation of Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the foregoing, including whether the proposed rule

[Release No. 34–103691; File No. SR–PHLX–2025–36]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Nasdaq PHLX LLC; Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of Proposed Rule Change To Amend Position Limits and FLEX Trading for Options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF

August 12, 2025.

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (''Act''),[1] and Rule 19b–4 thereunder,[2] notice is hereby given that on August 7, 2025, Nasdaq PHLX LLC (''Phlx'' or ''Exchange'') filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (''Commission'') the proposed rule change as described in Items I and II below, which Items have been prepared by the Exchange. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The Exchange proposes to amend Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, and Options 8, Section 34, FLEX Index, Equity, and Currency Options, related to the listing of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

The text of the proposed rule change is available on the Exchange's website at https://listingcenter.nasdaq.com/rulebook/phlx/rulefilings and at the principal office of the Exchange.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The Exchange proposes to amend Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, and Options 8, Section 34, FLEX Index, Equity, and Currency Options, related to the listing and trading of options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

Options 9, Section 13

Recently, Cboe Exchange, Inc. (''Cboe'') received approval to list and trade options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[3] Thereafter, Nasdaq ISE, LLC filed a rule proposal to list and trade options on shares on an Exchange-Traded Fund or ''ETF'' that represent units of interest in the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[4] Phlx's Options 4 Rules were amended by the ISE rule change as those Rules are incorporated by reference to ISE's Options 4 Rules, so Phlx has the ability to list the options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The Cboe VanEck Filing stated that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts. At this time, the Exchange proposes to amend Phlx Option 9, Section 13 to similarly note that options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall have a position limit of 25,000 contracts to mirror the Cboe VanEck Filing. Phlx Options 9, Section 15(a) provides that the exercise limits shall be determined in the manner described in Options 9, Section 13, therefore the exercise limits would also be 25,000 contracts for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

Options 8, Section 34

Today, all options series listed on Phlx may trade as a FLEX option on Phlx's trading floor. At this time, the Exchange proposes to note within Options 8, Section 34(a) that it will not authorize for trading a FLEX option on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The Exchange proposes this amendment in light of the position and exercise limits of 25,000 contracts that were set for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF in the Cboe VanEck Filing and the restriction on FLEX trading for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. If the Exchange were to permit trading in a FLEX option for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF, it would establish different position and exercise limits than those set forth in the Cboe VanEck Filing.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that its proposal is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Act,[5] in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Act,[6] in particular, in that it is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general to protect investors and the public interest.

The Exchange's proposal to amend Options 9, Section 13, Position Limits, to provide that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts is consistent with the Act as it will conform Phlx's options position and exercise limits with ISE's options position and exercise limits for the VanEck Bitcoin ETF in order that there would be the same position and exercise limits on Phlx and ISE.[7] Phlx Options 9, Section 15(a) provides that the exercise limits shall be determined in the manner described in Options 9, Section 13, therefore the exercise limits would also be 25,000 contracts and also consistent with ISE's options position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

The Exchange's proposal to amend Options 8, Section 34 to note that it will not authorize for trading a FLEX option on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF is consistent with the Cboe VanEck Filing which set the position and exercise limit of 25,000 contracts for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF and restricted FLEX trading for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. The proposal will protect investors and the general public because without this prohibition, trading a FLEX option on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF would otherwise establish different position and exercise limits than those set by the Cboe VanEck Filing.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The proposed rule change does not impose any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

Amending Options 9, Section 13 to provide that the position and exercise limits for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF shall be 25,000 contracts does not impose an undue burden on competition as the position and exercise limits will apply to all trading for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF on the Exchange as well as those trading on other exchanges that file a similar proposal.[8]

The Exchange's proposal to note that it will not authorize for trading a FLEX option on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF does not impose an undue burden on competition as no Phlx member will be able to transact a FLEX option on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

No written comments were either solicited or received.

[7] The Exchange believes that other exchanges will adopt position and exercise limits of 25,000 contracts for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. All Nasdaq affiliated markets are filing to adopt a 25,000 contract position and exercise limit for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

[8] All Nasdaq affiliated markets are filing to adopt a 25,000 contract position and exercise limit for options on the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Because the foregoing proposed rule change does not: (i) significantly affect the protection of investors or the public interest; (ii) impose any significant burden on competition; and (iii) become operative for 30 days from the date on which it was filed, or such shorter time as the Commission may designate, it has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act[9] and subparagraph (f)(6) of Rule 19b–4 thereunder.[10]

A proposed rule change filed under Rule 19b–4(f)(6)[11] under the Act does not normally become operative prior to 30 days after the date of the filing. However, pursuant to Rule 19b–4(f)(6)(iii),[12] the Commission may designate a shorter time if such action is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. The Exchange has requested that the Commission waive the 30-day operative delay so that the proposal may become operative immediately upon filing. The Commission previously approved the listing of options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF.[13] As noted above, the Exchange's Options 4 Rules were amended by an ISE rule change[14] as those Rules are incorporated by reference to ISE's Options 4 Rules, so the Exchange has the ability to list the options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF. This proposal establishes position and exercise limits for options on shares of the VanEck Bitcoin ETF and restricts the options from FLEX trading. The Commission believes that waiver of the operative delay could benefit investors by assuring that trading in VanEck Bitcoin ETF options are subject to the same position and exercise limits, as well as FLEX trading restrictions, in place on other exchanges. Therefore, the Commission believes that waiver of the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. Accordingly, the Commission hereby waives the 30-day operative delay and designates the proposed rule change as operative upon filing.[15]

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission shall institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule should be approved or disapproved.

[9] 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(3)(A)(iii).

[10] 17 CFR 240.19b–4(f)(6). In addition, Rule 19b–4(f)(6) requires a self-regulatory organization to give the Commission written notice of its intent to file the proposed rule change at least five business days prior to the date of filing of the proposed rule change, or such shorter time as designated by the Commission. The Exchange has satisfied this requirement.

AGENCY: Office of the United States Trade Representative.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Office of the United States Trade Representative is providing notice of allocations of the Fiscal Year (FY) 2026 (October 1, 2025 through September 30, 2026) in-quota quantity of the tariff-rate quotas (TRQs) for imported raw cane sugar, certain sugars, syrups and molasses (also known as refined sugar), and sugar-containing products.

DATES: The changes made by this notice are applicable as of August 15, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Erin Nicholson, Office of Agricultural Affairs, at 202–395–9419, or Erin.H.Nicholson@ustr.eop.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Pursuant to Additional U.S. Note 5 to Chapter 17 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS), the United States maintains TRQs for imports of raw cane sugar and refined sugar. Pursuant to Additional U.S. Note 8 to Chapter 17 of the HTSUS, the United States maintains a TRQ for imports of sugar-containing products.

Section 404(d)(3) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3601(d)(3)) authorizes the President to allocate the in-quota quantity of a TRQ for any agricultural product among supplying countries or customs areas. The President delegated this authority to the U.S. Trade Representative under Presidential Proclamations 6763 (60 FR 1007) and 7235 (64 FR 55611).

On July 17, 2025, the Administrator of the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (Administrator) announced the sugar program provisions for FY2026. The Administrator announced an in-quota quantity of the TRQ for raw cane sugar for FY2026 of 1,117,195 metric tons raw value (MTRV) (conversion factor: 1 metric ton raw value = 1.10231125 short tons raw value), which is the minimum amount to which the United States is committed under the World Trade Organization (WTO) Agreement. The U.S. Trade Representative is allocating this quantity (1,117,195 MTRV) to the following countries in the amounts specified below:

The allocations of the in-quota quantities of the raw cane sugar TRQ to countries that are net importers of sugar are conditioned on receipt of the appropriate verifications of origin. Certificates for quota eligibility must accompany imports from any country for which an allocation has been provided.

On July 17, 2025, the Administrator also announced the establishment of the in-quota quantity of the FY2026 refined sugar TRQ at 22,000 MTRV. This quantity, for which the sucrose content, by weight in the dry state, must have a polarimeter reading of 99.5 degrees or more, includes the minimum amount to which the United States is committed under the WTO Uruguay Round Agreement, 22,000 MTRV, of which 20,344 MTRV is established for any sugars, syrups and molasses, and 1,656 MTRV is reserved for specialty sugar. The U.S. Trade Representative is allocating the refined sugar TRQ as follows: 10,300 MTRV to Canada, 2,954 MTRV to Mexico, and 7,090 MTRV to be administered on a first-come, first-served basis. Additionally, the U.S. Trade Representative is allocating the 1,656 MTRV of specialty sugar to be administered on a first-come, first-served basis.

With respect to the in-quota quantity of 64,709 metric tons of the TRQ for imports of certain sugar-containing products maintained under Additional U.S. Note 8 to chapter 17 of the HTSUS, the U.S. Trade Representative is allocating 59,250 metric tons to Canada. The remainder of the in-quota quantity, 5,459 metric tons, is available for other countries on a first-come, first-served basis.

Raw cane sugar, refined and specialty sugar, and sugar-containing products for FY2026 TRQs may enter the United States as of October 1, 2025.

Notice of Release of Land From Federal Grant Assurance Obligations at Tucson International Airport, Tucson, Pima County, Arizona AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Notice of Request to Release Airport Land.

SUMMARY: The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) proposes to rule and invites public comment for the release of approximately 8 acres of airport land, at Tucson International Airport (TUS), Tucson, Pima County, Arizona from the aeronautical use provisions of the Grant Agreement Assurances since the land is not needed for airport purposes. The land for proposed release consists of one parcel and two partial parcels located south of East Valencia Road, east of South Park Avenue, and located in the northwest section of the TUS airport. The land will be sold to the Arizona Air National Guard, to accommodate the future reconfiguration of their entry control facility. The airport will be compensated for the fair market value of the land. The use of the land for an entry control facility represents a compatible land use that will not interfere with the airport or its operation, thereby protecting the interests of civil aviation.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before September 15, 2025.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Kyler Erhard, Acting Manager, Phoenix Airports District Office, Federal Aviation Administration, 3800 N Central Avenue, Suite 1025, Phoenix, AZ 85012; telephone 602–792–1073.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under 49 U.S.C. 47107(h) and the Wendell H. Ford Aviation Investment and Reform Act for the 21st Century (AIR 21), Public Law 106–181 (Apr. 5, 2000; 114 Stat. 61), the FAA must publish this notice 30 days before waiving any grant condition imposed by surplus-property conveyance deeds or grant agreements. The Tucson Airport Authority (TAA) has requested release of roughly 8 acres at TUS to allow sale to the Arizona Air National Guard for an entry control facility reconfiguration. TAA will be compensated at fair-market value. An Environmental Assessment was completed, and a Finding of No Significant Impact was signed April 1, 2020. The proposed use is compatible with airport operations and development and serves the interests of civil aviation by enhancing public safety.

Issued in El Segundo, California.

(2) Petitioner: Arlanxeo USA LLC and Arlanxeo Canada Inc., importers and exporters of chloro-isobutene-isoprene rubber ($(C_4H_8)_n$-$(C_5H_{7.31}Cl_{0.69})_m$; n=97.75, m=2.25).

(3) Proposed classification numbers:

(i) HTSUS number: 4002.39.0000.

(ii) Schedule B number: 4002.39.0000.

(iii) CAS number: 68081–82–3.

(5) Description from petition: Chloro-isobutene-isoprene rubber is a halogenated copolymer of butylene and isoprene. It offers a low permeability to gases and moisture, low glass transition temperature and a wide vulcanization versatility with fast cure rates. Chloro-isobutene-isoprene rubber is used for tire inner tubes, hoses, seals, membranes, tank linings, conveyor belts, protective clothing, and for consumer products.

Chloro-isobutene-isoprene rubber is made from butylene, chlorine, and sodium hydroxide. Taxable chemicals constitute 97.36 percent by weight of the materials used to produce this substance.

(6) Process identified in petition as predominant method of production of substance: The predominant method of producing chloro-isobutene-isoprene rubber involves reacting a hexane solution of butyl rubber with elemental chlorine. Butyl rubber is produced via the cationic copolymerization of butylene with isoprene in the presence of a Friedel-Crafts catalyst at low temperature, around −100°C.

(7) Stoichiometric material consumption equation, based on process identified as predominant method of production:

n C_4H_8 (butylene) + m C_5H_8 (isoprene) + (0.69m) Cl_2 (chlorine) + (0.69m) NaOH (sodium hydroxide) → $(C_4H_8)_n(C_5H_{7.31}Cl_{0.69})_m$ (chloro-isobutene-isoprene rubber) + (0.69m) NaCl + (0.69m) H_2O

(3) Proposed classification numbers:

(i) HTSUS number: 4002.70.0000.

(ii) Schedule B number: 4002.70.0000.

(iii) CAS number: 25038–36–2.

(5) Description from petition: Ethylene-propylene-dicyclopentadiene rubber is a synthetic rubber produced from a combination of ethylene, propylene, and non-conjugated dienes. Ethylene-propylene-dicyclopentadiene rubber has a low compression set, good resistance to heat, cold, and chemicals. The non-conjugated diene monomers provide cross-linking sites for vulcanization.

Ethylene-propylene-dicyclopentadiene rubber is a good choice for a sealing material. Ethylene-propylene-dicyclopentadiene rubber is also used to produce hoses, diaphragms, and profiles (door and window seals). Ethylene-propylene-dicyclopentadiene rubber is also found in safety-related parts of vehicle braking systems.

Ethylene-propylene-dicyclopentadiene rubber is made from ethylene and propylene. Taxable chemicals constitute 98.80 percent by weight of the materials used to produce this substance.

(6) Process identified in petition as predominant method of production of substance: The predominant method of producing ethylene-propylene-dicyclopentadiene rubber is through the catalytic polymerization of ethylene, propylene, and non-conjugated diene monomers in a solution using various catalysts. Non-conjugated diene monomers include ethylidene norbornene and dicyclopentadiene. The non-conjugated diene monomers are produced from cyclopentadiene and butadiene, and cyclopentadiene, respectively.

(7) Stoichiometric material consumption equation, based on process identified as predominant method of production:

m C_2H_4 (ethylene) + n C_3H_6 (propylene) + o [2 C_5H_6 (cyclopentadiene)] → $(C_2H_4)_m(C_3H_6)_n(C_{10}H_{12})_o$ (ethylene-propylene-dicyclopentadiene rubber)

(8) Tax rate calculated by Petitioner, based on Petitioner's conversion factors for taxable chemicals used in production of substance:

(i) Tax rate: $9.64 per ton.

(ii) Conversion factors: 0.64 for ethylene, 0.35 for propylene.

(9) Public docket number: IRS–2025–0136.

1. VA will maintain the data in compliance with applicable VA security policy directives that specify the standards that will be applied to protect sensitive personal information. Contractors and their subcontractors who access the data are required to maintain the same level of security as VA staff. Working spaces and record storage areas in VA facilities are restricted to VA employees. Generally, file areas are locked after normal duty hours and security personnel protect health care facilities from outside access. Access to the records is restricted to VA employees who have a need for the information in the performance of their official duties. Employee records or records of public figures or otherwise sensitive records are generally stored in separate locked files.

2. Electronic data security complies with applicable Federal Information Processing Standards issued by the National Institute of Standards and Technology. Peripheral devices are generally placed in secure areas (areas that are locked or have limited access) or are otherwise protected. Access to file information is controlled at two levels. The system recognizes authorized employees by a series of individually unique passwords/codes that the employee must change periodically, and role-based access limits employees to only that information in the file which is needed in the performance of their official duties. Information that is downloaded and maintained on personal computers is afforded similar storage and access protections as the data that is maintained in the original files. Remote access to file information by staff of OIFOs, and access by Office of Inspector General (OIG) staff conducting an audit or investigation at the health care facility or an OIG office location remote from the health care facility is controlled in the same manner.

3. Access to FSC and AITC is generally restricted to each Center's employees, custodial personnel, and security personnel. Access to computer rooms is restricted to authorized operational personnel through electronic locking devices. All other persons gaining access to computer rooms are escorted. Authorized VA employees at remote locations, including VA health care facilities, OIFOs, VA Headquarters, VISN offices, and OIG Headquarters and field staff, may access information stored in the computer. Access is controlled by individually unique passwords/codes that the employee must change periodically.

4. Access to records maintained at VA Headquarters, ARC, OIFOs, and VISN offices is restricted to VA employees who have a need for the information in the performance of their official duties. Access to information stored on automated storage media is controlled by individually unique passwords/codes that the employee must change periodically. Authorized VA employees at remote locations including VA health care facilities may access information stored in the computer. Access is controlled by individually unique passwords/codes. Records are maintained in manned rooms during non-working hours. Security personnel protect facilities from outside access during working hours.

5. Information downloaded and maintained by the OIG Headquarters and field offices on automated storage media is secured in storage areas or facilities to which only OIG staff members have access. Paper documents are similarly secured. Access to paper documents and information on automated storage media is limited to OIG employees who have a need for the information in the performance of their official duties. Access to information stored on automated storage media is controlled by individually unique passwords/codes.

6. Access to records maintained at VHA Office of Finance, Payment Operations is restricted to VA employees who have a need for the information in the performance of their official duties. Access to information stored on automated storage media is controlled by individually unique passwords/codes that the employee must change periodically. Authorized VA employees at remote locations including VA health care facilities may access and print information stored in the computer. Access is controlled by individually assigned unique passwords/codes. Records are maintained in a secured, pass card protected and alarmed room. Security personnel protect the facilities from outside access during non-working hours.

7. VA Enterprise Cloud data storage conforms to security protocols as stipulated in VA Directives 6500, VA Cybersecurity Program, and 6517, Risk Management Framework for Cloud Computing Services. Access control standards are stipulated in specific agreements with Cloud vendors to restrict and monitor access.

Continuation of U.S. Drug Interdiction Assistance to the Government of Colombia

Memorandum for the Secretary of State [,] Secretary of Defense

By the authority vested in me as President by the Constitution and the laws of the United States, and pursuant to the authority vested in me by section 1012 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 1995, as amended (22 U.S.C. 2291–4), I hereby certify, with respect to Colombia, that: (1) interdiction of aircraft reasonably suspected to be primarily engaged in illicit drug trafficking in that country's airspace is necessary, because of the extraordinary threat posed by illicit drug trafficking to the national security of that country; and (2) Colombia has appropriate procedures in place to protect against innocent loss of life in the air and on the ground in connection with such interdiction, which includes effective means to identify and warn an aircraft before the use of force is directed against the aircraft.

Extension of Waiver of Section 907 of the FREEDOM Support Act with Respect to Assistance to the Government of Azerbaijan

Memorandum for the Secretary of State

By the authority vested in me as President by the Constitution and the laws of the United States of America, including title II of the Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2002 (Public Law 107–115), I hereby determine and certify that extending the waiver of section 907 of the FREEDOM Support Act (Public Law 102–511) with respect to Azerbaijan:
